Council Unanimously Votes Student Budget Revision

Special Committee Voted Confidence At The Special Council Meeting

The Student Council meeting in special session last Monday voted to accept the recommendations made by the Activity Fee Committee. The recommendations were carried by a unanimous vote.

The new budget recommendations includes the itemization of budgets. The main feature change in the itemization of budgets is that it will be a yearly budget submitted in the month of May for the following school year.

The new set up provides for a Budget Adjustment Committee that shall consist of three members and a chairman which will have the power to set up a budget to present to the council and power to recommend a fluctuating activity fee to the College administration.

Fee Fluctuates

The permanent activity fee is thus done away with by a fee that will be determined by the budget approved for the following semester. Thus the fee may rise and fall as the demands follow. (Continued on Page 3)

Madrigals Sing Tuesday Night

Under the direction of Mr. Weidner, director of music at Paterson State, the Madrigal Singers will present a concert on May 27 at 8:30 p.m., in the auditorium of Paterson State.

The guest artist this year will be Miss Harriet Griffith, a violinist and pupil of Albert Spaulding. She will play two groups of violin solos as well as a selection with choral background. The program will consist of the following:

"Music," Dom. Gregory Murray; "Night Has a Thousand Eyes," Noble Cain; "My Lord, What a Morning," H. T. Burleigh; "Motona, Lonely Maiden," O. Lassus; "It was a Lover, His Lass," J. Barnby; "The Kerp of My Heart," Eric H. Thinan; "Light of Dawning," P. Tchaikowsky.

Sophs Discuss Finance Affairs

Senior Ball and Picnic Hold Floor Diving Violent Attacks

The Sophomores met recently and discussed the state of financial affairs of the class and a proposed picnic after overcoming a barrage of unbridled discussion.

The class heard Miss Pauline Gagliardi, Co-editor of the "Pioneer" ask the class to donate ten dollars to the Senior funds in order to support the Seniors' venture and to have a group picture of the class in the yearbook. The Sophs quietly decided to help their elder brothers and sisters along.

The question of collecting the activity fee assessment came up and the class decided to use the method of the Freshmen to collect the fees.

To appease the demands from the floor, President Christie appointed a committee with Marjorie Payne as chairman to report back to the class on the Senior Ball funds at the next meeting.

Sophomore Play-day

Then came a barrage of ideas on how to spend the Soph's picnic day. Among the suggestions were a dinner-dance, hay ride, a trip to Palisades Amusement Park, and of course Rocky Ford's annual desire that the Sophs attend a baseball game.

Since only fifty students were present at the meeting, a committee was selected to have ballots prepared and distributed to all Sophomores. Thus each student was to have a chance to vote.

Alumni Holds Dinner Meeting

Election Of Officers To Feature Annual Meeting Of The Association

The Alumni Association will hold its annual May dinner at the College in the auditorium on Thursday evening, May 22. Alumni members will begin to gather in reunion at 6:15 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

After the dinner there will be a short business meeting when the names of the officers for the coming school year will be placed in nomination. The following names will be so placed: Miss Terese Bauer for President; William B. White for Vice President; Miss Katherine Melville for Secretary, and Andrew J. Donnelly for Treasurer.

The invited guests include the five Paterson college presidents: Dr. Clair S. Wightman, Dr. Robert H. Morrison, Dr. Edgar Bunce, Dr. Ray L. Shaffner, and Dr. Frank Webster Smith. Superintendent John R. Wilson will also be among the invited guests.

A fine and unique program of entertainment will follow, and it is hoped that all will take part.

Friends, husbands, wives, and members of the Senior class are most cordially invited to attend.

Tickets are now on sale at one dollar per person, and may be bought from Dr. Edith R. Shannon, Dr. J. Harold Straub, James Houston, Miss Helen Hill, and Miss Katherine Melville.

James Houston, of the Class of '40, is the general chairman of the dinner.

Scientists Picnic At Greenwood

Seventeen Paterson Staters and guests frolicked Sunday, May 18, at a picnic held by State's Science Club at Greenwood Lake. The group left Paterson at 10:00 A. M. for President Tom Viglione's bungalow at the edge of the lake.

