PATERSON STATE COLLEGE

April 18, 1966

Historian Will Visit College To Lecture

On Tuesday, April 19, at 3:30 p.m., Paterson State College will have the unusual opportunity of hearing the distinguished Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., the author of the best seller book on the presidency of John F. Kennedy A Thousand Days as well as of the great Pulitzer Prize winning Age of Jackson. Mr. Schlesinger will speak on the subject: "The World We Want and How to Get It."

Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., is considered to be one of the foremost social thinkers of the generation. In 1946 he became, at twenty years old, the youngest historian to even win the coveted Pulitzer Prize for The Age of Jackson. He is established as one of America's leading historians and from the beginning of his career he has been active in public affairs. He climaxed his career when he served in the White House from 1961 to 1964 as special assistant to President Kennedy and later to President Johnson.

A graduate summa cum laude from Harvard in 1938, his honors essay was published under the title of Orestes A. Brownson: A Pilgrim's Progress. It proved to be only one in a list of popular books read by many Americans. In addition to those mentioned, a third novel, The Vital Center, a brilliant discussion of contemporary, political and social problems came out in 1949. It joined The General and the President, which is a brilliant analysis of American foreign policy in terms of the issues raised by President Truman's dismissal of General Mac Arthur. It was written in collaboration with Richard Rovere and came out in 1951.

Students are fortunate to be given an opportunity to hear this outstanding historian during the school day. The lecture will be given in the college auditorium. All interested friends and students are welcome to attend what should be a very interesting presentation.

ATTENTION ALL JUNIORS

Don't forget your appointments for Senior Portraits this week.

College To Host Sinfonietta

On Wednesday, April 20, 1966 at 8:15 p.m. the Paterson State College - Community Sinfonietta of sixty musicians will make its debut performance in the Center For the Performing Arts.

The program for the evening will feature Jack Covell as a soloist in the Mozart Clarinet Concerto and Eugene Signoretto as soloist in the Haydn Trumpet Concerto. Dr. Richard Nickson of the College English Department will act as narrator in Virgil Thompson's the "Flower That Broke the Plains."

The sixty members of the Sinfonietta consist of college students, faculty and community musicians who will be under the direction of Mr. Stanley Opalack, Assistant Professor of Music, who will act as conductor.

Some of the other elections to be performed are the Sinfonia from the "Fairie Queen", Purcell; Symphony No. 8 in B minor ("Unfinished") Schubert; Fanfare For the Common Man, Copland; Prelude and Quadruple Figure, Hovhanness; Variations on the Theme of "Pop! Goes The Weasel", Callet; and "Perpetuum Mobile", Strauss.

John Camanulla, President of the American Federation of Musicians, (Paterson Local No. 248) in cooperation with the Student Government Association of the College of Paterson State College are presenting this debut Concert. The Concert will be open to the College and community with no admission charge.

The Office of Student Teaching and Placement will sponsor a Senior Professional meeting on April 28 at 2:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Auditorium. Speakers for the program are: Miss Alice Meeker and Dr. Leo Hillon. The subject under discussion will be the first day organization of the class and problems developing in the early weeks of the term.

All seniors are urged to attend this most informative meeting.

John Richardson

Mike Broome

Campus To Elect 1966-67 Leaders

Elections for Student Government positions and for class officers are in full swing here at the College; students are swamped with selections and occupied with the speeches of each of the candidates has given.

John Richardson, from Fort Lee and a Junior High School Major, is running for the position of President of the Student Government Association. John feels that this position is above all "a link between the student body and administration." The second candidate for S.G.A. President is Mike Broome, a Sophomore art major from Hopatcong. Agreeing with his opponent on the importance of the office, Mike also believes that "a working knowledge of the Association and its structure is not only a helpful but a necessity to the holder of this office."

The vice - presidency of the S.G.A. is being sought by two Junior candidates, James Lawther, a biology major from West Paterson, and Frank Karpot, a social science major from Passaic. Jim believes that the function of President Protempore of the Freshmen class requires an experienced person with a definite plan of action. His plan includes the installation of Freshmen Class spirit and the encouragement of Freshmen to participate in Initiation. Frank also feels that the vice president's most important duty is the Freshmen Class. Their success or failure has a direct effect on the college as such.

