Queen Crowning Highlights Ball

"I can't believe it", exclaimed Maureen Wilson when her name was announced as the 1962 Campus Queen of Paterson State College last Saturday night at the Coronation Ball held in the Memorial Gymnasium. The new queen, a sophomore general elementary major and class secretary, received the traditional red velvet and rhinestone crown from the 1961 queen Carolee Dodd Barton. Maureen was elected during three days of polling from a group of six nominees which included: Pat Carson, Carole Kaiser, Elaine Pasquariello, Lenore Petouvis and Mary Robinson. David Spelkoman, sophomore class president and master of ceremonies for the evening, presented Maureen with a bouquet of red roses.

The crowning ceremony began at 11 p.m. with the presentation of the candidates. Each nominee was escorted to the dias, one by one, as the Mark Towers Society Band played each candidate's favorite song. The escorts, all members of the sophomore class, were Mark Stone, Ross Alferi, Ralph Ganger, Bob Biagi, Joe Criscenzo and Joe DiSanctis. Sterling silver charm bracelets were given to the six nominees on behalf of the sophomore class which sponsored the dance.

Dr. Marion E. Shea, president of the college, affirmed the evident success of this year's ball when she expressed her delight at seeing such a large attendance of approximately 1,500 students, faculty and guests.

Numerous multi-color paper chandeliers, streamers and a large showboat adorned the gymnasium. The area surrounding the royal throne resembled a southern garden of magnolia blossoms and rose petals in keeping with the theme of the ball, "A Southern Garden."

Hot cider, miniature party sandwiches and a coronation cake were served in the college center.

PSC Queen Is Model In Spare Time

"I feel very honored to be chosen campus queen of Paterson State College and I'll do my best to represent the college as well as previous campus queens have," remarked Maureen Wilson after she received the crown Saturday night, Feb. 17, at the Coronation Ball. A sophomore general elementary major, Maureen received the crown from Carolee Dodd Barton, 1961 campus queen.

Maureen, a 1960 graduate, was extremely active during her four years at St. Joseph's High School, Paterson. She was a cheerleader, a member of the student council, co-editor of the yearbook and secretary of the senior class. She was also a member of the National Honor Society. During her junior year, Maureen was honored by being chosen Queen of the Harvest Festival.

Maureen's vitality has continued into her college career. At Paterson State Maureen was elected secretary of the sophomore class. A member of the Hazing and Orientation committees, she also worked on the Kangaroo Court and Coronation Ball committees.

Bowling, ice-skating, tennis, reading and sewing are all among her favorite pastimes. In her free time, Maureen models for Stern's Quackenbush. When not modeling, she keeps busy as moderator of a Charm Course offered by Ginsburg's department store, Passaic. The course teaches calisthenics, make-up techniques, hair styling and other points of interest to teen-age girls.

After graduation from Paterson State College, Maureen hopes to teach second or third grade in the Montclair school system.

1962 Play Day Site Is Rye Beach

The results of last week's voting on the choice of a Shaffer Play Day site indicates that about three out of five voters prefer Rye Beach to Bear Mountain. This will be a change from the last four years when the college took a boat up the Hudson River to Bear Mountain.

This new destination may, however, have to be reached via a different mode of transportation than has been tradition, because Wilson Boat Lines Inc. has recently been dissolved and there are no other suitable boats available in the New York area. The SGA Social Committee and advisor, Miss M. Yevak, are currently working on this problem.

Keeger, Kohn Are Freshman Pres. Nominees

Clifford M. Keeger and Howard B. Kohn were nominated for the office of president of the class of '65 at the freshman class meeting on February 20. Other nominees were Frank W. Edwards and Arleen Melnick (vice president), Angela Ferraro and Mary Henckelman (secretary), Edward Dellon and Max Konigsberg (treasurer), and Dawn Barrett and Joe Yeamans (historian). Also nominated were Elaine Flesko and Ellen Schaffner for the office of SGA recording secretary and Kathy Cahill and Pat Duffy for the position of SGA corresponding secretary.

Lower Prices, Policy Changes Boycott Results

Last week's boycotting of the food service facilities at Paterson State College resulted in the lowering of several staple item prices and changes in method of operation in both the Food Service building and the College Center. Saga Food Services representative Verne Ketterer, in a coordinated effort with the college administration, lowered prices of hamburgers, milk and some sandwiches to conform with prices at other state colleges. The price drop took effect on Thursday, Feb. 15 bringing an end to the two-day protest movement. Changes in method of operation included a new method of wrapping of pre-wrapped sandwiches, the establishment of a policy governing fast-moving sandwiches which will now be made to order and the introduction of a self-service milk dispenser.

