2024 Faculty Award for Excellence in Research, Scholarship, and Creative Expression

MARIANNE SULLIVAN

Professor of Public Health

Since joining the William Paterson University faculty in 2012, Professor Marianne Sullivan has been a prolific scholar. An interdisciplinary public health researcher focused on environmental and occupational health policy, she is the author of Tainted Earth: Smelters, Public Health and the Environment (Rutgers University Press, 2014), which places the environmental and public health aspects of smelting in historical context. She is also the author of more than three dozen peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters which have been cited nearly 3,000 times. The recipient of more than $600,000 in research funding from federal and private sources, including the Environmental Protection Agency's prestigious Science to Achieve Results grant program and the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study at Harvard University, she is currently the principal investigator of a National Science Foundation (NSF)-funded research project, "Examining Children's Environmental Health Science and Science-Based Regulatory Policy," and is the co-principal investigator on another NSF-funded project examining aspects of water access and quality in the region. Her work has been recognized internationally. She was a visiting scholar at the Rachel Carson Center for Environment and Society at Ludwig Maximilian University, in Munich, Germany, and she also actively collaborates with researchers at the University of New South Wales, Australia, studying the impact of lead mining and smelting on children's health. FACULTY AWARDS

2024 Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching

NICOLE DAVI

Professor of Environmental Science

Since joining the faculty in 2013, Professor Nicole Davi has shown exceptional passion for her discipline and dedication to her students. Currently chairperson of the Department of Environmental Science, she has taught, developed, and revised 12 department courses, including "Sustainable You," designed to introduce students to climate change and its impact, and "Water and Justice," an interdisciplinary course created with faculty in public health and community and social justice studies as part of a National Science Foundation-funded research project focused on regional water quality and availability. A prolific scholar, she involves students in elements of her cutting-edge research, which is focused on the development and interpretation of tree-ring records to describe climate variability across time scales from years to millennia—critical to understanding climate change impacts on populations and ecosystems. The tree-ring records she has developed, along with her students, document nearly 1,000 years of droughts across Central Asia and warming trends across the Northern Hemisphere. Passionate about science education, she led a research team that built Tree-Ring Expeditions (TREX), public online labs geared to introducing undergraduate students to tree-ring science. Professor Davi has been awarded more than $3 million from federal and private funding agencies for research projects ranging from paleoclimate research to science education to collaborations with artists, leading to research opportunities for undergraduate students with entities such as the National Park Service, the American Chestnut Project, the Great Swamp Trail Conference, and the Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory tree-ring laboratory of Columbia University, with which she is affiliated. The author of nearly 60 peer-reviewed papers in quality journals, she has authored many more published abstracts with her students as lead authors or co-authors. Professor Davi's awards include selection as a 2020 Fulbright Scholar to conduct research in Colombia. The associate editor for the journal Dendrochronologia, she is a reviewer for the International Journal of Climatology, among others, and is a member of the NJ Science Advisory Board's Climate and Atmospheric Sciences Standing Committee for the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection. Professor Davi holds a bachelor's degree in environmental science from Ramapo College, and master's and doctoral degrees in physical geography from Rutgers University.

ABOUT WILLIAM PATERSON UNIVERSITY

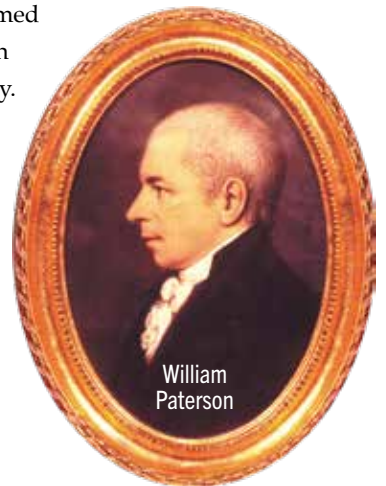

William Paterson University traces its roots to the city of Paterson, where it was founded in 1855. For more than a century, training teachers for New Jersey schools was its exclusive mission. In 1951, the University moved to the present campus in Wayne. Originally known as Ailsa Farms, this 300-acre site was purchased by the state of New Jersey in 1948 from the family of Garret A. Hobart, the 24th vice president of the United States. The original manor house, built in 1877, was the weekend retreat and summer residence of the Hobart family. Today the building is known as Hobart Manor and is the home of the Office of the President and the Office of Institutional Advancement. Hobart Manor was designated a national and state landmark in 1976.

