

"Lute Song" Presentation Here Tonight, Tomorrow

by Lois Marshall

The Pioneer Players will present the second performance of "Lute Song" in the Little Theatre at 8:30 this evening. A final performance is scheduled for tomorrow night.

Members of the cast of this classic Chinese play are Jane Wallin as Tchao-ou-Niang, Charles Barrow as Tsai-Young, Ann Zinn as Princess Nieou-Chi, Kathleen Farrell as Madame Tsai, James White as Tsai, Andrew Pavlick as Prince Nieou, and Marcia Iozia as Si-Tehun. Other members of the speaking ensemble are: Leonard Diedolf, Carole Ann Scholnerch, Maria Giordano, Beverly Rabner, Rosario Alfieri, James Robinson, Robert Sternlicht, and Judith Panicucci.

Musical selections are being performed by the Chansonettes, with the musical direction of Dr. J. Clees McKray, chairman of the music department. Included in the

Costumes for the show were designed by Mrs. Jane Barry of the speech department at Paterson State.

Mr. Robert C. Leppert, assistant professor of speech, is director of the play, which is the first production on the Paterson State campus to feature the combined efforts of the speech and music departments. Susan Grabina is assistant director of the play.

"Lute Song" was written in about 1404 by Kao-Tong-Kia.

ANN ZINN (Princess Nieou-Chi) and Charles Barrow (Tsai-Young) rehearse a scene from the Pioneer Player's production of "Lute Song." The second and final performance will be presented tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

MRS. MARIETTA GRUENERT, associate professor of education addresses approximately 300 teachers, principals, superintendents and school psychologists at the Second Annual Special Education Conference held last Saturday. Mrs. Gruenert acted as co-ordinator of the conference.

PSC Hosts Annual Education Confab

The Second Annual Special Education Conference was held here last Saturday, March 10. Mrs. Marietta Gruenert, associate professor of education and co-ordinator of the conference, estimated that over two hundred and seventy-five teachers, principals, superintendents and school psychologists attended the conference along with seventy-five special educators.

The morning sessions were devoted to the question: What the classroom teacher can do for the mentally retarded, the emotionally disturbed, and the sensorily blind and/or deaf.

Mrs. Isabel Edwards, a New York state teacher who has worked with the mentally retarded discussed what the teacher could do to help such children. Mrs. Edwards is presently a doctoral candidate at Columbia University.

What the teacher can do for the emotionally disturbed child was the subject of discussion under Mrs. Louise Emery, director of the Forum School in Paterson.

Mrs. Mabel Talbot who has taught blind and/or deaf children in Iowa headed the discussion concerning such handicapped children. Mrs. Talbot is now connected with the mental retardation project at Columbia University.

Dr. Boyd Nelson director of the department of special education in New Jersey, and Dr. George Boone, assistant director of the department, spoke on the various functions, purposes and philosophy of the special education department. They also outlined the stipulations of the Beadleston Act, which makes education for, the exceptional child mandatory.

At the luncheon Dr. Marion E. Shea, president of the college, and Miss Alice Meeker, chairman of

Beacon Staffers Attend NJCPA At Rider College

BEACON staffers, Lucille Nardella, Marianne Schinn, and Emma Trifiletti, journeyed to south Jersey to attend the New Jersey Collegiate Press Association meeting held at Rider College last Saturday. The one day convention was sponsored by the college newspapers in the state. Staff members from the college newspapers of Rider, Fairleigh, Seton Hall, St. Peters, Caldwell, Newark, Glassboro, Stevens, and other colleges in the metropolitan area attended the meeting.

Joseph W. Katz, special assistant to Governor Hughes, was the honored speaker of the convention. Mr. Katz, who is a graduate of Rutgers and once a reporter for the Newark News spoke on the important role the press plays in communicating news from the governor's office to the public.

Frederick Ferris, faculty member at Rider and retired editorial page editor of the Trenton News, was the second guest speaker. Mr. Ferris told the journalists that the primary fault with college news reporting is the omission of depth coverage. "Reporters should not just do surface coverage, but rather delve deeper into the who, what, where, why, and how," stated Mr. Ferris.

The program was later divided into various newspapers workshops where layout, photography, editorializing, and reporting were covered by student leaders from Rider College.

The next convention will be held at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken where the awards for the year will be announced at a special dinner. The dinner-meeting is scheduled for May 12.