At a meeting of the student body on Friday, Feb. 16, Paterson State College president, Dr. Marion Shea, called upon students to "learn from this experience." She implored students "to use proper channels to register their complaints in the future."

Our Warmest

congratulations are in order for Paterson State's new Campus Queen, Maureen Wilson and for John Glenn, first American to orbit the earth. It was gratifying to see student response to the precedent-setting three day balloting conducted for Campus Queen Elections this year. A greater number of students cast their ballots proving that elections are coming closer to being matters of campus-wide interest. We hope to see longer-voting periods carry-over to other elections.

It was also encouraging to see the response in the College Center to the loud-speaker broadcast of Col. Glenn's flight. Can we use this to illustrate the point that Paterson's students are sincerely interested in "getting the word" be it news of local or national interest. We can't stress often enough the need for keeping well-informed.

pertaining to bookstore prices and availability of material — darkness continues to prevail. In short, we are still seeking enlightenment. We hope that it will come through appropriate channels.

Summer Camp Information Made Available

Interested in a summer camp position? Well, the time has come for some serious decisions. Remember, the earlier you apply the better your chances are. To help you with some of your problems as to a choice of camps, salaries, openings, etc., Mr. Frank Schafer, in the physical recreation office, in G-2, has a file of letters from camps who are interested in securing counselors. It is open for anyone to browse through.

When you come to his office, you will find that there are day and resident camps as close as Veritans and as far as Maine. The opportunities are full-scale this year. There are openings in nearly every field of recreational leadership. Also there are openings for people who have had no previous camping experience. Of course, in this case, the salary would be lower and you would probably be a junior leader. A complete salary range is from $100 to $600.

Positions are also open for faculty members and Paterson graduates. One camp is looking for people who would be interested in working with the handicapped—in the areas of speech, orthopedic, and visual. Also, another beautiful camp in Pennsylvania, is asking for people to work in the areas of music, dancing, dramatics, athletics, and arts and crafts. This camp offers a pre-season training session. Husband and wife teams are also accepted to work as counselors.

SEA Sponsors Convention Trip

Members of the Student Education Association planning to attend the annual student New Jersey Education Association convention should notify Pauline Flynn. The convention will be held at Blairstown, N.J., on April 27, 28 and 29.

A fee of six dollars will cover all expenses for the weekend. Those interested must contact Pauline before or on March 1. A large representation of Paterson State students is expected.

PSC Foreman Slips On Ice

Lester Vought, foreman of the maintenance department at Paterson State, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson, early Monday morning after slipping on the ice in one of the student parking lots. X-rays of his back and head have not revealed any injuries, but he has remained under observation all week. Several years ago he suffered a serious head injury. Mr. Vought slipped while sanding the parking lot. The Wayne Ambulance Corps drove him to the hospital.

English Club Sponsors Tea

The English club will sponsor a tea for all English majors and faculty members in the English department on Wednesday, Feb. 28, in private rooms 3 & 4 of the Food Service Building at 4:30 p.m.

The purpose for the tea is to acquaint the freshmen and new faculty with the upperclassman and faculty. Experiences of student teaching and valuable information will be exchanged at this time.

Dr. Spinrad Named NOMIC President

by Gordon Bishop — Clifton-Passaic Herald News
(Special to the BEACON)

Dr. William Spinrad, associate professor of social science, has recently been elected president of NOMIC, North Jersey Chapter. NOMIC is the National Organization for Mentally Ill Children. This group is the parent organization of the Forum School, 11th Avenue, Paterson. The purpose of the school is to attempt to bring reality to twelve emotionally-disturbed children who are all suffering from infantile schizophrenia.

NOMIC is the Board of Trustees for the school; they raise $7,500 by taxes and $40,000 in other ways. The organization is in process of going through a series of tag days. The organization also owns and operates a thrift shop at Washington and Godwin Sts., Paterson. The purpose is to sell contributions of all kinds—radios, clothing, electrical appliances, books and magazines.

The group is currently engaged in trying to get an act passed in legislature related to mental illness generally. The group meets the first Thursday of the month at the YMCA, Van Houten Street, Paterson.

Dr. Spinrad has good reason to work almost 15 hours a day promoting the Forum School through NOMIC. His six year old son, Mark, is a victim of child fantasies.

