Vote Today For Campus Queen

Primary elections for Campus Queen are being held today in the Snack Bar until 4:30. This year's title is being sought by twenty-three girls.

Of the twenty-three contestants five will be selected to compete for the title on March 4. The results and the new Campus Queen will be announced at the Coronation Ball on March 16 at 8:00 P.M.

This year, sixteen sophomores and seven juniors are vying for the honor of being queen. The sophomores: Yvonne Ann Allen, Mary Jane Biegel, Suzanne Buffett, Donna Eckert, Shary Lynne Egle, Pat Hess, Laura Lovelidge, Gwen Molnar, Helene Monti, Margaret Oggenfuss, Gayle Rivers, Nina Spadaccini, Angela Semeraro, Irene Strachov, Linda Tuit, Agnes Anne Walilko. The Juniors: Karen Cregar, Gwendolyn Ann Ennis, Hope Harrell, Barbara Anne Henderson, Mary Ann Kuhn, Pat Barnaba, Patricia Stanisci. In comparison to the total number of girls on campus, these twenty-three contestants represent an extremely narrow cross-section. As any student who has already voted knows, this year's competition is extremely keen. This primary election will prove to be very close. Help the girl of your choice be Campus Queen! Pick up your ID card, go to the Snack Bar and VOTE!!

Dr. Kenworthy regrets to announce that it will be impossible to secure another performance from the Four Seasons at this time. All efforts were made to guarantee a second showing because of the tremendous ticket sales.

Stetin Talks Labor; Nickson Criticizes "Old Gang" Policy

By Joe Scott

Sol Stetin, general secretary treasurer of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, is going to school at Paterson State College.

That is what Stetin told a group of Paterson State teachers and students recently when he lectured on "The Evolving State Colleges: A PSC Trustee's Point of View."

The long-time Paterson labor leader was named to the PSC Board of Trustees last summer when New Jersey's higher education administration was revamped. His talk on the hilltop campus represented the first formal forum involving students, faculty, and a representative of the new Board of Trustees.

Stetin appeared as a guest speaker at a meeting of the Paterson State Federation of College Teachers.

He was introduced by the Federation's president, Dr. Richard Nickson, who charged that "scarcely a whiff" of change is actually taking place at Paterson State because the "old gang" of conservative faculty leadership that dominated the school before passage of the Higher Education Bill is still the dominant power group on campus.

SCENE UNCHANGED

In his introductory remarks, Dr. Nickson, Professor of English, declared that although important changes have been made in the overall administration of the six state colleges since Chancellor Dungan took office, the scene remains virtually unchanged at the local campus level. "There is talk of change; there are even written reports and the like about change. Of actual change there is scarcely a whiff," he said.

Stetin, speaking to some 150 students and instructors, called for greater communication between all groups in education, a broader role to be played by the college in the community and more expansive integration of state colleges.

"In a real sense I'm going to school. I'm learning something here," he told his audience.

Many of the teachers present were members of three faculty groups on campus, the Paterson State College Faculty Association; the American Association of University Professors, and the Paterson State Federation of College Professors.

The three groups have voiced differing philosophies on the degree of structural change needed by Paterson State. Controversy on the issue of selecting a president for the hilltop campus has reached the local press in recent months.

Stetin is a member of the newly-appointed Board of Trustees whose job it is to choose a president.

"There is a lot of right in every organization that functions," Stetin said, "They have to use discretion in dealing with others."

He called for a greater faculty voice in college policies such as the planning of the annual curriculum.

Dr. Nickson's voice was heard as he spoke out on the subject of change in his introduction of the Labor Leader.

NICKSON ON CHANGE

"Now, should there be a serious desire to upgrade this College and Montclair and the rest, does it seem wonderfully likely that the same personnel largely responsible for our being on our present grade should be the ones to direct us to a higher one? Yet, almost wherever we look, the same structures, indeed so many of the same persons, remain — all our long-ago administration-appointed chairmen of departments together with their unreconstructed departments."

He said that few liberal faculty and students are optimistic as they see "the old gang hustling to stay in the saddle while pulling short on the reins."

