Kappa Delta Pi Will Tap 30-40 Students In April

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity in education, will select approximately forty Paterson State students for membership at the Tapping Assembly April 17, Ed Likman, president of the Society announced. Membership is limited to students in their sophomore, junior and senior years who rank high in scholarship, leadership and service.

Zeta Alpha Chapter, the local unit of the fraternity, measures every prospective member in all the areas indicated. Since all students at the college are preparing for a career in teaching, the requirement of continuing interest in education is almost automatic. The requirement of leadership is satisfied by participation in college activities.

The Chapter establishes eligibility in terms of personal qualities by investigating the reputation each candidate enjoys as a student at PSC. High scholarship requirements are set by cumulative grade point average as follows: for eligibility to be pledged in the spring of the sophomore year — 3:25; for election as a junior—3:10; for election as a senior 3.0 unless the national mini-

R. Cleary Appointed New Bookstore Mgr.

Robert Cleary of Butler, N. J. became the new manager of the Bookstore on Monday, March 19. Mr. Cleary attended Villanova University in Pennsylvania and has had experience as a partner of the "Madonna Gift Shops" in Paterson and Pompton Lakes, N. J.

"The Bookstore is operated for the convenience of the students. They should feel free to come in and browse at any time," Mr. Cleary stated.

The "Grand Opening" of a new Paperback Section is planned for April 16, as the Bookstore is increasing and adding to the number of paperbacks now being carried.

"I shall be very interested in any ideas the students may have," Mr. Cleary said, "and will be very glad to discuss with them any suggestions concerning the Bookstore."

Mr. Cleary is employed by the Student Cooperative Association which is made up of six faculty members and six students approved by the SGA. The Student Cooperative Association is now exploring the matter of adding new lines of merchandise, such as magazines, art supplies, and stationery, to the Bookstore.

Mr. Cleary said that everyone has been most cooperative and added that he thinks he will like it here.

Brothers Four Now Slated For May 16

The Brothers Four program will be held on campus Wednesday, May 16 as part of Paterson State's Evening Program. Dates for purchasing tickets will be announced at a future time.

The program's schedule was changed from April 18 after the SGA General Council was informed of the group's possible trip to Japan at that time.

Miss Anita Este, assistant director of student personnel, said that she expects to hear from the group's agent before next week so that definite arrangements can be made. Dates for the sale of tickets and the time of the performance will be announced then.

Tickets will cost 50c for students and faculty members while guest tickets will be $1.50 each. One guest ticket will be allowed to be purchased for each 50c ticket up until a certain date, after which any number of guest tickets will be available. This date for purchasing extra tickets will also be announced at a future time.

"Blithe Spirit" Tryout Dates March 28-29

Tryouts for Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit will be held on Tuesday, March 27 at 1:30 p.m. in L-1 and again on Wednesday, March 28 at 4:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. Eight Attending Three Day Confab

Eight students from Paterson State College are attending the spring conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, March 22, 23 and 24. The local delegates are Joe Laferrera, Ken Dow, Irene Walmsley, Lenore Petouvis, Emma Trifiletti, Len Lakson, Joan Schmidt and Herman Van Teyens. Representatives from seventy colleges and universities are expected to attend the three-day convention at the Hotel New Yorker.

"Today's Teacher-Tomorrow" is the theme for this year's conference. Topics that will be discussed at the conference include the teacher and his education, educating teachers for making decisions, and social forces influencing education.

The position as chairman of the conference concerning pressures on the teacher today has been delegated to Ken Dow, SGA president and junior social studies major. Those participating in the session will attempt to outline those pressures and seek possible solutions to their alleviation.

Joseph Laferrera, former SGA president and senior math major, has been delegated summarizer for the committee concerned with teaching machines. "Teacher personality", curriculum in the elementary, junior and senior high schools, and society's image of the teacher today and tomorrow include other conferences in which Paterson delegates will participate.

A tour of New York City and the Guggenheim Museum will be included in the three-day convention. The group will be guests at a dinner at New York University and also at a tea at Columbia University.

The Tower Players of Jersey City State College will present a play by Reginald Rose, "Twelve Angry Men." Also in the line of activities is a tour of the Hunter College school for exceptional children.

Present Frosh Officers Again Vie For Office

Five of the present freshmen class officers, Howard Kohn, president; Frank Edwards, vice president; Mary Henkelman, secretary; and Max Konigsberg, treasurer, have been again nominated to run for a second term in their respective offices. Joe Yeamas, present class historian, was nominated for the office of vice president. Other candidates vying for office are Vic Talerico, president; Anita Bergan, secretary; Richard Gore, treasurer, and Gay Abate and Barbara Beagal for historian.

