

Evening Post Accepts Poem By Jeffries

Harvest Ode to Be Printed Shortly in Magazine

"BIT OF SYMBOLISM"

The "Lone Huntsman," a harvest poem by Miss Jeffries and the latest effort has been accepted by the Saturday Evening Post. Although the publication has not been announced, it will probably appear in print in the next few weeks because of its subject.

Other poems by Miss Jeffries have appeared in about 60 of the country's leading publications, among them the Saturday Evening Post and the New York Times. Many of these were printed while she was a reporter for "The Student," college newspaper at Central Missouri State Teachers.

The name of the poem belies its contents. "The Lone Huntsman" is a bit of symbolism representing a person's attitude or way of living. Miss Jeffries said, "Rather than a portrait of a person such as the title may lead one to think."

Miss Jeffries firmly believes that everyone instinctively likes poetry but then begins to dislike it because it is poorly taught or forced upon a student when he is not yet ready to receive it. She also thinks that it would be well to include poetry writing in English classes because the creative approach brings the greatest appreciation, showing clearly the difficulties of the method of work.

The following few lines by Francis Thompson inspired Miss Jeffries to her success:

0 world invisible, we view thee;
0 world intangible, we touch thee;
0 world unknowable, we know thee;
0 world unapprehensible, we clutch thee!

Miss Jeffries is also planning to publish a volume of her poetry.

Dr. White's Class Takes Field Trip

Dr. White's newly organized class in social studies toured New York City on September 28, its first field trip.

The tour consisted of a bus ride through Greenwich Village, Little Italy, "Little Syria" and Battery Park, and a boatride around Manhattan Island.

The group lunched at the Syrian restaurant, "The Son of the Mek." They also toured a candy factory connected with the restaurant.

Similar tours will be taken on alternate Saturdays during the remainder of the semester. Before each trip an itinerary will be placed on the bulletin board, that students desiring to go on the tours may sign up. The class has 22 members and about 10 extra students can be accommodated.

Captain Danskin Talks To School

Explorer, In Arctic 3 Times, Comments on Far North

ESCAPED FROM DEATH

One of the outstanding explorers of the last three decades held the attention of every occupant of the assembly yesterday morning with a running fire of facts and comments on the far North. With vivid demonstrations and colorful equipment he made the distant Arctic seem very near indeed, telling of several narrow escapes from an untimely end.

Three times a visitor to the Arctic, Captain Danskin is considered one of the foremost authorities on conditions of travel to the North and knows well the habitat and peculiarities of the denizens of those frozen wastes.

The combined organizations of the Community Chest of Paterson will make an effort to inform the students as to the worthwhile work of the Chest on October 14. Student talent will perform on this program as an added attraction.

October 21, holds an unusual musical program in the singing of Old English traditional ballads by Mr. Haddock. The touring of the Bergen County W. P. A. Concert Orchestra is certainly anticipated because of their previous acclamation by the entire student body. October 28, is the date.

Election will come to P. S. T. C. on November 4. The American Government classes will campaign with speeches followed by a straw vote.

Dramatic Personae is the name for the play to be given by the Masque and Masquers on November 18, and the Psychology Club assembly is to be held on November 25. December 2, Montclair State Teachers College will present for our pleasure their Capella Choir. Inter-Class debating finals will take over the program for December 9.

Christmas is always preceded by the traditional Musical Assembly presented by the associated musical organizations. The spirit of Yuletide will fill the air on December 20.

Directory Again

The Student Directory, issued first time last year, will be published again. Mr. Williams, adviser of the Student Council, has asked the committee to act immediately on appointing an editor for the Directory.

Last year's directory was a huge success, stated Mr. Williams, but it was issued too late to much benefit the students. He expressed the desire to have the publication out as soon as possible.

James Houston, graduate of 1940, was the editor of last year's successful directory.

Council Passes Budget; Resolution Denounced

Executive Committee Hit As All Committees File Heated Protests

Fiery Debate Ends With Passage Of Budget, 23-13

The Budget of the Student Government Association weathered its initial test when it was passed over the stormy objections of the opposition by a vote of 23 to 13. This was one of the smallest margins of victory ever given the approval of a budget.