Soft-ball, hiking, boating, fishing, two meals and even swimming for the hardest of the group were in order for the day. The men chopped wood and built fire in the outdoor fireplace and the women demonstrated their culinary skill in providing food for the hungry crowd.

Just before eating Frances Iola, Dow Rich, and Raymond Parkes horrified everyone by taking a dip in the frigid lake. Isabel Salvador joined them when they went back for more punishment later in the day. They claimed they could stand the wind-tossed water because their bodies were numbed the minute they came in contact

Students Feature Guest Night

Extra Curricular Activities Portrayed For Parents

This year's annual Guest Night was held at 8:00 p.m., May 15, in the auditorium to show parents and friends some of the extra-curriculum activities in which the students of Paterson State Teachers College are engaged.

Girls from the P. and Q. Club opened the program by distributing roses to the guests. Nicholas Beversluis, president of the Student Government Association, then presented an interlude on the piano and solovox before he extended his greetings to the audience. This was followed by a motion picture of Adult Education Classes held at Paterson State in the evening.

A high spot of the program was a panel discussion by members of the International Relations Club, the subject of which was "Union Now." The speakers were Sam Berliner, Rose Edelman, Evelyn Foote, Louise Woodruff, Ernest Mueller, Wallace Reid, and Leonard Shatzman.

Adding to the variety of the program was a musical portion consisting of vocal solos by the ever-pleasing Lois McCarthy and accordion solos and duet by Catherine Barna and Herbert Anderson.

The program was concluded by a play, "Will o' the Wisp," presented by the Masque and Masquers of P.S.T.C. Winifred Laporte, Sylvia Blut, Evelyn Foote, and Frances Iola interpreted the same roles that they recently enacted for the student body.

Elections To Be Held In Ping Pong Room From 8:30 A.M. to 3:30 P.M.

The Junior Class decided that a member of the fairer sex should rule the Student Government Association next year, when they nominated Barbara Wilder and Betty Driscoll for President of the student organization.

Thus with the decision of the juniors to nominate two women for the post, a woman shall assume the presidency for the first time in a period of five years.

The juniors met in a quiet but impressive session last Friday when the women received unanimous approval from their fellow classmates. No other nominations reached the floor and assured the women that the nominations were theirs.

Barbra Wilder is now serving in the capacity of Chairman of the Assembly committee. Formerly she has held the secretaryship of the S. G. A. and has been elected to the "Who's Who."

Betty Driscoll is at present the President of the Psychology Club, and has been participating actively in athletics ever since her first year at State.

Council Vice-President Schutz, Chairman of Elections, has appointed in his absence a Commissioner of the Election. The delegated representative of the vice-president is the Beacon Editor, Ralph Smith.

Mr. Smith will serve as the representative of the vice-president during the latter's absence in connection with practice teaching.

The date for the election of officers for offices in the Student Government Association is set for Thursday, May 29 in the ping pong room.

Relations Club Elects Officers

Officers for the fall term of the International Relations Club were elected Friday, May 9.

Officers chosen were: President, Ernest Mueller; Vice President, Louise Woodruff; Secretary, Emma Skettini.

Nominees for the officers were for President, Ernest Mueller and Evelyn Foote; Vice President, Rose Edelman and Louise Woodruff; Secretary, Emma Skettini and Helen McLaughlin.

The I. R. C. held a panel discussion on "Union Now" during the program Guest Night, May 15. Leonard Shatzman introduced the topic while Katherine Bannehr acted as moderator. Eleanor Wild introduced the entire group to the audience. Those who were in the panel board are: Sam Berliner, Evelyn Foote, Ernest Mueller, Rose Edelman, Wallace Reid, and Louise Woodruff.

CAMPAIGNING

When the students of State march to the polls to elect the officers of the Student Government Association, an end comes to perhaps a most quiet, unpublicized, and unnatural bit of campaigning for elective offices in the College.

For years there has been no campaigning, in which the College has had the opportunity to listen to, evaluate, and judge by the campaign pledges who would make the best candidate for the office.

