

Juniors Win Debating Cup

Interventionists Score Final Victory To Give Win To Juniors Over Isolationist Sophs

The Junior Class Debating team won the second annual debate sponsored by the Debating club and walked off with the gold cup in their possession. The final debate was held in the auditorium yesterday. The Interventionists, aided by world conditions, spiked all arguments of the Isolationist group.

The most startling development came about when the Juniors introduced a surprise telegram from the Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, which formally gave our country's opinion as to the status of Canada.

Leading the victorious team as rebuttalist was Miss Barbara Wilder, who in her summation said that isolation was not our policy and never could be. Backing Miss Wilder's statements were the two other speakers of the team, Mr. Jack Madrigin, and Betty Driscoll.

The defeated Isolationists capitalizing on our own weaknesses within stated that America should mend its own home before going overseas to mend others. The defeated Sophomore team consisted of Warren Reichert, Rose Urato, and Harvey Ascher, rebuttalist.

Thomas Cunningham, President of the Juniors, received the gold cup from Wallace Reid after the judges had rendered their verdict. The judges were Mr. Hartley, Mr. White and Mr. Roehler.

Explorers See 'King of Rails'

President Spinosa Makes Committee Appointments

Explorers of the Geography Club reviewed the film, "King of the Rails," which was obtained from the General Electric Company, at their last meeting on January 10. The film was part of the visual aid unit that the club is working on. In connection with the club work, the Seniors reviewed their lantern slide work in one of their recent classes with their instructor, Dr. Shannon, who gave invaluable hints for improving a great many lantern slides.

President Spinosa announced the committees to head the Geography Club for the coming Spring semester. The program committee consists of William Lee, Lillian Drake, Clair O'Meara, Gladys Champin, Margaret Paterson, and Dolores Muelner. Hazel Rudolph, Margaret Isch, Edytha Parcell, Grace Del Vecchio and Barbara Lee were appointed to the Visual Aids Committee.

A special committee which has been making a map of southwestern Asia will present its report on construction and the completion of the project at the next club meeting.

Chamber Music Features Trio

Four Artists Play At State This Thursday Evening

The famous "trio of Paterson," composed of artists Frank Cornaglia, Isadore Freeman, and John Passaretti, will be featured Thursday evening, January 16, in the second of the three concerts in the Chamber Music Series.

These concerts are being held at P.S.T.C.

Mr. Cornaglia, 'cellist, is a member of the Paterson Philharmonic Orchestra and once played under the direction of Arturo Toscanini at the Palma Opera House in Italy.

Mr. Freeman, pianist, teaches in the Adult Education School at P.S.T.C. and is a radio artist and music lecturer.

Mr. Passaretti, violinist, claims notice as conductor of the Paterson Philharmonic Orchestra.

Also scheduled to appear Thursday evening is Laura Triggiani, soprano prima donna of the Newark Civic Opera Company.

Psyc Discusses Psychoanalysis

"Freud and Psychoanalysis" is the topic of a short panel discussion which will be presented by the Psychology Club this Wednesday during Activity period, in the Lecture Room.

Four Freshman girls, Rosemary Poletta, Joyce Darling, Jeanne Smythe, and Edna Ann Hay will participate in the discussion. Dorothea Bundy is in charge and will introduce the speakers. In addition to the panel discussion, Abba Hutchinson will speak on "Dreams," and Jack Madrigin on "Hypnotism." After the reports, there will be open discussion of the topic. The entire meeting will be presided over by Margaret Isch.

State Trips Hofstra 30-31

State Wins Over Powerful Five In First Overtime Game Of Season

Staters' rampaging Pioneers copped a one-point decision by a 31-30 count on their home court last Friday in the season's hottest encounter.

The Schmittmen started out as if to annihilate their guests as they ran up a 17-6 lead after twelve minutes of play. Williams, Jankelunas, Fisherman, and Sirota took turns bombarding the hoop while they held Hofstra to but two field goals. Hofstra tried a zone defense but quickly abandoned it after the Orange and Black opened the way for numerous set shots, with some snappy ball handling. After a time out the visitors seemed to find themselves and with Reilly and Buffalino showing the way they closed the gap until they trailed by three points at half time, 19-16.

Coming out for the second half Hofstra took up where they left off with Reilly and Buffalino taking turns dropping in deuces they forged ahead un-

Bastien and Blut Nominated For The Treasurership of the S. G. A.

The Junior class nominated Ruth Bastien and Sylvia Blut as candidates for the recently vacated post of Treasurer of the S. G. A. when they met in special meeting yesterday morning following the assembly.

