New Parking Regulations Set

Parking is a critical issue on college campuses. Paterson State College is no exception. Students must obey all regulations at all times. The penalty for not doing so is severe. On the first offense, the penalty is forfeiture of parking deferment for the rest of the year with refund of money.

The following regulations prevail at all times: days, nights; Saturdays, and Sundays; summer, winter, fall and spring; all Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Cars must display a decal for the current year. This decal must be displayed in the lower left-hand (driver's right) corner of the rear window.

The decal must be put on the window exactly as directed on the back of the decal. Scotch glue, et cetera is not allowed.

A new decal must be secured immediately if the number should become illegible or the student changes cars. A decal may be obtained only if the student submits the original issued decal, i.e., scrape off with a razor blade and submit it for a duplicate. Decals that are lost or stolen are replaced. If the decal is used on the car window immediately as directed, it cannot be lost or stolen. Money is not refunded for lost or stolen decal.

English Club Shows With Swedish Film

The English Club will present a Swedish film, "Wild Strawberries" on Tuesday, September 29, at 7:30 p.m. in W101. The late Victor Sjöström, who directed Lillian Gish in "The Scarlet Letter" in 1926, is cast in the role of an octogenarian doctor reviewing the wasted landscape of his life on the day he receives his highest reward—honorary degree from his university. Ingrid Thulin plays his daughter-in-law, who works with her all power to keep heart and life back into the cold old man and his even colder, more negative son, played by Gunnar Björnstrand. The story of the old man's life told through skillfully-managed flashbacks to show some of the substantive facts behind his life, and the old man's family, which expresses with symbolic force, his inner decision. The all white scene of the family lunch party, and the final shot of the picture are among the most beautiful ever filmed. Tennessee Williams called this film "a true and fine film, the finest I have seen in years."

Ingmar Bergman, the producer, is acclaimed by Time magazine to be one of the most gifted and dominantly creative filmmakers of modern times. "Wild Strawberries" has been widely acclaimed as his masterpiece.

Max Lerner

Lerner To Discuss "Overkill Factor"

"The Age of Overkill" will be discussed by lecturer Max Lerner at 1:30 p.m. October 8 in Memorial Gymnasium.

Active as an author, teacher, and columnist, Mr. Lerner received his B.A. degree from Yale and his Ph. D. at the Robert Brookings Graduate School of Economics and Government. He is presently Professor of American Civilization at Brandeis University, and is a regular columnist for the New York Post. On a Fort grant for research and study, Mr. Lerner spent the 1963-64 year in Europe.

Previous Lerner Comments

Calling himself a "possiblist," Mr. Lerner has said that he believed it possible to avoid nuclear war, although it is not inevitable, and that it is also possible that the communists may dominate the world but this also is not inevitable.

The author and journalist has further stated that our destiny lies not in the stars but in ourselves and in every human being.

Also, claiming to be a "revolutionary," Mr. Lerner has said that "we are a revolutionary world," referring to the rapid development of nuclear weapons.

Mr. Lerner feels that today is an "age of power surplus" and we now have enough weapons to kill humanity 50 to 75 times over, a reality which he has termed "the overkill factor." He has also predicted that we may some day be able to speak of the abolition of war but termed this an impossibility at present.

Mr. Lerner has said that his basic principle is to face reality and he has labeled himself as "toughminded." He calls the "toughminded"—in comparison to the "tenderminded"—those who "recognize force effective in the world but also those who recognize emotions, fears, and passions as equally effective."

Several of Mr. Lerner's books are now on reserve in the Sarah Byrd Askew Library. Among them are America as a Civilization, Education and a Radical Humanism, and his latest book The Age of Overkill.

A question and answer session will be held in Wayne Hall following Mr. Lerner's lecture. Students, particularly those interested in the social sciences, are invited to participate in this discussion period.

EDITORIAL

This is the fourth year in which the BEACON has been printed on a weekly schedule. In that time this college community has grown tremendously. The student body is half again as large this semester as it was four years ago. In an effort to keep pace with this growth, the editorial staff of the BEACON has awarded the printing contract to a local printer equipped with more efficient and modern facilities. Additional monies have been made available for larger editions and an increase in weekly circulation. The only element lacking - the lack of which is retarding rather than hastening our growth - is interest. The very nature of the student body of this college seems to require an outlet for expression and, since this is a college, an ideal form of expression is the newspaper. The "Letters to the Editor" column is always available for airing opinions and this semester another column is to be printed on a regular basis. Entitled "The Forum", it is designed to provide space for those with opinions worthy of merit and of scholarly interest and not technically suitable for other columns. We await your participation.

