"Dope" Concerning Teen Drug Usage

Drug usage among American teen-agers may not be as widespread as some fear, but it is not confined to the slums or to a minuscule beatnik fringe. It can become a serious problem to those students who are uninformed and for those who think they are informed.

Seventeen Magazine has issued a report as a result of a survey taken among eleven hundred girls from the ages of thirteen to twenty, covering every state in the union. The survey shows that approximately 5.5% of these girls have used drugs for other than medicinal purposes. Three out of every ten of these experimenters are continuing the use of drugs.

What are these girls using? More than eight out of ten of the regular users smoke marijuana . . . more than a third swallow pep pills and a third are experimenting with LSD.

Nearly one half of the girls who partook in the survey have had indirect contact with drug usage. They either know people who take drugs or suspect users. Drug usage and addiction is a common subject of conversation to nearly 95% of American teens and one they consider menacing. Many of the non-users regard those who take drugs of one sort or another with contempt or pity, few are sympathizers.

The reason why students are consuming drugs was answered by several of the girls questioned. Many said it relieves tension during exam week, some take drugs just "for the fun of it" and others because "its in!"

Authoress of the Seventeen article, Miss Alice Lake, interviewed teenagers from all walks

HELP STUDENTS ENJOY POETRY

Poetry which has long been a problem to students, would be the lightest part of their curriculum. The New Jersey Education Association puts the blame on the clinical analysis of poems, a technique used by present high school teachers.

"The chief aim in teaching poetry should be to help students become acquainted with poems", writes Dr. Lawrence H. Conrad, professor emeritus at Montclair State College. The teaching method should enable the student to hear and understand the poem, not just to memorize pronouncements or answer questions as to why the poem appeals to him.

Dr. Conrad urges teachers not to expend efforts on making pupils "like" a poem. He assures teachers that a biography of a poet does not make the poem any more enjoyable nor does the practice of issuing poems for study. Students should be al-

Dr. Gilligan Fills Temporary Post

Dr. Michael Gilligan has been named acting president of Paterson State College. He will serve in this capacity until a replacement is found for the college's former president, Dr. Marion Shea, whose resignation took effect September 1. At the present time Dr. Gilligan is president of Jersey City State College and acting assistant state commissioner of higher education. He became acting assistant state commissioner of higher education in December, 1965, when Dr. Earl Mosier resigned from that position.

Before becoming president at Jersey City State College, Dr. Gilligan was dean of Jersey City State. He had previously been a professor of education at Newark State College and a principal in the Verona school system. He received his bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees from New York University. D. Gilligan will divide his time between Jersey City, Trenton, and the Wayne campus of Paterson State College.

N.J. Horizon Brightens For High Education

Long a parasite in public higher education, New Jersey may be on the threshold of developing an outstanding system of public colleges and universities. This is the opinion expressed in the recent New Jersey Education Association report.

New Jersey Education Association predicts this bright future for New Jersey Education on the basis of the new State Sales Tax. For the first time, the tax gives the state government adequate funds to enlarge and improve higher education.

Three main factors contribute to this upgrade, first of all the climate for college expansion is extremely favorable and this has prompted the remaining two factors. The first of these is the fact that community colleges have finally arrived in New Jersey. Four such schools will open this semester under the control of boards appointed by local "December's Children" perform before a large crowd of Paterson State students at the Hootenanny last Tuesday night.

Freshmen Welcomed By Campus Sing-along

Once upon a college, there was a time and the time was 6:30 p.m. on September 13. The event was the second annual folksing to welcome this year's freshman class.

In spite of the usual setbacks and problems, the first half of the program was successfully begun with the country and western singing of Vito DeCarlo. Vito was followed by two of our coeds, Jean Jessup and Barbara Snudden. Their presentation of "Winken, Blinken and Nod" was especially enjoyed by the audience.

During this past summer, a singing group was formed by students of South Plainfield High School. Pleased with their sound, they coined the name "December's Children" and delighted their audience with their lively sound. Guitarist Robert Seiz, was responsible for a new version of "If I had a Hammer", only one of the songs which pleased their listeners.

"December's Children" were then joined by all of the performers as well as their audience in a loud and lively sing-along of old-time folk favorites.

Mardy Menihan, Jeanine Tyldesly and Linda Lane led off the second half of the hootenanny. The voices of the two sopranos blended beautifully with the alto tones to sing a favorite French classic, "Plaisir d'amour". A "veterans" singing group on campus, the "Four Winds" comprised of Tom Seiz, Hohn Juneiman, Don DeVries and Bob Dean surprised the audience by not only singing but also presented a comedy skit-song. A solo given by John Juneiman certainly did justice to "Sixteen Tons", John's deep bass voice is a marvel in itself.