Miss Bastien and Miss Blut led the list of four nominees. Their names will be sent to the Council by the Class President. The Council will then name the treasurer from the nominees.

The nominees listed for selection were Sylvia Blut, Mary Woodworth, Ruth Bastien, and Frank Ianucci.

Senior Square Dance Tonite

Hill Billy Band Saws Out Tunes For State's First Square Dance

Paterson Staters will get their first taste of country dancing when they romp into the Gym tonite to whirl about the floor to the tune of the country dance tunes played by a real hill billy square dance band.

Something new and different to the tune of "Up the Aisle and Separate," "Swing your pork chop, swing your ham," and many other ditties will set the stage for the Senior Square dance tonight at 8 o'clock.

Folk dancing is definitely becoming the vogue so why not learn at P.S.T.C.? The square set is made up of four couples. The man stands to the left of his partner for the beginning position. The couples are numbered as the head or lead couple, and then counting right the second, third and fourth couples. So when the caller yells, "Set 'em up" get ready to swing. Instructions will be given.

Round sets as well as square dancing may be enjoyed. "Darling Nellie Grey," "The Old Apple Tree in the Orchard" and "Marching Thru Georgia" will make this an evening to remember and talk about.

Get your tickets, 35c per person from any Senior or at the door.

We'll be seeing you.

Hartley and Karp Present Course

Twenty-six new teacher education courses for the afternoon and evening have been scheduled for the coming semester.

A new and interesting feature is a cooperation course, interweaving the historical background with the resultant creative expressions by American writers, given by Dr. Hartley and Mr. Karp.

Members of our faculty will form the basis of the corps of instructors. Among them, however, will be such notable persons as Dr. J. Harold Straub, President of the P.S.T.C. Alumni Association, who has written the children's book, "Biff, the Fire-dog," which is very popular with the children in the children's library downstairs; and Mr. William H. Wilson, principal of School No. 15, which is the college's training school for its students. Mr. Stuart Race, supervising principal of Glen Rock, and Dr. Harry A. Wann, County Superintendent of Schools in Morris County, are also going to serve as instructors this year in the late afternoon and evening division.

The Activity Fee Committee meeting in a special joint session with the Executive Committee on January 3 recommended that the minor spending agencies be eliminated from the S.G.A. budget program. The majority of members of the Executive Committee opposing the proposal caused a 3 to 3 tie vote which caused the chair to cast the deciding vote in favor of the program. The elimination of the minor spending agencies was the final point of an eleven point program which the Fees Committee will submit at the special session of the Council tomorrow during activity period.

The fee proposals will take the form of amendments to the By-Laws of the S.G.A. Constitution. Through this method the proposals, if approved by the Council, will be open for ratification by the Student body.

Teeth Put Into Program

Teeth were put into the program to curb and to enforce the spending of the budgets as specified when the committee suggested and carried a proposal to create a Budget Adjustment Committee to check the agencies funds. The committee, which consists of eight members appointed by the President of the Council, will have the power to supervise directly a

I.R.C. Attends Nat'l Conference

Bannehr Leads Panel Discussion At Washington Conference

Seven members and the faculty adviser of the International Relations Club at Paterson State Teachers College attended the International Relations Clubs Conference at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., on December 20 and 21. The delegates were Katherine Bannehr, Rose Edelman, Kay George, Sidney Goldberg, Jean Sampson, Bridget Sinacou, Eleanor Wild and Mr. Benjamin Matelson.

Katherine Bannehr, president of the I.R.C., led a group in the discussion of Problems of South America.

The discussions were on the following topics: 1. Problems of South America; 2. Democracy; 3. Powers and Policies of the Far East; 4. European Theatre of War.

The members stayed at Georgetown University for the length of the conference and then departed for home. There was a dance and banquet where all enjoyed themselves.

The 1941 conference will be held at Lehigh University, Pennsylvania.

THE ALUMNI IS BEHIND 'EM

It seems incredible to say it, but there have been more alumni members attending our basketball games than undergraduates. Yes, it is true. The number that attended the Glassboro and the Trenton games was almost twice the number of Staters present.

Never before have we witnessed such a startling trend of events. What does it mean? Does it mean that the student body is not behind our team? Are the students indifferent to the sport? What is it anyhow? We are sure that we don't know. Whatever it is, you hold the key to the solution. You are the ones to tell us the answer.