NEXT IN LINE—The Student Government will get the next crack at the student budget recently approved at a preliminary hearing. Nicholas Beversluis (above) heads the next reviewing group, which consists of the whole college. The budget then comes up for the acceptance or veto of Dr. Wightman. If accepted it becomes law.

Freshman Dance Ends Initiation

ATTENDANCE SMALL

Approximately eighty couples attended the Initiation Dance in the auditorium on Friday, September 27. The fourth annual dance of its kind to come as a climax to the fun of initiation week. It was very successful as far as the number of Freshmen and Sophs who attended is concerned. There were few Seniors and Juniors present, however.

The top bands of the country supplied the music, by transcription of course. The cutting-in system prevailed making informality the keynote of the evening. Many girls were whirled about from one fellow to another in the course of one dance. Victor Christie and Charles Fulbeck, the presidents respectively of the Sophomore and Freshman classes, organized a Paul Jones which helped to introduce the Freshmen to one another and to the upper classroom.

The dance didn't seem quite natural to the upperclassmen until Gay Tarantino appeared and went into her jitterbug routine with Tony Mainenti.

At ten-thirty the refreshment committee headed by Rose Edelman announced that punch and cookies were waiting to be eaten in the corner of the auditorium. After refreshments, the dancing continued until 11:45.

Serious snarls developed when President Hasser pro tem advocated the passage of the budget. Objections began with the Italian Clubs' representative asking why they were eliminated from the budget. Council President, who relinquished the chair to Treasurer Hasser, bore the brunt of mounting opposition. However, Beversluis, backed by Faculty Adviser Williams, reassured the representative that they were not being discriminated against. Beversluis went on to state that insufficient funds had caused the cutting of many club budgets.

Opposition Mounts

With the first broadside fired by the Italian Club, the opposition steadily mounted. The Executive Committee found itself in a precarious predicament when all the major spending agencies decried the budget as it stood. The Beacon led the battle and soon the Social Committee, the Athletic Committee, and the Assembly Committee crusaded for the defeat of the budget on the grounds that a full calendar of student activity at State could not be carried on with the proposed allotments.

Appeals To Reason

Freshman President Fulbeck was also influential in bringing about the passage of the budget when he asked for an appeal to reason. He asked the council to pass the budget because at the most the Executive Committee could reallocate would be $120.

He continued to say that we should pass the budget as it stood and in the course of the term a new financial set-up could be arrived at. His argument brought the Executive Committee's budget from certain defeat to a narrow victory.

Budget Passed

After an hour of debate the budget was questioned and immediately passed by a vote of 23 to 13.

The budget must now be ratified by the Student Government Association which comprises the entire student body.

Editor Smith of The Beacon charged that the cutting of The Beacon budget would bring the allotment to ten dollars below the actual printing costs of the paper.

The Cheerleading Squad, as a result of this bill, will have to supply their own outfits. Don Hall representing the Athletic Committee stated that each athlete would have to purchase his own sneakers if the council continued the cut in their allowance.

C.A.A. Doubles Flight Quota

Upper Classmen Given First Preference As Course Is Open To Both Sessions.

Paterson State will again participate in the Civilian Pilot Training Program, with a doubled quota. This year 20 students will be permitted to take their ground course and flying instruction as part of State's course. Dr. Loveridge is supervisor at the college.

Students will be required to take meteorology and navigation as part of their ground course.

Not only day students, but also night school students, will be able to take the instruction, which starts shortly.

Ground instruction in its academic phases will be given at the college and other instruction will be given at Bendix Airport.

After a student has passed successfully his ground instruction he is permitted to take flight instruction. First, he is taught the simpler maneuvers and then has to solo. Finally, he learns the more complicated maneuvers and also goes up alone to give the instructor a chance to watch him from the ground. After he has passed his solo, he must also pass a cross-country flying test. This consists of a flight of 60 miles with stops along the way.