Foundation Offers Student Awards

The Automatic Retailers of America Educational Foundation is inaugurating a broad educational program aimed at encouraging academic research at many levels in a rapidly growing segment of the American economy. This new undertaking includes the granting of awards, scholarships and fellowships on a continuing basis to college students who are interested in various phases of automatic vending.

In announcing the initial program, Philip D. Sang, president of the A.R.A. Foundation, said that academic research should result in greater insights into the field of automatic merchandising. Mr. Sang stated that it was also part of the A.R.A. Foundation's goals to make the results of this research available to scholars and the general public. The A.R.A. Foundation is supported by officers and directors of Automatic Retailers of America, Inc., acting as individuals, and by friends of the industry and the company.

As an integral part of its work the A.R.A. Foundation will grant to institutions of higher learning the privilege of publicly displaying rare historic American documents, being made available to the Foundation through the efforts of one of its Trustees.

The initial A.R.A. Educational Foundation program, for the academic year 1961-62, as announced by Mr. Sand, is as follows: Six awards will be given for the best

PSC Cheering Team To Defend Title March 31

The Paterson State Varsity Cheerleaders will be defending their championship title at the Metropolitan-Inter-Collegiate Competition to be held March 31 at the Fairleigh Dickinson-Rutherford campus. The PSC cheerleaders won first place in the competition last April at New York University.

Vying in this year's competition will be 18 colleges from the metropolitan area. Each group will be judged on the performance of four cheers: a team cheer, fight cheer, school cheer and an original cheer.

Captain of the squad, Fran Dinino, considers Jersey City State the toughest competitors for the Paterson group. Last year, Jersey City won second place in the conference. Other members of the varsity squad are Anne Lieberneck, co-captain; Elvira Brown, Rosalind Tyson, Lynn D'Antonio, Judy Lewellyn, Carol Kaiser, Joyce Quackenbush, Lucille Aleuri, and Dianne Vecchione.

Students are invited to witness the competition which will take place Saturday morning, March 31. More information will be made available at a later date.

State Sq. Set To Sponsor College Dance

Folk and square dancing will be the highlight of St. Patrick's Day for many students from Paterson State, Montclair, Jersey City, NCE, Stevens and Fairleigh Dickinson University at an All College Square Dance, sponsored by the State Square Set of PSC.

Herbert L. Califano, associate professor of mathematics at Paterson, and advisor to the group will act as caller for the evening from 8 to 12 p.m. The folk and square dances will be featured on records along with hit tunes.

Doughnuts and cider will be served in the college center during the course of the evening. There will be no admission charge. Attire is casual and students may come with or without dates.

"A large turnout is expected. Montclair State is sending an especially large delegation to participate in the dancing," stated Bob Shanks, treasurer of the State Square Set.

A Problem

Lack of concern on the part of Paterson State students has been a major problem for many months. Campaigning for next semester's class and SGA officers is bound to result in an unorganized popularity poll with class favorites carrying the bulk of the votes if this lack persists. While these favorites are usually those who have contributed to the success of one or two school functions, they are not necessarily the best qualified candidates to take office.

Qualification for candidates are stated in the SGA Constitution. They are not numerous. Those vying for office must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0, and the candidate must be a full time student of the college, which stands to reason. Other than that any interested or glory-hungry politician may vye for an office.

The picture is not very impressive from what we have outlined. Within the span of a few weeks, Paterson State will see everything from posters to free tickets to the latest triple feature in northern Siberia supporting one of the wealthier candidates. The popularity contest for the few hundred votes that are available will be in full swing.

And Then What?

The victors will take office and the vicious circle will continue. Those qualified stepping aside while voters and nominators insist upon selecting "friends". Recent class office nominations indicate this to be true.

The Solution

With elections scheduled for April 11, the only feasible solution has already been proposed and carried out by the SGA and the various classes. We refer to the campaign assembly and meetings. The underlying philosophy for these public speeches attempts to erase the cycle and focus the votes on the best candidates, not necessarily the most popular ones. But again the major problem — apathy — takes hold and the results prove negative. This is apparent after the disappointing attendance at the SGA campaign assembly last Tuesday.