Nominations and primaries which determined the above results were held Tuesday, March 20 in the gymnasium. Final elections will be held April 11.

Notice . . .

The snack bar in the College Center will be closed at 4 p.m. every day beginning April 9 for the purpose of maintenance. The food area will open at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Paterson State Hosts Invitational Conference

Paterson State will play host to an Invitational Conference on Saturday, March 24, from 9 to 12 noon in the Food Service Building. The conference, sponsored by the New Jersey State Department of Education and the six State Colleges, concerns "Meeting the Challenge of Pressures for Educational Change."

The purpose of the conference is to set up certain criteria for evaluating educational innovations. This is one of a series of conferences being set up by the State Department of Education on subjects of special concern to educators.

Dr. Mildred Weil, chairman of the special committee, will present working paper which will describe criteria for evaluating educational innovations. This will be followed by case studies and discussion groups to consider the cases presented. Participants in these groups will be asked to make recommendations which can be used for modifying or revising the working paper.

A Capella Choir To Attend Music Festival

Sunday evening, March 25, will mark a first for New Jersey as the Paterson State A Capella Choir joins choirs from the other state colleges in the first All State Choir Music Festival. The performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Montclair State College.

This initial concert is being presented under the instigation and direction of Dr. Harvey Wilson, music department chairman at Montclair State, in the hope it will be the first of many annual All State Choir Music Festivals. The program will feature selections by each of the individual choirs, as well as several numbers by the combined group.

The Paterson State choir, directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Stine, will present "The Last Words of David," by Randall Thompson; "The Turtle Dove," a folk song arranged by Vaughn Williams; and "Benedictus and Hosanna," by Houston Bright. The 300 voice massed choir, presenting a colorful sight with their various colored gowns intermingled, will offer "O Sing Your Songs," "Serenade," "Breadth and Extent of

A CAPELLA CHOIR members, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Stine, will take part in the first All-State College Choir Festival at Montclair State College on Sunday, March 25 at 8 p.m.

We Apologize

It has been brought to our attention that contrary to our last editorial the SGA Constitution does not stipulate a cumulative grade point average for class and SGA candidates. Rather, it is only a suggestion made by the SGA that all those vying for office have the 2.0 average the editorial mentioned. We apologize.

With sounding radical, we wish to offer a proposal. With the referendum to the Constitution under consideration, it might prove feasible to encourage another amendment. This second amendment would expand upon the qualification already listed in the Constitution, i.e. a candidate for office must be a student on campus for at least two semesters.

Unfair?

The 2.0 recommendation by the SGA is fair, although we feel it unsound. If a student can maintain a healthy grade point average and effectively do what his office requires, the college has all to gain. But if this does not hold true, we can foresee poor student government. Naturally we expect only those with reasonable averages to consider such positions, but past and even present conditions suggest this to be invalid. Such a Constitutional ruling could prevent these people from committing a possible scholastic "death".

Popularity Poll?

While election banners have not as yet made their appearance, political issues have been briefly mentioned by alert candidates. This we feel is good. Up until now all electioneering on the campus has been based upon "personalities". With the success of the SGA at stake, a friendly smile and a slap on the back can not go far. Issues and party platforms would enhance the campaigns and insure good college government.

The idea is not a new one. Colleges throughout the nation employ such means to achieve satisfactory ends. Platforms present issues. Votes are directed to the side which offers the best idea and the most spirit. Elections then become more than "personality polls" — they become the highlight of the college year.

We Support

A present candidate proposed chairman reports as a device to unite the SGA. Another candidate spoke on the high costs of materials in the college Bookstore. Unfortunately the opponents offered little to distinguish themselves, aside from good conduct records. Students are forced to rely on "talk" that circulates in the snack bar and cafe. Consequently, the popularity contest destroys the issues, and voters lose sight of election goals.

But the establishment of political parties, platforms, issues and worthwhile campaign slogans can eradicate this unnecessary evil that plagues our elections. There should be a reason to vote — many votes have been lost because students fail to see the difference between two candidates. When a candidate's strength is known, more ballots will be counted.

We support those candidates who think. We support those candidates who act. And we support those students who care.

Still Wanted...

An 88 key piano is still being sought by the House Committee for the College Center. Since many students feel the snack bar lacks the recreational facilities of other colleges, the House Committee proposed the addition of a piano which would become the property of every student on campus. However, due to the usual complacency of PSC students, the response was next to nothing.

If anyone knows where a used piano could be purchased for a reasonable price, please contact Dr. Grace Scully, or any member of the SGA House Committee.