A map first must be drawn by the pupil and approved by his instructor. Then the student is given his plane with enough fuel for any emergency that may present itself.

Regulations this year permit students who have had two years of college work in any institution to register for the ground course and flight training even though they do not take additional subjects this term.

Girls Declare Waistline War

All Paterson State Girls who desire to get rid of some excess energy will have their chance this semester. Swimming and modern dancing will highlight the program.

Under the direction of Miss Hopper the Modern Dance class held its first session on October 3 and will continue to do so each Thursday afternoon from three to four. The group will study phases of contemporary theatrical dancing.

All would-be aquabellies may sign up for the swimming class held on Tuesday mornings from 9:00 to 10:00 at the Y. M. C. A. Instruction at various levels will be given for a nominal fee.

Competition is already keen among girl basketball players although the season does not officially open until early in November.

Interviews of Interesting Freshmen

by LAURA CROUCH

More than 120 Freshmen officially opened the doors of Paterson State two weeks ago. The former records of many of these students intimate that they will continue with their outstanding records in Paterson State.

When only a Freshman in Paterson Central, Norma Giordano started her journalistic career. After serving on the staff for three years, Norma became Editor-in-chief of the "Tatler." She held this position for more than a year. During that time she won a Quill and Scroll pin as an outstanding high school journalist. She also won the gold medal given by the Central class in journalism.

In Paterson State, Norma is entered in the Teacher Education course. She plans to teach two years and then study at the Guggenheim Foundation. Her chief ambition now is to become a foreign correspondent. During her college career Norma plans to continue her journalism work on the "Beacon" staff. When asked what she thought of the Freshman initiation, Norma replied, "I especially like the attitude of the Sophomores!"

The chief claimant to the title of "Most Traveled Freshman," is Charles Fulbeck who hails from Bloomfield. He has worked his way to California twice by chauffering. He has been in 40 out of 48 states as well as Mexico and Canada. During this long driving experience, Charlie has had only one serious accident.

As well as traveling, Charlie also played on the famous Bloomfield football team. While in Paterson State, Charlie is taking business subjects. He hopes to go to Antioch College in Ohio where he'll study to be a C.P.A. He wants to participate in sports while at Paterson State. As a tip to the "Beacon" staff, one of his hobbies is writing poetry.

Already well known among the Freshmen is Josephine Basinski, who prefers to be called "Jo". Jo was well known in Lyndhurst High where she acted as secretary of the Senior class, president of the Dramatic Club, and as a member of the Student Council. Among other things this attractive blonde was also a twirler for her school band. Jo wants to be a high school teacher specializing in social studies. She likes Paterson State because it is small and more intimate.

Gordon Smith is already known around school as "Peanut." Gordon hails from Ridge-wood where he specialized in public speaking and student government work. In line with his interests, he would like to join the debating club. He hopes to get on the student council before he leaves Paterson State. His hobbies are following politics and playing baseball. When asked about the initiation, he said, "It's fun if you take it right."

Teaneck is the home town of Elizabeth "Lib" Pardey. At Paterson State she is preparing to become a business girl. While here she would like to join the Masque and Masquers. She has had past experience playing "dumb" girls at Teaneck. She would like to find out what the P. and Q. club is too. Her opinion of Paterson State is that "Everybody's swell."

Junior Class Elects Officers

Thomas Cunningham, a member of the Men's Glee Club, was elected president of the Junior Class at a meeting held Friday, Sept. 13. Other officers are vice-president, Dolores Meulener, former treasurer of the Art Club and vice-president of the P. and Q., a member of the Beacon staff and Masque and Masquers; secretary, Mary Williams, a member of the Art, Italian and Psychology Clubs; treasurer, Helen Wledis.

With one Freshman from Central in the interview, it is only fair to include one from Eastside. He is Bill Conklin. Bill hasn't been in Eastside long since he recently moved to Paterson from New Brunswick. His extra-curricular interests were dramatics and journalism. At Paterson State he hopes to join the Masque and Masquers. Bill approves of the initiation because he likes his big sister.