A slight trend for the better came about last Friday at the Hofstra game, when the number of Staters almost equalled the number of alumni present. However, that is not enough. We should outnumber the alumni two to one. Thanks for your support, alumni.

STOP 'EM

Come on, Staters! You're letting the grass grow under your feet. There go the faculty bowling and here we sit. Before long they will begin to crow about their prowess.

Now is the time to nip their plans in the bud by starting our own bowling team and practice until the time comes when we can hand them a glorious defeat.

Let's go, bowlers!

The Phi Omega Psi held its formal initiation of new members Tuesday evening, January 7, at Miss Hopper's apartment.

The new sisters are: Pamela Tustin, Marion Peck, Anne Vroom, Grace Cooke, Betty Smith, Edith Morris, Virginia White, and Jean Matteson.

The sorority planned a formal dance to be held February 1 at the Windbeam, Hillsdale. Bids are $3.00 and the public is invited.

Alice McGuirk was hostess at a Christmas party given by the Zeta Kappa Chi sorority. Members exchanged gifts from their "unknown friends."

It's The Alumni Folks

Forum and Against'em

The American People are today wondering and fearing—will the United States again slip into deadly conflict? One hundred and thirty million Americans raise an earnest cry peace. Divergent opinions exist among the peoples of this nation as to whether this administration is drawing us into the war. It is with this in mind that we discuss the question: "Do you feel that the present administration is drawing the United States into the war?"

* * * *

Mr. Editor:

It is the wish of the American people that our country stay out of the European war. It is also an ardent wish that we aid England to defeat the aggressors. These two wishes are not as irreconcilable as they seem.

Both Britain and America are nations satisfied as to territorial expansion. Their hopes of prosperity lie in peace, the freedom of the seas, and in the maintenance of the status quo. The axis powers are desperately trying to arrange the world's geographic, political and socio-economic status to suit their own purpose. It is our duty, if not to enter the war, to aid Britain to defeat their efforts.

Several policies are opened to us in regard to our relations with other nations. One of these is appeasement. Recent historical facts show this policy to be not only inadequate to stem the tide of Fascism but actually plays into axis hands.

We need not enter the war, for the material and moral destruction involved will nearly equal the benefits derived from defeating Germany.

The best method of all is a clever game of getting what you want by having others get it for you. Our President has repeatedly made efforts to keep or obtain peace, but he has always realized that idealism minus practicality is of no avail in a world embittered by war.

Two facts must remain uppermost in our minds. Our president has promised to keep us out of war. When France, in her hour of agony, appealed to us for direct military aid, F.D.R. refused, just as he is prepared to refuse England if she calls for aid under such circumstances.

The second reason lies on the German side. Hitler is far too clever to provoke us or be provoked by us into war. He would much rather accept, fatalistically, our 75% aid to Britain, than to engage into war with us and receive the other 25% against him. On these two truths I base my argument.

—LEONARD SCHATZMAN

* * * *

Years of prejudice and public opinion precede a declaration of war, and since the President of the United States strongly controls such public opinion, I feel that Mr. Roosevelt has expressed his ideas too strongly for the good of the country. Whatever his reasons may be for impressing the nation with his ideas, he places us in a very precarious position in this chess game of diplomatic relations. Mr. Roosevelt has done his part to arm this country so that if a convenient time comes for us to be plunged into this slaughter there will be no hesitation due to unpreparedness. If we want war let us advocate it openly, but let us consider past history first, and not make the mistake of being led by one man against the wishes of the majority of the people.

State Grooms For Toughies

Year's Hardest Slate Set For This Week

The Paterson State basketballers will have to be on their toes tomorrow night when they tangle with a formidable Panzer quintet at East Orange. The Orange team has suffered only one defeat in the last three years, and that at the hands of another State foe, John Marshall College. Up to and including January 8, the State team had not lived up to predictions, having won only three out of seven starts. These figures give them a win average of .428.

January 17, the Pioneers stay at home to welcome the boys from Bloomfield College. The Bloomfield quintet should be doubly welcome, for not only should they prove less troublesome than previous foes, but they will also furnish the fourth home game out of eleven for the State team. Bloomfield has won not a single game out of four starts this season, possibly because of their tough schedule, possibly because of a new coach. However, if reaction from a tough Panzer game affects State unfavorably, Bloomfield may turn out to be a trying guest.

Paterson will end a tough semester schedule when they meet John Marshall College away January 20, and tangle with Montclair State at home on the 24th. The John Marshall team is the one which polished off Panzer so neatly and ended their remarkable winning streak. Montclair has been subdued only twice in major contests this season, losing to N.Y.U. and St. Johns.