Daily Penn May Gain Independence

PHILADELPHIA, PA. (UPS) — It has begun to look as if the recent attack by the Men's Student Government and the Dean of Men of the University of Pennsylvania on the campus newspaper, the Daily Pennsylvania, is going to end in complete victory for the paper.

After the ban on publication was lifted by the university administration, the paper published on profits from advertising, but it remained, at least in theory, under the same constitutional structure as before — dependent on the student government for about a third of its funds, and under the control of the administration.

Since then, however, work has been going forward to try to make the Daily Pennsylvanian an independent newspaper. If it does become independent, it will cease being the last paper in the Ivy League still dependent.

Michael S. Brown, interim editor of the paper, said that "methods of attaining financial independence have been under consideration for the past eight months, and we have concluded that the newspaper will be able to operate profitably on a subscription basis." He said a plan would be presented to CSA within three weeks.

Earlier in the meeting, the president of Women's Student Government Association, Miss Susan Dexter, one of six students on the committee, introduced a "tentative proposal for making the Daily Pennsylvanian independent."

She proposed that the administration and the two student governments "recognize the Daily Pennsylvanian as the university's only official daily newspaper," and suggested that the paper be put "on a subscription basis . . . for a trial period of two years."

During that time, the university would subsidize any losses up to the amount of the present subsidy of about $17,000. After the trial period, the feasibility of independence should be re-examined, she said.

Better Read Than Mis-lead! . . . is in a fashion a reply to Mr. Ozmon's re-run article, "Better Dead Than Well-Read" (Beacon 9 Mar. '62). Mr. Ozmon informs readers that American liberal literature proponents have had a morale boost because the U. S. Postal Dept. has not seen fit to ban Tropic of Cancer. Although the post office has been under fire for its seemingly complacent attitude in allowing pornography to be mailed to young children, Mr. Ozmon continues to see the Tropic decision as a victory and a step toward winning the "liberalist" war. It would seem to me one might rather sail into battle with the Jolly-Roger flying overhead than the colors Mr. Ozmon has chosen to fight for.

In all fairness it must be pointed out that Mr. Ozmon is against books like Tropic of Cancer (and maybe even Peyton Place) as literature for the "very young." He may not realize it, but this alienates him from his former ally the post office, which doesn't discriminate.

Mr. Ozmon appears to be master of the transfer method of propaganda. He reminds us that Plato was in favor of his own hypothesis on children's literature. This is an attempt to transfer your emotions from one item to another. In this case since many college people feel that Plato was a man of unmatched brilliance, and that he and Mr. Ozmon have a thought in common, that thought must likely be of unmatched brilliance. Another testimonial comes in this form: "Most professional educators realize . . ." Now a professional educator is a teacher who accepts pay. Potentially we are all professional educators, a fact which brings the testimonial into its proper proportion. He further cites ex-President Eisenhower as having made some sort of stand similar to one made by the N.C.T.E., which was rather vague except that it is against a "wave of book-burning."

In our society any attempt at censorship is heralded as "book-burning", just as any investigation to see how spies get their information is called a "witch-hunt" or a "red-herring." The term "book-burning" has long been used as a cry to unite pseudo-intellectuals in a call-to-arms. The pattern is slightly different in this case, however. Usually the author reminds his readers that Hitler burned books. At this the reader is supposed to say to himself, "Hitler burned books, Hitler was bad, look what happened to Hitler."

As opposed to Mr. Ozmon's reporting, the "Texans for Democracy" did not label a group of prominent authors "Un-American", but rather questioned their interpretation of man's needs in several selected works. One of Mr. Ozmon's questions was: "Was Upton Sinclair 'unpatriotic' when he pointed out in The Jungle how American industry operated without regard to the needs and welfare of the workers and consumers?" The answer is no; he was not unpatriotic because of this, anymore than Karl Marx was un-American because he had unhealthful social habits.

Mr. Ozmon's definition of a "super-patriot" was: one who insists on removing classics from the library on the charge that they are subversive.

The Case For Censors:

Many high school teachers have omitted such books as The Scarlet Letter from their literature programs solely on the belief that a particular group of children was not mature enough for the handling of this social problem as administered by Hawthorne. Now, here is the classic problem. Let's suppose I were your child (your occupation being that of a teacher), and one day I came home from school and said, "Dad, we read Robin Hood and you told me Robin Hood was good. Well, if Robin Hood robs from the rich and gives to the poor and that is the fundamental theory of Communism — what is wrong with Communism?" Can you answer that question? Simply because many teachers could not begin to handle it, and still others could not handle it in terms the pupil could understand, some careful choice in books is necessary. This is not to be regarded as "book-burning."