There are many more Freshmen who are sure to show their talents as they get better acquainted in Paterson State.

14 Will Head Senior Class

Directorate Recommended By Executive Board; Stiff Opposition

The Senior Class voted 34 to 6 to have a directorate of fourteen members manage their affairs for their final year at State, when they met at a special meeting at high noon on Friday in the Auditorium.

The directorate came as a result of the recommendation by the class executive committee and was announced on the floor by Secretary Francis Van Kirk. The Executive Committee contended that they would be able to function as a better managed body if they had the assistance of the directorate to help them decide the small matters which they deemed unnecessary to submit to the class as a whole.

Stiff opposition arose from the group of Seniors, who are out practicing teaching, when Mildred Schmidt spoke out against the proposal. Her opposition along with the other's opposition was for the defeat of the proposal because it was thought that it was a useless group to be formed. However, the real fight was not over this, but over a much deeper undercurrent of constitutional right of meeting as a Senior Class group. The opposition said that we should meet more often as a group to discuss matters of any importance. When the final tally was taken the vote stood at 34 for the motion with six dissents.

Guard Gains State Losses

Loveless, Ayre and Schoekner Called

The participants in the initiation parade were happy to have Bill Loveless back in their midst even though only for a short time. Bill left Sunday, Sept. 22, for a year's service in the National Guard at Fort Dix, N. J. He not only had to interrupt his studies at State but he had to resign as vice-president of the Sophomore class.

We're all hoping that exemption from service can be obtained for Bill and two other members of State who have been called to the colors; namely Bill Ayre and Richard Schoekner.

Annapolis Gets A Third Man

SEGAR PICKS ALEXANDER

Midshipman Robert Alexander became the third student of State to join the United States Naval Academy within a period of two years.

Bob Alexander, former student at State, was appointed to the Academy by the late Congressman George Segar in one of his last official acts. Alexander who placed third in the examinations received the appointment through the effect of our new naval expansion program.

This makes the third appointment of "State" men to Annapolis. Midshipmen MacKown and Cole were appointed previously.

Frat & Sorority

SKULL & PONIARD

The Skull and Poniard fraternity held its first meeting of the season at the home of Brother Master James Houston. A short organization meeting was followed by an evening of socializing.

Master Houston plans to revive the executive committee meetings to take care of minor business details. Committee appointments will be made at the next meeting.

Brothers will miss Brother Robert Alexander who was recently appointed to Annapolis. Brother Hinkle has also rendered his service to the country by joining the U. S. Navy.

Deputy Master Edward Phillips plans to join the U. S. Army Air Corps. Happy landings to you, Ed.

The next meeting will be held this Monday night, Sept. 30, at the home of Brother Alexander.

Faculty Picnic In The Making

Plans for the annual Faculty Picnic to be held this week at Garret Mountain are being arranged by the Faculty Social Committee under Miss Tiffany, chairlady, Miss Abrams, and Mr. Baker's guidance. The Faculty picnic is held by the Faculty each year to start off their social calendar with a bang.

Miss Hopper, Miss Trainor, and Mr. Baker are in charge of the la carte; Miss Jackson, Miss Jeffries, and Dr. Unzicker will act as the quartermaster corp in bringing up the utensils. Cooking and fire-building will be under the direction of Chefs Weidner, Loveridge, Thomas, Abrams, and Alteneder. Miss Hopper and Mr. Schmidt are in charge of the activities which will round out a jolly afternoon for our renown faculty members.

Debating Club's Hopes Bright

HARTLEY NAMED ADVISOR

Although Wallace Reid is the only veteran left from last year's championship team, the Debating Club is looking forward to another successful season. A large group of promising members attended the organization meeting held Friday and it is hoped that they can work together into a team that will duplicate last season's performance which brought the cup of the Eastern State Teachers' College Debating League to the Pioneers.

Election of officers, which was to have been held Friday has been deferred to the next meeting to be set for this week. A budget for the coming season has already been sent to the Student Council.