We offer one consolation. With more attention being placed upon general elections, the vote count this year may possibly exceed that of previous elections. And if such is the case, lack of concern may eventually see its departure from the campus. And with its departure, Paterson may see more qualified candidates along with a better system of representation. We hope this to be true.

Responses

We have been informed by the elections committee that voting machines will not be available for the April 11 date. May we suggest foresight on the part of future committees to contract such machines. With their appearance electioneering may be raised to a level more appropriate to a college.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I'm glad to read that the BEACON is well aware of our college's problems. It was not that a sophomore class meeting was called, but the fact that it inconvenienced many sophomores from voting who attended the SGA meeting. If these sophomores did not know who was running in the primaries, it might have effected the votes in this years extremely important elections.

I hope that the incoming officers will prevent this from becoming an established procedure.

George Hirschberg, '64
Editor's reply: We realize the inconvenience which you stated in your letter, but we feel that the issue is the dual scheduling of SGA and class meetings. In the future we hope to see the situation remedied.

Letter To The Editor

In the past week, much as been said pertaining to the Sophomore class meeting held March 6. It is to my regret that this meeting was held in conflict with the SGA general council meeting scheduled for that same day. However, this was due to circumstances beyond the class's control.

The Sophomore class has certain obligations to fulfill, among them choosing the nominees for the offices of SGA president and treasurer. In order to do this, the class of '64 had to choose a date which would bring a substantial attendance to the meeting and still meet the deadline for turning in the list of nominees to the Student Government Association.

If at any time any student wishes to learn more of the circumstances which compelled this particular situation, I will be more than happy to speak with this individual at his or her earliest convenience.

The Spinner From Candidates A to Z

by Angela Avitabile and Ellie Zimel

For approximately two months the Bergen Mall Theater has been showing THE MARK, a picture which has been acclaimed one of the best of this year. After seeing the film, we cannot help agreeing wholeheartedly. The combination of superior acting and realistic treatment of a story containing a profound problem has made THE MARK successful.

Stuart Whitman, Maria Schell, and Rod Steiger appear as the man who wasn't sure he was, the woman who helped him to prove that he was, and the psychiatrist who helped them recognize their problems.

THE MARK is a complete psychological study in that it takes the viewer from the root of the problem to the breaking point and finally to the resolution. Following this recovery, the subject faces a series of conflicts which test the strength of his mental health. When his whole world falls apart, and he remains stable, we know he is well.

In keeping with our contention that the acting and treatment of the story are what make the movie superior, we can add that Stuart Whitman's performance as the subject of the study is such that it has earned for him an Academy Award nomination. In addition, the realistic ending shows that the characters involved have further adjustments to make. Obviously, this is not a typical Hollywood ending in which the characters "all go off to the seashore!"

Lionel Hampton To Give Jazz Concert At FDU

Lionel Hampton and his 14 piece All-Star Orchestra will give a jazz concert on March 24, 1962, at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford Gym. This attraction is sponsored by the American Marketing Association, Collegiate Chapter, to celebrate the 20th Anniversary of FDU. This engagement at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N. J. will be the first the Lionel Hampton Band and Show has played in this area for some time.

Lionel Hampton has been acclaimed as tops in virtually every music poll. Known as the "Master of the Drums", "The Hamp" also heads up the list as "King of the Vibes", an instrument he first brought to popularity. His is the first orchestra requested at three Presidential Inaugural balls. "The Hamp" was also named Ambassador of Good Will by the United States State Department and Honorary President of the International Jazz Club of Europe.

Tickets may be purchased through a mail-order until March 19th for 2.50 each. Tickets may also be purchased at the door for $3.00 each.

N. J. Teachers Await Tax Policy Report

New Jersey's teaching profession is up to its ears in reports. Some have been made; some are due in a month or so. All promise big changes for education in New Jersey and a whirlwind of teacher activity to bring them about. The February issue of the NJEA REVIEW, monthly publication of the New Jersey Education Assn., cites five major studies that have teachers excited.

Most important, according to NJEA, is the forthcoming report of the State Tax Policy Commission. The teachers' group has been campaigning, along with nine other organizations that make up the N.J. Committee for School Support, for a multi-million dollar boost in aid to local school districts paid for by a broad-based state tax. The push given to aid for education by Gov. Richard J. Hughes has buoyed teacher hopes and they have greatly stepped up their campaign activities to help this shift in opinion on the school aid-tax question.