Mr. Ozmon would lead readers to believe that "free thought" was arrived at by figuratively taking the top off the individual's head, pouring in Das Kapital with one hand and the "Star Spangled Banner" with the other and then expecting this individual to come up with a philosophy most beneficial to his society.

Paterson Senior Biology Majors In "Science Bowl"

Three Paterson State senior biology majors will pit their scientific knowledge against that of representatives from five other colleges in a "Science Bowl" to be held at Newark State College, Union, Thursday, April 12. Those selected to represent Paterson State are Hank Edelhauser, senior class president, Pete Chabora, SGA vice president, and Mrs. Rosemarin Lovell.

Competing will be teams from six state colleges — Glassboro, Jersey City, Montclair, Newark, Paterson and Trenton. Both team and individual trophies will be presented to the winners.

The Student Section of New Jersey Science Teachers Association is sponsoring the event. High school and college students of science, as well as teachers of the subject, are invited to attend the event, which is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the College Center.

Refreshments will be served in the college's snack bar following the competition.

Dr. Kenneth Job Has Doctorate Published

Dr. Kenneth Job, associate professor of education at Paterson State, and a former assistant principal and visual aids director at West Orange Junior High School, recently had his Doctorate in education published in the February 1962 issue of the National Association of Secondary School Principals Bulletin. Dr. Job received his Doctorate from NYU in 1960 and his Masters in Education in 1950.

The major purpose of Dr. Job's thesis "... was to develop a social studies resource unit dealing with the personal and social adjustment problems of entering Junior High School students in the West Orange, N. J. school system."

"To determine the degree to which the West Orange pupils were concerned with problems of a personal and social nature, 494 entering Junior High School students were surveyed by means of the Mooney Problem Check List (Form J). A supplementary questionnaire was administered to obtain information about the students age, sex, sibling relationship, repeating grades, parents' ownership of home, number of parents working, and parents' membership in the PTA. The 7,623 student responses were first arranged according to the problem categories of the Check List: Health and Physical Development; School; Home and Family; Money, Work, the Future; Boy-Girl Relations; Relation to People in General; and Self-Centered Concerns. Then the responses were arranged according to the conditioning factors of the supplementary questionnaire."

Two of the conclusions which Dr. Job arrived at through this study are as follows:

1. "Transition from the elementary school to the secondary school appears to present many personal and social adjustment problems. In the West Orange, N. J. survey group, the concerns were mostly in the areas of Self-Centered Concerns, School, and Relations to People in General."

2. "For the purposes of developing activities to be included in a resource unit, it appears that research findings survey of local needs, and the opinions of the person preparing the unit all could provide worthwhile guides for their preparation."

Career Cues:

"The broader your knowledge, the greater your chance of success!"

Edwin J. Ducayet, President
Bell Helicopter Company

"As I look back, graduating from college in the depth of the depression was a blessing in disguise. It was difficult to get a job, and even more difficult to hold it. It proved to me early in life that to succeed in business requires constant struggle.

"I found that the truly successful individual never stops learning, that a formal college education is the foundation on which we continue to build the knowledge and experience required to get ahead.

"Even in today's age of specialization, a man eventually reaches a point where breadth of knowledge is necessary. The engineer must understand accounting and marketing. The marketing man must know his product. The financial man must be sympathetic to engineering development and sales programs. Management must have a working knowledge of all phases of the complex and highly competitive business world.

"Therefore, even though specializing, a student should make his college curriculum as broad as possible, and diversify his outside activities. Authoritative surveys have shown that only a small percentage of individuals end up in the field in which they specialized in college.

"Widen your world. Broaden your interests right now. Since graduation from college I've discovered that those who are really succeeding today are the ones who do more and keep on learning from what they do. The broader your college interests are now — the steadier your ladder of success tomorrow!"

Profs Guests At Lawyer's Dinner

Mr. Benjamin Matelson, Director of the Part-time Division, and Mr. Roy Austin, Assistant Professor of Education at Paterson State College, were honored guests at a dinner meeting held on Monday, March 5, by the New Jersey Association of School Attorneys at the Coronet Restaurant in Irvington.

This is a new group which was formed out of the lawyers' seminar held on the PSC campus last fall. The 28 attorneys who attended faithfully during the weekly Monday night sessions beginning on October 9 and running through December 11 formed an association which would continue the friendships and professional benefits which had come as by-products of the seminar. Other school attorneys have joined so that they now number 56. Mr. Matelson and Mr. Austin were the only non-lawyers attending the dinner.

Spring Concert Slated April 28

Tennis Team Anticipated On Campus

The anticipated organization of a tennis team was announced by Miss Cohen, instructor in physical education, early this week.

