Foreword

WE, THE STAFF, are honored to present THE PIONEER as a record of the Class of 1943. The spirit of goodwill and fellowship aided greatly in attaining our goal.

We are indeed grateful to those individuals who displayed a genuine interest in our work and gave us sound advice and encouragement.

In Memory of
DOROTHEA HELEN BUNDY
a beloved member of the Class of '43, whose sudden death in August, 1942 left an empty space in the hearts of all of us.

*Does anyone forget the joy
Of living that was hers?
Recall the precious years
Of cheerful friendship.
Treasured is each word, each glance.
Her smile, manner, and laughing
Eyes are ours to cherish.
Always we shall remember—our BOBBIE.*

“Pioneers! O Pioneers!”

Today in North Africa there is a man from Paterson State who is in great danger. As a navigator of a flying fortress he has been in many perilous engagements. Although he is many years older than most of the men at Paterson State, he writes frequently about his return to the States and the time he will come back to our college to finish the work for his degree. He may be living on borrowed time, but he has learned to live each day the lesson found in “Julius Caesar”: “Cowards die many times before their death; the valiant never taste of death but once. Of all the wonders that I yet have heard, it seems most strange to me that men must fear, seeing that death, a necessary end, will come when it will come.”

Letters from other men in service reveal the courage and confidence of pioneers. To some of you it may appear that there are no great opportunities today, but I affirm that breath-taking opportunities exist for pioneering in the field of human relations. What a challenge to you young women and young men who have accepted the responsibility of teaching.

There is a need for discovery of new relationships between men and between nations, and nowhere is there a more fertile field for that discovery than in the classrooms of our public schools. In your hands lies to a great measure, the destiny of the future; and so I commend to each of you the thought so eloquently expressed by Walt Whitman during the Civil War, when a new world was in the making:

*“All the past we leave behind,
Fresh and strong the world we seize, world
of labor and the march,
Pioneers! O Pioneers!”*

Bright red nail polish continues to be popular among the boys!

DECEMBER, 1939

Roller Skating Party. Some of us lose face and footing.
Christmas Caroling in Quackenbush's.
At the Christmas Party, we hear an innocent phrase, "North of 60°," in a letter to Santa.

JANUARY, 1940

Oh, oh, exams!
Dot Bundy's hearty laugh can be heard in the Cafeteria.
Margy Payne rushing along the hall. Destination—somewhere!

FEBRUARY, 1940

Lee Beam wears a bow in her hair.
Tommy Teagle lugs the Science Projector and equipment around the building.
Long, exhausting debates in the girl's locker room between Allison, Foote, Payne, and Alice Grillo. Subjects: religion and philosophy.

MARCH, 1940

Spring Fever—Sy and Mitzi.
Anne Corrini, Doris Shanahan, Rose Stewart, Ruth Heismeyer, and Ruth Daulton are definitely conservative.

APRIL, 1940

Z. K. X. girls wear gum drop corsages.
The operetta, "Pirates of Penzance" with almost everyone on stage.

MAY, 1940

Our parents catch first glimpse of Paterson State on Guest Night.

Class plans outing—Joe Piccione, Palisades Amusement Park—Rocky Ford, Baseball Game—Girls, a play. We went to Palisades Amusement Park.

JUNE, 1940

Shaffer Play Day at Rye Beach. Many new "friendships" result.

Our Class Debating team receives champion honors and the cup.

SEPTEMBER, 1940

Vic is reelected class president and makes an all-time record for State.

Freshman Initiation with us on the giving end.

Betty Lamond's "little brother" was so nice.

Enter Jennie Casey, a grand classmate.

OCTOBER, 1940

Dan sleeps through morning classes.

Kitty Focarino's giggle and snappy chatter contrasted with Doris Conrey's demureness.

Bill Loveless returns from army service.

NOVEMBER, 1940

Juanita Jones can always be called upon for fun and laughter.

Vic and Jean make an election bet!

Wendell Wilkie speaks at the Paterson Armory.

JANUARY, 1941

Jane Christopher digging the "Super-DeLuxe Model" Ford out of a snow drift.

Ice-Capades at Barbour's Pond!

Pat Reid, as section leader, pounding on the table and requesting "Silence Please"!

FEBRUARY, 1941

Ruth Estler running around the building with a typewriter in one hand and Student Council notes in the other.

MARCH, 1941

George R. and Harriet B.

An epidemic of measles stalks the corridors of State and terrifies the cast of the "Waltz Dream." Poor Louise.