Artists Display Flapper Dresses

The artists of the Art Club turned their attentions to dresses and fashions worn by the women in the days way back when mother was a girl. The dresses date from the early 1900's to the late 1920's.

Among the exhibits is a prize evening gown worth well near a hundred dollars, the dress being decorated with pure gold. The dress is the property of Mrs. Louis B. Shay, a friend of Miss Tiffany, and was loaned to the Art Club for display at State. A green chiffon evening frock also was loaned to the club by the the same Mrs. Shay. Also on display is a white cotton frock which the "oomph" girl of the gay '90's would wear for her date with her fellow. It is ankle length, trimmed with lace and white cotton embroidery. A black lace jacket and black velvet hat trimmed with ostrich plumes also has its origin circa the early 1900's.

Some of the flapper skirts drop slightly below the knees, and evening gowns too. Interesting to note is the fact that the early evening gowns came only to the knees and were quite shapeless.

State Sees Second New England Defeat At Hands Of Referee

Last Monday State's Pioneers trekked to New Britain where they dropped a 44-43 decision in the most thrilling game of the season.

The game started with a slow dull first quarter in which State managed to score only one basket, by Williams. In the meantime Gaudet was connecting for two long shots to help the home team enjoy a 12-5 advantage at the end of the first period.

In the second quarter Paterson began to find the range and on baskets by Williams, Pressman, Sirota, and Jankelunas outscored the home club 9-8.

State played New Britain even during the third quarter, but at that the Spartans increased their lead by three to enjoy a 33-24 lead with the game three quarters gone. Then came the fireworks. The Pioneers blew off the lid on successive shots as Oliver, Williams, Pressman, Jankelunas, and Sirota pegged in deuces to knot the count at 34 up. State took a brief lead as Lou Sirota dumped in a short see shai. New Britain countered on a foul by Conlin and a field goal by Zajoc to once again jump into the van. Wendell Williams inched the Pioneers ahead as he sank a lay-up shoe just before leaving the game on his fourth personal foul. Tommy Oliver threw an ace just ahead of Zajac to protect the one point margin. Dave Ebner, who replaced Williams, found the rim for two more but Rept helped the home team in there with a one-handed shot. Jankelunas dropped in a free throw with 55 seconds remaining to play to give the Black and Orange a two-point lead. State gained possession of the ball and attempted to hold it until the end of the game. However Jankelunas was knocked sprawling, but the officials called walking and gave the ball to the home team.

Conlin tried a desperate heave which found the rim. As the ball was dropping a foul was called. Conlin made goal on the shot with but 10 seconds remaining. A last desperate Pioneer pass was batted down to give the verdict to New Britain.

Profs Start Bowling Teams

Faculty Vies For Honors Spilling The Old Pill

The ferocious faculty members declared war on the old ten-pins when it marched over to the Paterson Recreation Center last Thursday to pit their brawn against brain and vie for berths on the "pioneer" teams.

The teams bear the names of the famous pioneers of American history such as: Daniel Boone, Jesse Jameses, Brigham Youngs, and the Kit Carsons. The names of pioneers were selected because we are known as the Pioneers. Interesting to note, after the playing was concluded and the scores were tabulated to provide for teams of equal ability, was the Brigham Young's led by Mr. Weidnerandt hree women faculty members, Miss Alteneider, Mrs. Boer, and Miss Tyrrel.

The most formidable combination that seems to be shaping to date is the Kit Carsons with three male athletes and a very good bowler of the fairer sex. Those on the team that present a probably unbeaten combination are Mr. Snedeker, Mr. Hartley, Mr. Matelson, and Miss Jeffries.

Meet On January 16

The first faculty competition begins on January 16, when all teams trek to the Center again for the first round of their tournament. The Boones battle the Jameses, while the Youngs have their hands full with the Carsons. The game begins at 3:30 and the faculty is trying to keep the meeting a secret.

The competition continues until March 13, when the bowling champions will be crowned.

ATHLETES' FEAT

by DON HALL

Paterson State's Pioneers, which were expected to roll along on their merry way to their most successful season even though the schedule is the most ambitious of any team ever to represent State, seem unable to really find themselves. At this writing they have lost two straight and are to meet the strong outfits of Hofstra, Jersey City, and Panzer in successive games.