We ask if the duly nominated candidates have the right to hide within their shells and let the voters try to pry out information on their stands on election issues. Should it not be the right of the student to demand that a candidate support a platform? Should not the candidate take a definite stand on student issues? Is it fair for the student to be made to vote on personalities only? Shouldn't the candidate express his thoughts on why he would make the best elected officer?

In these times we hear a lot about listening, reading, and practicing democracy, yet one of the roots, a good political campaign, is missing. It is beyond a doubt that an active campaign is a necessary thing if we are going to have a student democracy survive at State. Let's have a campaign so we may have the opportunity to vote for platforms and issues and not stuffed-shirt personalities.

YOU'LL GET OUT OF IT WHAT YOU PUT INTO IT

"Guest Night" with its scattered attendance fell far below anticipations when eight seniors, six juniors, and a handful of sophomores and freshmen showed up for the affair.

This brings to mind the fact that there has been a noticeable lack of enthusiastic support of College sponsored affairs by the students. Yet when the students initiate any activity they naturally expect the college to fall in line and back the shindig to the hilt. Naturally the College should do just that.

Let's put the shoe on the other foot. The College sponsors an affair and it naturally expects the students to back it up 100 per cent. Have the students done it?

Well then the students have no just cause to say that the College is not doing right by them, when they just don't even bother to do right by the College. Yes, you can only get out of a thing the same amount that you put into it.

In the past few months there has arisen the question of convoys to Britain. Since the passage of the Lease-Lend bill, there has been a steady clamor for convoys. Isolationists call such a deed an act of war and certain to bring the United States into the war. Those who call for all-out aid to Britain believe it to be useless to send supplies to Britain if they are never to reach their destination.

In a few weeks the question of convoys will be decided by Congress, but in true democratic tradition students in colleges and people in all walks of life will discuss this issue with hope, perhaps, of influencing the lawmakers. In keeping with this tradition, students of P.S.T.C. discuss this question in the light of their ideas as to how America can best be served.

The vast majority of the American people, since the beginning of the war, have become more and more determined that the outcome of the struggle should be to America's advantage. This advantage consists of the eradication of all forces alien to our ideas of freedom, the acquisition for us and other lawful peoples of the freedom of the seas, and the ability to strive for social, political, and economic improvements without hindrance.

How is this to be achieved if we are to sit back and allow an Axis victory? All our efforts at peak production and maximum aid to Britain will be to no avail if we allow the supplies to be sunk. We are paying for the goods that are supposed to be delivered. In fact we might soon have to foot the bill for the whole war! Are we going to pay for all this and not reap the benefits?

Shipping losses are huge, Britain has all she can do to keep the empire from invasion. Victory or defeat hinges upon the success to which Britain receives our aid.

LEONARD SCHATZMAN

If we are to assist Great Britain, it is vital that aid-munition and food-reach her safely.

Why speed up production, why put every effort into making war supplies, only to have them lay at the bottom of the Atlantic?

Already there is a tremendous loss. If this continues, our purpose will be defeated.

Although some say this is a final "short of war" step, I am sure that a convoy system will not lead us into war, for it, if successful, will strengthen Great Britain and, as a result, will strengthen our position. Furthermore, for those who fear the President's approaching powers in this crisis, remember that Congress and not the President can declare war.

I definitely take a stand against convoying ships to England. The Administration "wants to use convoys" but is being prevented from so doing by public opinion.

I feel that if we sent United States convoys to England, it would definitely involve us in the present war, as these convoys would have to enter into the battle zone.

Why should the Navy guard war shipments to Britain? The Lend-Lease Bill certainly did not contemplate convoying materials and supplies to Britain. I am fully aware of the fact that England is in dire need of our shipments, but that is no reason for involving ourselves in a war.

Although these convoys would insure the safe delivery of goods to Britain, they would not help to preserve our democracy any, as they would gradually drag us into the present situation.

ATHLETES' FEAT

By TOM VIGLIONE

Well, here we go again. It seems as though Don Hall is destined by the hand of fate to be kept out of the varsity lineup this season.

Don, who we all know is catcher for the Varsity baseball squad, is again out of the game and this time through an accident guarding that home plate for the Pioneers.

