

Five Members Added To Faculty

Due to the urgent demands of the enrollment brought about by returning veterans, the State has had to enlarge its teaching staff about twenty per cent. The result is the addition of twelve new faculty members.

Very outstanding assets have been added to the Business Department at Paterson State. Among them, Miss Christine E. Stanford, Hendrickson, and Mr. Louis Nanassy.

A lovely person typifying the Southern charm and grace is Miss Stroop, who from Murfreesboro, Tennessee, Miss Stroop obtained her B.S. and M.A. degrees at the University of Tennessee.

At Paterson State, she will be in charge of the Business Department at Paterson State. She will be in charge of the Business Department at Paterson State.

This over-crowded scene in the Physics Laboratory is but a typical one at Paterson State. Without the proper and adequate equipment the returned veterans struggle to conduct a simple experiment. This particular class is a Saturday morning one under the supervision of Mr. Califano.

Juniors Sponsor Autumn Capers

Swing your partner and promenade the hall! You will be hearing and doing the same if you buy your ticket for the first dance of the year sponsored by the junior class—Autumn Capers. The season is ripe for an exciting, fun-filled evening of square dancing, and for the sake of variety, social dancing will be offered. To establish a pure, rustic flavor, plenty of apple cider and home-style doughnuts will be on hand. Music will be furnished by a well-known four piece combination.

Juniors are asking you to get out your dungarees, climb on the old hay wagon, grab your straw hat and your father's shirt so you can be all set for a gala evening of good old American tradition.

As can be evidenced, the juniors have not only begun to plan, but have begun action. President Bill Smith appointed the following committees: Anne Paulson, general chairman; re-

Furst's Hypnosis Amazes Students

Tying strings on your fingers and thumbing through memos is really an unnecessary function in order to remember. At least that is what Dr. Bruno Furst, the first guest speaker of the semester, preached to the student body at the assembly period Friday, September 27. Remembering is a simple power to any person with a trained memory, he stated.

Demonstrating to the students through various tests, he showed what his trained memory could do. Four volunteers stepped to the stage and each was given a different issue of "Life" magazine. Page numbers were given by the student body and Dr. Furst with amazing ease described the contents of the specified pages. Shuffling through a deck of cards only twice, he maintained their exact order. This was proven by telling which number occurred in a specified order.

The secret of remembering is through association. Dr. Furst conducted an experiment with two students to prove this. Anne

Dr. Freeman Service Head

Ranking high in the changes at Paterson State this year is the addition of an Employment Service which will be directed by Dr. Herbert Freeman, assisted by Mr. Louis Nanassy.

This newly formed organization, under the leadership of Dr. Freeman is an offspring of the Placement Department of which Dr. Unzicker is chairman, and members include Miss Jackson, Dr. Shannon, and Dr. Freeman.

Dr. Freeman announces that this new department will start with part-time employment, but it will be handling full-time positions for college students in the very near future. These positions include any type of work desired with the exception of teaching, which will be handled by the Placement Department.

It will be greatly appreciated if you will contact either Dr. Freeman or Mr. Nanassy of any knowledge which you may have concerning available positions.

Further information about the operation of this employment service will be posted on the college bulletin board within a few days.

The President Speaks

Standards have been set and must be maintained in all work at Paterson State. Exceptions are in general an injustice to the student. Any lowering of standards or favoritism would create an unhealthy condition at the college. Justice rather than mercy should be our guide.

Don't expect life at Paterson State to be easy. We believe that you will have difficulties with some of your subjects, and many of you who want to transfer at the termination of pre-professional work here will find even more difficulties than you had here. We will at all times assist you, but don't expect relief from intellectual pressure.

Rules and regulations have been established for many procedures at Paterson State. Many of you men who have been in service have no desire to return to military life in any form, but

Record Breaking Enrollment At State Caused By Returning War Veterans

200 VETERANS ENTER FRESHMAN CLASS

More than 400 veterans of World War II have registered for the fall semester. Of this total 250 are attending day classes. About 200 veterans, members of the Freshman class, are just embarking on their college careers while the remaining fifty, with some previous college credits, have joined the other classes. The total number of registrants for night registration has not yet been fully completed.