Our Hop is a great success, but the cookies mysteriously disappeared.

APRIL, 1941

Pat has a secret love.

MAY, 1941

Comprehensives and the broken window in 304.
We apply for admission into the Professional Curriculum.
Nothing more need be said.
Evelyn and Ruth—Don and Vic, friendly rivals. Reason—
Student Council elections.

JUNE, 1941

Rye Beach again.
We shine on Achievement Day.
We say "Farewell" to many friends.

SEPTEMBER, 1941

The start down the rocky road of professionalism.
Our first contact, as a group, with Dr. Shannon—a well-remembered occasion.
John Buller elected president, a worthy successor to Vic.

OCTOBER, 1941

Still going strong in spite of the merry-go-round we're riding.
We learn to erase blackboards correctly and to adjust window shades properly:
Our first taste of practice teaching. We emerge scarred but victorious.

NOVEMBER, 1941

We return to classes reluctantly.
Dan still sleeps through morning classes.
Rose E. knits fast and furiously.

DECEMBER, 1941

Our beloved country is at war.
Junior Prom held at Yountakah Country Club.

JANUARY, 1942

Practice Teaching! ! !
Jane can not seem to develop a sisterly feeling toward the darlings at School No. 15.

MARCH, 1942

We are labeled a highly "social" group.
George Reilly declines to take a little walk with one of his prettier students.
Many of our waking hours are spent in the Art Room.

APRIL, 1942

Spring fever—Betty and Charlie.
Practice Teaching! ! !
A night at the Hotel Commodore!

MAY, 1942

To become accelerated or not to become? That is the question.

JUNE, 1942

Shaeffer Play Day at Palisades Amusement Park.
Pig-tails a handy fad for swimmers.
Up the Hudson to Indian Point. George couldn't purchase enough tickets for the large turn-out.

JULY AND AUGUST, 1942

Summer School—
Summer School—
Summer School.

SEPTEMBER, 1942

A magical title descends upon us—"Seniors."
John Buller is elected president. Repetition is rapidly becoming a habit with us.
Alys Coyne, Helen Walkotten, and Louise Farcher enter the field.

OCTOBER, 1942

Mac Breithaupt leaves for a berth in the U. S. Navy.
Feather cuts to the right of us, feather cuts to the left of us.
Pat has another secret.

NOVEMBER, 1942

Ruth Florance marries in a flurry of white flowers and rice.
Dorothy Purcell follows suit.
We wonder who will be next.
Field trips are curtailed for the duration.

DECEMBER, 1942

One year of hostilities has passed.
Underclassmen honor us at the Swiss Chalet.
We agree to disagree over the selection of the class ring.
Rose Edelman works herself up to the exhaustion point. That Social Committee again—or her tall, dark, handsome crush?

JANUARY, 1943

Many of our girls have taken the fatal half-step during the holidays.
Milk-man exercises alleviate the fuel situation.
John Buller trips the light fantastic down the stairway during an Aid Raid Drill. Result—a broken arm.
Ernie loses his equilibrium and tumbles from his chair in Principles of Ed.
Rose Urato and Ruth Stoffer accept teaching positions.
Lil Johnson makes a decision.

FEBRUARY, 1943

Senior girls take Commando training and hobble about for days.
Sy departs for Army life.
Likewise Don and George.
The brave resolve to be blood donors.
Pat and Evelyn indulge in the pseudo-sciences of fortune-telling and palmistry at the spaghetti dinner.

That Long

Long Trail

Once
We were Sophomores—
Proud, reckless, impatient,
Holding a world in our hands.
Life presented few problems, joy and comfort were boundless;
We seized these gifts—unthinking, unknowing.

Now
We are Graduates—
Humble, cautious, sedate,
Caught in the clasp of grim War.
We behold a universe, where pain and fear are endured
That we may pursue our hearts, our callings.

*We shall remember these former pleasures;
We shall not forget the sadness of conflict;
We shall seek to unite the goodness of mankind.*

For Tomorrow
We pray to be earnest
Participants in a
Tolerant society.

We who are to walk through the valley of death
Will defy danger, for Thou art with us.

—EVELYN FOOTE

Our Will

We, the SENIOR CLASS OF 1943, residents of North, East, South, West Jersey, all counties, being of unsound mind and lacking memory, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, hereby revoking any and all wills by us heretofore made.

We direct that all our unjust debts and expenses be paid by others as soon after our departure as may be found convenient.