Candidates are also vying for the Presidencies of the various classes. Ronald Van Dunk, a nominee for Senior Class President, is a speech correction major from Fair Lawn, is vying for the position as Junior Class President. Bruce feels that the position he seeks is important since he will represent the class closest to the teaching goal and should reflect the ideal of the profession. Tom Rogasis, the second candidate for senior Vice President, is seeking a re-election. A biology major from Bloomfield, Tom has definite plans to cut the financial costs of Senior Class projects including the Senior Prom.

Bruce Delaney, a speech correction major from Fair Lawn, is vying for the position as Junior Class President. Bruce feels the president should truthfully represent the students who have placed him in office and sees this service as the ultimate duty of class officer. His opponent, Walt Turner, is a biology major from Bloomfield who finds the key factor in the choice of a candidate should be his aggressiveness and ambitions toward the office he seeks.

The Sophomore Class Presidency is being sought by William Mastro and Rose Lynn Dan-

Congratulations

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the student body on their active participation in this year's campaign. However, this spirit must not end today, but continue on. Tomorrow each student at Paterson State has an obligation to himself to make an effort and vote for your S.G.A. and class officers.

"What kind of people should I vote for?" The best possible selection is to vote for the person who you honestly believe will do the best job. No one can tell you which way to vote, that is up to you. It is most important that you make these decisions now, as in the future you will be asked to make similar selections.

When voting, you should weigh the issues and understand the qualifications of the candidates. Perhaps, some of you do not feel that is very important, but I ask you, "Isn't it good training for the future?"

It is general knowledge, that there is unrest on the college campuses today. This unrest is caused by discontent with policies and administrations. How does this situation arise? — It arises because people do not care and will not take the time to investigate before they pull the lever.

It is best to elect your friend or an experienced leader? The choice is yours!

The Conference Scene

Only in the last few years, has Paterson taken an active interest, local and national, in conferences. During the last three weeks, two of departments took the initiative and entered two such meetings. It is our sincere hope that such activities will continue and this column can be run often.

The Speech Department

During the recent Spring vacation, Paterson State Speech students were given the opportunity to compete with students from twenty colleges in the eastern area including N.Y.U., Penn State, Queens, Rutgers, and St. John's University.

Lois Capuzzi of Cliffside Park, a junior speech correction major here at the college, won the first place trophy for original oratory in the Second Annual Metropolitan Public Speaking Festival at Pace College, Carol Luiken of Wayne, a junior majoring in Speech Arts, won fourth place in the category of Public Address Reading.

The Social Science Department The Paterson State International Relations Club attended the 19th Annual Association of International Relations Clubs Conference in St. Louis, Mo. at Washington University on Mar. 28th to April 2nd.

Paterson State was represented by Joanne Roe, Marie Carida, and Robert Schnare. Along with 200 students from around the country, they discussed Myth and Reality of U.S. Foreign Policy: Trade and Aid. The discussion centered around Aid and Trade with the underdeveloped countries and the prospects of expanding East and West Trade.

Professor Granted Summer Fellowship

It has been announced that Dr. Paul V. Vouras has received a fellowship to attend a summer institute for the training of teachers of geography at the University of Ohio and we feel such an honor should be made known to the student body here at the college.

This Seminar is conducted by the Department of Geography in cooperation with the Commission on College Geography of the Association of American Geographers and the United States Office of Education.

The general aim of the institute is to improve the quality of college teaching in geography. In order to fulfill this aim with prospective teachers of school geography, a program has been offered of advanced study in the conceptual structure of modern geography within the framework of the traditional curriculum.

The STATE BEACON says THANKS to the Custodian who placed a new valve on our radiator. The staff can now turn the heat on and off at will.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We are all acquainted with the usual aspects of spring fever—the desire to languish in the sun, to hold hands and drift off the sidewalks and crush the tender new blades of grass underfoot before they have a chance to beautify our down-trodden campus; to find shortcuts to graduation even though we know they shortchange our preparation for meeting the challenging of the classroom. These things we tend to get philosophic about, to rationalize but hopefully never justify. Isn't that true?

There is another aspect of Spring Fever that can't be justified and that is the tendency of some to be light-fingered as well as light hearted. The rate of borrowing from the library and from teachers increases, note the rate of return decreases. Some people start gathering textbooks for next year's classes. Some build a library of resource materials from the bookstore, Sarah Byrd Askeew and from the shelves of their favorite professors. Some light-fingered people even hold themselves to materials on the bulletin boards—so much easier than finding it for themselves, in case they ever need it. Is this a way to start a professional career?