Mr. Matelson, veteran co-ordinator, and Mr. Wiedner, veteran counselor, are working respectively on the registering

'45 Seniors Set Up Emergency Fund

The 1945 Seniors start this fund with seventy-five dollars in the hope that it will be continued by succeeding graduating classes. We are desirous of having something substantial with which to assist a graduating class which may be in need of obtaining funds quickly for the development of their yearbook. We hope that through the efforts of this fund the yearbook will be obtainable during the early part of the second semester, rather than after graduation. This is a loan fund. All of the money borrowed must be replaced. The committee has established the following rules for the governing of this fund:

1. The faculty is to be in complete charge of this fund and of executing the rules governing it.
2. At no time is more than two-thirds of this fund to be removed.
3. At least as much money as has been borrowed from the fund must be repaid.
4. Senior classes may contribute as much to the fund as they desire.
5. If, and when the fund is terminated, this money is to be turned over to the Student Government for its usage.

EMERGENCY YEARBOOK
COMMITTEE
Eugenia Muller, '45
Chairman

June 3, 1946

The majority of both day and night students have enrolled in the Business Education department although there are many in both groups that have shown their desire to enter other professional fields by enrolling in the Liberal Arts curricula which include, pre-medical, pre-law, and pre-engineering. Average G.I. Serious

The average age still remains at twenty-two but there are some older students who, realizing the importance of a college education, have taken advantage of the educational opportunities offered them under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Most of the new "Statens" are certain of the careers they desire to follow and have taken a serious attitude toward the work required to achieve a college degree. They realize the importance of a college education and fully appreciate the opportunity offered them.

The veteran enrollment brings the entire college enrollment up to the highest in the history of the college. Most of the veterans have already become well acquainted with both the old and new students and have taken much interest in extra-curricular activities including both clubs and sports.

As the student enrollment increases, chairs and space become more and more scarce. However, coupling the enthusiasm of the new students with that of the old "Statens" there is no fear for a scarcity of school spirit.

Seniors Begin Task Of Raising Money

The senior class of '47, all nineteen of them, started their last year at State with the important job of practice teaching. Busy though they may be, the industrious seniors are, as usual, searching for ways and means to make money for their yearbook. So far, their plans include the sale of Christmas cards and writing paper, now on display in the show case on the second floor and the sale of cake and candy in the cafeteria. Still in the process of developing is a plan to secure Broadway professionals to put on a show here at school to obtain further profits.

Sonia Follender, president; Al Bertone, vice-president; Emma Post, secretary; and Grace Jellison, treasurer, join their class in looking forward for cooperation from the rest of the student body for their urgent cause.

WE MUST ACT NOW!

Atomic energy—so great a force that the coming era may be termed the atomic age. It can mean the betterment of society or total destruction. Man holds this potent power in his hands.

United Nations—the beginning of a great organization that can mean world peace and happiness, or a group of nations with each one jealously trying to better his own country economically without regard to the other nations. Each nation advocating arbitration when problems arise, and yet, refusing to put down the sword because of foolish suspicions.

What shall determine whether these great powers shall be used for good or evil?

Everyone must admit that education shall play a major role in determining the final outcome. The education of a few will not help to stamp out all race prejudice, will not get everyone interested in governmental and political matters, will not make every citizen of every country an active citizen. Education of the masses is necessary. Education of everyone—including Patersonians and people of surrounding communities. What one thing can broaden youth's viewpoint more than a college education? What better gift could our government give those who were willing to fight and even die for our country than a free education? What better way could appreciation be expressed than the interest a majority of veterans are showing in advanced education? Here at Paterson State Teachers College we have one of the highest enrollments in the history of our college. We are managing on our meagre facilities and inadequate space, but we must expand. Can we refuse the enrollment of someone desiring education, because of lack of space, when education of the masses is the very core of making the future a brilliant one? We must have a new building but this goal can be obtained only by the co-operation of everyone.