The folksing ended with a performance by Debby Stevens,

Freeholders. The two year colleges now operating are in Atlantic County, Cumberland County, Ocean County, and Middlesex County. The law enabling the state to build and operate two-year colleges, leaves the state free to assume half the cost up to 600 dollars per pupil.

whose gifted voice kept the audience of nearly 400 students quietly entertained through the light rain which began to fall toward the end of Debby's song. As the gathering began to break up at 8:30 p.m., students continued to sing as they drifted off in various directions. The end of a perfect day.

Class News

The incoming Freshmen were welcomed at the annual picnic which was given by the Junior Class on Sept. 13. We wish to extend our congratulations to the Sophomore Class for the delightful hootenanny which followed the picnic.

Bids for the Junior Prom will go on sale in a few weeks. An article with more details will follow later.

The responsibility of the Rick-ey Hummel Blood Drive is being assumed by the Junior Class. The drive started on Sept. 12. The Class of '68' is hoping to get two hundred donors this year, so try to get out and sign up. If you are interested in donating, you can sign up in the Octagonal Room during one of your free periods.

Sophomore Karen Stropnick has been appointed as Historian for the Class of '69.

There will be a meeting for those people who are connected with Kangaroo Court and the Welcome Dance in W101, Monday, Sept. 19, at 3:30. It is important that those involved attend.

The Freshman Welcome Picnic, which was held on Tuesday, September 13, kept Junior chefs busy in the "kitchen" preparing the eats for a crowd of nearly 700.

Editorial To The Freshmen

So you're finally in college—sounds frightening doesn't it? Everyone who enters college has that feeling of awe at the thought of the four years ahead of him. Will they be happy and successful ones? Will they be everything he has hoped? It can be; but it is all up to the freshman himself. College will be what he makes it.

A college career is just like everything else. He will get out of college everything he is willing to put in. The freshman enters college with high ideals, with the desire to gain all that college has to offer, with the will to give freely to the service of his school and of his fellow students. These are fine goals; they are the best. However, the freshman is often influenced by the blase attitude of many upperclassmen, who, he feels, must know everything there is to know about college life. He soon begins to imitate them, and slowly but surely his fine goals vanish. This is something that should not happen but does only because the freshman does not think for himself and becomes a follower of these people who don't care. A freshman should strive to become an individual and work to gain the quality education offered at Paterson State.

A second pitfall to avoid concerns the academic aspect of college life. Many freshmen come to college determined to study hard and achieve good grades but find, much to their surprise, that there are few assignments to be handed in. A professor will give an assignment and never ask for it to be collected. When the frosh finds this out he stops doing the extra work figuring he is getting away with something. He realizes who he has fooled when the Prof announces a test that will cover all the assignments. He can cram and stay up all hours of the night but this usually doesn't help and the new student is already behind the eightball. This too should not happen and it will not happen if the freshman does not allow it.

There are several other points which the freshman should keep in mind if he wishes to make his college years as successful as they can and should be. These include the danger of engaging in too many extra-curricular activities to the detriment of studies and the opposite danger of occupying himself completely with studies to the exclusion of social and service activities. Either extreme is unwise, creating an uninteresting and an unhappy person.

This editorial is not intended to insult any freshman but try to help him understand what can, and often does. The members of the Beacon staff and I would like to welcome the class of 1970 to a happy and profitable year at Paterson State.

Nominations Open For PSC Who's Who

Each year at this time, Paterson State elects students to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Founded in 1934 with a membership of over seven hundred colleges and over ten thousand students, the Who's Who election has always been an exciting part of the campus life.

Present members of the organization of campus, who were elected from the class of 1967 are Nadine Horoschak, Yvette Segall and Judith Boggio. The requirements are that the student be a junior or senior in the upper half of his class academically and have been on campus for two years. An important factor is his active participation in a variety of student activities during his college years.

Any student who believes he is eligible may enter his name or the name of a friend whom he feels qualifies. The ballot box will be in the Octagonal Room in the College Center from Monday, September 19 until October 7.

