

Tiffany Named SGA Advisor

Theodore L. Tiffany has recently been appointed Assistant Director of Student Personnel. This position includes being director of the Student Center and Advisor to the Student Government Association.

Mr. Tiffany received his B.A. degree at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan in 1954; his majors were philosophy and psychology, and English Literature was his minor. In 1959 he received his M.A. in psychology at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

Prior to accepting this position at PSC, Mr. Tiffany was Assistant to the Provost, Teachers College, University of New York. He was responsible for all classroom space assignments, space utilization studies, coordination of space usage and planning, and Secretary to the Space Committee.

After leaving Columbia, Mr. Tiffany looked for a position which would allow him to work in direct conjunction with students. Having applied for approximately eight positions, Mr. Tiffany decided that Paterson State offered him the most suitable post with his atmosphere.

Reagan Scores With Convention Delegates

PITTSBURGH (CPS)—A poster and button salesman sold all of his life-size portraits of Ronald Reagan during the first day of the Young Americans for Freedom convention here, but the California governor seems to have won more than a spot on the delegates' dormitory walls.

The YAF convention marked the first outing of a committee called Students for Reagan which hopes to enlist 40,000 U.S. college students in an effort to draft the governor for the Republican nomination for President.

Before the four-day convention was over, it was obvious that Mr. Reagan had substantial backing from the 1,000 YAFers who gathered here.

YAF itself will not endorse a candidate because it would be a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act which forbids such political activity for corporations.

But the convention delegates did propose a resolution commending Mr. Reagan to the 1960 GOP convention. A similar resolution was passed by YAF in support of Barry Goldwater in 1958.

In fact, the Grass Roots drive for Reagan bears many resemblances to the earlier effort to nominate Goldwater. Not the least of the similarities is the number of Goldwater backers now pushing Reagan.

YAF's 6,000 members were extremely instrumental in Mr. Goldwater's bid for the nomination because, as YAF chairman J. Alan MacKay explained, "Everywhere he went in the months before the election we turned out people to cheer and wave banners. What we did," MacKay continued, "was add to the image of Goldwater's being attractive to young people."

Charles L. Williams, a North Carolina State University student who heads students for Reagan, came to this convention believing that YAF members could play the same influential role in behalf of the governor.

Mini-skirted coeds presided over a Reagan hospitality suite where the governor was depicted in a larger-than-life picture as a cowboy, complete with six-shooter, standing in a patch of sage brush.

"Mr. Reagan is a little more mature, a little more sophisticated than Mr. Goldwater in 1964 and that's what we're looking for," said MacKay, who also acknowledged his strong pre-ference for Reagan.

Nurses Accept Male Addition

By MAUREEN QUINN

The Nursing Major has accepted into its ranks a male student, Patrick Durnin.

Pat, who spent two years in Pre-med studies at Fairleigh Dickinson University, has been in the Air Force for four years as a medic. Three of them were spent in England, where he worked in a supervisory position in the orthopaedic and ophthalmology clinics; Intensive Care Unit, and attendance at surgery.

After Air Force days were over, he spent the following two years as a laboratory supervisor, along with attending night school.

Now he intends to finish the nursing course here. The future holds either medical school or a Physician's Assistant's Course at Duke University.

Dr. James J. Forcina, Dean of Trenton State College, will be the Administrative head of Paterson State until a President is appointed by the new Board of Trustees of the college. Dr. Forcina has been Dean of Instruction at Trenton State since 1962, and Professor of Education since 1959. He received a B.S. from Trenton State in 1938, his M.A. from Rutgers University in 1942, and an Ed. D. from Teachers College, Columbia in 1952.

Expo Receives PSC Visitors

By MAUREEN QUINN

On the weekend of July 8, Mr. Stanley Wollock of PSC's Art Department led an entourage of students and friends up to Expo '67.

The original purpose of the trip was to explore the enormous range of architectural designs on display at the Expo. This modest beginning of about 35 people blossomed into a mob, with two full loads of tourists; relatives and friends of Mr. Wollock's students.

We were there for about 15 grueling hours, attempting to visit the overwhelming variety of pavilions, shows, and demonstrations—an impossible task to say the least. The lines for the USA and USSR Pavilions were at least four hours long. Anyone who went twice learned to bring a picnic lunch. Any food that was edible started at $5.00.