Write that letter to your spokesman in the State Senate. Let the people of influence know your need. Advocate a new college building wherever you go. This is not a mere issue—it is part of the key called education which will open the door to a happy future for all.

WHY NOT A LIVING MEMORIAL?

At some time or other, the subject of a Memorial to our honored dead of World War II will rise in this Paterson. Previous war memorials, such as statues, plaques, and other non-descript projects, were erected with benefit being derived by the men who fought the war. We believe this situation should be remedied. Why not a great majority of the returning vets are bearing a path to colleges in order to continue their education which had been interrupted. Why not have Paterson become a leader in a movement of "Living Memorials" which, in this case, would be an adequate building for her Teachers College?

The veterans in our school realize that when, and if, this school is ever built, they will have departed these halls and entered their chosen professions. Still, they understand the full value of an educational system which will help their brothers and sisters make their way in the world. It would and could serve as a monument of peace and a reminder of war.

The Students Speak

Dear Editor:

I feel that one of the first items to be run in the BEACON should be one explaining the operation and organization of our Student Government Association. I think that any new student would ask, "How is the day college student active in the SGA?" (Article III, Constitution of the SGA).

As I see it we are not directly represented in the SGA. This is the chief reason why only a handful of students are interested in the SGA. Another reason for the lack of interest is the fact that the SGA constitution is not self-explanatory or self limiting. All it does is present the facts in a series of articles which could be interpreted in more than one way.

Another thing we would like to know is how much power does the SGA have? There is no power given the SGA. All the Constitution provides is the right to promote the interests of the college and to educate the members in the privileges and responsibilities of representative democratic government. (Art. II, Constitution of the SGA). The only government I can compare the SGA's with is the Articles of Confederation of the thirteen original colonies.

If a student wishes to amend the Constitution he is told to present it to the College Council. Address? I asked ten people in or around the college. Their answer was unanimous. "Who knows?" or some similar question was given. As far as most of us can figure the address is "somewhere in New Jersey".

I'd like to see a student government similar to that of East-side High School put into effect. By it a group of students is directly represented by a councilor, who reports the doings of the council every week. Any suggestions the students have are brought before the council by the students' representative. Let's try and get some improvement in our student government and the school spirit, which is completely lacking here, will show again.

Yours truly,

George De Causemacker

Dear Editor:

I would like to suggest an important aid to the comfort of all of us. That is to convert the cafeteria into a study hall during the day when it is not in use for meals.

The hall could be left on and students could use the table to do some work here or school. The hall could be used now for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free.

The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free.

The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free.

The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free. The hall could be used for a study hall. Very free.

I've often wondered how 'twould feel
To be a small sardine
All cramped 'mongst others in a can—
To me it seems quite mean.

What can it be that brings to life
This sudden sympathy?
Because at State, we've almost reached
The "sardine stage," you see.

The many crowded classrooms
Have awakened silent fears
That students will be swinging
Upon the chandeliers.

Most of our "campus" strollers
Can never find a seat,
So they help support our statue
(My mistake—the statue's feet).

Truly, now we find our lockers,
Our cafe, our library,
And every little corner is Filled to capacity.

So we're begging and we're pleading
And we're down upon our knees;
For, a massive, brand new building
Is the dream each student sees.

May this dream not always be a dream
But a great reality,
I'm sure we'll see it soon—we must.
'Twill be built for you and me!

Introducing . . .

Spotlight is on the Freshmen this month, so STEP UP AND MEET—

Dot Bernhart: A product of Hawthorne High School, Dottie is studying at State to become a kindergarten teacher. Dot has light brown hair and blue eyes; she stands five foot six. Her vacation (?) was spent at the Bell Telephone Company, in the accounting department. She misses working there, especially hearing her supervisor say, "Miss Bernhart, not so much noise, please!" (P.S.—She likes to talk!) Of State, Dottie says, "It's a school of schools"—you figure it out. In her spare time, Dot struggles away at the piano, emphasis on the "struggles." Look for fun-loving Dottie with her two blond friends, Pauline Weinrich and Ellen Tamor.