N.J. Art Exhibit Opens In P.S.C., Newark Museum

An exhibit of 35 paintings from the Abbott Laboratory fine art collection will be shown at the Paterson State College, Wayne, New Jersey, September 18 through October 9, 1964. The exhibit, entitled "A Corporation Collects," being shown under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts.

The show includes the work of a wide range of distinguished artists, from abstractionists to realists and romanticists. Among them are Salvador Dali, Thomas Hart Benton, Grant Wood, Marsden Hartley, Charles Burchfield, Fernand Leger, Georges Roualt, Hans Hofmann, Maurice Utrillo, Jose Jones, Georges Braque, Ben Shahn, Jimmy Ernst, and John Steward Curry.

The paintings were selected from the Abbott Collection of more than 400 works by Harris K. Prior, of the American Federation of Arts. Considered one of the finest owned by an industrial corporation, the collection is especially unique because each of the pictures has been reproduced in the Abbott advertising to physicians.

In the catalog for "A Corporation Collects," to be distributed at the showing here, Emily Genauer, Art Critic of the New York Herald Tribune, writes that the Abbott fine arts program "is one of the most constructive examples of art sponsorship to be found in the country today because it affects both the artists and the large public interested in their efforts." No attempt has been made to put a value on the Abbott Collection.

The sponsoring American Federation of Arts is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to cultivate the appreciation and foster the production of art in America. Its activities include traveling exhibitions, publications, and national and regional conferences and consultation services.

Newark Museum Exhibit

Works by participating artists in the Fourth International Artists' Seminar held this summer at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison will be on view from September 14 to 30 in the Community Gallery of the Newark Museum. The Museum opening coincides with that of a similar show of works by the Seminar artists at the Grippi Gallery in New York.

Foreign artists represented include Claude Bellegarde, in France, who works in tempera, pure color relationships on a reflective surfaces. His colors applied within large three-dimensional boxes so that they reflect back and forth to form changing visual harmonies. Mitsuo Katsuki, a Japanese, works in a basically abstract-expressive style. Luis Felipe Nore of Argentina produces paintings of savage ferocity akin to the work of artists like Dubuffet and Eero. His works sometimes extend to three-dimensional planes, relating to Pop Art. Jiri Balazek, Czechoslovakia produces paintings in a subtle, near-monochromatic style with some apocalyptic stenciling.

The work of the American artists, mostly New Jersey painters, varies in style from Jim Gwynne's almost "Pop" to realism and Herbert Macke's quiet abstraction to a hard-edged, semi-abstract work of George Mueller and Tom Bayrak's overall abstract Paintings by Ford Schumacher and Edd Bing Lee are more abstract-expressionist in manner.

The Seminar gave the artists both American and Foreign chance to share their creative experiences and thus to stimulate their endeavors. This exhibition allows the public an opportunity to study works created within the last two months and to gain some understanding of the contemporary artists' freedom in use of color and materials and the diversity of expression they may achieve.

The Newark Museum is located at 49 Washington Street, Newark. It is open from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on weekdays; 2 to 6 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

S.G.A. President Welcomes Students

Welcome back! This article will be the first of many I intend to write. In the past years there was always a great amount of confusion, among the students, concerning Student Government activities. This year I hope we can eliminate that problem. Although I am writing this article before our first S.G.A. Council meeting, I would like to bring to your attention three important aspects which our Government will be working upon this year.

The first aspect is one upon which all progress will depend. This year it is most important that we have an organization that will function with maximum efficiency. To accomplish this we will revise certain segments of our Government, this includes: finances, basic systems, and general organization. We will also be stressing parliamentary procedure during meetings. Our representatives will have to be well informed of Student Government and its functioning. Our committees will be stronger than ever. There are many demands such as these that we will need to meet to insure a strong Government.

The second important aspect is for an extensive Social program. This year one of the objectives will be to have many more dances. It is not an impossibility! But it will take work, as all other things will. Plans are being formulated for accomplishing this goal. However, dances aren't the only thing that should be. There will be many other social activities. Success will depend upon a unified cooperation of both leaders and you, the students.