In the Science Department we are particularly beset with the loss of small items. A major cause of it seems to be the desire to borrow items for use as demonstrations for Junior Practicum and Senior Student teaching. The items are awfully slow in coming back. Some come back and then go home again without getting back on the shelf. The loss of books and equipment each year costs hundreds of dollars plus many hours of labor to order replacements and more hours of anguish because the equipment needed for class is not there. The loss of personal items makes one wonder if you should enrich your teaching by collecting appropriate items at your personal expense. Frequently it's not the out-of-pocket expense, but the time and labor lost. This year I am particularly bitter about the fact a small orchid plant that I had nursed for three years disappeared from the green house within three days after I pointed out to some students that it would soon have four blooms on it. The following week insult was added to injury when three of my bird skins disappeared. I had the skin of a male mallard duck, a male Ruff Grouse, and a male Osprey to disappear within a week of the day I refused a request for practice teaching. Each represented four to six hours of tedious work plus the fact that it was only the rarest of opportunities for me to get the dead bird in the first place. I don't understand how anyone could bear showing such items to other people knowing how they acquired them. I had them here at the college so that all students could see them if their instructor wanted to show them. My loss is modest beside the total loss to the college and to its students, present and future. Let everyone check their home and return to PSC those items they have borrowed do it today.

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank everyone for helping me with the sale of the Junior Prom Bids. Without their cooperation, I don't think I could have done such a good job.

Thanks again,

Dear Joe:

Last night, we watched and thoroughly enjoyed your new "Kilties" Color Guard competing for the first time; and we are happy to let you know that we took some very nice pictures of which one came out sharp enough to print in our magazine.

So, we should like to tell you that in our May issue, we shall have a feature story about your new unit and we sincerely hope that you fine youngsters will enjoy reading it.

By the way, an 8 x 10 enlargement for your school newspaper will be on the way to you within a few days.

With best personal regards and the very best of luck for 1966-67.

Sincerely,
Fred H. Thiedeitz

Note:

I would appreciate it if PSC students would drop Mr. Thiedeitz a line thanking him for his interest in our color guard. Fanfare Magazine reaches over 30,000 people and this is certainly a big move for the "Kilties."

Joe D.

Editors Note: Although this was sent to Joe D., I felt that the student body would be proud to know of the recognition the "Kilties" are receiving.

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend Mr. Anthony Maltese and his staff for a delightful presentation of Rapunzel and the Witch.

The entire production was excellent.

On The Go

by Laura Jeann Legor

There is a very small but remarkably well stocked used book store in the East Village, for students who like to pick up something extra to read. It is not the type of store to go to when you are sure to find "that book you always meant to read" at a considerably low price. There is a large variety of books ranging from arts to politics and it is most likely you will find some good supplementary readings for a course or just something you have always been interested in.

In addition to books the store carries a varied collection of back issue magazines. Most of these are publications of the arts and have fine prints and photographs of famous artists and their works. There is also a small collection of old prints and water colors. If you have a good eye for art and quality you can find an unusual and good publication at a better than reasonable price.

All this is at the Hall Place Book store located on 18th street off 2nd Avenue in New York.

PSC Professors Write Monarch Study Guides

Dr. John Runden, Professor of English, and Dr. Richard Nickson, Associate Professor of English, have recently had study guides published by Monarch Press, New York City. The Major Poems of Hart Crane, by Dr. Runden, establishes and characterizes the several phases in the growth of Crane's technique and seeks to explain the poet's general philosophy. In addition, the work provides an explication of The Bridge, the major poem, summarizing the conflicting views of the essential modern critics of Crane, and presents an annotated bibliography of the chief books or parts of books and leading articles which deal with his technique, ideas, and place in modern literature.

In his study, George Bernard Shaw's Man and Superman, Dr. Nickson traces the history of the Don Juan figure in the theatre from his Spanish origin through his appearance in a French masterpiece of Moliere and in an operatic triumph of Mozart down to what is today the best-known Don Juan of drama, Man and Superman, the lengthy work by Bernard Shaw dating from the first years of this century. The play bears the subtitled, A Comedy and a Philosophy, the philosophy having some bearing on the "overman" theme of Friedrich Nietzsche. Dr. Nickson also provides a brief background of philosophy for readers of a complex play that gave to English the word "superman" for the first time.