The appropriation will be used for activities the club participates in including inter-collegiate debates and the Inter-Collegiate Debating League which will meet at Kutztown, Pa.

Dr. Hartley, history instructor and former captain of the debating team at Springfield College and coach at Ellis College, Pa., will direct the team this year.

Mr. O. Thomas, instructor in business administration, will continue as the business adviser and administrator.

The club announced that students interested in debating are invited to join the organization.

Our friend, the absent-minded professor, jumped out of the middle of the night, to the stars and about "Who's down there in the chicken?"

"Nobody," said the burglar. "Well, that's funny," said the professor, "I could have sworn I heard a noise."—(Texas Longhorn).

Incidentals

By HILDEGARD

Patricia's "chaperon" at the Welcome Dance certainly received a raw deal. The numerous swains who demanded Betty's exclusive attention gave the fellow who offered to play the role of a friend, no opportunity whatsoever to get within speaking distance of his charge.

Mr. Weidner's Music Appreciation Class gave to mirth Wednesday morning—and all at Jean Sey's expense. The reason is so lengthy to relate here. Needless to say, however, she turned it and redder by degrees.

Remember Bobby Beckwith, seniors? Word has been received that Bobby is cutting up at the State. In answer to a question "What is an oasis?" he naively replied, "An oasis is a wet spot in a dry spot."

Was Charlie Spinoso's face all white when he ran off the film, south of the North Pole," at the Geography Club meeting the other day.

How some people drag their children up! This tale concerns several modest P. S. T. C. coeds who are humanizing themselves after a gym class Friday afternoon. In the midst of these activities one girl glanced toward an open window in the washroom and saw what looked like eyes peering in. Sure enough, on closer examination it was discovered that three little boys and one little girl were having a fine time of their lives playing "Peeping Toms." A struggle ensued—the net results were dirty hands, skinned knees, and wretched expressions—the obstinate window would not budge! What do? About ten minutes after their unsuccessful attempts to secure privacy, the coeds decided to continue with their obligations and the youngsters lost interest. Ho, hum.

ADMINISTRATION NOTICES

A number of Freshman and sophomore students have indicated their interest in learning more about teaching as a profession. In recognition of these interests and with the knowledge of a real need for class contacts with teaching for many students in the lower division, Mr. Wightman has invited all students in the lower division who are considering teaching as a profession to meet on Wednesday, October 9, at 3:15 in room 211. Dr. White has been invited to meet with the group and discuss the formation of a new club—a chapter of the national organization known as Future Teachers of America.

Part-Time Students

Those students who, for one reason or another, have not been authorized to carry a full program, are called "part-time" students. Since they have not been formally admitted to any class (i. e. Freshman, Sophomore, etc.) they are not members of any class, and are not entitled to attend meetings, hold office, or vote. The Administration is, however, glad to extend them the opportunities for academic pursuit and social and recreational enjoyment found at our college.

Library Adds 500 New Books

With the addition of 500 new books, 250 of which are already here, another step in the development of a bigger library has been completed. Although most of the books may now be taken out, a few are still being catalogued.

A Dictionary of American Slang, by Maurice H. Wesen is one of the books now offered us. It is the first adequate compilation of American slang to be published, and to meet the widespread contemporary interest in vulgarism.

Wheaton Lane's From Indian Trail To Iron Horse is the first of a series of histories to be published by the Princeton University Press in reference to the history of New Jersey. This book deals with the story of transportation in this state. In the second volume of the series, Cockpit of the Revolution by Leonard Lundin, the author gives us a picture of conditions in the colony prior to the outbreak of the war. He also presents for the first time a connected narrative of many troop movements and engagements, individually unimportant, but affecting vitally the more decisive campaigns, and the final outcome of the struggle.

Path To Freedom, written by Donald L. Kemmerer, is the third volume in the Princeton History of New Jersey. This book deals with the struggle for self-government in Colonial New Jersey from 1703 to 1776, explaining in detail the Whig-Tory tempest, the revolution under the proprietors, and the outcome of the Stamp Act.

