

Dziewawiec Breaks Record As Harriers Upset Glassboro

Led by the record breaking performance of sophomore Joe Dziewawiec the injury ridden Paterson State Harriers upset a strong Glassboro State team, 27-28, at Wightman Field last Saturday. Dziewawiec's course time of 30:19 broke the college record of 30:27 held by senior Brian McColgan.

Finishing second close behind Dziewawiec was his teammate junior Cliff Williams. McColgan, who is unable to compete this year, was on hand to cheer the team on to victory. Dziewawiec, commenting on his performance, said McColgan was an inspiration for the team and particularly himself.

Taking seventh and eighth place respectively were Pioneer harriers sophomore Bill Hagman and junior Jim White. Finishing ninth in the meet to score for Paterson State was junior Ron Simmons.

The win over Glassboro State is indicative of a winning season since Glassboro is presently state harrier champions as well as N.A.I.A. Champs. With injuries healed, the Pioneers are set to face Monmouth College at Monmouth tomorrow at 1:00 p.m.

You are invited to attend an open meeting of the BEACON Board of Control on Oct. 22 at 1:30 p.m. in the College Center Conference Room.

Constructive criticism concerning the policy of the BEACON will be welcomed and questions concerning the BEACON's publication processes will be answered. All staff members are required to attend.

"Music and Dance" Presented By N. J. Symphony

"Music and Dance" will be presented in the Memorial Gymnasium, Sunday, October 20 at 3:00 p.m. The performers will include the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and dancers Renate Aubert and Jerry Scott. As with last year, admission is free and students are encouraged to invite their parents and friends.

The theme of the concert will emphasize the interrelation between music and the dance. The varied dance program will include national dances such as the waltz and the mazurka and court dances such as the minuet.

The New Jersey Symphony, conducted by Kenneth de Witt Schermerhorn, presents 31 concerts annually in addition to children's concerts. The orchestra has received state wide critical acclaim for bringing the best music to New Jersey.

The orchestra, one of the oldest in the country was first formed in 1846. Mr. Schermerhorn, who became conductor in May, 1962, has a wide and illustrious musical background. He played with the Boston Symphony at the age of fifteen. After graduating from the New England Conservatory he entered the Army where he was first solo trumpet in the West Point Band and later became first trumpet with the Seventh Army Symphony. In 1954 Mr. Schermerhorn won the Harriet Cohen International Conductors Award for directing an all-star orchestra and cast in a production of Beethoven's Fidelio at the Passau (Germany) Festival.

He has also won the Serge Koussevitsky Memorial Award, the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Medal and studied in Milan for a year after winning the Frank Huntington Beebe Scholarship. Mr. Schermerhorn has conducted the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Orquestra Nacional de Mexico, the Boston, Baltimore and St. Louis Symphonies. Free refreshments will be served in Wayne Hall after the concert.

Attention Sophomores

An important class meeting will be held on Oct. 22, at 1:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Coronation Ball plans, Campus Queen elections, and the future pep rally will head the agenda.

Magazine Staff Sets November 1 Deadline

Editors of Essence, the college's first literary magazine, announced that all articles for the December edition must be submitted prior to November 1. Contributions for the magazine should be placed in the box marked Essence located in the secretary's office in the English Department.

There has been a change in the name of the magazine from Opera Prima (First Works) to its official title Essence. Articles of poetry, short stories and essays are needed. Art majors interested in helping with layouts are asked to attend a magazine meeting. The time and place of these meetings are posted on campus bulletin boards.

The magazine was granted funds at the last S.G.A. meeting to cover printing costs.

With Open Minds

This afternoon the Student-Faculty Relations Committee will meet for the first time this year. The BEACON commends SGA president Ernie Fisher in his choice of students for the committee. We also feel that the faculty members selected by President Marion E. Shea will act in the best interest of the college.

First on the agenda will be the election of a chairman. Whether a student or faculty member is chosen to act as chairman, the BEACON Board of Control believes that each person is capable of guiding the committee to work for solution to the problems which will be brought to them.