The unfortunate incident occurred at the East Stroudsburg game. It appears as though he was attempting to tag a man who was sliding in to home on a squeeze play when he was severely spiked by the flying shoes of the Stroudsburgian. Don, who is well liked by the members of the squad, is particularly noted for his "peg to second." A good hitter, he will be sorely missed by the team.

* * *

Tom Stapleton, a recruit, has taken over Don's position as catcher and seems to be doing a nice job. He played his first full game with State against Morris County J. C. and from all appearances should make out pretty well.

* * *

The Pioneers suffered their third setback in a row when they lost to Morris Juniors Tuesday afternoon. Somewhere there is something wrong. Fifteen errors in a single game does not seem like any past ball club that State has put out. The team had better pull out of its slump pretty soon. By the by hows about a few more rooters at the games; it seems as though the Freshmen are the only ones interested in the game, (or is it the men in the game?).

* * *

The first tennis match having been played, we can readily see that we have the makings of a good team. The matches were lost through a little bad luck and in spite of this bad luck the team put up a fine showing.

On a team which has only two veterans and four recruits they made out considerably well, taking into consideration the well-seasoned veterans of Trenton who have already played seven matches as compared to our team's one match.

Keep up the fight, boys; we're all with you.

* * *

Now that the student bowlers have organized and are ready to play the faculty, any combination whatever, there seems to be little comment on the part of the champs. Could it be they have cold feet? The students claim they can take the Champs over the hurdles any day they would care to bowl. Come on, Profs, we're all awaiting that day.

* * *

The Female shuffleboard team was pretty badly beaten by the Males. I notice the Co-eds are mum about it. It all comes out in the wash.

It seems as though our girl athletes have quieted down a bit. Is it Spring or is it the calm before the storm? If it is, be prepared for a cloud burst in the next issue. As Confucius says "$%-&?")

Debaters Win Final Debate

Defeat Invaders From Vermont In Final Tussle of the Season

Thursday afternoon, April 24, marked the end of Paterson's debating season when the varsity members met the girls' team from Middlebury, Vermont and emerged for its final debate victory.

The topic for discussion was the western hemisphere union and State's affirmative discussion netted the victory.

The debaters will hold a farewell party at the home of Ruth Bastien on Friday evening, May 23. A committee composed of Wallace Reid, Josephine Basinski, Florence Miskovsky and Nancy Hess will take charge of selecting pins and help in their presentations on achievement day to varsity members who have participated in three or more debates.

bowling team having been completed, a team has been selected to bowl against the faculty.

The team that has been selected has the highest three-game average. This team was chosen, not from any winning competitive team, but from a series of bowlers who upon bowling three successive games were found to have the highest average.

Those fellows having the highest averages are Ben Wetzler, Gordon Smith, Charles Fulbeck, Fred Engelken, and Nick Beversluis.

The bowlers were assisted by Helen Acquadro who has been adopted scorekeeper by the members of the team.

The student team is now awaiting a reply from the faculty as to a date for the championship tilt.

Paterson Comes Out On Losing End Of The See-Saw Game

In a brilliant pitching duel between Dan Jankelunas and Lou Fishman of Montclair, the Indians clipped a 1-0 verdict in a ball game played at Montclair last Friday. Fishman scattered four State hits, while Jankelunas set down the tribe with but two singles.

Montclair scored the lone tally of the game in the fourth inning. De Stefano walked, stole second and continued to third when Stapleton's throw hit him on the foot and bounced into left field. Lou Sirota made a brilliant stop of Fishman's smack, and while down on his knees threw him out. DeStefano holding third. Deckenback then bunted in the decisive tally.

The Schmidtment threatened but once. In the fourth inning Sirota singled and went to second as De Vita bobbled the ball. However two were out and Pressman was turned back on a grounder to short.

Sirota was the only player on either team to garner more than one hit, collecting two singles.

Fishman fanned 11, at one time he whiffed 5 Paterson batsmen in order, retiring the side in this manner in the fifth. Jankelunas struck out 6.