The buildings themselves, particularly the Greek, British, and French pavilions were magnificent displays of white masonry. They made the whole trip worthwhile.

Dean White retires after 31 years

White Retires Dean's Post

Dr. Kenneth B. White, Dean of the college for many years, retired September 1, and is now settled in Winter Park, Florida with his family. A graduate of Rutgers with a B.A. degree in 1928 and an M.S. degree in 1931, he received an Ed.D. degree from New York University in 1940. Before leaving on September 1, he completed a copy of a history of Paterson State College on which he has been working for several years.

From 1936 to 1943, Dr. White was an instructor in psychology and foundations of education, Director of Personal and Assistant to the president in the Paterson State Normal School and Teachers College in Paterson. From 1943 to 1947 he was educational service and personnel officer with the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, New York District.

Since 1947, Dr. White has been Dean of Paterson State College. His book should be available through the college bookstore by the end of the year.

Social Security Benefits Listed

Paterson State College students who receive social security benefits as children of retired, disabled or deceased workers, can continue to get the payments after age 18, if they are attending school full time, are under 22 and have not married.

The Social Security Administration considers a student a full time student if he is enrolled in a day or evening school for a course of study which will take at least three months and the student is carrying a subject load sufficient to complete the course in the time normally required by a day student.

Students can be paid benefits during their summer vacation as long as the time off between sessions does not exceed four months and they return to school on a full time basis.

If a student works he is allowed to earn $1500 this year and not lose anything in social security benefits. Any student who earns over $1500 in 1957 will be subject to a withholding of a certain portion of his benefits based upon his total wages for the year.

The Paterson Social Security Office which is located at 52 Church Street, pointed out that all changes in a student's status regarding work, marriage and discontinuance of studies should be reported immediately.

NJEA Terminates Camden Sanctions

The Camden Education Association voted by secret ballot to lift sanctions against the Camden Board of Education on June 15, 1957. The New Jersey Education Association has also announced termination of sanctions against the City of Camden.

The Camden Education Association and NJEA removed sanctions after the school board accepted a new two-year salary program. They also agreed to hold off on its efforts to deduct pay from teachers who reported sick during a two-day mass absence in January, pending a decision by the Commissioner of Education.

CEA voted to invoke sanctions on March 25, 1957, when the board adopted a salary guide rejected by CEA and refused to honor physician's certificates submitted by teachers who were absent on January 4th and 5th.

The new salary plan leads to a $3,200 starting salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree, and a $10,000 maximum salary for teachers with a master's degree plus 30 cents.

The salary guide will mean a $900 increase in minimum salaries for Camden teachers over a two-year period. Maximum salaries will rise $1,500 during the same time period.

The Present Soon Will Be The Past

Extra-curricular activities have awed both freshmen and upper-classmen alike ever since the first collegian found out that there was something more to college than just books. Who the first collegian was and when he made this startling discovery was never recorded. But from that moment on, freshmen in particular, associated extra-curricular activities with plunging grades and so feared any knowledge which did not come out of a book.

How many high school seniors reflect on their four years of schooling and say, "I wish I had tried that activity," or "If I had it all to do over again I would . . . Looking back to when it was too late to rectify a decision only results in the speculation of what might have been. The student who kept his nose in a book but kept his heart out of other activities never learned the feeling that comes with participation. Hence, by placing too much emphasis on studying, the student learned just about everything expected of him except the most important subject of all — how to associate with his peers.

But for some there is a second and, in most cases, a last chance — college. And it is here that this fear of extra-curricular activities must be conquered if the student is to get the most out of his last few years of formal education.

At Paterson State there are so many activities and clubs open to all interested students that only the most fickle individual will fail to find something of to his liking. The only danger to guard against is the taking on too many outside interests which could lead to some trouble with that magic number — the grade point average.

But the majority of those who prudently participate in a few selected activities will admit that their grades do not suffer but instead seem to rise. Extra-curricular activities prove to be a wholesome supplement to studies but, of course, do not claim to be a substitute for the same.

The time to experiment with an activity is now. Postponing extra-curricular plans usually mean abandoning them. Take in that soccer game. Investigate what the WRA has to offer. These last years will go by so quickly that the present will soon be the past. Four short years from now, what will you have to look back on? Will you be another one of those who say, "I wish I had tried that?"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Contributions to this column are the opinions of the readers and, as such, are unsolicited. All letters are required to be of a standard that will reflect the best interest of the college. Anonymous letters will not be printed but names will be withheld on request. The Beacon reserves the right to edit all letters.