We give, devise, and bequeath to the student body and faculty of PATERSON STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, all our worldly and abstract goods in the following manner:—

CATHERINE BARNA wills her accordion accomplishments to Miss Mihleis who has shown evidence of being equally talented.

LILLIAN KOPP leaves the school without a police force.

ALICE PASINSKA bequeaths her vocal trills to Mr. Weidner.

VICTOR J. W. CHRISTIE, JR. leaves and a political machine crumbles. To Hirohito, Alys Coyne donates her angelic smile.

JEAN ALLISON bequeaths her loquaciousness to those timid souls who find it difficult to express themselves.

KITTY FOCARINO leaves her exuberant personality to Cousin Sue.

THOMAS TEAGLE has conscientiously filled the quota of "Worrying" for the graduating Seniors as well as for the prospective Seniors, thus leaving the latter more time for studies(?).

JULIA MEYERS wills her stability to the Mexican government.

To anyone who gets flustered in Public Speaking class, DORIS ALTMAN leaves her nonchalance.

RUTH DAULTON bequeaths her athletic prowess to Emilie Schwehm.

JEAN MATTESON leaves a trail of broken hearts.

RUTH HEISMAYER wills her role as silent partner to Ethel Klecar.

JUANITA JONES leaves her hearty chuckle to cheer despairing practice teachers.

GEORGE REILLY bequeaths his "Irish glamour" to Richard Dennis.

LILLIAN JOHNSON leaves her naivete to Brother Charley.

To the Baruch Committee in Washington, ANNE CORRINI wills the question of Rubber.

EVELYN FOOTE bequeaths her minute stature to the prolific creator of the "Tweeny-Weenies".

JOHN BULLER leaves a lot of room in the cafeteria.

"Valiant is the word for JENNIE CASEY." Need we leave more than this inspiring phrase?

MRS. DOROTHY PURCELL BROWN wills her cook book to Athalia Darnell.

DORIS CONREY leaves without regrets.

LOUISE FARCHER wills her ability for palpitating the ivories to June Foster and Gwendolyn Llewelyn.

MALCOLM BREITHAAPT leaves his jollity to a jolly junior. (Is there such a one?)

MARIAN PECK bequeaths her golfing achievements to future aspirants.

KATHLEEN McMULLAN leaves that typewriter to—?

JANE CHRISTOPHER leaves the office!

BILL LOVELESS bequeaths to Harry Lister the task of "lugging" the "Big Book" to the Geography Class.

BESSMARY RADCLIFFE leaves Sister Marcia to carry on a great name. To those few who need them, HELEN WALKOTTEN wills her high moral ideals.

MARJORIE PAYNE leaves her altitude to all ascending basketball stars. To Gus, we bequeath a degree from Vassar for Professor of Sweepology.

ROSE EDELMAN leaves in a dither.

SEYMOUR POLLOCK doesn't leave anything—he's taking her with him.

DONALD "WOODROW WILSON" HALL wills his fourteen points of information to the next successful candidate.

ANNA REPKA leaves her reserve to Ruth Gelderman.

ERNEST MUELLER bequeaths the reference books in the library to the "Quiz Kids".

HELENE BEAM leaves happy memories.

MARGARET STARK leaves her sincereness to Ruthann Shagin.

ROSE URATO wills her sunny disposition to Dr. Unzicker.

MINERVA LESHNE wills her love for the light fantastic to Modern Dancing class.

ROSE STEWART leaves her change purse for someone else to collect the money.

PATRICIA REID wills her democratic nature to the Student Council.

RUTH STOFFER bequeaths her blonde beauty to many wishful-thinkers.

DORIS SHANAHAN leaves the list of Christmas Card purchasers to the Junior Class Social Committee.

MRS. RUTH FLORANCE ESTLER leaves to join her husband.

DAN JANKELUNAS wills his agility on the basketball court to Rocco Montesano.

BETTY LAMOND leaves Charlie. (Laissez-faire.)

FRANCES TACIONIS wills her inimitable methods of problem-solving to Mr. Baker.

To the Junior girls, VIRGINIA WHITE leaves the smoking room.

To the Faculty: Only pleasant thoughts of us.

To the Freshman: We bequeath the task of presenting a Sophomore Hop to surpass ours.

To the Sophomores: Our hope that you will have the courage to become Juniors sometime.

To the Juniors: A carload of Wheaties, to give you sufficient strength to "tote" geography books.