Dr. Spinrad first noted his son's "abnormal" actions when he was three. He also noted that Mark had a fantastic memory and an amazing ability to handle mechanical objects. But he was withdrawn and suffered from a speech impediment. Mark still cannot talk.

Mark's young sister, Polly, who is five, is a happy, normal child now attending public schools.

One of the handicaps that children such as Mark face is the misconception which the lay person has of them. They are not mentally retarded; in fact, the contrary. They are better than average children whose skills and senses are exceptionally developed years beyond their physical age.

Satellite Space Communications Exhibit Opens

NEW YORK, January 22 — Working model demonstrations of satellite space communications will be on display at the Time & Life Building Exhibit Center in Rockefeller Center from January 25 through March 11. The exhibit will be open free to the public on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., on weekends from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Designed by the Bell Telephone system to explain the significance and progress of U. S. efforts in the field of space communications, the exhibit will show live television pictures "bounced" from a satellite model suspended from the 32-ft. high ceiling of the Exhibit Center. Send and receiving equipment used will be replicas of "Project Echo" facilities at Holmdel, N. J., and Goldstone, Calif., which transmitted the world's first telephone call via a man-made satellite on August 13, 1960. During the demonstration a narrator will explain to viewers how the model system works.

The exhibit will also show a model of the experimental communications satellite which will be launched later this year in the Bell System's Project.

They cannot be subjected to an I.Q. test, however, because they have no contact with reality. The only measuring rod psychologists can use is based on their day-to-day performance and progress.

They are curious and sensitive children who fear any form of pain. After they become familiar with their surroundings, they are lovable, playful and attempt to be cooperative. They constantly seek new ways in which to explore their fantasies. Their personalities are usually congenial.

Knowing of this, most people ask, "Then what makes them the way they are?" Some just consider them "spoiled brats."

What is at the root of their excursions into unreality is currently being studied by the foremost psychologists and psychiatrists in the country. Many experts believe it is during the embryonic development when the environment is disturbed by some unknown factor. Other causes are numerous and almost all are inter-related.

But while the specialists search assiduously for the answers, The Forum School continues to employ its simple, and sometimes, rewarding methods.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

What happened to the first semester grades? To me it is utterly ridiculous for a student to be well into his second semester before knowing the results of his first semester. In most colleges and universities in the United States this is not the policy. Grades are posted within 24 hours after examinations thus alleviating unnecessary wondering.

What can be done to improve the situation at Paterson State? I'm sure there is a solution to the problem.

Sophomore
Donald Saviano

"Due to the nature of the IBM system for mailing grades, students must be prepared to expect a three week delay after the end of finals," stated Samuel Cooper, registrar. All grades must be sent to IBM at once and the tardiness or illness of one instructor can retard the entire procedure. Mr. Cooper further explained that the actual processing at the IBM network takes about 10 days, but the grades are mailed to students immediately upon receipt at the PSC business offices.

This past semester grades were received from professors February 5, and mailings were begun about February 14.

"If a student wishes to know his grades early he can usually receive them by leaving a self-addressed post card with his instructor." Mr. Cooper further stated that while there is no administrative policy against the posting of grades, this is usually not done in order to preserve the students identity. A system allowing for the posting of grades according to IBM number and not name is being planned for the future. This new system will provide a carbon copy of completed information by the instructor excluding names for the purpose of posting.

Chansonettes, Dr. McKray To Take Part In 'Lute Song'

By Lois Marshall

The Chansonettes, a bevy of thirteen Paterson State vocalists, will be featured in the Pioneer Players production of The Lute Song, scheduled for March 15, 16, and 17 in the Little Theatre. Dr. J. Clees McKray, music department chairman, directs the girls singing ensemble. Mr. Robert C. Leppert, of the speech department is director of the entire production.

The Chansonettes, started three years ago with eight girls, from all classes and curriculums at Paterson State. Dr. McKray auditions many applicants for membership in this singing ensemble each semester. Singers are selected for their ability to read music, to sing parts, and to blend vocal qualities into an ensemble. Among other considerations, Dr. McKray screens singers for their aptitude for singing more than one part, such as alto and soprano.

None of the girls have sung professionally although most have participated in high school musicals and church choirs. Members of the Chansonettes are: Cynthia Steele, Barbara Smith, Kathleen Hoynowski, Carolyn Brown, Janice Fischer, Mary Ellen Brown, Toby Ann Kirk, Nancy Willerton, Jane Wallen, Arlene Carbonneau, Carol Ann Czeckowski, Janet Hennion, and Sue Estabrooke.