Dear Editor,

Each year at this time, students at every college and university across the country make a transition from one phase of their educational lives to another. The seniors who were held in a high place of esteem by the student body have long since received their diplomas and stepped out into the world. They have been replaced by the previous year's juniors who in turn have left openings for last year's sophomores. And now the Freshmen class, after a full year of academic life have moved up a notch.

This leaves the final opening for the people known as college freshmen, the people who have not tasted college life, for whom the pains of transition will be extremely obvious and for whom college will be an awesome spectre unless some person or persons change this.

We, as upperclassmen can recall our own first days of fear when a kind word from an older classmate meant so much to us. A kind and helpful word to a member of the class of 1971 can go far in helping him realize his goals of learning about the world. A word that will be an integral part of his life for the next four years. A kind word will make him feel wanted since he most definitely is. The class of 1971, I am sure, will prove to be an outstanding one and will be so only with the help and encouragement of their older classmates. So, when you encounter a freshman in your travels, help him, and answer his questions and give him the consideration that an upperclassman gave you in the first days of your college career. He will appreciate this gesture and this appreciation will be channeled into making a better college for us all.

Thank you

Bob Moore, S.G.A., President

Number "7"

BY RAY SCHWARTZ

Attendance at "The Big Ball Park", Yankee Stadium, is still booming and you just know that number "7" is the ticket-makers meal.

Inspiration is just a small noun to describe what this guts and determination warrior means to a team which is young and just beginning to know what wearing the Yankee pinstripes means.

He is the last reminder of those champion years, when the Bronx Bombers were the fear of every team in both leagues.

To personify this veteran of so many records and acclamations is impossible. The injuries accompanied by pain known only to him, have left their scars mostly upon his brittle legs.

But as he so well puts it, "This game has been a lot of fun and when I begin to think about what I might have done if I hadn't gotten hurt so many times, I still think that I'm well ahead of my game."

It seems that no matter what happens to him he still keeps plugging away—a fine example of that "Extra something" that different takes the average from the star.

The "switcher" is more than just a ball player who has hit more than 500 homers, he is a shining example for people all over this country.

He exemplifies the struggle of life, and with all these struggles he somehow manages to succeed. Some say that when the "Bomber" hangs up the spikes he will go back to Oklahoma. But I know that this Yankee Spartan can never truly leave the hearts of so many who would lose sleep or a meal to watch number "7" take his night out.

As for me, I hope that every one brings a little bit of him into all of their endeavors because success would be that much better.

Reagan Scores

erence for the California governor.

"He embodies the best type of conservative," the YAF chairman continued, "and he has the kind of positive program that goes with a conservative philosophy."

MacKay suggested the consensus of YAF would be to support the governor on his controversial proposal to end tuition-free education in California's state-supported colleges and universities.

Asked if YAF had been in touch with Mr. Reagan, MacKay first hedged and then admitted that California YAF executives have discussed the Draft Reagan movement with the governor and he "did not ask them to stop it."

Mr. Reagan is a YAF hero, said David Frank, editor of The New Guard, the YAF magazine, because in 1964 "during a campaign that was a disaster from beginning to end, he presented the one shining moment."

Frank was referring to Mr. Reagan's "A Time for Choosing" speech which was taped in California and shown across the country during the campaign.

The speech, Frank said, was a "very articulate expression of what the conservative movement is all about."

"All across the country, conservative leaders began saying, 'There's a guy who ought to be our candidate.' The Reagan movement began at that point, Frank said.

Michigan Gov. George Romney and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller were announced as "totally unacceptable" to YAF members by both Franke and MacKay.

Mr. Romney is hotly opposed in YAF ranks, Franke said, because conservatives remember how he refused to support Mr. Goldwater in 1964 "and then was a hypocritical ass about it."

Franke also said he personally opposed Mr. Romney, "because I have a natural distrust of anyone who thinks he's the savior of the country. Romney actually thinks he's the savior of the country. Romney actually thinks he's on a mission."

"We look to Charles Percy of Illinois as a vice-presidential candidate," MacKay said, "and we would accept a Reagan-Percy ticket."

"Even a Percy-Reagan ticket, I think, would keep conservatives in line," MacKay told reporters.