Relations between the student and faculty on this campus are, without doubt, favorable. Yet, there seems to exist a "campus cold war." Although immediate solution to all problems should not be expected, the committee's purpose should be kept in mind. According to the Constitution and By-laws of the SGA, the duties of the Student-Faculty Relations Committee shall include:

"1. Reviewing for either the S. G. A. or the faculty, campus problems whose solution appears to be beyond the immediate province of the group submitting the problem.

2. Reporting a comprehensive statement of opinion to the body submitting the question."

Although everyone at Paterson State College anticipates the problems which will be considered at this afternoon's 4:30 p.m. meeting — Recognition of political, social and religious groups on campus. We sincerely hope that the five students and three faculty members involved will enter the meeting today with open minds.

Durer Prints On Display

Prints by Albrecht Duer is the title of the exhibition on view in the Wing Gallery of Hunziker Hall now through October 28. The prints which combined the Gothic and Renaissance styles were selected by A. Hyatt Mayor, Curator of Prints at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Included in this exhibition is "Front is peace to The Apocalypse" as well as woodcuts and engravings used to illustrate the small-dimensioned "Passion of Jesus" and the large-dimensioned "Passion."

St. Jerome in His Study, one of Durer's recognized masterpieces is an allegory of virtue. The engraving pictures the saint in the spiritual world of sacred contemplation. An atmosphere of peace and intimacy is created by mathematical perspective and orderly placement of the objects in the room, symbols of the mind's order in concentration. The light in which St. Jerome seems bathed symbolizes spiritual illumination.

On his travels through Italy, Mr. Durer was influenced not only by Renaissance form but also by the Humanistic content and subject matter of the Venetian masters. Mr. Durer differed with the Italian masters in their theory of proportion of the human form; he studied normal bodies rather than the ideal, compiling twenty-six types of proportions which show nature's variety in creating many types of beauty. From these prints Mr. Durer became convinced that it was impossible for man to have a perfect knowledge of the beautiful — that this was the privilege of a divine being.

Albrecht Durer was born in Nurnberg, Germany, son of a goldsmith in 1471. He was apprenticed to his father before entering the workshop of a Nurnberg painter and woodcut designer. Except for his journeys to Italy and The Netherlands he spent his life in Nurnberg where he died.

Letter to the Editors

Dear Editors,

The boys at PSC on the soccer and cross country teams deserve our support for their gallant efforts.

PSC has much to be proud of in these young men. But do we show it? No! And it's a shame that we don't. Why this lack of school spirit? Even I, a freshman, have noticed it, and, truthfully, I'm ashamed!

Last week when Jersey City visited PSC the cross country and soccer teams saw action. Both teams were doing their best to win — but where was their support? A mere fifty students out of the two thousand that attend PSC were present. Have you Pioneers no pride? These boys give all their time and effort for PSC but what thanks do they get? None! And if they lose? Everyone gripes about it. But what do we do to instill fight, and spirit, and the will to win in these players! At the Shelton College game several weeks ago, there were only three Paterson State rooters present aside from the team members. Who was there to give a cheer at PSC's victory? Three lonely students.

I think we at Paterson State should take a better look at ourselves. We want our teams to win and be the best, yet we do nothing to help. Isn't it about time we did something about it?

A Disgusted Frosh,
ALLISON KING, '67

Editor's reply: Lack of student support has long been a problem at Paterson State basically because of the commuting situation and large female enrollment. The fact that your letter is the only letter we have received this year concerning the problem of spirit is a good example of general student apathy. The BEACON has given wholehearted support to athletics at Paterson State and especially to alleviating the problem of poor school spirit. Presently the Cheerleaders are looking for a "Pioneer Spirit." We sincerely hope that our readers will take to heart your plea. Thank you for your interest.

Vietnam and American Foreign Policy

by Richard Strassberg

The "first lady" of Vietnam, Mne. Ngo Dinh Nhu, is currently visiting the United States on a "good will" tour. Her Paris perfumes, pretty face and convincing words can do little to remove the stench of burning human flesh and brutal repression which surrounds the regime of her brother-in-law Ngo Dinh Diem, the president of South Vietnam.