The third aspect concerns a cultural expansion program. At present, we have the Assembly Committee and Evening Series Committee, which dedicate their efforts towards providing an all-around cultural program. Their success has been overwhelming and they should be highly congratulated. But culture is something that always expands and allows for expansion. We can expand and broaden our program to include many more segments of culture. To this goal, the Cultural Expansion Committee has committed itself. Again, it will take a considerable amount of work, but it can be accomplished.

This gives you an idea of what our government will be working towards. The desire for these aspects exists, and this is a basic requirement towards success. But, to make them a reality takes more. We must begin now! Only by hard work and participation by all of us are we going to succeed.

Best of luck and may we have a successful year.

Sincerely yours,
Lon Lawson
S.G.A. President

Women Fencers Attend Canadian Foil Competition

On Thursday, September 3, Arleen Melnick, Cindy Jones, Carol Mittendorf, and Barbara Wennersten of Paterson State Women's Fencing Team packed their bags and left for Montreal, Canada to participate in the 13th Annual International Labor Day Fencing Competition held at Montreal.

After a day of brilliant fencing, the competition was won by Dennise Widdel of Quebec, the Canadian representative to the 1984 Summer Olympics. Following close behind her was the PSC southpaw, Arleen Melnick. Arleen's total bout score for the day was of 14 wins and 3 losses.

The defending champion, Jane Dardia, a former PSC fencing star, placed fourth and Cindy Jones and Barbara Wennersten fenced until the semi-final round. Carol Mittendorf developed leg trouble and could not fence past the first round.

FRESHMEN DOREEN TOUMASSIAN, RITA MONTELEONE, AND MARILYN HIRSCHLEIN find the atmosphere of Heritage Hall's recreation room ideal for studying.

Bench Chatter

Well, summer is over and school in September has become a reality. It's a comforting feeling to see the sophmores, juniors, and seniors back, all attempting to "reach beyond their grasp," while the bewildered Frosh stock are wondering just where to start reaching. Nevertheless, whether you are reaching or grasping or doing a combination of both, school is, once again, in session.

Exotic fads come and go with each passing year. With the mop-top Beatles and the dilapidated Rolling Stones trying to "Tell Me" that "It's All Over Now," perhaps Paterson State needs a new fad. Only something really way out, like supporting PSC's athletic squads, will do. If you think you might be interested in this fad drop down to Wightman Field and see Coach Myers' soccer squad in action against Shelton College at 3:30 on Tuesday. If you are really daring, the Cross Country team will tangle with Montclair here on October 7. It's an idea; I hope it's not too extreme. Time will tell.

Each year the Beacon makes a plea for an award to the most outstanding athlete in each sport. This year is no exception. Why not a trophy to the MVP of each sport? The Beacon feels that this is a must in order to enhance the dying athletic program at PSC. What's the harm?

Foilers Face Record Year

The Men's Fencing team, after a successful season this past year, will again see action against some of the larger colleges in this area. The record last season was eleven wins and one loss, the only loss being to West Point by a one-point margin. Two years ago, Paterson State had defeated West Point by the same margin. West Point will fence here at Paterson State this year.

This summer, in Atlantic City, three Paterson State fencers competed in the national fencing championships. Paterson State faced defeat in its first two matches, but gained a victory in its third match over the United States Army team.

Four members of last year's varsity team have graduated, leaving several positions open on the squad. No experience is necessary to try out for the team and anyone interested should report to the Gym stage on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday afternoon, after 2 o'clock, when practices are held.

PSC Soccermen Begin Promising New Season

Paterson State College resumes soccer play in 1964 with hopes of bettering their 1963 season but must do so while rebuilding the team. The Pioneer's lost 10 lettermen, by far more than any of their rivals in both conference or non-conference play. Coach Wilber Myers, in his second year as head mentor, views his greatest loss in player personnel was losing his co-captain for the past two years Carmen DeSopo and the team's defensive stalwart Richard Witte. Carmen was chosen first string inside right for two consecutive years on the New Jersey State College Conference All-Star Team, and Richard Witte made honorable mention center halfback. During Carmen's collegiate career he scored 31 goals as well as donating a great number of assists. He is now in professional ball as a member of the Paterson Dover's Soccer Team.

The mainstay of this year's squad will be built around 9 returning lettermen striving to throw their 11-game schedule into a win column in order to better last year's record of 5 wins and 5 losses.