Career Cues:

"Whatever your major, make sure to include a course in 'people'!"

W. Emlen Roosevelt, President National State Bank, Elizabeth, N.J.

"If my college adviser had prophesied that studying psychology would some day help promote my career in banking, I'd have scoffed. Yet that is exactly what has happened. And when I think about it now the reason seems obvious. The facts and figures of banking, or of any other field, are mechanical devices. They take on real meaning

Hirshson's "Bloody Shirt" Will Soon Be Published

by Anthony De Pauw

Among the many and prolific professors on campus fortunate enough to have their doctoral theses published is Dr. Stanley Hirshson, assistant professor of social science. The title of the book is Farewell to the Bloody Shirt and it will be published on April 24 by Indiana Press University. This seemingly flamboyant phrase refers to an incident in which someone waved a bloody shirt in Congress in order to bring up the issues of the Civil War.

DR. STANLEY HIRSHSON discusses his plans for his future post-doctoral work at a recent interview with BEACON reporter. Dr. Hirshson recently received a fellowship from The American Council of Learned Societies which will allow him to research the life of Grenville M. Dodge. He is also awaiting the publication of his book "Farewell To The Bloody Shirt."

The book covers the post Civil War period from 1877 to 1893. In it, Dr. Hirshson tries to explain the when and why of the Republican party. During this period the party abandoned war issues which they previously favored especially the race question. He has examined these questions by studying the politicians of the period as individuals and party members. He also tries to find the point at which this interest (in the war issues) dies.

Dr. Hirshson has concluded that pressure was brought forth by large groups such as the northern industrialists. It is interesting to note that "what was working against the South and the Negroes then is working for them now," he added. For instance, during the post war period Northern merchants and industrialists forced southern merchants not to deal with the Negro; whereas southern merchants now risk a lose of trade if they don't.

Dr. Hirshson was fortunate to have the book's introduction written by David Donald, Princeton professor of history and winner of the Pulitzer Prize for his biography of William Herndon.

Dr. Hirshson spent his year of research in Iowa, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, New York, the National Archives in Washington, D.C. and Wisconsin. Most of his information came from newspapers and manuscript collections.

Dr. Hirshson has recently received a fellowship from the American Council of Learned Societies. He will work on the life of Grenville Mellen Dodge, who was a Civil War general, lobbyist, Congressman, and the builder of the first transcontinental railroad. As a major general he played an important role in the battle of Atlanta, and became intimate with Generals Sherman and Grant. After the war, he built the Union Pacific, the Texas Pacific, and other major railroads.

Most of Dr. Hirshson's time during the 1962-63 academic year will be spent in Iowa among the nearly 600 boxes of Dodge's papers. His quest is also expected to take him to the main office of the Union Pacific in Omaha, Nebraska. He will also use the papers of U. S. Grant, William T. Sherman, Theodore Roosevelt, and William McKinley in the Library of Congress.

only when related to people.

"Good psychology is also the basis of all teamwork. And, since most of today's business and scientific problems are too complicated for 'one man' solutions, teamwork is essential. If you want to be a valuable team player, and a likely candidate for captain, be the person who understands people. Learn what it takes for people to work together in harmony. Learn how to win trust and confidence. Learn basic human psychology.

"Bear this in mind, too. World tension, community tension, business tension, even family tension are the facts of everyday life. The more you know of human behavior, the better prepared you will be to deal with these problems.

"So, if you have the chance, take a course devoted to 'people.' Your class adviser can probably help you fit a psychology elective into your schedule. I don't think you'll regret it... I know I didn't."

W. Emlen Roosevelt first became a bank president while still in his early thirties. Today he heads still another bank and is a leader in New Jersey financial circles. Em's been a CAMEL fan ever since his undergraduate days at Princeton.

Plato Topic At Meeting

Plato, the enemy of rhetoric, was the topic of Professor James McCarthy's lecture at the Speakers' Bureau meeting on Feb. 15. Professor McCarthy, advisor of the bureau, discussed the republic as Plato saw it. It is an ideal society. He later went on to say that you only learn if you have the time and leisure.

The executive council will discuss the objectives of the Speakers' Bureau at the next meeting, March 27 in L-1. All interested students are invited to join the bureau by contacting Mr. McCarthy.

Fencing for the varsity team were Roz Culotta with a 4-0 record; Jane Tainow won two of her four matches, and Joyce Dunn won one of three matches. Cindy Jones lost two of her three fencing rounds and Paulette Singelakes won her only match.