Audrey Perrin! You can meet Pleasant Audrey every day in the cafeteria, where she works mad-ing your ideas and discussions on this subject. In the next issue a report on the Student Government Association and its functions will appear, plus any material submitted by members of the student body.

ly behind that cash register. Interested in sports, Audrey basketball, swimming, and all things—broad jumper. She is musically inclined; hopes to join the music here. Rutherford High Alma Mater, and after stay at State she hopes to transfer to Trenton State and become a teacher. Five foot three, brown hair and blue eyes (mmmm)—that's it. This likeable freshman has girls and fellows at State to get along with.

Fred Cook! Fred, the businessman, lives in NJ and comes to State from Hampton School in New Jersey. After summering in Oed, Fred enrolled in the Business Administration at State and expects to move Colgate University. The type, blond curly-haired, likes football, skating, bowling and track. "I'm talented," he says, "I'm all colors." The love of a green Chery which is in his spare time, tries to keep clean in the Road hogs and buses of Fred's way. Added many interests is the of piano playing.

State's Most Promising Basketball Season Ahead

Possibility For State Track Team

Although track season for schools that encourage it is over, there is talk of a track team for the State next year. The possibility for a first-rate track team is seen.

Enough men turn out for it they may be able to field a team in competition with other schools in their class. Thus far there are no candidates for this highly competitive sport.

Among those who have submitted their names are: 100 yards—Tunis Bello and Hal Johnson.

300 yard jump—Hal Johnson and Gold Waldman.

440 yard run—Willard Smith. 800 yard run—N. Chase, B. Sisto, J. Tarry.

One-mile run—J. Tarry, and J. Ryan.

Shot-put—D. Raffetto.

UGGED LIFE AGREES WITH PSTC CAMPERS

Eight campers, Clare Barth, Jay Caramella, Anne Paulson, Annie Russo, Muriel Smith and Evelyn Walton, journeyed to Essex last June 15 for ten days hiking, camping and the studying of "life in the deep woods." The campers, along with Mr. T. and Miss Lee, were joined by students from state teachers colleges throughout New Jersey and New York.

Their varied activities included first classes, overnight hikes, nature studies, square dancing, and eating.

Anne Paulson, Muriel Smith and Evelyn Walton were honored for being asked to remain there at the Institute for the rest of summer.

The girls had a memorable time and are still talking about the many friends they made and the wonderful time they had.

Scelleri Temporary "Frosh" Chairman

Paterson State was the scene of a recent invasion, when 200 freshmen and 195 students entered its portals this semester. These newcomers have been attending to classes, to lunch, and to the ever popular "freshman assembly" with an unusual expression of understanding and respect, instead of the usual territorial stares of amazement.

The first time that the freshmen came together at the same place and same place was Friday, September 21, at their first assembly. A temporary chairman of the class was elected in the person of Samuel Scelleri. Miss Scelleri explained the various aspects of the life of a freshman, to organizations and the inevitable initiation of the "frosh" sophomores. At the end of October, the Freshmen Frolic, a traditional affair, is to be held and everyone is meditating as to whether a Marie Antoinette costume would be more glamorous than Olive Oyl. You get the idea anyway.

The nominating committee is gathering nominations for "frosh" elections, and the outcome will be announced a week or so.

RAYMOND MILLER

MILLER TO TEACH STUDENTS FENCING

En Garde! All the glamour and poise that comes with fencing comes to Paterson State this semester. For the first time, one of the classic arts of defense will be taught by Mr. Raymond Miller, a new faculty member who has fenced professionally since 1934.

Membership is open to both men and women interested in developing their physical and mental capacities. Fencing calls for good wind, agile legs and feet, a strong wrist, an excellent possession of balance and timing. If you don't have the above requirements, Mr. Miller is more than willing to encourage and guide you.