Activities to Welcome Change In Advisors

Various Clubs on campus are serving the student body in a variety of capacities. This semester, advisors to many of these clubs have been changed. Many new members of the faculty have taken on the responsibility of being club or activity advisors. Mr. Krevolin has assumed supervision of the Art Club. The Citizenship Club will be headed by Miss Schlossman. Our talented Pioneer Players will work under Mr. Maltese while our advancing color Guard will take calls from Mr. Baker. A change which will affect a larger portion of the Student body is the move to make Dr. M. Yevak the advisor the Student Government Association. New and experienced advisors along with the cooperation of the student body would result in a profitable and enjoyable year for the college.

1967 PIONEER INFORMATION

FRESHMAN are invited to come to the yearbook staff meeting on Thursday, September 22, at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Center upstairs lounge.

Female SENIORS who were married this summer please contact the 1967 Pioneer staff and tell them your new name.

Pioneer EDITORS will meet Tuesday, September 20, at 3:30 p.m. in the Pioneer office.

Letters to the Editor

Contributions to this column are the opinions of the readers and, as such, are unsolicited. All letters are required to be of a standard that will reflect the best interests of the college. Anonymous letters will not be printed but names will be withheld on request. The Beacon reserves the right to edit all letters.

Dear Editor,

I have a favor to ask of the student body. Try to remember your first week of college as freshmen. Remember all the anxieties, questions, long lines and frustrations. Remember the queasy feeling you had in your stomach because you didn't know anyone. Remember how out of place you felt if something you did went wrong. In short remember that day as the beginning of your college career, and the first impression you received from everyone you came in contact with. I ask you all to make the freshmen feel welcome, treat them as the individuals they are, treat them for what they stand for as a person, treat them as the people who will eventually play an important part of our college.

A little kindness and understanding never hurt anyone. Help make the class of 1970 feel they have a role to play in one of the finest institutions in the state of New Jersey.

John Richardson, President
Student Government Association

Dear Editor:

The Junior Class extends a warm welcome to all those returning to PSC, and especially to the class of 1970.

We hope you will enjoy the coming year at Paterson State and, with your support, help to make it the best year the college has ever had.

Best of luck to all for a happy and a successful year.

Sincerely,
Bruce Delaney
Junior Class President

PARKING CHANGE

A change in the obtaining of parking decals has been made for the benefit of students eligible for decals. Until this year a fee of $10.00 was charged to eligible students (outside a two mile radius) for a decal, and only one decal was given to these students. Students have complained of the inconvenience this brings to those who have to use two cars alternately. This semester students qualifying for decals can buy one at registration and a second or third after registration days. It is hoped that the above change will reduce inconvenience to students.

of life and is convinced that "the world of drugs contains every element appealing to youth's conforming attitude, but feels that if not cautioned further about the dangers of drug addiction, many young marijuana smokers will move on to the bigger "bang" of LSD.

For many, drugs answer an inner need. One girl tells Miss Lake that "at times the world is just too much" and hints at the fact that for many it is not just a healthy rebellion "but a basic illness . . . a feeling of helplessness, that everything is wrong with their world and there is nothing they can do about it."

Dear Editor,

I am concerned about this new system for registration by the wonderous I.B.M. machine. My schedule was supposedly all made up ahead of time by this machine. When I proceeded to the gym to receive it, I found that this fantastic machine scheduled two classes that meet at the same times. The wonders of machinery. Trying to get another course to fit in my schedule. With the other system I was in and out in one-half hour. Not only this but I received the courses I wanted with the other system. Not only are my courses bad, but the times are very spread out. Working with Student Government, and Varsity Fencing, this schedule is going to cause me unnecessary problems.

Dear Editor,

Let everybody strive to make PSC a better school this year. Instill in the freshman school spirit and the will to succeed here at Paterson.

Also, a word to the sophomores, don't knock our class, back it. Let's make our Welcome Dance do what it's meant to do, welcome the freshmen.

Tryouts Slated For This Week

Dr. Jay Ludwig, of the PSC Speech Department, will hold tryouts for the first major production of the season, Skin of Our Teeth, on September 20 and 21 at 4:30 in the Center for the Performing Arts.

On the same day, there will be readings for the Monkey's Paw which will be directed by Jeffrey Rapport, President of Pioneer Players.

Both plays will be presented in late October.

Once again the college is reminded that these productions are open to all students, not just theatre majors.

PATHFINDER

Copies of the pathfinder are available in the Octagonal Room for all students who haven't received a copy during registration. The Pathfinder is printed for all freshmen and juniors.

Coeds Anticipate European Study

The dream of studying in Europe has become a reality for five Paterson State Coeds. The girls will have an opportunity to study for one semester at the University of Copenhagen where the credits they acquire will be put toward their degree here at Paterson State College.