An interpretive picture of the Indians in the United States from their first known record to the present day is portrayed in Clark Wissler's Indians of the United States. The author is recognized as a world authority on the American Indian, and will eventually publish more books on the same topic to form a series.

The Heritage of America, by H. S. Commager, is a book which contributes to an understanding of the variety, the vitality, and the absorbing interest that went into the making of America. Because the book has been divided into sections, all related narratives have been taken together to really give some conception of their specified phases or eras.

Truthful and fascinating tales of adventure are told by Antoine de Saint Exupery in Wind, Sand, and Stars. With serene optimism he depicts the witchery of flying and the excitement he finds in it.

A delightful story of everyday folks and their joys and sorrows is found in Forty Years A Country Preacher which has proved itself to be as entertaining as the autobiography of a country doctor. The author, George B. Gilbert, is no typical country preacher, and his work has been filled with many things besides preaching and pastoral visits. Instead, in his story, he has disclosed a man who has given a helping hand to hundreds of families, many of them poverty stricken, many of them illiterate immigrants.

In vivid style all the principal recreations, fads and sports that have tended to amuse we Americans are brought to us by

Most of the remaining games will be played at home or on one day excursions. Panzer and Bloomfield Colleges have been scheduled, but no date announced.

ATHLETES' FEAT

by DON HALL

Glancing through the mailbag the other day, I was surprised to see a letter addressed to myself. I found it so interesting that I thought others would like to read it. It runs as follows:

"Read your column in the last issue of The Beacon. Was pleased to see that this year State is playing a schedule befitting the team. The Pioneers have progressed rapidly. It was not so many years ago that they were being drubbed by high school teams, while now they are playing the leading teams of the nation, as well as international games.

However, in the locker room the other day I overheard some members of the S. G. A. discussing how the Athletic Committee's budget is being sliced. Although there is only so much money, with our present activity fee, to be distributed among so many agencies, it is a shame that the Athletic Committee is bearing the brunt of the knife.

The great majority of the student body desires our athletic program to be expanded. They desire to see better teams, better competition and more color (cheerleaders, publicity in newspapers, etc). They also desire to keep our present policy of free admission to students to all home games, with the same or an even more limited budget, this, logically enough, is not possible.

It seems to me that some of the burden could be lifted from the treasury if more of the clubs, which serve only a limited number of students, could become self-sustaining, especially those which charge dues. If a real interest in the club is present, a small weekly amount of dues could be raised by the members.

One other thing. There seems to be no prospect of all of having dancing after the games. Many of the less rabid fans, especially those of the fairer sex, come to the games for the dancing exclusively. It would be too bad if we have to lose attendance, which is poor enough as it is, because of the absence of festive strains following the games. Not only that, but if we were sure of dancing, we should be more likely to invite our friends.

A group of fellows in school would be more than pleased to entertain us with their music, especially after the weekend games. Do you think that the student body would be willing to pay a slight fee for music? For the weekend games, we could probably secure records for the victrola.

Can you suggest anything that we may do about these matters? Yours,

"WILBUR"
See your section representative.—DON.

If the lockers could only talk... We would hear how "Rocky" Ford of the basketball squad, and only 1,000 batter on the baseball team, is now a Casanova. For some reason or other, the boys now call him "Kiss-me" Ford.

I see basketball is really getting under way. Coach Schmidt has had all interested boys sign up for an intermural tournament. About fifty fellows have entered. There will probably be six teams, captained by members of last year's varsity. The teams will then be drawn up as evenly as possible. Regulation games will be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday after school.

This tournament will give Mr. Schmidt a preview of this year's prospects. It will also give the fellows a chance to sharpen up their eyes before the first call for the Pioneers goes out. Dan Jankalaunas and Sy Pollack will have the headaches of running the tournament.

State's student body has never been known for any exceptional support for the team. However, it has been improving. It is not too early to start planning to attend this year's games. It would be really showing our appreciation of the team if we could get a good turnout for our first game at L. I. U. If enough students would show interest, I don't think it would be very difficult to get the Athletic Committee to secure a bus for this game. Not only would you see a great game, but most of us know what fun can be had on the bus. It would also be less expensive than going in cars, since there would be quite some expense in tolls. Hope to see you all there!