Further information concerning this new sport will be found on the bulletin board.

No Football?

There have been many queries as to why not football at State. Why not? The answers are many. Due to logistics (an army word) the college has no field for practice, uniforms are expensive, the majority of male students are here for an indefinite period of time and other individual reasons.

Therefore . . . State will leave football to the bigger schools and will major in baseball and basketball.

Red Cross Calls For Student Help

If you're one who can knit, cook or take care of small fry, the Red Cross is looking for you. Your Red Cross College Unit has a program packed with fun and helpful hints for you this year—nutrition, first aid, and home nursing courses, knitting on children's sweaters, men's gloves and socks, and washcloths. Looking a bit ahead, the Red Cross wants the student body to help them in their Christmas program, Red Cross Christmas Drives in the spring.

If, again, you enjoy dabbling with paints you can turn your hobby into a useful project by helping make posters for display all over Paterson. This is not just an ordinary call for members but an urgent request for help. Watch the bulletin for further information.

Bowling Teams In the Making

One of the most up and coming sports activities in the fall and winter is bowling. This muscle building, weight reducing game appeals equally to both male and female. Amazing as it may seem some women bowl just as well, if not better than their male companions.

As of this date, thirty-five students have signed up to participate in bowling tournaments and teams to be held in the very near future.

Not only is bowling a wonderful body builder, but it has proven to be a hobby and sport outlet as well.

Bowling teams can be formed by clubs also, perhaps as an extra activity. Competition between clubs may prove attractive and a suitable inducement for winners can be arranged.

BENCHED HOPE

Winters and Goldberg were the only remaining substitutes able to play in the vital game between Lox and Bagels Colleges. Lox's tackle had been hurt on the previous play which necessitated a substitution. The coach dejectedly turned his head in Winters' direction and muttered:

"Winters go in for the tackle and for heavens sake watch yourself." Winters had played one game during the season and had anxiously looked forward to the day when he could again show his football prowess. He jumped suddenly, so suddenly in fact, that he sprained his ankle and lay groaning at the sidelines.

Now Goldberg had warmed the bench all year and now that he was the lone substitute felt sure that he would get his chance. Again the coach turned his head and looked at Goldberg. The perspiration was trickling down Goldberg's brow in anticipation for his big moment. Suddenly the coach's voice snapped out:

"Goldberg, get up. I'm sending in the bench."

"SOPHS" ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

Brimming with new ideas, the sophomore class enthusiastically held its first meeting of the new fall term, Thursday, September 19, 1946.

The main purpose of the meeting was to elect officers for the following year. Those elected were Murray Saul, president; Emma VanVelthoven, vice-president; Carol Greydanus, secretary; and Winifred Cathey, treasurer. The class is looking forward to a successful year.

The issue of freshman initiation was discussed for the remainder of the meeting. A committee was appointed to decide the "face" of our new Paterson Stateans. This year an entirely different prowess of initiation will be followed.

J. C. R.

LET'S ORGANIZE A DEBATING CLUB

Will students who are interested in joining a debating club see Dr. Karp in Room 303.

Depth In Reserves May Spell Big Differences This Year

The old Dodger cry of "Wait Till Next Year" has been thrust aside by the cage chargers of Coach Schmidt. The initial turnout on Monday, September 23, included such an auspicious aggregation of former stars such as Tom Templeton and Rocco Montesano, varsity men for the 1942-43 squad; Hal Piazza, last year's leading scorer from State; Sy Sirota, Mike Grembowicz, Mort Fink and Ernie Genrich, all lettermen from last year's successful team.

Intra-Mural Rates High With Students

Always a great hit with the students, intra-mural basketball is pushed into first gear in its upward climb to top school sports activities.

There have been sixty-five candidates so far with a promise of an added number. Not only do the students find these games interesting, but they agree that they help shape out the rough edges of our basketball stalwarts.

Games shall be played during lunch and perhaps regularly scheduled gym periods.

Competition is unusually keen and increases as the tournament progresses. Eight teams have been formed and close tabs are being kept as to the standings of their league.