Although the most serious incidents seem over, the use of brutal force by the Diem government in attempting to suppress Vietnam's Buddhist population, and the resultant wave of self-cremations by Buddhist monks trying to dramatize the plight of their people has horrified the world and cast serious doubts on the United States' foreign policy in regard to that nation.

The United States is currently risking the lives of hundreds of its military personnel, in addition to spending 500 million dollars per year in an effort to help support the South Vietnamese government in its war with the communist inspired and supplied guerrillas, who for the past several years have been attempting to conquer this Asian nation. Much of the good work that has been accomplished because of American intervention, however, has been negated by the Diem regime. Two of the most necessary ingredients for the winning of the war, viz., the support of the common people for their government and their will to win, have been stifled by the Diem government's dictatorial actions. What difference can it make to the Vietnamese people who wins the war if all they can expect is suppression from either side? What good would it be to be free from the menace of Communism if one still could not practice the religion of one's choice in peace and freedom? By suppressing the Buddhist religion the government has alienated a sizable portion of its people. By the use of secret police and the suspension of elections it alienates even more.

The inadvisability of the United States' unreserved support of the Diem dictatorship merely because it happens to be anti-Communist is obvious. Certainly it is necessary to keep Communism out of South Vietnam, but is the way to do it by supporting a dictatorial regime whose suppressive policies breed the discontent upon which Communism thrives and grows?

If we have learned anything at all from the Cuban fiasco, it is that the answer to the suppression of Communism does not lie with supporting dictatorial or corrupt regimes merely because they claim to be anti-Communist. Nor does it lie in abandoning them completely. It lies, instead, in impressing upon them exactly what the allies of Communism are: fear, hunger, poverty, disease, and the suppression of basic rights. It lies, instead, in showing them that the United States will not be satisfied merely with an external defense against Communist territorial aggression and infiltration. We will need to be shown evidence of a attempts to combat the internal lies without which Communism cannot succeed. Only upon proof that this battle is being carried on on both these front — then and only then — should the United States stretch out its hand in friendship and active support. For then and only then will Communism be on the road to everlasting defeat.

Chansonettes

have announced openings for first and second sopranos and altos. Interested female students, preferably with previous choral experience and who read music, should see Dr. J. Clees McKray, chairman of the music department, immediately for auditions.

Columbia Prof. . .

Yevak, assistant director of student personnel, were present at the dinner.

The purpose of a Leadership Training Program would be to provide an opportunity for the leaders of campus organizations to meet together and develop leadership abilities. Such a program would assist the prospective leaders in making it possible for them to fulfill their roles in campus organizations. Methods for selecting students to participate in such a program were discussed along with the needs for student leadership on campus.

An S.G.A. committee is presently investigating the possibilities of a similar program at Paterson State.

Student Editor Silenced by Oath

UNIVERSITY, Ala. — The 1963-'64 "student editor of the year" has been silenced by the University of Alabama. Mel Meyer, whose editorials in the Alabama Crimson and White gained him national attention and drew repeated threats on his life has been told by university officials that he may not "write upon or comment upon" racial matters.

Failure to comply with the university's demands, Meyer said, will result in, "severe disciplinary action" and possible expulsion.

The Alabama administration required Meyer and all other students to sign statements agreeing not to write or comment on any racial matters for publication, Meyer said. The administration would not permit Meyer to keep a copy of the statement he signed. When he appealed the policy he was told there could be no change.

Meyer said he felt the new policy was aimed, at least in part, at him. He said the policy will prevent him from acting as southern correspondent for the Collegiate Press Service.

According to a spokesman for the university the new policy only applies to student correspondents on the campus. Edward Brown, director of the news bureau, said that the school "prefers professionals" to do the racial news writing and said that a claim that the policy would prohibit all comment by students was "silly."

The student correspondent ban, Brown said, was the result of long experience with student reporters and that there would be "no exception" to the rule.