Higher education also ranks on the NJEA agenda. With the State Board soon to complete a $25,000 study of New Jersey college enrollments through 1970, plans will be developing for another round of campus expansion at Rutgers, the six State Colleges, and other state-supported institutions. The NJEA was a major backer of the 1959 College Bond issue and appears ready to continue these efforts to keep up with the soaring student demand for college entrance. The association is also backing the current drive in the legislature to establish county two-year community colleges.

Teacher pensions became a big issue during last fall's gubernatorial election. While the public may have all but forgotten the campaign oratory, NJEA has kept right on top of the problem by hiring its own actuaries to investigate the N.J. Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund.

This report by Huggins and Co. was presented to the NJEA Delegate Assembly in January and will bring further efforts to strengthen and improve the system. Of particular concern to the teachers is the long-standing confusion brought on by changes in federal regulations, which cut off plans made by a number of teachers to retire in time to avoid having their social security allowances deducted from their state pensions.

NJEA has a new committee which could bring one of the biggest changes in the educational scene. Called the Teacher-Board Relations Committee, this group is digging into such concepts as "negotiation," "arbitration," and "mediation" to see how they might apply to teacher organizations.

NJEA feels that definite procedures must be spelled out in the state education laws for a more systematic approach to the determination of salaries and other employee policies by boards of education.

Highwaymen To Appear At NCE

"The Highwaymen," five folk-singing honor students from Wesleyan University, come to Newark State College, Union, on Saturday, March 24, at 8 p.m.

The five, who have rocketed to success in the entertainment world ever since their recording of "Michael Row and Boat Ashore" caught on in the summer of 1961, will present a program of folk songs in D'Angola Gymnasium. Admission is $1.75.

The Highwaymen sing strictly folk music. All five play the guitar, and diversify into a variety of instruments including the five-string banjo, recorder, autoharp, maracas, bongos, ten-string South American charango made from an armadillo shell, and Argentine drum called the "bombo," and a Nigerian talking drum. They sing in English, French, Hebrew, and Spanish.

Now seniors, the boys met when they joined the same fraternity, EQV, during their freshman year. At one of the fraternity social functions, freshmen were invited to offer entertainment. The five volunteered the latest rock'n'roll chants with some serious folk songs. The response was so good that they continued to sing together and gained a large campus following.

In their sophomore year they piled their guitars into the community car and went to New York City to audition as professionals. Don Costa decided to record them.

EDUCATIONAL TV: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

A great deal of nonsense has been written about educational television. Following is my contribution:

It has been said that television allots no desirable viewing hours to educational and intellectual programs. This is simply not so. For instance, you can see "The Kant and Hegel Hour" every day at 4 a.m. This excellent show is followed at 5 a.m. by "Kierkegaard Can Be Fun." For such lazy scamps as lie abed beyond that hour, there is a splendid program on Sunday mornings at 7:15 called "Birds of Minnesota, Except Duluth."

So much for the myth that TV gives no prime time to educational programs. Now let us deflate another canard: that TV is not eager to inject intellectual content in all its programs.

If you have sat, as I have sat, with a television planning board, you would know that the opposite is true. I was privileged recently to witness a meeting of two of TV's topmost program developers—both named Binkie Tattersall.

"Binkie," said Binkie to Binkie, "if there is one thing I am bound and determined, it's that we're going to have intellectual content in next season's programs."

"Right!" replied Binkie. "So let us put on our thinking caps and go to work."

"I forgot my thinking cap in Westport," said Binkie, "but I have a better notion: let us light a Marlboro."

"But of course!" cried Binkie. "Because the best way to think is to settle back and get comfortable, and what is the cigarette that lets you settle back and get comfortable?"

"I said Marlboro," answered Binkie. "Weren't you listening?"

"A full-flavored smoke is Marlboro," declared Binkie.

"Rich tobacco, pure white filter, a choice of pack or box. What is better than a Marlboro?"

"A Marlboro and a match," replied Binkie. "Got one?"

Binkie had, and so they lit their good Marlboros and settled back and got comfortable and proceeded to cerebration.

"First of all," said Binkie, "we are going to avoid all the old clichés. We will have no domestic comedies, no westerns, no private eyes, no deep sea divers, no doctors, and no lawyers."

"Right!" said Binkie. "Something offbeat."