HUGE TURN-OUT FOR CHEERLEADERS

Tryout for cheerleaders was held in the auditorium Wednesday, September 25. Angela Romanelli and Vita Lancia, last year's cheerleaders, took over the meeting. There was a turnout of about twenty-five girls. After a few practices, four girls will be chosen from the group by a faculty committee, making a total squad of six.

This year the cheerleaders expect to have new uniforms. They will wear skirts with three poe tuaz ap un, upward xory back with black insets and black sweaters with an orange megaphone.

MEN'S EATING CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The record of one hundred per cent attendance at every meeting of the Men's Eating Club remained unbroken when every member was present at the initial meeting of the season.

The first new business attended to was the election of officers. Alex Patterson will be president for the coming year. The following were also elected to hold positions: Gae Dittamo, vice-president; and John Derco, treasurer. A resolution was adopted to repart the Paterson State Teachers College sign at the Erie railroad depot on Market street.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB ENCOURAGES MEMBERS

The executive committee of the Psychology Club met recently to discuss the program for the coming year. Their plans included the engagement of guest speakers, showing of several films and a visit to some institution such as a training school or a hospital.

The club leaders are eager to secure members who have a genuine interest in the club and its activities. Those who show a spirit of cooperation and faithful attendance at the meetings will find their membership most worthwhile.

Newcomers who showed great promise include Mike Bak, who formerly starred at Garfield High; Glenn Leach, varsity man from last year's Montclair State Teachers College basketball team; Norman Reichert, two years varsity at Eastside High; Norm Sergeant, from Central and later St. John's High; Norm Chase, and Don Simon who were with standout teams in the service.

Others who are battling for the positions on the squad are: Andrew Frank, George Bristow, Arthur Schilling, M. J. Grembowicz, D. Dilger, N. Mates, L. Le Ster, E. Gentile, C. Shuster, S. Katz, J. Dedinsky, P. Sirota, M. Mathews, H. Canning, W. Shiffman, B. Wiers, W. Langendoerfer, R. Egner, P. Cook, D. Lewis, P. Kerwin, E. McGuire, D. Carlson, F. Hickey, J. Rainey.

Tough Schedule Booked Coach Schmidt has booked the toughest schedule in the history of the college. Included in this year's schedule is a three day trip to New England to play Becker College, Lawrence College from Michigan is also scheduled to travel to Paterson. Other schools on our card are John Marshall, Rider, Arnold, Trenton Teachers, Newark University and other schools in this vicinity.

Although the basketball season is still some two months away, interest is being stirred up and if it continues to mount, State will not only have an A-1 ball club but also that A-1 rooting section which is vitally important.

This year is expected to be the banner year for basketball not only at State, but throughout the entire nation. However the team must have the support of each student. That support is to attend all games and root the team to victory.

Masque & Masquers Conduct Meeting

Thirty-eight members met for the first meeting of the Masque and Masquers recently. This splendid turnout discussed the purposes of the club and their plans for the year. The club will present one three act play and at least one one act play during the semester.

The club's purpose is to acquaint each member with some particular phase of the theater, whether it be acting, directing, staging, costuming, or make-up. Membership is still open for those of you who have dramatic aspirations of any type.

The officers of the club are: Helen Potash, president; George Pappas, vice-president; Ada Skuratofsky, secretary, and Ernest Genrich, treasurer.

Those of you who were here last year will recall that the Masque and Masquers put on a most commendable three-act comedy entitled, "He Couldn't Marry Five."

ART CLUB SKETCHES COLORFUL PROGRAM

Armed with pencils, sketching pads and picnic lunch, the Pateters will hike to Garret Mountain to enjoy a session to gether out-of-doors and at the same time to do some first hand sketching. The art club has not only begun to plan, but has begun action. A committee was formed to make necessary arrangements for the hiking party which will be held in a week or so.

One of their first projects will be to make a mural for the college. The theme has not been decided upon as yet. As another special function of the club, an award will be given to the best all around student member. The award will be a small gold palette designed by the members.