Girls who have the basic tennis skills and are interested in competing with neighboring college teams are invited to see Miss Cohen in her office as soon as possible.

Practice will begin after spring vacation, giving members 3 weeks to prepare for matches in mid-May.

Sports Corner

Today the Paterson nine will play its first exhibition game of the season against Upsala College at 3:00 p.m. at the opponents field. Lou Carcich and Richie Garafolo, the newly named co-captains for the team, will represent the players for the first time. Both senior ball players are veterans of the squad.

A second exhibition game is scheduled for Wednesday, March 28 against Drew University. The ball game at their field will begin at 3 p.m. Both games will precede the opening game of the season against Newark Rutgers on April 2 at the home park.

Twenty-five Paterson men turned out for the practice which began several weeks ago. Last Friday the ballplayers had their first out-door batting and fielding practice. Twenty men are expected to wear the Paterson colors for the season.

The bulk of the squad rests upon the sophomore and freshmen players. If they come through as expected the team should average a 500 season, which is successful for a club there size.

New faces to the team are Tony Coletta, Frank Apito, Bill Born, the pitcher who will carry a large part of the work load, Norman Horowitz, Charles Kascinski, Jack Kay, Howard Kohn, Frank Krauthein, Joe San Giacomo, Frank McCarthy, Roger Milstein, Ron Nahass, Frank Edwards, Mark Evangelista, Michael George, and Jerry Conklin.

Ten NJSC Conference games are scheduled for the brief playing season. Trenton, Newark, Montclair, Jersey City, and Glassboro State Colleges will be competing against the Paterson nine for the championship of the league.

Schedules for the baseball season are available in Coach Vitalone's office in the gymnasium. After the successful turnout of spectators for the basketball games, the baseball players hope to see the same spirit at the spring games.

CO-CAPTAINS for the '62 baseball season, (l. to r.) Lou Carcich and Richie Garafolo, will lead the Paterson team in a game against Upsala this afternoon at 3:00 p.m.

Varsity Cheerleaders To Defend Title March 31

The Paterson State Varsity Cheerleaders will defend their championship title at the Metropolitan-Inter-Collegiate Competition at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford campus on Saturday, March 31.

Each of the 18 participant colleges performing in alphabetical order will display four required cheers: a team, fight, school and original. The Paterson squad will repeat the cheers which won them first place last year.

Dr. Charlotte Brown, professor of social science, will act as chaperone; Miss E. DeGroot, assistant professor of English, is the alternate to accompany the girls.

Registration for the competing colleges from New York and New Jersey begins at 8:30 a.m. The competition is scheduled from 9 to 12 noon. If successful, the squad will retain the trophy which has been in the possession of Paterson State College since last April.

The JV cheering squad of Paterson State, though not in competition, will exhibit a cheer. Students are invited to attend the March 31 competition.

Captain of the squad, Fran Dinino, considers Jersey City State the toughest competitors for the Paterson group. Last year, Jersey City won second place in the conference. Other members of the varsity squad are Anne Lieberneckt, co-captain; Elvira Brown, Rosalind Tyson, Lynn D'Antonio, Judy Lewellyn, Carol Kaiser, Joyce Quackenbush, Lucille Alcuri, and Dianne Vecchione.

Swordsmen's Scoops

Paterson State's Men's fencing team competed in its last meet of the season at Yesheva University on March 13. PSC lost the meet 13-14. The team was again held back by the foil squad which won only one of nine bouts. The epee and sabre squads did very well, each taking six bouts of nine.

On March 17 a six-man team (two men from each weapon instead of three) fenced in the North Atlantic Intercollegiate Championships at the University of Buffalo. Paterson tied for eighth place with Gannon College of Erie, Pa. The all-day and evening competition was won by Buffalo. Buffalo also won first place in the individual foil and epee and third place in sabre. Second place was taken by Drew University of Madison, N. J. who also took second place in the epee finals. The third place team was Syracuse University who placed third in the epee finals.

We were lucky in having Jack Albanese place fifth in epee and Chuck Roth place second in sabre.

Others participating in the twelfth annual competition included Hobart College (Geneva, N. Y.), Case Institute (Cleveland, Ohio), Newark Rutgers, St. Peter's College, Rochester Institute and Fairleigh Dickinson.

Tomorrow PSC will fence in the NCE tournament and on the following Saturday in the NAIA tournament in Long Island.

One worthwhile question Mr. Ozmon did ask was, "If reading matter is to be censored, who is going to do it?" Unfortunately he made no attempt to answer this. It is my opinion that, in censorship, extremes and extremists are to be avoided.