Asked if the campus newspaper, the Crimson and White, would be allowed to carry news stories and

Illiteracy, Poverty Aid Communism, Reports Brazilian

by Jackie Parrillo

"Brazilians do not like the Communist way of life. But when a person is hungry, he does not look to see whether a democratic or Communist hand is feeding him," remarked Miss Magdalena Almeida, Brazilian exchange student, last Thursday, at the first meeting of the Romance Language club.

Politics, government, and education of her people were discussed by Miss Almeida who endorsed the cultural exchange program in which she is participating. Such a program is good for both countries because "Brazilians have misconceptions about Americans and Americans have misconceptions about Brazilians."

When asked about the communist influence in her country, Miss Almeida reported that lies about the United States are spread by the communists. Because 70% of the Brazilian people are illiterate, few can read a newspaper or a book to discover the truth. Besides, Miss Almeida noted, the Soviet Union gives Brazil foreign aid "free and clear," while the United States usually has some "strings attached" to her aid program such as merely lending and not giving Brazil money. However, Miss Almeida has received a favorable impression of the United States during her stay here and admitted that "Americans work very hard to keep the strong nation they have."

Miss Almeida is presently residing with Adele Gonzalez, a Paterson State student, and will soon return to Brazil. In closing, the exchange student expressed her belief that better understanding between Brazil and the U.S. would develop if only promoted "by a student like myself who will return home and attempt to destroy the misconceptions my people have of America."

Examination Scheduled For Future Teachers

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY — College seniors planning to enter the teaching profession will be able to take the National Teacher Examinations on February 15, 1964. This date for the annual nationwide administration of tests for prospective teachers was announced by Educational Testing Service, a non-profit agency which also prepares College Board and graduate school admissions tests.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts for employing new teachers, and by several States for granting teaching certificates, or licenses. Some colleges require all seniors preparing to teach to take the tests. Lists of school systems which use the examinations are being distributed by Educational Testing Service to colleges educating teachers.

More than 400 testing centers have been set up throughout the nation for the February 15 examinations. At the full-day session, future teachers may take the Common Examinations, testing their professional knowledge and general educational background, and one or two of the 13 Optional Examinations, measuring mastery of the subjects they expect to teach. Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on taking the examinations, according to Educational Testing Service.

Bulletins of Information containing registration forms and detailed information about the February 15 administration of the tests may be obtained from college placement offices, school personnel departments, or directly from: National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J. Registration for the tests opens November 1, and closes January 17.

Dr. M. Krivin Enters Painting In Exhibition

An oil painting by Dr. Martin Krivin, assistant professor of music at Paterson State College, is among the works appearing in the annual oil competition exhibit of the Village Art Center Gallery in New York City.

The exhibit, judged by a panel including the prominent artists Ad Reinhardt and Larry Rivers, will run through October 18 at the Union Dime Savings Bank, Avenue of the Americas at 40th Street, New York.

Dr. Krivin, a former pupil of Richard Pousette-Dart, was a semi-finalist in the 1962 Emily Lowe Competition. Last year, his works also appeared in a two-man exhibit at the Rockland County (N. Y.) Foundation.

Student Editor . . .

named writer Meyer the "student editor of the year" after he wrote editorials calling for obedience to federal law in Alabama. The editorials appeared during and after the crisis at the University of Mississippi.

Meyers life was threatened, crosses were burned on the lawn of his fraternity house, and the university administration hired two full-time body guards for him.

"The thing that really bothers me," Meyers said, "is that this ban isn't just against writing about events at the University — it is a ban on all writing about all racial matters."

Such a ban is an infringement on the right of freedom of expression, Meyer said, and invites censure of the university.

Meyer said he signed the statement "under duress" and plans to continue his appeals against it. At the same time, he said, he will ask the newly formed Committee on Freedom and Responsibility of the Student Press to look into the matter.