Each student will take twelve to fifteen semester credit hours to be taught in English by faculty of the University of Copenhagen. The seven courses from which selections were made include: Contemporary European History, European Opera and Ballet, European Culture and Civilization, European Art, Education in Denmark, Scandinavian Literature and Drama, and Major Political Systems in Europe.

The cost of the program for each student is $1,350 and this includes round trip by air, tuition, room and board, field trips, medical insurance and tickets to cultural and civic events.

The five students chosen from PSC are Georgiann Biggio, of 3 Third Avenue, Haskell, N.J., who is a junior social science major; Joyce M. Laurite of 100 King St., Nutley, N. J., a general elementary major; Juanita Arleen Napora of 219 Prospect Avenue, Cliffside Park, N.J. a Speech major and Gale Youngworth of 248 Chittenden Road, Clifton, N.J. who is an Art major.

This exciting new program has been offered in cooperation with the Danish International Student Committee and Paterson State has been joined in the program by all of the remaining five state Colleges.

Students Offered Library Lessons

The Library staff is once again offering library lessons for incoming freshmen, transfer students and any other interested students. These lessons are designed to supplement the necessarily brief library tours at orientation. Each lesson will be complete in itself and each student need attend only the one lesson best suited to his schedule. At this lesson the student will be acquainted with the types of materials in the library, the use of the card catalog, and the procedure search-log, and the procedure for search-following is the schedule of the times these classes will be given:

Thursday, September 29 — 9:30, 11:30, 1:30, 3:30; Friday, September 30 — 8:30, 10:30, 12:30, 2:30; Monday, October 3 — 9:30, 11:30, 1:30, 3:30; Tuesday October 4 — 8:30, 10:30, 12:30, 2:30.

to provide general college education to youths seeking training above high school, is part of the widening scope of higher education evident even among the six state colleges.

Previous to this year, the state colleges have had just one purpose, to train teachers. This year for the first time, each of the six state colleges is admitting fifty liberal arts majors. They have opened more classrooms from the funds provided by the State College Bond Issue and admitted a larger number of liberal arts majors. Increased facilities and a wider academic scope will tend to diminish the exodus of college-age students to schools out of state. This can only result in an increase in the variety and quality of public higher education in New Jersey.

On The Go

by Laura Jeanne Leger

The Bethes das Fountain Cafe, located in Central Park near 72nd St., is one of the few open air cafes that offers pleasurable dining. Sidwalk tables have been opened throughout the city. However, they combine high prices, congested pedestrian traffic, and annoying motor fumes to make an evening or afternoon of caving undesirable and irritating. The Fountain Cafe, however, has taken the best of city surroundings and added reasonable prices to bring a part of European leisure to America.

No cocktails or hard liquors are served here. However, you may enjoy Cinzano, sherry, or other apperatifs as you relax and enjoy your surroundings and conversations. If you prefer to dine, wines are also served in carafe or in whole and half bottles. It is possible to purchase a fairly good bottle of Beaujolais or Pouilly Fuisse for $3.50.

Some of the foods at the Fountain cafe excells while others are palatable. The soups and open face sandwiches are unique and delicious while some of the meals are plain and unappealing. The prices however are the best feature. The open sandwiches are $1.50 to $1.85 and you can order a delicious Beef Bourgone for $2.75.

There is almost always a line at the two main dining areas; however, there is more rapid service at the two Kiosks by the lake. These Kiosks serve hot dogs, corn, watermelon, ice cream, etc.

The Fountain Cafe will be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. throughout the fall season, as long as warm weather permits. With the colors coming into season, an afternoon at the museum or in the park could be topped by a leisurely lunch or dinner at the cafe. Or, if you prefer, spend the whole day enjoying the beautiful natured surroundings, the other people, and the conversations and company of those you are with—as Europeans do.

Stokes: An Experience In Outdoor Education

Every year the Sophomore Class participates in a program commonly called "Stokes." Every year more students than not wonder what "Stokes" is all about.

Actually, the Stokes program is part of the college's Outdoor Education Program. Each student is given the opportunity to experience living in, and learning about, nature and its relation to not only himself as an individual, but to every cabins, clean.

During the day, campers will participate in a variety of programs. They are exposed to Entomology, Tree Conservation, Game and Wildlife and outdoor education as a means of teaching in relation to their major course of study.

Evenings at Stokes do not go unplanned. There are movies, square and social dances, campfire sings, a banquet and even a talent night on the schedule of events.