"That's the word—offbeat," said Binkie.

They smoked and cerebrated.

"You know," said Binkie, "there has never been a series about the Coast and Geodetic Survey."

"Or about glass blowers," said Binkie.

They fell into a long, torpid silence.

"You know," said Binkie, "there's really nothing wrong with Paterson State's Men's Fencing team competed in its eleventh meet of the season at Newark Rutgers on March 10. Newark began the vigorous competition with a substantial lead which they held until the final bouts. PSC's sabre team carried itself very well by winning 7 of 9 bouts. The epee squad also won its segment of the meet 5-4. The foil team didn't fare as well, indeed; had they won one more bout than they did, they could have helped win the meet. Newark won the meet 14-13. This gives Paterson a 5-6 record with one or two meets left in the season. This is quite miraculous when one considers the fact that we have hardly a team to begin with.

On March 8 Chuck Roth, senior and our most outstanding fencer, qualified for the North Atlantic and National Championship competition to be held later this year. He was sixth of eight top fencers to qualify.

In addition to AFLA competitions and the regular inter-collegiate season the fencing team also attends end-of-season tournaments. Two years ago PSC competed in the NCE invitational; last year it added the NAIA to its schedule and left this morning to fence in North Atlantic's team competition in Buffalo, New York. Good luck.

De Sopo Places First In Foul Shooting Contest

Carmen De Sopo, sophomore, who only two weeks ago took his arm out of a cast from an injury inflicted during a soccer game, was the winner of the first place trophy for the intramural foul-shooting contest held last Thursday during activity period in the gym. Approximately 50 students entered the contest.

Each contestant was allowed 30 foul-shots, 10 at three different baskets. De Sopo, Richard Gore, and Robert Becker were high men in the first play off, scoring 24 out of 30 shots. The second play-off allowed each of the three men 10 shots apiece. Becker scored 5 out of 10, and Gore and DeSopo tied with 9 out of 10.

The third and final playoff between De Sopo and Gore resulted in a one basket lead by De Sopo over Gore, making De Sopo the winner. De Sopo scored 6 out of 10.

Baseball practice for the upcoming season is in full swing with Coach Gabe Vitalone piloting the Paterson team. A turnout of twenty-five ball players may be an indication for a successful season with returning lettermen Richie Garafolo, Lou Carcich, Vic Farkas, Jim Heffernan, Dennis DeLorenzo and Len Lakson bolstering the squad.

The strength of any team with such a short playing season as Paterson's depends largely upon the pitching arm. Bill Born, Lou Carcich, Dennis DeLorenzo and Frank McCarthy are expected to carry the pitching burden for the Paterson club, with Ross Alfieri and Jack Kay lending their support.

Jim Heffernan, Jerry Conklin and Frank Krautchein will be at the receiving end behind home plate calling the plays for the squad. The only veteran catcher Heffernan will handle the bulk of work.

Covering the infield for the Paterson ball players are Richie Garafolo, Vic Farkas, the club's leading hitter from last season, and Mark Evangelista, a new and promising face for the club. Len Lakson, Tony Coletta, Jack Polman and Joe San Giacomo will be the nucleus of the outfield.

"No starting line up has been announced since the squad is comparatively young with only two senior veterans and six letterman. If the team carries half their games, it will be a successful season," stated Coach Vitalone.

Stokes Plan Proposed For Jr. Practicum

Miss Nancy DeGross, coordinator of public school programs in New Jersey School of Conservation, Stokes Forest, has been arranging a plan for the use of junior elementary major in the Fall programs at Stokes Forest.

If the program is considered and accepted at Paterson State College, there is a likelihood that some '62-'63 juniors, who have indicated their interest, may be assigned for a week or more as counselors at Stokes Forest if their junior practicum cooperating teachers excuse them for such an assignment. The plan is presently in the embryo stage and nothing definite can be reported, or announced, at this time.

Any sophomore who might be interested in a camping experience during junior practicum next year may sign his name on the information sheet attached to the Office of Student Teaching bulletin board in Hunziker Hall.

Applications for the academic year commencing September 1962 must be received by April 1, 1962, and announcement of grants will be made prior to May 15, 1962.

Details concerning this program may be obtained by writing to the Foundation, Suite 223, 1741 North Ivar Avenue, Los Angeles 28, California.

Highwaymen...