After trouncing Glassboro's weak team they were set back by New Britain and Trenton. To those who saw these games there can be no doubt in their minds that the Orange and Black outfit was stronger than either of their conquerors. However, in both games injuries to "Cookie" Fisherman and to Lou Sirota plus the illness of Wendell Williams plagued the best efforts of the Pioneers. The Trenton game was especially noteworthy. To a disinterested spectator it must have been a comedy to see the antics of the ball. State couldn't beg, borrow or steal a basket on a long shot. Every shot either hit the rim only to bounce the wrong way or hopped in and then out of the basket.

However this hard luck cannot last forever. When the breaks finally change, it's going to be a sorry story for the opposition.

The dark cloud has not been without one or two rays of sunshine. Both Tommy Oliver and Dave Ebner have shown themselves capable of playing bang-up ball games. Their defensive work has been clever and they have come through with valuable points when most needed. The one thing they lack is the experience of playing with the varsity combination. However, they will gain this as they play more and should fit in smoothly.

* * * * *

The J. V. Team has been a pleasant surprise for all those concerned. Not expected to have a very good record at the beginning of the year as all of last year's performers were drafted for Varsity service, the J. V. team has been rolling over the opposition. Their latest triumph was an impressive win over the Lionettes of Trenton by a 44-34 count. The starting five played less than one half as the reserves took over the job of mopping up in the second quarter.

Seymour Pollack has found himself after a poor start. He has been trying too hard and as a result was too tight. Now he is once again relaxed and is dumping in points and playing with the ability he showed such promise of last year. Bill Platt is coming along slowly and surely and may be varsity material for next year. Fred Engleken's stock is on the upswing now that he has settled down to playing basketball. Rocco Montessanno has proven himself to be very valuable in the bucket and set up plays.

* * * * *

If the lockers could only talk we would hear that . . . The cheerleaders would greatly appreciate just a little more noise. After all they have been doing a swell job and deserve your cooperation . . . Central and Passaic High Schools will play a Passaic Valley Conference championship tilt preliminary to our game with the University of Mexico, on February 7 . . . "Dutch" Wenger, former Eastside Varsity basketballer is due to enroll at State in February . . . There is an excellent chance of State's 1941-42 basketball team taking a trip to Maryland and Virginia.

. . . Bill Langstaff Varsity baseball pitcher for the past two seasons will once again enroll for the spring semester . . . The University of Mexico team will be feted by the Skull and Poniard and the Civic Athletic group. In addition to a banquet there will probably be a trip through Wrights . . . Many students are interested in forming a track team. However, they can't find a coach . . . The faculty set the bowling ball rolling . . . How about the student's catching up.

Hofstra

til they led 25-24, with but a few seconds remaining. On a foul shot, Pressman pulled State even and Fisherman set them once more into race with two successful conversions of free throws as the home fans went wild. A split second before the final whistle, Reilly put his team back into the game with a separate hoop shot.

As the five minute overtime session got under way, Wendell Williams stole the ball on a solo he dribbled up the length of the court to make a solo. Heckman cut this lead in half as he successfully made a free throw and Buffalino dropped in a twisting under to put the Hofstraites up. Once again "Cookie" Fisherman came through as he came through with a long shot for a final tally.

With but a few seconds remaining State successfully froze the ball to cop the decision.

Baker Writes Science Article

In the December issue of "The Science Counselor," a quarterly journal for teachers of science in Catholic High Schools, appeared an article by Mr. Tunis Baker, instructor of science at Paterson State Teachers, entitled "Science Equipment in Elementary Schools."

Mr. Baker's article discusses the insufficiency of science equipment in the elementary schools. He explains the advantages to the elementary school of the eight science units he prepared with the cooperation of the Chicago Apparatus Company of Chicago, Illinois, and the ways in which they will remove the difficulties of preparing science experiments in the elementary school.

The pictures used to illustrate Mr. Baker's article were taken by Dr. Hartley and Rudolph Klare.

Trenton Downs State Quintet

State Handed Second Loss By 6 Point Margin, 30-24

State's crippled basketball team faced the invading horde from Trenton last Wednesday and were handed their second successive setback by a 30-24 count.

Starting the game with a patched up line-up consisting of only two regulars, the Orange and Black fought gamely but were unable to stop the set shots of the visiting's star, Kelly Palumbo.

Coach Schmidt sent his regulars into the fray to start the second period. However, they fared little better than the starting five as they fell behind four more points to leave the floor at the intermission trailing by 19 to 10. Although the varsity was considerably slowed up by their injuries, they had numerous set shots, but saw the ball hop in and out of the basket.