The University changed its name to Paterson State Teachers College when it relocated from Paterson in 1951. In 1966, the curriculum was expanded to include degree offerings other than those leading to a teaching career. In 1971, the institution was renamed The William Paterson College of New Jersey. The change of name honored William Paterson, the man who was the state's first senator, its second governor, and a United States Supreme Court Justice appointed by President George Washington; the name also reflected both the institution's proud beginnings in the city that also bears his name and the legislative mandate to move from a teachers college to a broad-based liberal arts institution. In another historic milestone, William Paterson was awarded university status by the Commission on Higher Education in June 1997.

Rigorous high-quality academic programs

The University has continued to evolve. Today, William Paterson University enrolls nearly 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students, including 1,800 residential students. The University's four colleges—Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, Cotsakos College of Business, Education, and Science and Health—support more than 150 bachelor's degree, master's degree, and undergraduate and graduate certificate programs, and three doctoral degree programs—the doctor of nursing practice, added in 2011, the doctorate in clinical psychology, established in 2015, and the doctor of education in leadership, added in 2021. An Honors College provides academically motivated students with a rigorous curriculum. In 2020, the University launched WP Online, a new platform currently offering 57 fully online degree programs. The University established a School of Nursing in September 2023, reflecting the growth and impact of its nursing program. Nursing enrollment has surged to become the largest in the northern half of New Jersey and no. 1 among the state's public regional universities.

The University's many accreditations include the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, Commission on the Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs, Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, National Association of Schools of Art and Design, National Association of Schools of Music, and the Council for Accreditation of Educator Preparation, among others.

The institution's full-time faculty, who are widely respected for their teaching, research, and scholarship, include Fulbright Scholars, Guggenheim Fellows, and recipients of numerous other awards, grants, and fellowships. The University generated more than $12 million in funding from federal, state, and local government sponsors in support of academic research and educational initiatives during the 2022-23 academic year.

University President Richard J. Helldobler joined the institution in 2018 following the retirement of President Kathleen Waldron, who served as president since 2010.

William Paterson provides learning opportunities in its classrooms, laboratories, and studios, and throughout the campus, as well as at various off-campus locations, including the adjacent High Mountain Park Preserve. Its state-of-the-art facilities include an expanded and renovated Science Complex,

Known for civic engagement opportunities dedicated in 2012, and an 80,000-square-foot, $40 million academic building, University Hall, which opened in 2016 and was funded in part by $30 million from New Jersey's "Building Our Future" Bond Act. An initiative to modernize the academic core of the campus has continued with the renovation of two academic buildings, Barbara M. Grant Hall, formerly Preakness Hall, which reopened in fall 2017, and Hunziker Hall, completed in 2018.

Committed to sustainability

William Paterson is the third most diverse public university in New Jersey and approximately 40 percent of its students are the first in their families to attend college. The University is designated as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) with 30 percent of its students claiming Hispanic heritage and a Minority-Serving Institution with 59 percent students of color. The University is ranked no. 51 of nearly 1,200 institutions in the country in the 2023 Social Mobility Index. Created by CollegeNet, the index measures the extent to which a college or university educates more economically disadvantaged students at lower tuition and graduates them into good-paying jobs.

In 2011, the University became the first public New Jersey college or university to require new undergraduates to take a course on civic engagement. William Paterson is an active leader in civic engagement through the American Democracy Project and Engage NJ. The University is committed to sustainability and is a charter signatory of the American College & University Presidents Climate Commitment. Its solar panel installation, dedicated in 2010, ranks among the largest university installations in the United States.

UNIVERSITY TRADITIONS

In 2023, William Paterson University celebrated its 200th Commencement ceremony. Founded as Paterson Normal School in 1855, the institution held its original ceremonies in conjunction with the Paterson high school exercises. In 1890, the commencement exercises were, for the first time, held separately from those of the high school. Bachelor's degrees were first conferred in 1937 when Paterson State Normal School became the New Jersey State Teachers College at Paterson. Throughout the years, commencement ceremonies have been held at various times; today, the University holds separate ceremonies to recognize undergraduate students and graduate students.

ACADEMIC PROCESSIONAL AND RECESSIONAL

The academic processional begins with the entrance of the gonfalon, or University banner, carried by a high-achieving University student, who is followed by the faculty and professional staff and the graduates. After the graduates have taken their places, alumni will process, followed by the platform party, which includes the president, the Board of Trustees, vice presidents, deans, and other University officials, as well as the University Mace Bearer. The mace is presented at the center of the stage while those processing enter and take their places. Once the mace is placed on the stand, it signals the beginning of the ceremony.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the recessional order is reversed; the last to have entered are the first to recess. The University Mace Bearer leads the platform party, headed by the University president, followed by other dignitaries and University officials, the faculty, and, finally, the graduates. The audience is requested to remain seated until the recessional is concluded.

