WILLIAM WARFIELD WILL APPEAR TONIGHT AT P.S.C. in Memorial Gymnasium at 8:15 p.m. Mr. Warfield is a light-classical singer best known for his portrayal of Porgy in Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Warfield Performs Tonight At P.S.C.

William Warfield, world-famous light classical singer, will present a program at Paterson State tonight at 8:15 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium. Mr. Warfield is probably best known for his portrayal of Porgy in George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess. He has also been commended by the United States Department as a good-will ambassador for this country for his many cultural trips abroad.

Acclaimed "One of the greatest artists of this or any other generation," Mr. Warfield received his B.A. and M.A. from the Eastman School of Music. He has become a world favorite for his rendition of "Ol' Man River" in the film Show Boat. His other credits include De Lawd in Green Pastures, and concert appearance at the International Music Festival, the Berlin Symphony and the New York Philharmonic.

Mr. Warfield's voice has been described as one of "unusual beauty." Reviewers have called it "rich, true, immensely disciplined, capable of a whole rainbow of coloration." In the early 1950's after coming into prominence in the American theater, Mr. Warfield was called "a matchless artist," while an Australian music critic cited his "combination of splendid natural resources and brilliant musicianship not equalled since Chaliapin."

Overseas, Mr. Warfield has traveled across five continents, including official tours for the State Department. A Vienna critic wrote that "the innermost secret of every song is revealed in his singing." In a recent recital at Carnegie Hall, Mr. Warfield's program included spirituals and a Handel aria, in addition to numerous other selections. At that time critics remarked that his "dramatic conviction might conceivably carry his performances alone, it is that strong." Mr. Warfield is admired for his technical skill, which enables him to do "just about anything" with his voice. Tickets for the performance are priced at $1.00 for students and faculty members of Paterson State College, and $2.00 for guests.

Miss Tolstoy To Appear On PSC Campus

Miss Alexandra Tolstoy, daughter of Leo Tolstoy will be speaking on "Leo Tolstoy and His Works" on Thursday, May 6, 1:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Miss Tolstoy came to the United States in 1931, and for the first seven years earned her living as a chicken farmer, struggling daily with picks and wheelbarrow and feed bags.

In 1939 she founded the Tolstoy foundation, dedicated to bringing displaced Russians from Europe to the United States. She raises funds for the foundation through lectures to college students throughout the country, most recently in California. Miss Tolstoy also has published three books: Tolstoy: A Life of My Father; The Tragedy of Tolstoy; and I Worked for the Soviet.

Miss Tolstoy has been a citizen of the United States since 1941 at which time she dropped the title "countess." She is a staunch foe of Communism and works for unity among diverse groups resisting Soviet domination. Those who know her well say she is very like her father in attitude and appearance.

ADMIRING THE AWARDS PRESENTED TO THEM BY THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION are Joy Rich, winner of the Emily Greenaway award; and outstanding seniors Peter Belmont and Arleen Melnick.

Editorial

At the time this paper went to press, the entire results of the class and student government elections were not available. By the time you read this paper, however, the balloting will have been completed and the tabulation of votes will have shown the final decisions of the student body. We take time now to congratulate the students who have won their respective posts, and offer a suggestion to the incoming officers of the student government.

While this year's SGA has done much to improve the climate of the Paterson State campus, the BEACON sincerely hopes that the new slate of officers will take bigger steps in this area, and begin by attempting to revamp current Student Government policy, if it be within their means. One important improvement we would hope to see this government tackle is the need for a cumulative fund for each of its spending agencies. By a cumulative fund, we mean only a means of keeping any residual monies a spending agency may have at the end of the academic year. A prime example of the need for such an improvement is the uncomfortable position the State BEACON finds itself in this semester because of a lack of funds.

Had there been already in existence a cumulative fund for the college newspaper, there would have been no need to appeal to the good will of the SGA finance committee; no need to apologize to the student body for the failure of the paper to keep the student informed—an almost impossible task to accomplish on two sides of one sheet of paper. This measure was adopted only in an effort to conserve the remaining funds to continue publication until the end of the semester.

While there is always criticism, the BEACON has met more cutting remarks than usual because of the reduction of size and value to the college. We therefore STRONGLY urge the new officers to consider the plight of the college agencies, which may not yet be caught in the red tape of bargaining, but will certainly become larger and more financially dependent on the SGA in the years to come.

Why is it so hard to keep all the clocks in the college set at the same time?

STATE BEACON

Published weekly during fall and spring terms by the Student Government Association of Paterson State College, 300 Pompton Road, Wayne, N. J., the STATE BEACON, with editorial offices in the College Center, campus, is supported through SGA appropriation and advertising. Content of the newspaper represents the judgment of the staff, acting in accord with the STATE BEACON Constitution, and does not necessarily represent the judgment or beliefs of the S.G.A., Paterson State College, or the State of New Jersey.

Arleen Melnick received the outstanding senior award for serving as co-captain of the women's fencing team, as national intercollegiate fencing champion, as an active member of the Swords Club, and as a representative of a sport which has for many years brought distinction to Paterson State.