Professor Dan H. Laurence of New York University, editor of The Collected Letters of Bernard Shaw, recently wrote to

College Plans An Astronomy Night

On Monday, April 25 from 8:00 till 10:00 p.m. the science department here at the college is presenting an "astronomy night". An illustrated lecture will be presented by Dr. Edith Woodward, an associate professor here at the college. The lecture will be centered on objects being shown in the telescope and on the general subject "Jupiter and its Moons." Some of the objects which will be pointed out by the colleges fine telescopes will be: a crescent moon, Jupiter in the sunset sky, Orion Nebula, and Alcor and Mizar.

The constellations will be pointed out by flashlight and studied by four of the College's ten new 8-inch reflector telescopes which will be on the walks between Gate 4 parking lot and the wing at the north of Hunziker Hall.

The date set will be changed to Tuesday, April 26 from 8 to 10 p.m. if the weather is not permitting.

Ielson, Bill, a junior high major from Absecon, holds the opinion that the presidency of the Sophomore Class is the most important position outside that of the S.G.A. He finds a prerequisite to be patient and feels he is capable of fulfilling its obligations. Rose Lynn had no comment to comment to make at the time.

Elections will take place tomorrow, Tuesday, April 19 in Wayne Hall Lounge from 9:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. Five voting machines will be available to students; two accommodating the Freshmen Class and one for each of the other three classes. Each student is asked to vote at any time most convenient for him.

Kilties Kutting Korners

The Paterson State College "Spirit of '66 Kilties" color guard has been cutting corners in its leap for fame and fortune. The Kilties, who were founded less than a year ago by Senior Class President, Joe Dziezawiec, have launched a one month drive that has made them the focus of attention in color guard circles.

On Sunday, March 13, the on local guards by sponsoring the first New Jersey Color Guard State Championship contest. At the conclusion of the competition the Kilties put on an exhibition to the amazement of 1,200 people jammed into Memorial Gymnasium who saw the country's first and only college-sponsored color guard. Although the Kilties were not in the actual competition, they were judged to see how they compare with New Jersey's finest. The Kilties received a score of 5.5 out of a possible 100 (The Perth Amboy Melodians, who won the contest, received an 88.7).

One week later the Kilties put on another exhibition at a contest sponsored by the Wayne Post Cadets, at the Wayne High School. The contest was composed of thirteen guards from the Liberty Color Guard Circuit. Many of the spectators at the contest were present at the State Championship contest and showed complete amazement at the Kilties' improvement in one week. The Kilties were not judged this time but at the conclusion of the contests they were presented with a handsome trophy as the people showed their appreciation for a "job well done" with the loudest ovation of the day. It was at this contest that the Kilties won the hearts of the Liberty Circuit as the executive board of the circuit announced that "Paterson State College is being con-Kilties launched their attack sidered for membership in the circuit for next season." New color guards traditionally wait three years before a competing circuit will even consider their entry.

After a two week "crash program" designed to cut down on the mistakes from March 13, the Kilties signed up for an April 2, exhibition at another Liberty Circuit contest. This contest was held on Saturday, April 2. It was sponsored by the Paramus Mountettes Color Guard and was held at the Paramus Junior High School. Before the contest, it was agreed that the Kilties would be judged to check their progress. At the conclusion of the contest the score sheet showed a 73.4, an improvement of 18.5 in three weeks!

The next tentative date on the Kilties' calendar is next Saturday at a contest sponsored by the Dover Cadets. The contest, also Liberty Circuit, will be held at the Dover High School beginning at 7:30 p.m. Final details will be announced on the school bulletin boards and in next week's Beacon.

The Kilties have run out of "first's" for a while. They are the first color guard sponsored by a college, the first color guard to sponsor a "State Championship", and the first color guard to improve their score by more than eighteen points.

Like the announcer said at the conclusion of the Kilties' exhibition in Paramus, "...There they are... the Pride of Paterson State College... a job well done."

PSC Professors Write

Dr. Nickson found finding most review book studies of Shaw "abominable." But of Dr. Nickson's study, he wrote as follows: "The background material on Shaw is accurate and sufficiently meaty to give the student what he requires to know before he opens Shaw's play and begins to read it. The interpretations and evaluations of the play reveal sound scholarship, and, unlike other review books, stimulate thought and open avenues of inquiry instead of closing them. The platitudes are missing, thank heaven. And the bibliography is not skimpy; it is quite up-to-date; it is splendidly annotated. To sum up, you have given the student of Shaw the first valuable tool that has yet been offered to him in the guise of a study guide."