This instrument, consisting of two typewritten pages, was by us on the date hereof signed, published, and deplored by us to be our last will and testament.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this first day of March, 1943.

The Prediction

This is the Air-Age 1993. Lofty skyscrapers thrust their proud heads upward into space. The era of the streamlined locomotive has passed into oblivion. The aeroplane is here to stay!

Not a single building can be found less than 6,000 feet high. Imagine living in a penthouse on the 800th floor of the Alexander Hamilton or owning a private landing field for your aerocar.

As I (star reporter for that great syndicate newspaper, called the Paterson Evening News) drive along the Market Skyway in Paterson, there looms suddenly into view a slender, graceful building. After flying through the cloud surrounding the spire, I notice a huge neon sign blinking in the darkness of night P—S—T—C. Unbelieving, I glance at the street sign—19th Avenue and 22nd Street. My, but the college has grown. It's nearly twice the size of that museum relic known as the Empire State. This is my destination; for my paper has sent me to cover the reunion of that class which made history—the Class of 1943. Still fascinated, I prepare to land on the field situated upon the college roof.

As I alight from my aerocar I am greeted by Master of Ceremonies, MALCOLM BREITHAAPT, one-time admiral in the Navy. Now, as college president, he has settled down to a life of comparative tranquility.

Hearing raucous sounds emerging from an adjacent scraper, I inquire. Yes, the boys are at it again. They're playing the pin-ball machine in Harry's Confectionery. We warned Harry that he'd need a larger place some day.

Coming slowly from those halls of entertainment are two members of the beef trust—JOHN BULLER, bone specialist; and DANIEL JANKELUNAS, gentleman farmer.

The sound of roaring aeroplanes is interrupted by the commanding shrill of an aero-whistle, used in directing traffic. I glance around to see TOMMY TEAGLE, chief of aero-highway commission, demonstrating the new whistle to the Governor of the State—that former Tammany politician, DONALD HALL.

Simultaneously, the Paterson Clipper arrives with JEAN MATTESON, as chief pilot. Air-line hostess ROSE STEWART is nearly trampled in the stampede of anxious alumni.

The first to emerge from the silver-hued airship is JUANITA JONES, ambassador to the United States of India, who animatedly relates the sad tale of her plane that broke down three times during the previous week to ERNEST MUELLER, the Einstein of our time.

SEYMOUR POLLOCK, Olympic champion, and GEORGE REILLY, the Victor Mature of Paris, walk down the runway with a limp bundle dangling between them. It is VICTOR J. W. CHRISTIE, JR., seventh-term president of the United States of America. 'Tis rumored a card game occurred enroute and Vic was lost in the shuffle.

Chuckling, I enter a waiting elevator that whisks me several floors below to the college social room.

A strange sight greets me in that spacious, well-lighted lounge. JENNIE CASEY, worn to a frazzle by her little Red School House, is reclining comfortably but perilously on the chandelier. JANE CHRISTOPHER, expert in the art of Judo and Tug-of-War, didn't realize her own strength!

Sitting in a secluded corner are JEAN ALLISON and MARJORIE PAYNE, co-authors of a best seller entitled "Elsie Dinsmore's Daughter Meets the Man Who Came to Dinner." They are discussing RUTH ESTLER who wasn't able to attend the reunion because she was too busy teaching her great-grandsons the rudiments of how to get an "A" in Geography.

LILLIAN JOHNSON, sporting an engagement ring and a bright smile, strolls over to tell me the good news. Her years of waiting are over—Hilding has graduated!

I spy ANNE CORRINI and DORIS SHANAHAN trying to lure RUTH DAULTON, foremost comedienne of the Broadway Sky Stage, to their Domicile for Desolate Dansels of Drama. Ruthie is rescued by FRANCES TACIONIS, internationally known Non-Conformist.

RUTH STOFFER, acclaimed the world's most beautiful woman, enters the room with her pal, ROSE URATO, who would not raise her son to be a lawyer.

The ex-WAVE, JULIA (JO) MEYERS, keeps her audiences in awe with brilliant repertoire of her adventures in Malaysia.

At this moment a hush spreads over the assemblage as ALICE PASINSKA, Metropolitan prima donna, bursts into a song of the Gay '40's, "Mister Five by Five." She is accompanied by LOUISE FARCHER on her Steinway piano.

CATHERINE BARNA and her Reckless Riveters, DORIS CONREY, ALYS COYNE, and DOROTHY PURCELL BROWN, entertain us with Latin American rumba music.