Though out in the woods, campers are not cut off from what seems to be "civilized civilization." If you are lucky enough to have the time, you may go to the Trading Post to get snacks, souvenirs, cigarettes, or postcards to let people know you are surviving. Yes, there is mail service, too! Recreation is also available during free time.

But before you know it, you are back on the buses heading home a la Caravan to the PSC campus, and Stokes is a memory, not an anticipation.

When the teacher's heavy hand is lifted, Dr. Conrad says, "students can become very friendly with what poets are trying to do. They get the feeling of warmth, reality or truth which should be conveyed. They find good poems for themselves".

Pioneers Open New Seasons

Welcome To PSC Sports

When the last edition of the Beacon appeared in June, 1966, a certain sports editor was ranting and raving about the inadequacies of the back page. Well, he is still ranting and raving, but now he is in a better mood. This year he thinks he can promise the reader a sports page with a genuine and sparkling coverage of campus sports. This page will simply be a place where one can find out what is going on in the PSC athletic world. That space on page four will not be a haven for Madison Avenue inventions, poetry contests, Lil' Abner cartoons etc. I give you my word on this.

One may ask, "Why all this bother for a sports page?" The answer is twofold:

1. It is about time the PSC students receive direct sports coverage instead of second-hand journalism.
2. Since Paterson State boasts some of the finest athletes in the state, it is only fair that their endeavors receive the same recognition as is bestowed on performers from other colleges.

As the sports staff has said in the past, "If we can help the students gain some knowledge of the PSC sports world, the efforts will have been worth it."

In order to raise sports standards, criticism must be accepted as the voice of the student body. If a student finds a bit of writing that is not up to snuff, his comments to the sports department would be deeply appreciated. If anyone would like to become a member of this "elite" staff the welcome mat is always out.

From Al Paganelli, Brian Bailey and myself, here's hoping for an enjoyable year at Paterson State.

Swordsmen Need Help

What do Tyrone Power, Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Basil Rathbone have in common? Besides being famous actors all were skilled swordsmen. The fencers at PSC cannot make claims to fame, but no one can deny their talent with the steel blades. The 1965-1966 season was the finest in Paterson State history as the Pioneers won all fifteen of their dual matches and won the coveted North Atlantic and Newark College of Engineering Championships.

However, since five of the top nine men have graduated, more positions are open on the team. If you are interested in joining, contact either Coach Sully or Captain Tim Szabo. No experience is necessary to become a member.

Harrier Goal: Five Starters

The Paterson State Cross Country team, coached by second year mentor Terry Baker, appears to be on its way to a rebuilding season. Unless more men can be recruited for the harrier squad, a successful roadrunning campaign against a rugged schedule of teams seems to be in doubt.

The Pioneers have lost co-captains Joe Dziezawiec and Bill Hagman, the numbers one and three men respectively, through graduation. However, juniors Ron Schopperth and Bob McCann and sophomores Bob Moore and Al Paganelli represent a hard-core nucleus around which a team must be built.

Schopperth, Moore and Paganelli are the returning veterans from the 1965 contingent which posted a school record of 10-3 and went on to place fourth at the NAIA Championships held at Monmouth. Another highlight of last season was an unprecedented triple dual victory over Queens, Stony Brook, and Hunter colleges at Van

Any boy interested in becoming a PSC harrier should contact Coach Baker in the gym office as soon as possible. While at least five men are needed to field a team, all those who join are assured that they will participate in all of the Pioneers' dual meets. How about giving it a try, fellows?

Soccer Team Looks Tough

Co-captains Tom DeStefano and Joe Pasqueriello will lead eleven returning starters in an eleven game schedule in trying to better last year's record of 8-3-1 which was the best in the college's history. This combination of talent hopes to bring about a very bright and promising forthcoming season for the Black and Orange.

When asked about their chances for a successful season, Steve Kasyenenko and Norm Kinder were quick to express their opinions. Kasyenenko, one of the team's best feet and kickers said that victories over powerhouses from Jersey City, Trenton, and Glassboro could spell the difference between a mediocre and an outstanding season. Binder, all conference honorable mention lineman as a freshman, was confident of success "if we can just keep away from the injuries that slowed us down last year."

The Pioneer will play six non-conference teams as well as a five game conference schedule. This year Brooklyn College will be added as a new opponent. Again adversaries in the New Jersey State College Conference will be extremely strong and will be headed by Trenton State, the NAIA Inter-collegiate Champion of the past two years. Paterson State hopes to begin a reign of its own this year!
