P.S.C. Confirms Nursing Program

Recently the Beacon has given the little information on the new nursing program that has been available to us to the student body. We would now like to give you what further knowledge we have received.

This week officials of Paterson State College and Barnert Memorial Hospital executed an agreement to create an affiliation between the two institutions on the new Baccalaureate degree.

The new "school within a school" marks a pioneering step in the history of the School of Nursing at Paterson State College and the college in that it creates a school to prepare high school graduates to qualify for both the Registered Nurse and Bachelor of Arts degree in nursing.

Participating in the signing of the agreement were: Dr. Marion E. Shea, President of the college; and Dr. Kenneth B. White, dean of Paterson State; Louis E. Scholtz, President of the Hospital Board of Trustees; Herbert Katz, Chairman; and Charles Trombetta, trustee member of the Nursing Committee of the Hospital; Harvey Schoenfeld, Director; and Mrs. Norma Kur, Nursing Services Executive of the Barnert Memorial Hospital.

Paterson State will appoint an administrator for the nursing program by February 1, 1966, and an additional person to its faculty for the School of Nursing in the following fall.

The new program is expected to make an important contribution toward alleviating the critical nursing shortage throughout the New Jersey area, and is expected to provide a supply of qualified instructors to fill teaching positions in schools of nursing, hospitals, clinics and municipal and regional health departments.

According to Louis E. Scholtz, president of the hospital board, "the Board of Trustees notes with pride the establishment of a Baccalaureate School of Nursing at Paterson State College and the part that this hospital played in helping to bring this about. We know it will mean a great deal to the community and will be much appreciated in the years that lie ahead."

Commenting on the new Program, Dr. Shea stated, she is delighted with the prospect of getting the new program started this fall, and with the fact that the initial arrangement will be with Barnert, with which the college has had fine relations for seven years.

Twenty-four freshmen will be accepted for the program beginning in the Fall of 1966. For the next three years thereafter; 48 new students will be accepted for each freshmen class in nursing, so that by the fourth year there will be a total number of 168 in the nursing B.A. program.

HAPPY HOLIDAY

The BEACON would like to seize this opportunity to wish the students of Paterson State College a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year. We hope to see you all once again after vacation. The next issue of the Beacon will be available January 7, 1966.

A Message From Pres. Marion Shea

The high holy days of Christmas and Hanukkah are upon us with all signs pointing to a joyous season. Somehow we seem to come closer to our fellow man as we approach this particular holiday period.

Here on our high hill our campus Christmas tree is lighted; the party spirit is in the air; dinners and luncheons are numerous. Our singing and instrumental groups fill the air with their voices. Everywhere Christmas decorations appear.

It is a good time in such a warm and joyful setting to raise once again some pretty important questions.

Are we willing to forget what we have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for us? Are we ready, even as we look our fellowman in the face, to try to see beyond each face to the heart? Are we ready to stop trying to get rather than to give? Are we ready to consider the hopes and desires of little children and the loneliness of old people? Are we ready to understand that others who live with us are each and every one entitled to our respect and love? Are we prepared for the spirit of Christmas? Will we let that spirit come into our hearts?

If we can answer these questions affirmatively, then Christmas has meaning — and this holiday period will be joyful and merry and satisfying. I wish for each one of you the experiencing of that richness which comes with full understanding and love of our fellowmen.

May God bless you this Christmas season.

MARION E. SHEA
President

What Was PSC Fifty Years Ago

by Mary Ellen Cassidy

Paterson State College is situated on 220 acres of rolling countryside which was once the estate of Garret Hobart Jr., the son of Garret Hobart, vice-president of the United States during the first administration of President William McKinley.

In 1902, Mrs. Hobart purchased these 220 acres at a public auction and for the small sum of $5,285. It was not until 1915, fifty years ago, that construction started on the Hobart summer residence which was to be known as Ailsa farms.

The estate consisted of a five story, 40 room manor house built in Tudor style, a carriage house, a pump house, a garage, and a stable. A very large flower garden was located a considerable distance from the house. A small pond fed by surface springs was located alongside this garden.

In 1948, the state of New Jersey purchased Ailsa Farms for the sum of $200,000. On Monday, November 6, 1951, the campus was opened for the relocated Paterson State College. The manor house became the administration building. A library and several classrooms were located on the first floor. The kitchen became a supply room. The second floor bedrooms were made over into offices for the faculty and administration personnel.

The roof garden and penthouse were used for faculty receptions and student parties. These areas are no longer used but still remain as a symbol for a by gone era of gracious living.

An added note of interest: In the sub-basement was located a wine cellar containing a timing device on the entrance door to prevent over exposure of the wines to sunlight.