MACE

The mace—in the form of a staff topped by a ball with spikes—was a weapon of warfare in medieval times, but in the 14th century it evolved into a ceremonial object that is a symbol of authority. William Paterson University, like most colleges, has a mace that is used at all academic ceremonies. Carried by a senior University faculty member who is designated as the University Mace Bearer, the mace is the emblem and symbol of the president's authority to administer the University. At Commencement, the University Mace Bearer carrying the mace is part of the platform party, which includes the president, the Board of Trustees, vice presidents, deans, and other University officials. The mace is presented at the center of the stage while those processing enter and take their places. Once the mace is placed on the stand, it signals the beginning of the ceremony.

This mace was first used in the 153rd Commencement ceremony in 1987 and was designed and crafted by Ming Fay, a retired professor of art. The top piece, cast of brushed aluminum, features a center ball symbolizing universal knowledge, surrounded by four curved fins radiating outward, representing the University's community outreach. The bottom portion, made of teak and inlaid with faux ivory, was carved with the assistance of the late Joseph Van Putten, an award-winning graduate of the University's Art Department who served as an assistant professor of art.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The origins of academic dress date to the founding of the oldest universities in Europe in the Middle Ages. With few exceptions, medieval scholars had taken religious vows, and were obliged to wear long gowns and caps at all times, which also may have been necessary for warmth in unheated buildings. In the days of King Henry VIII of England, Cambridge and Oxford universities began prescribing a definite academic dress.

The practice of wearing academic regalia in the United States dates to the establishment of the original colonial colleges and was heavily influenced by European practices and styles. Students of most colonial colleges were required to wear the gowns at most times, a practice that lasted until the eve of the Civil War in many institutions of higher learning. Today, academic regalia is worn primarily for Commencement and other academic ceremonies.

Though some universities in the United States and abroad have other colors, the usual color for gowns in America is black. The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves. The gown for the master's degree gowns has oblong sleeves that are open at the wrist. Doctoral degree gowns have sleeves that are bell-shaped and the front is faced with black velvet. Three bars of velvet are placed across the sleeves; these bars may be of velvet of the color distinctive of the faculty or subject to which the degree pertains.

Hoods are lined with the official color of the college or university that conferred the degree. The velvet edging color represents the appropriate degree as follows: bachelor of arts—white; bachelor of fine arts—light brown; bachelor of music—pink; bachelor of science—golden yellow. Mortarboards (caps) are usually black. PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

The President's Medal worn by President Richard Helldobler features a medallion of the University seal. One side of the chain lists the previous names of the University, the other lists the University's colleges. The President's Medallion was first presented in 1978 by President Seymour Hyman and was redesigned in 1997 when William Paterson was awarded university status. The medallion is awarded periodically to individuals who have made outstanding contributions of service to the University community, to academe, or to society as a whole. It has been presented to those who have given time, talent, or funds to the University; who have enhanced cultural, scientific, or artistic awareness in New Jersey; who provide a positive role model in personal achievement and/or outstanding service to others; and who have strengthened higher education locally or nationally.

OUR MISSION

William Paterson University as a proud diverse community, designated as a public Hispanic- and Minority-Serving Institution, creates transformative academic and extracurricular experiences leading to meaningful careers, and promotes economic and social mobility. We empower our students through intentional and holistic support systems within flexible, innovative, and inclusive environments. Approved by the William Paterson University Board of Trustees, November 17, 2023.

CORE VALUES

At the core of everything the University does, the following five values define its ethos and fundamental beliefs:

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE As individuals and as an institution, we seek to model and to impart to our students the highest standards of knowledge, inquiry, preparation, academic freedom, and integrity, as well as an expanded sense of what an individual can accomplish.

CREATING KNOWLEDGE We strive to expand the boundaries of knowledge and creative expression in and outside of our classrooms. We help students think imaginatively and critically and encourage innovative solutions to social issues, the challenges of ecological sustainability and economic growth, and ethical dilemmas confronting our communities, regions, nation, and world.

STUDENT SUCCESS Students are our reason for being. We judge our effectiveness, progress, and success in terms of how well we provide a platform for their personal, intellectual, and professional development, enabling them to transform their lives and become civically engaged.

DIVERSITY We value and promote the expression of all aspects of diversity. We maintain a campus culture that welcomes diversity of personal circumstances and experiences and prepares students to become effective citizens in an increasingly diverse, interdependent, and pluralistic society.

CITIZENSHIP We challenge our students, faculty, staff, and alumni to recognize their responsibility to improve the world around them, starting locally and expanding globally. We offer critical expertise to New Jersey and our region, while our scholarship and public engagement address pressing community needs in the region and beyond in keeping with our public mission.