State Drops 2nd Game To Morris

Fielder's Errors Cost Jankelunas Pitchers' Battle

Tuesday afternoon saw State battling to an unsuccessful finish with Morris Juniors, at Eastside Park. The Pioneers, trying to repeat their victory of two weeks ago, failed because of poor support due to errors on fielding. It seems that the Pioneers have not as yet gotten all of its errors out of its system.

Dan Jankelunas who pitches a consistently steady game was a little wild, passing five men and hitting one. However his stability varied very little considering the poor support he was getting. State out-hit the Morrismen, but the ball was quickly and expertly covered by the opponents, who played a tight game.

Shustin, who pitched for Morris J. C., showed good form, and with the support of his team managed to pull the game out of the lower brackets. He hit a single and a double yesterday.

State got fourteen hits while Morris J. C. got only nine. Lou Sirota tapped four singles in succession and big Dan got a triple and two singles.

Tom Stapleton, who is backing up Dan holding down home plate, did nicely considering the little game experience he has had.

E. Stroudsburg Holds State Down

Hall Spiked As He Attempts To Put Man Out

The Pioneer baseball squad was the victim of a jinx on Wednesday, April 30, when at Eastside Park they were held practically hitless and scoreless by Jack Seifoss of East Stroudsburg.

The Staters were unable to hit in any inning. Trying desperately to rally and turn the game in their favor they succeeded only in pegging out a few weak ones. Paterson failing to get a grip on herself was soon trailing the Pennsylvanians who started on their way in the fourth inning and again in the fifth, both times bringing in one run. In the eighth inning they put two men across the home plate in a clean orderly manner, this ending the scoring for the day.

From the beginning of the game right through until the fourth inning both teams played a very tight game.

Though there were many errors on both teams they both used strategic baseball technique.

Don Hall, without whom State will end the season because of a serious injury, plays a very hand and clean game of ball, was accidentally spiked in the seventh inning by a man sliding across home plate in a squeeze play.

Don will most certainly be missed by his teammates as he was an excellent backstop for the burly hurler, Jankelunas.

Tennismen Nosed Out By Trenton

The team met the Trenton Teachers on Tuesday, May 13 to lose the match by a score of 5-4, six singles and three doubles matches being played.

Jerry Zwerdling played exceptionally fine ball winning his singles match and showed fine form in his doubles match with Joe Hazonics as his partner. Joe, who is a new man, also shared the limelight, starring in the singles by 6-3, 6-3.

Asher and Ebner lost their doubles match by a close game, the score being 1-6, 6-4, 5-7. Paterson and Trenton respectively. There were many freak incidents which entered into the game which caused the team to lost the match.

The singles match saw action more favorable to Paterson, winning 3 and losing 3.

Dr. Hartley, or rather Coach Hartley, presided over the meeting and named the varsity members who in turn elected their captain. The Varsity team follows: Jerome Zwerdling, Joe Hazonics, Harvey Asher, Dave Ebner, Bob Brubaker, and Gordon Smith.

The Varsity was to have played Jersey City Monday but the game was rained out; a tentative future date was set to run the match which was to consist of five singles matches and two doubles, Zwerdling and Hazonics running first doubles and Asher-Ebner playing second doubles. These men then competing in the singles, with Brubaker completing the set up.

when the council approved a motion proposed by Representative Risser for the suspending of sentence upon council members who were charged with absences.

The passage of this motion, as stated by Adviser Williams, found the members guilty due to the fact that a suspended sentence is only applied to persons who have admitted their guilt or those who have been found guilty.

with it. The turbulent water also offered a hazard to rowing, but not enough of a one to keep the picnickers on the shore. Before eating supper, the group went on a hike to Lost Valley where they saw many fascinating bits of nature. Around 8:00 P. M. the tired but happy party left for home. Others who attended besides those already mentioned were Elizabeth Oakley, Jean Amlicke, Helen Aquadro, George Hassar, Barbara Wilder, Rudy Klare, Emma Skettini, John Roe, and Ruth Florance with three guests.

Faculty Frolics; Plays Baseball

by JULIETTE TRAINOR

Members of the faculty gamboled and frolicked on the green Wednesday, May 14, at the annual faculty picnic held at Oakdale in the South Mountain Reservation.