Judges Dr. Herbert Marder, Dr. Richard Nickson and Dr. John Runden chose a poem entitled Narcosynthesis, by freshman Joy Rich as the winning work in the Emily Greenaway Creative Writing Contest. Honorable mention was awarded to junior Maryann Lugowe for her prose work Elijah, and Mrs. Samuel Schwartz, a senior, for her prose work, Fatherhood Is Less Than Bliss.

About three hundred alumni and friends attended the reunion, dinner, and annual Spring Concert.

Special Ed Majors Recruit At PSC

A "Recruitment Convention in Special Education" for high school students was held at Trenton State College on April 10 by the special education majors of the six state colleges. The objectives of this affair was to introduce the high school students to the various fields of special education; mental retardation, deaf and hard of hearing, physically handicapped, emotionally and socially maladjusted, physically handicapped,

After the main program, the group attended a session at which Chet Pilgrim of Paterson State College spoke on the area of the deaf and hard of hearing. Andrea Karcich, Arlene Numark, Rita Monteleone, and Roger Melstein spoke on the areas of mental retardation, emotionally and socially maladjusted and speech correction respectively.

The Paterson State College students also presented a display on teaching aids and other information pertaining to special education. Areas described by the teaching aids were self-skills, motor coordination, visual, tactile, and auditory discrimination, and speech.

Other students attending the affair from Partson State College were James Fells, Roalyn De Andrea, Robert Clair, Marie Piccinino, Barbara Marsan, Kathy Glade, Nancy Mader, Elinda Kentor and Paula Bergmann. Professors from Paterson State included Dr. Marietta Gruenert, associate professor of Education, Mrs. Leola Hayes, assistant professor of education, and Mr. Arnold Sackmary, assistant professor of education.

Vocal Group Offers Unique Combination Of Singing Styles

by Dotti Donaldson

As the stage lights were turned up, the audience became aware of the six young performers standing before them. As soon as their performance had begun, a certain warmth and friendliness came across which couldn't help but make the onlookers feel right at home.

The vocal group consists of Nancy, Tina, Vilma, Lefty, Kenny, and Bruce. "It was Fred Weintrout, the owner of the Bitter End who found each of us separately and formed the Bitter End Singers," noted

Nancy, who had been working in New York at the time of her interview with the cafe owner. Vilma was working off Broadway, and Kenny and Lefty were with another musical group when their interview took place. Tina was the only one who had not had a taste of New York at the time. She was discovered by Mr. Weintrout in West Virginia when she auditioned for the Serendipity Singers, another group supported by the talent scout.

The group's opening in August of last year saw a rather unique style introduced which combined folk, Dixieland and rock songs. "Our material comes either from the group members or through Mr. Weintrout since he is familiar with a wide field of sources," continued Nancy. The bouncy, raven-haired Tina mentioned that the college tours seem to be more to the group's liking since the students are more receptive and besides, "we don't like the drunks found in nightclubs."

Also appearing with the Bitter End Singers was Fred Smoot, a very entertaining comedian, and Carol Crist, a rather new face on the folk singing scene. Her speaking voice, somewhat resembling that of Joan Baez, also comes across in a few of her vocal selections.

Fred Smoot has appeared on a number of television programs and employs some techniques of Jonathan Winters and Cid Caesar, so as to arouse the audience to a hardy laughter.

SPEECH CORRECTION MAJORS will sell articles such as this to raise money for the Preakness fund.

Speech Majors Support Fund

The speech correction majors of paterson State College have begun working on the second Preakness Fund project. Shown above is one of the articles they are making. In addition to the octupi, "frustration balls," designed for maximum use during exams, are also being made.

The octupi may be obtained in a variety of colors, including burgundy, navy blue, royal blue, red, white, or in a combination of these colors, and sell for $2.50. The "frustration balls" are made in a variety of combinations, and sell for $1.50. The articles may be obtained from any speech major or from Dr. Neil Sheldon, associate professor of speech, who is guiding work on the Fund project.

Those students working on the project include Terry Faber, Roger Milstein, Lillian Weiner, Judy Rembisz, Sally Macdonald, Cathy Platt, Elaine Oglvie, Carol Kosco, Regina Konowitz, Gail Woolem, Bernadette Neironi, Cathleen Sain, Angela Notte, Carol Wolfe, and Doris Feiner.

The Preakness Fund was established last year to provide special needs of patients in the Preakness Hospital. Last year, enough funds were raised to purchase a specially-equipped wheel chair.

P.S.C. Takes Second Place

The New Jersey Science Teachers Association sponsored the Fourth Annual Science Bowl, held at Paterson State College on Tuesday, April 27, in the Memorial Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

Questions for the Science Bowl contest were prepared by the various science departments of the participating colleges. The contestants were asked questions in four areas: biology, earth science, chemistry, and physics. All contestants had a chance to answer all the questions. Paterson and Montclair were tied for first place most of the evening. The tie was finally broken in the last round with Montclair taking the lead by one point.

Bids for the Senior Prom will be on sale Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 28, 29, in the Octagonal Room of the College Center. Bids $19 per couple; the prom will be held on Tuesday, June 1, from 8:30-2 p.m. at the Connor Morris Hotel in Paterson. Music will be provided by the Marty Ames orchestra. Dress is formal.