After an extremely slow third session in which they were out-scored, the Schmidtmens began what looked like the historic last period rally. Jankelunas and Pressman dropped in successive unders. Oliver stole the ball and went the length of the court to ring up two points on a difficult lay up shot. The joy of the home fans was short-lived as Feldzner and Palumbo found the hoop to sew up the verdict. Sirota brought the Pioneer's final tally to 24 as he found the rim as the final whistle sounded.

Palumbo led both teams in scoring with 10 points. Jankelunas led the home forces with six. Tommy Oliver showed he has the ability to again come through in the clutch to turn in a bang-up game. The Pioneers were once again pitiful figures on the foul line as they managed to counter on only four out of thirteen chances. The visitors dropped in eight of their eleven chances.

"Free" Senior Ball Tabled

A proposal to give the students a "free" bid to the Senior Ball was beaten down after the majority of the committee members deemed the suggestion impracticable. The plan consisted of raising the class dues fifty cents a semester, of which the fifty cents would revert into the Senior Ball fund. The money raised would thus give to each full-time student a bid for a couple free of charge.

Opposition arose when it was stated that the Senior Ball was rather a select affair and not a gathering at which there should be many couples. However, the main point stressed was that even if the levy did not cover the costs the classes would still have to dig into their own treasuries.

Interviews of Interesting Juniors

By NORMA GIORDANO

Tom Cunningham, the president of the Junior class, was born in Mount Vernon, New York in 1920. From there he moved to Woodside, Long Island; and at five years old, he again moved to Nanuet—this time for his health. He was an honor student at Nanuet High School where he played soccer, was a member of the track team and band, took part in dramatics and operettas, and was manager of the school baseball team.

Before coming to Paterson State, Tom attended Bergen Junior College. At State, Tom's activities include the Glee Club, Class President, and participation in operettas. He was a member of the track team last year. Tom would rather teach students in the upper grades in elementary school, would prefer to teach them geography, and definitely wants to get married. His hobbies include railroads, music, and swimming; his pet aversion is over-heated school rooms.

Tom's keen Irish wit is familiar to everyone. "If this weren't for the school paper," says Tom, "I could give you a very interesting account of Frank Ianucci," whose interview follows.

Both Frank and Tom do social work at the Y.M.C.A., and they have organized a boys' club at School 15. With what Cunningham said, Frank Ianucci succeeded in getting his life story together. He was born in Lyndhurst, New Jersey in 1921, and graduated from Lyndhurst High School where he had numerous activities, and was ranked within the first ten in his class. While in college he was President of the Freshman Class (Tom claims that Frank was the only one who went to meetings), and is treasurer of the Athletic Committee, section leader to the Student Government, and a member of the Boys' Glee Club. He is cast in the play to be given by the Psychology Club. However, before he came to college, he worked for one year for the L. and L. White Metal Casting Company. He still works during the summer for the Modern Home Improvement Company.

His hobbies include dramatics, tennis, swimming, reading, ping pong, chocolate layer cake, and girls with blue eyes. He is very much interested in teaching, and would rather teach in grades above the fifth. He has traveled extensively, and has been to Canada, California, and on a tour through the South.

With the pleasant interview of the two very interesting Staters completed—that gets Tom's request in—we go on.

Sylvia Blut's main interest is in teaching but her secondary attraction is definitely dramatics. Her dramatic interests began in Eastside High School, and she continues them at Paterson State as a member of the Masque and Masquers. She is cast in "Will O'The Wisp," a play that was produced for competition. She also belongs to the Psychology Club, is secretary-treasurer of the Mixed Chorus, and is represented in "Who's Who."

Her hobbies are dramatics, ping pong, swimming, and tennis; as for her aversion, she says, "That's hard—I like so many things. I will say I dislike boring or uninteresting people."

"I can't pick out any exceptionally exciting moment," she continues. "Life itself is so exciting."

Sylvia has some very definite ideas on her profession. First of all, she is a career girl, and isn't even thinking of marriage. "I want a teaching job," she says, "and I prefer younger children. I would not like the kindergarten. There is nothing stimulating in such work, and I should think that a kindergarten teacher would get into an intellectual rut." Another of the ideas she sets down is that all teachers should be compelled to take extension courses.

Frosh Skate

Final plans were made at the Freshman meeting for the roller skating party to be held at the Paterson Recreation Center on January 28. William Conklin was appointed chairman of the general party committee and Robert Morgan is in charge of financial arrangements.

The class decided to have attendance taken at the beginning of each meeting.