CLUBS AND CLASSES

Women's Glee Club

A large number of new members attended the first meeting of the Women's Glee Club, held last week. Plans were made to test the voices of all the members in preparation for the Operetta, which is the big event of the year.

New officers were elected for the coming year. Pauline Gagliardi was selected president, Edith Morris, vice-president; Jean McAlevey, secretary-treasurer, June Bohren, librarian.

Men's Glee Club

Kenneth Mahood was elected president of the Men's Glee Club at its first meeting. The club plans to present an assembly program in the near future and, if possible, a program of singing for some of the city organizations.

Masque and Masquers

Eleven members of the Masque and Masquers are eligible for membership in the Delta Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic society.

The students who will receive chapter pins and membership cards have completed the necessary requirement of active participation in more than two dramatic productions.

Eligible students for membership are: Frank Althroth, Hazel Baiarel, Betty Barton, Sylvia Blut, Evelyn Foote, Kay George, Sidney Goldberg, Alice Grillo, Abba Hutchison, Emanuel Raff, and Nonnette Renier.

The club is considering the three act play, "American Passport" for presentation in December. A scene from the play will be enacted at the next meeting. (Continued on Page 4)

by LAURA CROUCH

As school gets under way and activities start, more and more of the Freshmen are making themselves known around State. Double addition to the Freshman class are the Darling twins, Jewell and Joyce. They're also an addition to Midland Park, their home town. Although they have been in Paterson State only a few weeks, they already plan to join the Masque and Masquers and the Psychology Club. Joyce is going to try out for cheerleading as well. They're sticking together in school as much as possible, and hope to do so in the future when they want to teach in elementary schools. They both prefer the lower grades. When it comes to hobbies, Jewell likes to play ping-pong and collect gadgets, while Joyce prefers to collect toy dogs. Like all of the other freshmen interviewed, the two Darlings like the friendly attitude of the students here. They don't mind the Sophs, because they don't think the initiation was very tough.

Fred Engleken, already one of the best known Freshmen, inhabits Paterson where he attended Eastside High. Fred belonged to several clubs there, the most important of which were the International Relations Club and the Nature Club. Outside sports attract Fred's interest, especially basketball, baseball, and swimming. In Paterson State, he'd like to try out for the basketball team, and he already belongs to the Student Council. Fred thinks that he will be a high school commercial teacher, although his secret ambition is to go to Annapolis. When asked about State, Fred said, "I think both the students and the instructors are on the "up and up." Although the Sophs picked on him, he claims that the initiation wasn't tough enough. He said, "The initiation was too easy, but just wait until next year."

Büttler High's loss is Paterson State's gain in the person of Lois McCarthy. In high school, Lois played the violin in the orchestra, sang in the Glee Club, and was a member of the Dramatic Club. Lois plans to continue her activities in college along the same lines by joining the Masque and Masquers, the Glee Club, and the Mixed Chorus. A liberal arts course is Lois' foundation for a hoped-for career of a singer. Lois compares Paterson State to a big, happy family. She thought the initiation was of fun, especially the dance.

Ben Wetzler, the new Paterson man vice-president, had a hard time in Dover. In high school he was out strongly for sports, especially wrestling, track, and indoor sports. His first aim is to get a degree in elementary education. In college he wants to go out for basketball and join the Masque and Masquers. Ben's chief hobby is music. He thinks Paterson State is a very homey college. "The only thing about the initiation that he minded was holding the curtain down in history class, for a whole period. For two years, Ben had military training at Camp Dix. When he goes back into the army, he will be a sergeant. His hobby is children, and his ambition is to meet every Freshman in the class.