The carriage house contained a large turntable on the first floor to provide an easy means of turning the carriages around. On the second floor, Miss Katherine Hobart, a daughter of the builder, had an art studio where she painted. Today, the carriage house is our carpenter shop.

The two story pump (or round) house contained an elaborate pumping complex to supply water to the extensive lawn sprinkling system. This structure resembles a doll house.

The two story garage was originally converted to a cafeteria with a kitchen and dining room on the first floor. Various offices were situated on the second floor. Today, the first floor is our famous snack bar.

The old stable was renovated into a snack bar on one side and a book store on the other side. Ping pong tables were arranged in the center of the enclosure. The stable eventually was demolished and the Center of Performing Arts building now stands on that former site. Perhaps, some of the seniors might remember those stables.

Behind the present library, only a stone bench remains of the once lovely garden. The fresh pond is now a stagnant pool.

Fifty years have passed since a man's dream of a lovely summer residence came into being. Mr. Hobart's summer house now serves the hopes and dreams of thousands of college students and his lovely estate will be preserved as a college campus for many years to come. I trust the swift advance of progress will not destroy all of the lovely remnants of this beautiful estate. By the time you read this article, just such an incident may have occurred. The pump house or doll house is soon to be destroyed. This structure really adds something to our campus. I only wish it could be moved to another part of the grounds. Steel, aluminum, and glass buildings may achieve an efficiency of purpose but what can such a structure know of the lovely halls and gracious living that the era of the Hobart family knew so well?

I am especially grateful to Mrs. Joseph Degnan of West Haven, Connecticut for her picture of the manor house which gave me the ideas to write this article. I would also like to thank Mrs. Randall and Mr. Anthony Bellviore whose picture you see above.

Dr. Shea signs the final papers confirming the new nursing program for PSC. With her are the administrators of the Barnert Hospital of Paterson.

Editorial

With Christmas growing near and New Year's not far behind, it is the time when we find ourselves making resolutions. When making these resolutions, there is a tendency to look back on the year's events. This year stop for a moment and consider our boys in Viet Nam and other outposts of the world. What kind of Christmas will be theirs — silenced guns for a few hours?

Theirs will not be the familiar scenes of Christmas cheer, with the family gathered around the hearth — familiar voices and smiling faces.

Lack of understanding and unkindness have brought about these changes in their celebration.

Therefore, when we make our resolutions not to cut that 8:30 class and to stay for that 3:30 activity, let us include one more. Let that third resolution be to build a better understanding of man's problems and to have and keep the spirit of kindness, not only for the Christmas season but for the whole year through.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Think Constructively Urges Prof. Northrup

Professor F.S.C. Northrup of Yale University gave a talk entitled "The Philosophical Implications of Modern Education" at United Nations Plaza, on Tuesday, December 7. Dr. Michael Hailpam and Mr. Daniel Skillin of Paterson State College were in attendance.

Professor Northrup pointed out that we now live in a world of "mathematical - physical - legal realities", that such entities such as General Motors, the electron, the legal government, are all "constructs" within a particular theoretical framework. "Facts are," said Professor Northrup, statements are true or false. Statements are only understandable when you know the theory and axioms that make sense out of the facts and statements.

The great need in education, Professor Northrup pointed out, is to teach the student construct thinking, that is, the theories and ordering rules that enable him to talk meaningfully about the facts of history, literature, science, etc. Too often we give the student only the facts without the organizing theoretical framework. Thus the student never is able to understand why the fact is important or relevant.

Wayne Hall Lounge Boasts Various Art Exhibitions

We would like to take this opportunity to direct your attention to several art exhibitions on our campus at this time. We would also at this time like to announce the forthcoming jewelry exhibition.

An outstanding exhibition of children's art is presently on display in Wayne Hall Lounge. The art work is by children from grade kindergarten through sixth, in both two and three dimensions. All work was done in regular classes in Princeton Township where Mr. Ted Lynch is the Art director. Mr. Lynch is the husband of Dr. J. Lynch of our faculty. The exhibition is an ideal opportunity for our students to view some excellent work in the art achievements of the primary grades.

Also on exhibition in the Wayne Lounge are ceramics by Mr. Raymond Gillucci of Allentown, Pennsylvania. After earning a B.S. degree in Art Education at Kutztown State College and a M.F.A. degree at the Tyler School of Art Education, Mr. Gillucci, taught art in public schools. He has been associated with the Long Beach Island Foundation where he taught ceramics. In this exhibition are bowls, vases, bottles, jars, trays and mugs which were hand - formed on the potter's wheel. All items in the exhibition are for sale with prices ranging from $3.50 to $75.00.

An exhibition of jewelry by the designer - craftsman Inger Friis, will be on display in the Wing Lounge from December 1 to December 18th. Included in the display will be brooches, pendants, bracelets and rings. Some of these exquisitely designed pieces contain hand cut stones. Many of the items in the exhibition will be for sale. Mrs. Friis has exhibited her work widely in New Jersey, New York and Nova Scotia.