Senator Urges Students: Examine East-West Scholarship Program

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 15—Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr., urged qualified New Jersey college students to investigate the scholarship program offered by the East-West Center at the University of Honolulu in Hawaii. "Constitution, fees, incidental allowance, health insurance, round-trip transportation, and a three-month academic tour to Asia to complete thesis research. One hundred, all-expense, 21-month scholarships are offered to American students for September 1962."

Candidate eligibility, according to an East-West Center bulletin, is based on high academic achievement, excellent health, ability to relate to Asians, and demonstrated interest in contributing to the objectives of the center.

Center students have a choice of more than 100 courses in Asian Studies. Additional information is available from the Director of Students Programs, East-West Center, University of Hawaii, Honolulu 14, Hawaii.

The center was established in 1960 by the U.S. Congress and Hawaii to bring together students from Asia, the Pacific area, and the United States. The scholarships offer room, board, books, Co-op Bookstore Sought At Penn.

PHILADELPHIA, PA. UPS—Joining the trend of trying to establish co-op book stores, the Student Government of Pennsylvania University authorized the Campus Welfare Committee to undertake a study of the establishment of a student cooperative store.

The Assembly's action came on the heels of an announcement that a meeting of President Harnwell and other University officials is scheduled for the near future to study the bookstore question. This announcement was apparently spurred by repeated charges that the present store set-up is "highly inadequate." (The Daily Pennsylvanian)

In the Newark game, Paterson started off a bit uneasily, but adjusted quickly to the Newarkers defense. Consecutive baskets by Joe Klingler and Richie Garafola boosted Paterson into a 10-6 lead, which was increased to 25-17 at the half.

After the intermission, Chuck Martin ran off 10 of his game high 14 points, and it appeared that the Pioneers were on their way to a conference win. However, the Paterson State quintet were plagued by bad breaks and technical fouls, and literally had the game taken away from them. The final score was 64-54 with Martin and Padalino accounting for half of the Pioneers total output.

In the game at Bloomfield College, the Pioneers could not handle the Deacons strength off the backboards, and consequently fell by a 92-75 score. Randy Trawick, Jim Jenkins, and Jim Groeling paced Bloomfield's fast-moving offense with 23, 21, and 20 points respectively.

Both teams played even ball throughout the second half, but the 16 point halftime bulge held by the Deacons provided the Essex County team with the win.

Chuck Martin and Jack Paladino again led the Pioneers in scoring, with 26 and 16 6points in that order.

Tomorrow night, Paterson travels to Madison to play Fairleigh Dickinson in an 8:15 p.m. contest.

head of the department of music education and professor of piano at Mississippi State College for Women.

Dr. McKray has done concert work in both the United States and Canada. He studied piano in New York with Alberto Jonas, Serge Tarnowsky, and for several years was the artist-pupil of the late Harold Bauer, internationally famous concert pianist. While studying in New York, Dr. McKray became acquainted with Paderewski through one of his instructors. Dr. McKray cites this acquaintance as a great source of inspiration and guidance to him in his musical career.

During the 1951-52 season, Dr. McKray was named Steinway Artist for the Steinway Centennial Celebration and was designated to give concerts and piano recitals in the Middle West. He concluded his tour of the Middle West with an appearance as guest soloist with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra in their Salute To Steinway.

Dr. McKray makes his home in Kent Village, Paterson.

In view of the circumstances surrounding last week's basketball game at Newark State College, we must congratulate the Paterson State fans for conducting themselves in a manner that should be expected of college students. Unfortunately, the same cannot be said of the home-team's supporters.

On another front, the baseball season is fast approaching. Practice will commence in about three to four weeks, under the mentorship of Mr. Gabe Vitalone. With only three games remaining on the cager's schedule, the prospect of a successful campaign on the diamond this spring is already on the lips of many prospective ballplayers. It's a little too early to look at the baseball season with a more critical eye, but for those interested, you can start unpacking your gloves and spikes, Ben-gay and calus patches, and loosen up for what may be, a successful year.

Spring training is already underway for many of the major league baseball clubs, and the fans in the New York area will be focusing their eyes on the New York Mets, the new entry in the National League. Piloted by the "old pro", Casey Stengel, the fortunes of the Mets this year are considered with pessimistic reservations by many of the local sports-writers. There is no doubt that the pitching staff needs new blood. The total number of wins picked-up last season by the 20 hurlers on the Mets staff, who are now in training at Fort Lauderdale, is an unimpressive 19. Good luck, Casey.