Anyone interested in any field of art is invited to become a member.

Native Patersonian

Miss Elizabeth Rinaldi, the assistant librarian, has top honors as a hometown girl, for she was born and raised in dear old Paterson. In fact, she graduated from Paterson State. She received her library credits at Trenton Teachers College, and has done library work and teaching in the Paterson schools, including adult education work. Miss Rinaldi has also been associated with the Ringwood school system, and the public libraries of Paterson and Fair Lawn. An especially interesting position she has had is that of handicraft instructor at Marlboro State Hospital. As a student at P.S.T.C., Miss Rinaldi worked for the library, and also was a playground director.

Miss Rinaldi says she feels right at home here, many memories of her school days having been recalled. But she's not quite used to being equal with the faculty, several of whom are her former teachers. State is glad to welcome her back.

Raymond W. Miller, social studies instructor, is married and living in Paterson. Mr. Miller is a graduate of Wagner College and Columbia University, and at present is working on his doctor's degree at Teachers College, Columbia University. He was a graduate fellow in the history department of Wagner College and also taught in a private school on Staten Island. Mr. Miller, an ex-Navy lieutenant, was in service for four years. His hobbies are photography and fencing. With six years of experience as fencing coach at Wagner, State is fortunate in having him with us.

From South America

William A. Rubio-Vergara, our language instructor, was born in Bogota, Colombia, South America, and attended the schools there. At present he is residing in Newark. A graduate of N.Y.U. and the University of Illinois, Mr. Rubio-Vergara has done private school teaching, and has been an instructor in classics at N.Y.U. and in Spanish at Brooklyn College. He is working on his doctor's degree at N.Y.U. He served three years in the Army Military Intelligence in England, France, and Germany, and was in Berchtesgaden, Hitler's home, the day the Germans surrendered.

Mr. Rubio-Vergara has found everyone very sociable and feels right at home here at

P.S.T.C. "I'd like to see a new college as soon as possible, so that we don't have to have classes in the basement," he stated when asked about his impressions of the building. (So would all States.)

Robert P. Baker, instructor in pre-engineering and mathematics, holds from Union New Jersey, and is presently teaching in Paterson. He has his degrees in electrical engineering and education from the University of Cornell, and expects to begin his graduate work next year. Mr. Baker has taught mathematics and physical sciences in the states of New York and Montana. He has seen the most interesting part of it being seven months of travelling about France, Belgium, and Luxembourg providing road signs for the heavy bombers based in England. "The enjoyable aspect was the general hospitality and spirit shown by French and Belgian people along with responses called forth from them by my rustic and 'tendent parie' use of the French language." Bowling and chess are Mr. Baker's hobbies.

"All out for a new building? Let's go!" was Mr. Baker's reply to State's desperate need.

Herbert L. Califano, at present a member of the Part-Time Division, is our new physics instructor.

Faculty Interviews . . .

Among the new faces on the Library Staff at P.S.T.C., we find Miss Emily Greenaway, who is also serving as English instructor at the college.

Publishes Book

Miss Greenaway is the author of a psychological novel entitled SWEETSTAKES, explaining the reasons of the ticket buyers of the famous Irish Sweepstakes and was published in 1941. She has also written a children's book called TALE OF THE TAIL OF A MOUSE, which will be published in 1947.

Her educational background includes study at New York State College for Teachers, and graduate work at Columbia Teachers College and New York University. Miss Greenaway has also attended the Writers Conference at Breadloaf, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.

Before coming to "State," she did various types of work which include the position of Registrar at the New York State Library School, after which she was employed as a teacher in the Port Chester Senior High School. During the war she served as purchasing agent in a war plant.

Small and blond, Miss Greenaway is usually found at her desk in the front room of the library trying to keep the "monium" from breaking down therein.

When asked for her impressions of P.S.T.C., she stated, "I love everyone, both faculty and students, seem happy here and all seem earnest in their work."