The college Art exhibition group shows are under the direction of Mr. Harold Krevolin and the One-man shows are organized and installed by Dr. Cooke and Dr. J. Lynch. The exhibitions are for the enjoyment and education of the students on campus and we hope that students will take an interest in the exhibitions that are presently on display.

Also on exhibition in the Wayne Lounge are ceramics by Mr. Raymond Gillucci of Allentown, Pennsylvania. After earning a B.S. degree in Art Education at Kutztown State College and a M.F.A. degree at the Tyler School of Art Education, Mr. Gillucci, taught art in public schools. ## Phys. Ed. Majors Club Initiates New Tradition

A new tradition has been set at Paterson State by the newly formed Physical Education Majors Club. The club has set up a Christmas tree in the lobby by the pool. The tree is unique in that, five members of the executive board traveled to Upper Greenwood Lake to cut it down and brought it back to Paterson State.

To add to the holiday festivities on campus, the club decorated the gymnasium. The majors will hold a Christmas party for students and faculty members on Tuesday, December 14. A special guest by the name of Santa Claus was on hand to join in the fun. Last evening the majors Christmas caroled at the Preakness Hospital in Wayne.

The Physical Education Majors club would like to extend its membership to those students who are interested in the field of physical education. General meetings are held every second and fourth Thursday of the month in the gym.

Snack Bar Undergoes Interior Redecoration

December 23 will be a big day for Paterson State's Snack Bar. The Junior Class, in cooperation with the SGA, has planned a program to redecorate the interior of the Snack Bar.

At twelve o'clock, Tuesday, the members of the Junior Class will assemble in sweat shirts and jeans to start the tedious task of brightening up our student center. It will be painted in two shades of green with a gleaming white ceiling and window sills.

To return after vacation to a new atmosphere in the Snack Bar will certainly help to make the second semester more enjoyable. That early morning cup of coffee will taste so much better in the new relaxed color scheme of the Snack Bar in comparison to the drab brown walls of the present color scheme.

P.S.C. Is Host To Mexican Experimenters

On Monday the 13, PSC played host to ten Mexican Students who are here in the United States as members of a student experiment in foreign education. The students left Mexico on December 8, and from there they went to Texas A&M to attend an International Affairs Conference. After their visit here at the college, they will return to their temporary homes in Hackensack and will be off to Washington on January 17. Mrs. Griffin, Experiment Volunteer Chairman, has made the arrangements for the group.

The ten experimenters, Graciela Espenoca, Luis Franco, Manuella Guerra, Adolberto Jimenez, Martha Ailan, Hosea Morante, Kuro Ramirez, Rosa Marie Romo, Jorge Tenorio and Hosea Tello, are Political Science majors at the University of Mexico. The students, who felt the College was a great deal more strict than their own University, were very much impressed with both the students here at PSC and the teaching methods. They felt that the courses were more comprehensive than their own and were grateful for the opportunity to participate in a typical day at a State College.

The students stated a few interesting facts on their own university. Their course is spread through five years and the tuition is only $15.00 per year.

Guide and interpreter for the group was Mr. Alfonso Rey from the U.S. State Government Department. SGA officers and students offered to show the campus to our visitors with a sense to pride and accomplishment.

Director Ludwig Talks Of Pioneer Production

Dr. Jay Ludwig, director of the Pioneer players upcoming presentation, The Bald Soprano by Ionesco and the Red Velvet Goat by Niggli, is excited by the prospect of presenting an abstract play.

The Theater of the Absurd began after World War II as an anti-play movement. It is abstract by nature and can be related to existentialism. Authors involved in this move included Ionesco, Albee, Pinter, and Wolfe.

When taken as a whole, the play is coherent. It is the dialogue which is the absurd, abstract ingredient. This dialogue is a satire on the "useful" phrases one learns while studying a foreign language from a primer, as did Frenchman Ionesco.

In speaking of this style, Dr. Ludwig feels confident that the actors are able to handle this once they have interpreted and related their lines. The play will be produced in the expressionistic style. By using over - sized props and scenery, the director hopes to emphasize that the characters do not realize the fact that they are "out of whack with the rest of the world."

In contrast to this is Niggli's Mexican folk comedy, The Red Velvet Goat. Written in the '30's, it is a simple story of a rural Mexican village family presenting a 'home - written' play so that they can buy a goat.

On The Go

by Laura Jeanne Leger

Of the many disco clubs in New York, The Phone Booth is one of the most popular among college students and young residents of the fashionable east side. Located on 55th street between 3rd and Lexington, this east side club offers a night of all the music you can dance to and all you can drink for a minimum of $9. Naturally it's crowded and there is often a line waiting to get into the already packed club. Once in however, couples whose dress ranges from leather slacks for the women, sport jackets for men, and boots for both, dance to the music of the Rascells all evening.