Dean Gottehrer, General Secretary of the USSPA and Director of the Collegiate Press Service, said, "This ban indicates that the Univ. of Alabama administration is not as respectful of the rights of its students as we had earlier been led to believe. Meyer was going to provide the nation's student press with full coverage of the events in Birmingham and elsewhere around the South. Now under the terms of the pledge, a copy of which still has not been given to Meyer, he cannot do this."

The case goes beyond Meyer and the press, Gottehrer continued, but questions the rights of all the students at Alabama to speak freely about the situation there.

The Committee on Freedom and Responsibility of the Student Press is presently being consulted and will probably investigate the situation, according to Gottehrer.

Four Lettermen Returning To Bowling Squad

With four returning lettermen the PSC bowling team will have a chance to better their fifth place finish of last year in the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference.

Lanny Reinhardt, Dave Alexander, Vic Farkas, and captain Fred Koenig will be the nucleus of this year's squad. Fighting for the team's fifth position will be Joe Triolo, Ron Becker, George Hirshberg, Marty Margarito, Jim Fells and John Arendas.

This season, as in the past, the Pioneer squad will find stiff competition in EIBC play and tournament competition against schools such as St. Peter's, Rutgers, Fairleigh Dickinson, Villanova (Pa.), St. Joseph (Pa.), NYU and St. Johns.

Last year PSC captured the first Eastern Invitational Championship with Lanny Reinhardt and Fred Koenig averaging 199 and 194 respectively.

Anyone interested in watching collegiate bowlers in action may go to the Cameo Lanes, Jersey City every Sunday afternoon at 1:30.

Vote To Decide Bond Issue

"The decision we make this fall will determine what happens to thousands of school pupils and college applicants in the next three or four years," stated Everett C. Curry, president-elect of the New Jersey Education Association. The decision to which he refers is a yes or no vote on the proposed bond issue.

When New Jersey voters go to the polls on Nov. 5, they can commit the state to a $385 million increase in funds for public aid to education over the next five years. Awaiting their approval is a $125 million construction program for institutions of higher learning, and $10 million in aid to a building program for county colleges.

The argument against the bond issue is that most of the people involved feel that a broad based tax would be better able to supply New Jersey's educational needs. But since both houses of the Legislature refuse to consider any sales or income tax, the bond issue

Rumblings From A Rambler

by Ron Verdicchio

If one counted the number of actual supporters of Paterson State's athletic activities, he would find only a small amount of interested students. Students at this college are apathetic toward athletic activities, clubs and social functions. Why does this apathy exist on campus? What are some of the cures which may remedy this situation for the benefit of athletic activities and the college in general?

The first step to remedy this situation is the recognition of social groups now operating off campus. This recognition will lead to better spectator support by keeping students on campus after 4:30.

The alumni could sponsor awards for outstanding athletes. They could also give their support at home-coming games.

When more men are enrolled in the college more varsity sports such as football, track and wrestling can be added.

All the aforementioned comments are necessary to achieve a greater interest in athletics. Students must participate in activities to make a college campus dynamic. It is time the majority of the student body started attending soccer games and packing Memorial Gymnasium during basketball games.

The student body should begin to support projects that will build a name for the PSC athletic teams and in turn, build an outstanding name for Paterson State College.

Seniors

Orientation meeting for all K.P. and Secondary seniors will be held Oct. 24 at 10:30 a.m. in Memorial Gymnasium. Attendance is required. No excuse will be accepted without loss of priority.

Melnick Second In Fencing Meet

Miss Melnick, a member of the Olympic Fencing Squad, and Miss Jones are now eligible for "A" and "B" competitions scheduled for later dates.

Ann Stokes and Judy Martin, sophomores, also participated in the meet.

Practicum

K.P. and G.E. juniors are currently fulfilling the first part of the six week junior practicum requirement. 305 juniors were assigned to thirty-one college co-ordinators. The students will be observing in forty two school districts in Essex, Bergen, Passaic and Morris counties, encompassing a thirty mile radius of the college. Junior practicum began on Monday, Oct. 14 and will end on Nov. 1.

Flu Injection

Three-hundred and eighty-seven Paterson State students, faculty and staff members received flu injections on Oct. 8.