As an all-around athlete with a mania for sailing, we introduce Miss Veronica Brophy, another of our English instructors at "State."

Miss Brophy received her A.B. from The College of New Rochelle, where she graduated "cum laude" majoring in Latin and French. She also attended the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Fordham University, and there received her M.A. degree. Another course of study was followed at Teachers College,

Members of the Business and Credits Club are cordially invited to join.

She has taught in the elementary schools in Rye, New York and the Junior and Senior High Schools of Port Chester, N. Y. While teaching there, she organized and worked with a Creative Writing group.

Miss Brophy's interests outside of teaching include sports, namely tennis, sailing, swimming, skiing, and ice-skating. (Her secret ambition, as you may have guessed, is to own a sailboat someday.) She also enjoys the theater and reading.

Miss Brophy's impression of "State" is one that mentions "warmth of spirit." She states, "that there is a general sincerity and friendliness about the college, and that for the first time she is working with people who really want to work."

Ex-Lieutenant Teaches English

Along with the droves of veterans entering P.S.T.C. this fall, we find Mr. William Parisho, who served as a First Lieutenant in the Army, being discharged in April of 1945.

Mr. Parisho studied at Drake University, Iowa, and there received his B.A. With further study, he received his M.A. at New York University, majoring in English.

Before the war he taught English and Social Sciences in various high schools of Iowa for a period of twelve years. While teaching at the Senior High School, Mr. Parisho also served as Athletic Coach from 1937 to 1942.

However, athletics are only a hobby. Along with music, Mr. Parisho is a writer. We can expect to see his work in the future, since Mr. Parisho is a member of the Authors Guild.

Paulson and Willard Smith were given codes and when they got up to perform showed the remarkable ability to tell without looking, the card selected by a student in the audience.

The climax of the program was reached when four volunteers became worthy subjects for Hypnotist Furst. Within a matter of a few minutes, the students were out like a light and at the simple command of their master, drew pictures, kept their hands extended in air and even picked flowers.

At the last meeting of the class, Paul Ritz was elected section leader to represent the class at the Student Government Association.

Tentative plans were also made for the big event of the year, the Junior Prom, which will be held in December.

School, N. J., the latter for the past six years. In addition, he has taught courses in business education at Montclair State Teachers College and Upsala. And this isn't all! Mr. Nanassy is also a member of four fraternities. Besides possessing practical business experience in almost every field, he has still managed to write articles for the various business periodicals and also be active in boy scouts, Y.M.C.A. and camp work. His pride and joy, however, which occupies most of his spare time now is his 20-month-old son. He also has a very favorable impression of State and thinks the students here are really grand.

Our Health Counsellor, Ida B. Pollard, R.N., comes to us from Connecticut. She was graduated from Jersey City Medical Center and New York University. Miss Pollard served at Jersey City Medical Center, Henry City Visiting Nurse Service and on the Jersey City Board of Education.

Acting under a suggestion given by Mr. Weinher, formed a committee to gate extra-curricular in the school. The outcome of this survey will determine the active club of the school will attempt to schedule a meeting chair various groups.

Also underway is a campaign to keep the park clean. Another committee, one of the executive members of the executive members council, will investigate the money allocated to the money organizations in the college.

Varied Changes Made At State

The coming of the new year has brought many changes to State. In line with the increase in enrollment, there has been a corresponding increase in the college staff. Every instructor must have a place where he can rest his bones, so our State campus went to work and—changed the offices.

Miss Edith Jackson, Business, is now located in 204-A, formerly the Business Office. Room 204-B is now occupied by Dr. M. H. Head of the Business Department. The other members of the department desk space in Room 204C college Business Office is located in Room 204D—graciously accepted! But thing remains the same—the office is still as we last year, at least in this sighted reporter's eyes.

Surely our veterans will no directions to the Office of Veterans' Co-ordinator located the second floor. Mr. B. son, the Co-ordinator, occupies this office which was formerly the quarters of the of Women.

However, our workmen merely use hammer and they got out the paint! as well and went to work cafeteria.