Dr. Runden is also the author of Melville's Benito Cereno; a Guided Research Text. Dr. Nickson has published two song cycles, Cyprian Songs and Songs of the Night which have been sung at concerts in the United States and also in Europe.

Please pick up kids for the Junior Prom from Yvette Seagall.

Speakers Outline Christian Ideals

There will be a debate at Newark College of Engineering on April 23, 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium. Everyone is welcome. The debate will be held between two professors, one a Christian and one a non-Christian. For those who question Christ's existence, or who are skeptical when it comes to religion and spiritual ideas, this debate should prove to be very helpful.

Today, as always, there is a need in our society to have a purpose in life, an endeavor that will require our whole being. Many have found that their purpose in life is to serve Christ, their Lord and Saviour. The members of Interspersary Christian Fellowship wish to bring others to know the Lord, because they know what happiness and peace of mind. He can give to those that sincerely believe and trust in Him.

College students today, as well as many other people, are asking themselves, "How can the Bible be related to the achievements man has made in biology and other fields of science?" Dr. Thompson of the University of Pennsylvania will speak along this line on Sunday, April 24, at a Student Seminar and Smorgasbord held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. The Student Seminar and Smorgasbord, which will be held at the Brookdale Baptist Church located on the center of Broad Street and Mountain Avenue in Bloomfield, will be free.

Another date that you should mark down on your calendar on April 26, Miss Caliendo, professor of Music at Paterson State College, and Mrs. Braumlin, wife of Rev. Braumlin of the Hawthorne Gospel Church, will speak 3:30 p.m. in Dining Rooms 3 and 4 of the P.S.C. cafeteria. Also at this time there will be election of officers of Interspersary Christian Fellowship for the 1966-67 term.

Title Defended By Women Fencers

This weekend the 38th annual team and individual championship competition of the Intercollegiate Women's Fencing Association was held with eleven area colleges competing. The strongest competition was expected to be between defending champion Paterson State and top seeded New York University. Both teams in their dual meets defeated others and N.Y.U. earned its top position in the tournament by a 9-7 victory over Paterson on March 15th. N.Y.U.'s first win over the Pioneers in more than a decade.

The rivalry has been close. N.Y.U., a founding member of the I.W.F.A., won the first championship in 1929 and a total of eight titles by the time Paterson won its first crown in 1966. Since then The New Jersey team has won a total of seven championships and this year seems to pull even with N.Y.U. in total championships by taking its third in a row. Interestingly enough, N.Y.U. placed second to Paterson in 1959, 1964, and 1965. Hunter College won its 10th championship in 1963, but has not been a serious challenger since.

For the past eight years the individual title has belonged to New Jersey College Women, four times to Paterson, twice to Jersey City State, and twice to Fairleigh Dickinson (Teaneck). Arleen Melnick of Paterson who won the individual title in 1964 and '65 has graduated and cannot defend the championship.

But second to Arleen in both tournaments was N.Y.U.'s Carol Abby, a left handed Long Island junior whose pre-college fencing was developed by Edward Lucia, New York fencing master who also coaches

C.C.N.Y. Carol Abby, since lost to Arleen last April, attained fifth ranking in North Atlantic Sectional Championships, competed in the American team in World Championships and the Maccabean Championships in Israel. Winner of the I.W. Christmas tournament last semester, she is the overwhelming favorite to gain the Individual Collegiate title Friday Saturday at Jersey City State.

However, Paterson may give her with a challenge. Paterson's Carol Mitterdorf placed second in the Christmas tournament, lost a close 4-3 to her in the dual match, sophomore Diane Kimble secured a 4-3 victory over Carol by in the same match.

On April 20, 1966 from 1:20, Miss Joan Hull will dress Dr. Jobs junior section Teaching Social Studies in Secondary School. Miss Hull connected with the New Jersey Historical Society. She intends to discuss the ways of developing Junior Historical Societies in public schools.

Although the PSC golfers did not begin their season with a winning note, one of its matches yielded a memorable experience. In the match with Queens and Monclair State PSC golfer Bruce Gillman shot a hole-in-one on a par 3 hole at Essex County West Course. This 130 yard ace came a few minutes after Coach Meyer registered a birdie 2. The game will complete today against New Paltz at home and against Trenton State away Wednesday.