YAF leaders predicted if Mr. Romney or another GOP liberal were nominated by the Republican party, "YAF would just sit out this election and individual members would probably become involved in some local races."

This seemed to be the same message carried by many of the conservative speakers who addressed this convention. One, Rep. Donald (Buz) Lukens, a GOP freshman from Ohio, said the Republican party could nominate "anyone it wants as long as it's Reagan, Goldwater, or Nixon."

Mr. Goldwater, who delivered one of the principal addresses at the convention, stressed to reporters before his talk that he still favors Richard Nixon as long as the former Vice President is a candidate.

Tiffany Named

for which he had been searching. Upon completing his military obligations in 1958, Mr. Tiffany went to Illinois to complete his Masters, uncertain about a future profession. He entered the field of education by accident, not predestination. He was offered a post at Lincoln State School, Lincoln, Illinois, teaching psychology and philosophy. Nothing better offered itself — he took the position.

The first year of teaching was one of realization for Mr. Tiffany. Teaching philosophy and psychology, he suddenly became aware of the responsibility he faced—of the dependence on the professor for guidance. It was then that Mr. Tiffany began to develop his own theory of education. He realized the importance of helping students draw their own conclusion concerning themselves and others as a result of their subject matter. Student personnel, Mr. Tiffany believes, is the best area in which to teach critical and independent thinking.

Mr. Tiffany has collaborated with D. R. Peterson and H. C. Quay in publishing a Journal of Clinical Psychology, (1961) and Child Development, (1961).

This is the first time Paterson State has employed a person whose primary function is Advisor to the Student Government. This is also the first time that Mr. Tiffany has been directly involved with such an organization as the S. G. A.

Sports Staff Needs Speedy Assistance

Lets try a new twist on a very old and admittedly over-used phrase.

The phrase is, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country."

The twist reads, "Now is the time for all good (?) freshman or any upper-classmen to come to the aid of the Sports staff of the Beacon."

Its not very cute, but it is very true. This year, as every year, the Beacon is aiming for "bigger and better things." A big part of this is our coverage of sports about the campus.

One might feel that with the lack of manpower, there should follow a lack participation in athletic endeavors at PSC, but this is obviously not so.

Besides the major fall sports of cross country and soccer in which the Black and Orange can be counted on for above average performances, there is an abundance of Women's Recreation activities which should, must and will be covered to the fullest.

But if you want good coverage, we need good help. It makes sense that the bigger the staff the fuller the report on any and all sports activities, not to mention feature stories which can really liven up any page.

So, if you feel that you can be of help, or even if you feel that you have no talent at all (in which case may I ask just what the heck you are doing here?) please come to the Beacon office, on the second floor of the College Center, and you can start working and having some fun with a great bunch of guys—I know because I'm one of them.

By the way—we especially need girls (YEAH!). Seriously, WRA is a big part of campus sports and should be covered by with a feminine viewpoint.

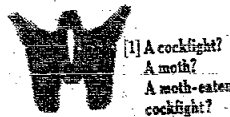

Anyway, how can a guy go into the girls locker room.

So come on gals and guys—You too can be an amateur journalist.

Just think—if your English prof ever cans one of your compositions, you can tell him to go read the paper!

McDonald Faces Rebuilding Task

A tough schedule, questionable depth, and an injury-prone team greet new head cross country coach James McDonald as the harriers grill for their season's opener at Marist College on October 3.

For those not familiar with the sport, cross country is one race which covers anywhere from five to six miles and is run up hills, through streams, and over rocks. There are no comfort stops, no substitutions, and no time outs.

The race is run regardless of the weather conditions. Last year, the N.A.I.A. championships were run through mud, against strong winds, and under pouring rain.

The Pioneers have four returning lettermen to serve as a nucleus around which Coach McDonald must build a team. The new mentor is seeking freshman help in building depth, a factor lacking in last year's 5-7-1 season.

AL PAGANELLI

BOB MOORE

Senior Ron Schopperth, a graduate of Passaic Valley High School, is the "elder statesman" on the squad and hopes to make his last season his best. However, Schopperth is coming off a virus which has slowed him down the past two weeks.

Al Paganelli, junior fleet-foot and last year's MVP, seems to be in the best shape of his career. He should run number one this year but will be pushed hard by Schopperth and returning junior Bob Moore. If Moore can hold some torn ligaments together in his left knee, the trio will provide a solid one-two-three punch.