Parking in the immediate area is difficult but spaces are available in the nearby residential areas. The cost of the entire evening is $10 tolls included.

Fencing Team Opens It's Winter Season

by Bob Moore

On Thursday, December 16, 1965, the Men's Fencing team began its season away at Montclair State. This year's fencing squad with a few additions from last year, sports exceptional talent. Last year's North Atlantic Conference Champs are back in the form of Captain Len Lawson, John Cilio and Tim Szabo. These three men are the starters on the Sabre team. The foil team is not to be sniffed at either. The probable starters will be Letterman, Chet Pilgrim, Jim Lawther, and Jack Zellner.

The Epee team has two of its varsity returning this year. Scott Dyller and Ed Harrison, who are highly ranked in State Competition, will be the leaders of Epee Fencing. The third varsity Epee performer could possibly be foilman Tom Dicerbo or senior Art Rittenhouse.

Although the schedule for the fencing team is just getting underway, many of the performers have shown some fulfillment in their potential. Tim Szabo took first place in the State Sabre Competition three weeks ago, while John Cilio won third place. Also in state competition was Scott Dyller, who took fourth place.

If this is any indication of what fencing will be this season, we can look forward to a great season from the men's fencing team.

"Rags To Riches"

by John MacKercher

Christmas is, as everyone knows, the time of the year when the whole world is filled with joy and the spirit of giving. There is, however, no one who is as happy as I am. My whole life has been completely changed from one of pain and tragedy to a happy existence.

Let me tell you briefly what my life was like up until this day. Until now I have been literally trodden underfoot. I have been stepped on, left uncared for, worn to a frazzle and treated as if I wasn't worth 79 cents. My only consolation had been my brother and the two of us went everywhere together. Believe me, we were a real pair. One day, however, he met with a terrible fate - he was actually torn to shreds by two monstrous dogs while I had to stand there watching without doing a thing to defend him.

From that day on I was as lonely as anyone could be. I did nothing but lie in a corner. No one noticed me, no one cared for me because without my brother I was of no use to anyone.

Just two days ago, with Christmas not too far away, everything suddenly changed for the better. I was noticed by someone who had finally found a use for me. I was picked up out of my sad corner and treated with kindness no one had shown toward me for a long time. I was cleaned up and literally stuffed with cakes, can-Christmas stocking.

Pioneer Cagers Cast To Lions

The Lions roared and the Pioneers retreated to a 98 - 69 defeat on campus last Tuesday night. A tall Trenton State team took an early lead to capture their fourth victory against 1 loss, and to lead the New Jersey State Conference with 2 - 0 record. Throughout most of the game the Lions led by over 20 points. At half time the score was 55-33 in Trenton's favor. During the second half, the closest the Pioneers were able to come was within 16 points, following a five point surge.

Playmaker Tom Wiecezenak mustered 18 points for the Trenton while center Paul Bratesis at 6-5, cleared the boards 18 times and contributed 14 points. Chip Johnson was a ball of fire in the second half, hitting for 5 goals and an several score of 15 points. For the fourth straight game, Steve Clancy led the Pioneers with a tally of 21 points, followed by John Richardson and Tony Rann scoring 15. Although making only 21 goals for the lowest total of the season, the Pioneers did make 27 free throws, with Tony Rann sinking 11. Paterson State is now 6-2 in the New Jersey State College Conference and 1-4 in overall play.

Glassboro Edges Pioneers 78-70

The Professors from Glassboro took time out from their studies to subject P.S.C. to a 78-70 loss in an exciting and cage contest last Friday night at the South Jersey campus. At the beginning of the game a vivacious Glassboro team ran off ten straight points to lead the Pioneers 10-0, only five minutes having been played. Finally the Pioneers' Paterson team became revitalized to alleviate the pressure, trailing at the intermission by only four points 36-30. With 10 minutes gone in the second half, the Pioneers, led by Steve Clancy, diminished the lead to only 3, then Glassboro rebounded back on the shooting of captain Joe McAleer, to regain their 10 point margin. With 1:00 remaining in the game, the Pioneers rallied to cut the lead to 5, 72-67, but after Mike Burke sank two free throws and a field goal it put the game out of reach and Glassboro was the victor.

Leading the Glassboro attack was Joe McAleer with 24 points, while teammate Paul Kumin, tallied 14. Center Bob Newman, with 17, topped both teams off the boards. The game scoring honors went to Steve Clancy of the Pioneers, who by making 12 goals and five free throws scored a total of 29 points. John Richardson gained 21 points to help pace Paterson.