Meanwhile, KATHERINE FOCARINO, Dean of Women at P.S.T.C. feverishly endeavors to aid DORIS ALTMAN'S daughter complete that long overdue essay "Why I Wish to Become a Teacher." Doris is contending for the title of Shuffleboard Queen.

RUTH HEISMAYER, physical education instructor, is explaining to BESSMARY RADCLIFFE the principle of the standing broad jump. Bess hasn't given up yet; "Try, try again" 'is her motto!

PEGGY STARK, dog enthusiast, makes a startling entrance with two Great Danes in tow.

EVELYN FOOTE managed to leave her School for the Daughters of Desert Shieks in the Sahara for a short while to chat with PATRICIA REID, President of the Congress of Nations about—well, here are snatches of their conversation:—

"LEE BEAM is now wearing bows on her shoes to match the bows in her hair."

"Well, BILL LOVELESS finally summoned up enough courage to hold Louise's hand again."

"Imagine, MARIAN PECK and VIRGINIA WHITE, authorities on what the well-dressed sportswoman will wear, have been suffering with laryngitis for nearly six weeks."

"Did you hear? Basketball was ROSE EDELMAN'S downfall. She's now mascot of the Little Ferry Jayvee Jumpers."

"KATHLEEN McMULLAN, Bergenfield's gift to the cinema, is currently starring in the Hollywood version of 'The Magic Flute'."

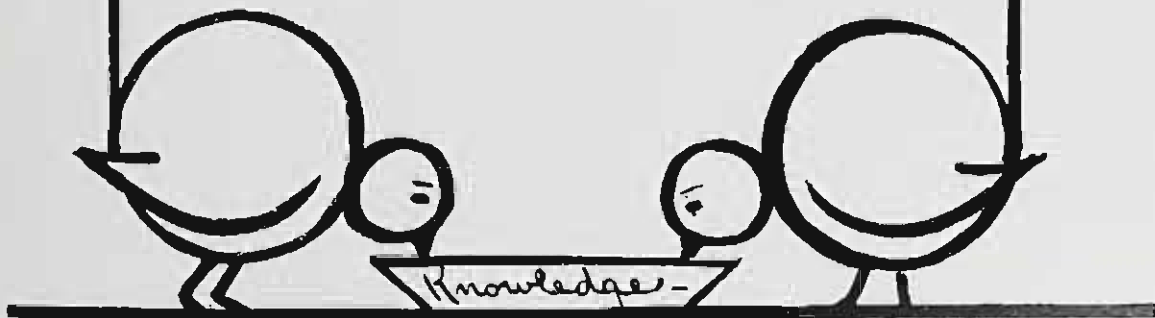

"ANNA REPKA is—a bubble dancer. She displayed some talent with her rendition of 'Queenie' during Gym Class but I never imagined—did you?"

"MINERVA LESHNE'S circus troop, Rangling Sisters, Inc., is coming to town. Featured artists are BETTY LAMOND, the Lion Trainer, and LILLIAN KOPP, the Snake-Charmer."

"Sh, Sh—HELEN WALKOTTEN is setting up pins at the Recreation Center these nights."

A bronze bell in the college steeple chimes once . . . twice, lending a note of finality to the thought "All's well that ends well," while the Class of '43 resolves itself to an evening of merry making.

Skull and Poniard Fraternity

The Skull and Poniard Fraternity was organized and incorporated in 1932 for purposes of scholarship and fellowship. The fraternity has enjoyed great success since its conception. The brothers have been active in life at "State" and have enjoyed success, in all fields, after graduation.

The social affairs have annually been topped by the stag banquet at which all the old and new members join in renewing past friendships and kindling new ones.

At present over 80% of the brothers are in the service of their country and the fraternity wishes to express to all its members the hope that we may all reunite in the future and continue our fellowship as we have done in the past.

"THE EXTRAORDINARY PROFESSOR"

By W. KREUPP

● A book about the life of the amazing Professor —, philosopher, physician, psychiatrist, artist, scientist and warrior, with no adjectives spared and the stops all out for Rabelaisian, cloacal satire. ● It is a fresh, new barbaric work of genius, by an author skilfully wielding the venerated scalpel of Aristophanes, Rabelais, Swift and Voltaire. ● If you shock easily, don't read it. It will be too much for you. If you still think that the good preponderates in Man, avoid this book as you would the plague—it will hurt your delicate sensibilities. ● If your eyes are open and you still have your wits about you, however, read this book. ● It will be a memorable event.