Louise Woodruff, a tall girl with auburn hair, is a scholarship winner from Teaneck. In Paterson State, Louise plans to join the Masque and Masquers. She is already experienced in dramatic work, having been president of the Playcrafters, the Teaneck High dramatic club. Louise would like to join the P and Q Club, and the Psychology Club. Her favorite pastime is drawing, especially cartooning. "Paterson State is great," is Louise's opinion. When asked her pet aversion, Louise replied that she hates to drive behind Esso oil trucks on the way to school.

Last, but already important, is Robert Desmond. Bob lives in Ridgefield Park where he participated moderately in high school extra-curricular activities. In college Bob has started off with flying colors by being elected class treasurer. Along the musical tone, Bob has joined the Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus where he sings second bass. At Dutch College is the student body of Bob who is trying to meet the Charlie Fulbeck to go to the State. His hobby is to meet the pretty girls in the State. He'll give anyone a good time willing to risk it.

Books which the International Relations Club has received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace have been placed by the club in the library to be used by all students.

The books are kept in the visual aid closet and are designated by a "C" on the catalog card. Besides the books, which deal with international affairs, the club receives a fortnightly summary of news events.

An Eastern College association of the I. R. C. meets each year. The Paterson State chapter is now discussing the possibilities of sending a delegate to this year's conference which will be held at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

Science Club

The constitution and by-laws of the Science Club, were read to all new members at the regular meeting of the club on Friday afternoon. The biology laboratory, Elizabeth Oakley, is the club's program and she had the many requirements of a student interested in the club. A minute talk before the club will be admitted as a full member.

A committee was appointed by President Viglione to formulate plans for a picnic to be held sometime this month. Further discussion of these plans will be taken up at a future meeting.

Faculty Picnic

The elements are against the picnic. At least it seems that way because for the second time the Faculty have been deprived of their picnic because of rain. However, plans will once more go underway at a meeting this coming Monday. Here's hoping Old Sol doesn't disappoint them again.

Two Field Trips Been This Year

LAST YEARS

The procedure of the committee of the Junior and Senior classes was to hold a field trip to the State Museum in Trenton. The first trip was to the State Museum in Trenton, N. J. The second trip was to the State Museum in Trenton, N. J. The first trip was to the State Museum in Trenton, N. J. The second trip was to the State Museum in Trenton, N. J.

One of the most useful additions to the library is Current Biography, a series of magazines published monthly which is similar to Who's Who. In each issue, there is a complete accumulation of names listed by professions on the inside of the front cover. This makes this particular series easier to use than most other books of the same type.

Fraternity & Sorority

Phi Omega Psi Officers of the Phi Omega Psi Fraternity formally installed at an impressive ceremony held last Monday night at Miss Hopper's apartment. Mrs. Wightman and Mr. Shannon were guests of honor. Miss McCann, the new president, held a short business meeting to outline plans for the coming year. Other officers are Loretta Driscoll, vice-president; Dorothy Dockray, recording secretary; Mary Boyle, corresponding secretary, and Collette Seiss, treasurer.

Skull and Poniard The Skull and Poniard Fraternity held its first important business meeting last Monday night at the home of Brother Alexander.

Many brothers attended, thus helping to get the business under way. Committee appointments were postponed until the next meeting. The brothers emphasized their desire to maintain the social and educational functions of the fraternity. One committee which will be active very shortly is the membership committee. Male members of the college will be closely observed for the possibility of becoming prospective members. The next meeting will be held on next Monday night, October 14.

State Welcome 12 Trans

SOUTH WELLS REPRESENTATIVE

Twelve cheerleaders from as many as six states, have been new to the newly school, Paterson State College.

Taction, Selected New Cheerleaders

IOLA AND ROHR'S AS

Several new cheerleaders have been chosen to take the place of those who graduated last year. The new cheerleaders are Tactionis, Captain, Frances and Aileen Rohrs. Our cheerleaders had a good time choosing six people of the large number that they put out for the team. Gloria Joyce Darling, Lee Bean Cunningham, and Stanley Kowser were finally chosen. A tie was announced between Libby Pardey and Aileen Baskinski. A tie of them has been decided. The team will start practice on the first of the month. The end of November.