They will be backed by last year's fourth man, Bob McCann, an injury plagued senior. The Sussex High School graduate pulled a tendon in his foot late in the season and he is not at his peak performance ability yet.

Coach McDonald says it's still a little early to make an evaluation of his team. "We're going to work hard and if hard work means anything, we'll do better than expected," he told the Beacon. The coach is a graduate of Southern Illinois University where he ran cross country for a year before switching to football. In his first experience as a coach, he formed and led a cross country team at Warsaw Central High School in Warsaw, N.Y. to two county championships in three years.

McDonald is anxious to see the course and plan his strategy. He hopes, too, to make cross country a spectator sport at PSC, a chore which will probably prove to be more difficult than building a championship team.

Women Need Fresh Fencers

BY MARIE KOCH

Attention all freshmen girls! Join the "in" sport. What is the "in" sport? Fencing! But don't take our word. Just turn to your television set and look at some of the commercials. Fencing is the "in" sport on T.V. and at Paterson State.

Why is fencing so "in" at Paterson State? It could be because it lets people like Pat Flynn, Roberta Kattan, and Carol Mitterdorf fly to California to be the only college team to reach the quarter-finals in the national championship; or, it could be because it lets you tour the local colleges and meet new and different people all the time.

In the past years only two girls have had previous fencing experience. All of the other girls have picked up the sport through conscientious practice and effort after classes and during free periods.

The women's fencing team needs interested freshmen girls to start building for the championship in 1970-71. There may be an intercollegiate champion hidden somewhere in the class of 1971. It could be you!

If you are inquisitive and eager to learn, just stop by at the fencing room between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., Monday. Join the Fence-in!

PSC Boasts Fine Athletes

By JOHN PELOSI

"Paterson State College," according to Dr. Lepanto, "has the best group of athletes we ever had." The former baseball coach and now Athletic Director is confident that PSC will be victorious in its various sports activities.

The competition is strong but Dr. Lepanto looks forward to good teams in tennis, basketball, baseball, and cross country. He also has high hopes for the newly established swimming team which will splash off its first season on a varsity basis.

Dr. Lepanto regrets that a football team for the Black and Orange is not foreseeable in the near future but does not relinquish the idea. He says that lack of facilities is the major problem.

Dr. Lepanto reminds that all students interested in getting a sports schedule are to go to the sports wing of the gymnasium.

Booters Field Strongest Team

"We've had good, successful seasons at Paterson State this could be an outstanding season." These are the words of the Pioneer's renowned soccer coach, Wilbur Myers.

1967 sees the return of a strong, cohesive unit with six games as Tony Benevento, Ken Medaska, Steve Kasynen, Joe Pasquerello, Hank Saxon, Stan Bavaro, Bill Myatt, R. Furlong and John Bielik.

Bill Deubert, senior goalie who played back-up man for conference star DeStefano, has worked out steadily since the end of last season. His second year with the Orange and Black should see him in the starting post as safety man.

The nucleus of the squad has two to three years playing experience together.

They will be backed up by a talented group of freshmen in-

NAIA championships. The year before they were national champs.

"For the first time, we have as good a chance of beating them as they have of beating us," said Coach Myers at TSC.

New Competition
Last year the booters finished with a 3-2-2 record. They won 3-1 in 1966. This year they play a 13-game schedule addcluding: George Glory from Jackson Township High School; Jim McGrath, a swift-moving goalie from Pompton Lakes; Dalton Stewart, a speedy wing from Eastside High School and one of the Pioneer's best prospects; Howard Huselman, a Midland Park halfback with good potential; and Joe Gerke, Clifton High School's high scorer and a promising point man for PSC.

Other newcomers include juniors Bill Mastro and Phil Spagnolo and sophomore Frank Bland.

Paterson State has lost to Trenton State by 1-0 scores for the past two years. Last year the Lions came in second in the such teams as Fairfield University, the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, and Sacred Heart University, three tough contenders.

NJSCC competition should be as strong as ever with the gamut coming from Jersey City, Newark, and Montclair, well as Trenton. One factor the Pioneer's favor is the fact that they'll be playing Trenton and Glassboro on the Way campus. Both teams will miss the Orange and Black of long bus trips.

Paterson State will open against Monmouth College September 30, away; Monmouth fell to the Pioneer's 4-1 last year in the rain.