Carloads of faculty members, faculty wives, and children began converging on the spot at an early hour to stake out a claim on a steak, grilled to perfection by Chief Chef Thomas, garbed in white apron and hat, ably assisted by his cohorts—Alteneder, Tyrrel, Matthews and Karp.

Baseball under the captaincy of Dr. Wightman and Mr. Thomas found the faculty in good form after a strenuous bowling season. Despite the fact that numbers on both teams were uneven, and players nonchalantly shifted from one side to another, the game was a close one, with the winning team claiming two more points than the losing one, regardless of score. Although the women were afraid to catch the ball, for the most part, preferring to duck or shield their heads when the ball came near them, they did nobly at bat.

Dr. Wightman's team: Snedeker, Karp, Roehler, Trainor, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Thomas. Mr. Thomas' team: Schmidt, Baker, Matelson, Stenz, White, Mrs. Roehler. Unable to decide: Matthews, Unzicker, Hartley.

Horseshoe pitching was indulged in by some members of the faculty, and dishwashing (in melted ice) was the pastime of clean-up committee members Snedeker, White, and Stenz. The picnic was under the direction of the faculty social committee, with all faculty members assigned duties.

At least one faculty member can no longer claim he does not get enough to eat at picnics—he was pursued all afternoon by feminine faculty members offering him steak sandwiches, making him eat his words, more or less.

(Writer's note: This is the best I could do—the baseball was too much for me.)

Interviewing Faculty Members

By NORMA GIORDANO

The big event of Miss Loftus' life will be her marriage in June. Up till now, as school nurse, she has listened to the problems of Staters. Her future problem—she has already begun to think about it—is cooking and color schemes for her home. The change from nurse to housewife will be no easy task. Miss Loftus claims she isn't very domestic; instead of housework, she prefers bowling and golf. At the time of the interview she was watching Miss Hopper do some sewing for her. Miss Hopper doesn't mind helping her out with the more difficult parts, but she does not like sewing without a thimble. Sewing with one happens to be Miss Loftus' pet aversion, so she never has one with her.

Miss Loftus acquired her education at local grammar schools and at Eastside High School, where she took the commercial course just in case she should want to change her mind about nursing. She received her training at the Paterson General Hospital. While working, she took courses at Columbia University and is now taking them at State. She is adviser of the To Kalon Sorority and has also been a member of the Faculty Picnic Committee ever since she's been here!

As nurse in our school, she hears quite a few interesting excuses but most prominent is "flat tires".

Oddly enough Miss Hopper is not much of a spectator when it comes to athletic contests. The only game she plays for the sidelines is basketball. She can't endure listening to news commentators broadcast games either. However, she enjoys participating in all sports, preferably outdoor activities. She has never engaged in bowling, while the only indoor game she plays is basketball.

During her college career her favorite sport was hockey. Besides sports she seems to lean toward the field of music. Miss Hopper loves to listen to operas, symphonies, and light classics.

While in college, she took part in dramatics, while now she is content to watch others perform.

For amusements, she writes and illustrates stories for children, and composes poems and jingles. There are so many things that she likes to do that if she had to choose a favorite, she couldn't. "I'm sort of a 'Jack-of-all-trades,' she says,

"and master of none." Although she likes to draw, she doesn't have much time because she is taking university work for a doctor's degree.

Miss Hopper attended the State Teachers' College at Albany, N. Y. It was here that she attained her major in Physical Education and in English. She also attended Cornell and received her M.A. from N.Y.U.

She has served as Director of Physical Education at State for fifteen years. Travel, next to sports, is her favorite activity. She has been to Europe twice, and has traveled by car along the eastern coast and to Canada.

F.T.A. Observes

Tuesday, May 6, members of the F.T.A. went on an observation tour. Each member was given his choice of a grade in which to observe the pupils and teacher. Many went to grammar school in their hometown, and others went to School No. 15. The purpose of this observation project was to acquaint the student with classroom procedure and also to bring to his attention certain points in elementary teaching. A questionnaire was given to each member containing a list of points to be observed. At a future meeting, this project will be discussed by the group.

The members feel that a project of this type is very worthwhile and hope to make it a regular activity of the organization.