Taking a more moderate approach to the subject of change, Stetin expressed an administrator's view of the PSC scene.

STETIN'S ROLE

"One thing becomes obvious," Stetin said concerning his role and that of the other trustees, "for the first time lay-people are going to have a greater voice in the six state colleges. There is a great need for lay participation."

He called for an integration of school and community "so that people can be made aware of the great advantages of Paterson State."

The labor leader voiced the opinion that adults should benefit from the college. "Education is a continuing process," he said.

"I'd like to see happen at Paterson State what's been going on down at Rutgers for a number of years," he said, concerning the State University's adult education program. "I want to involve the adult society of Passaic County and Bergen County."

He compared the growing pains of Paterson State to the struggle between the old and the new on the national labor scene in the persons of Walter Reuther and George Meany.

When asked a question concerning the role of a faculty union on a college campus, he answered, "If people at a particular place of business want Barefootin' In Millburn N. J.

The Paper Mill Playhouse is presenting "Barefoot in the Park" until March 31. This production stars Tab Hunter of "Outstanding New Personality" fame, and the mother-daughter combination of Thelma Ritter and Monica Moran.

Miss Ritter, calling herself the "female William Jennings Bryan of filmdom," has been nominated for an Oscar six times. She has been seen in such films as "Pickup on South Street," "Pillow Talk," and "Birdman of Alcatraz."

Her daughter, a star in her own right, appeared in the Playhouse's production of "Any Wednesday." The fact that she is playing the daughter of a dowager of East Orange (T. Ritter) lends a touch of authenticity to the production of the Neil Simon comedy.

With these three time-tested professionals in the leads, "Barefoot in the Park" is an outstanding production of an exceptionally comedy.

From The Editor's Desk

The students and faculty of Paterson State will note that the Beacon has been reduced from an eight page weekly to a four page weekly. This reduction in no way reflects the desire and willingness of the Beacon staff to produce an eight page edition. The reason is simple. Our funds are running low.

This does not imply that the Beacon will remain at four pages for the remainder of the year. But the plan is to go four pages for the next three or four weeks. During this time we will investigate other avenues for obtaining funds. The SGA has been very generous in releasing funds to be used for printing, but it will not be enough to continue at an eight page clip.

We hope the students and faculty will be patient and understanding during this time. All copy will be edited closely. Dated material will be given preference as will copy which reaches our desks before the Tuesday 2:30 p.m. deadline.

Let me make this one point perfectly clear. The four page Beacon was all the students received last year on Friday. Therefore, since our budget was approximately the same this year, four pages would have been extent of our weekly coverage. But we will not take the back door out.

I firmly believe that Paterson State needs an eight page weekly newspaper. More coverage and publicity can then be distributed equally among all the organizations on campus. We will not give up in our attempt to return to the larger edition. We owe that much to our own convictions, and more important, we owe that much to you, the students.

Shotz Discloses Student Refunds

Newark—Students who worked part-time or during the summer may have a refund coming on their 1967 Federal Income tax returns, Joseph M. Shotz District Director of Internal Revenue said recently.

Students are required to file a tax return if they earned $600 or more. If they earned less than $600 and taxes were withheld from wages by their employers, they should file a return in order to obtain a refund of the tax withheld from their wages.

Unmarried students who earn less than $900 will not owe any Federal income tax. They are entitled to claim the usual $600 personal exemption, plus a $300 minimum standard deduction.

Students are entitled to claim their own personal exemption when filing a tax return, Mr. Shotz said. Parents who furnish more than one-half the cost of support for their child who is a full-time student may also claim him as an exemption on their tax return, unless the child is married and is filing a joint return with his or her spouse.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Contributions to this column are the opinions of the readers and, as such, are unsolicited. All letters are required to be of a standard that will reflect the best interest of the college. Anonymous letters will not be printed but names will be withheld on request. The Beacon reserves the right to edit all letters.

Dear Editor,

Now that a chance is being provided for evening students to be heard, I would like to voice some opinions, hoping that the "multi-gripe" aspect of my letter be forgiven.

A sophomore in good standing, I am at the present attending my fifth semester at PSC; the opinions following were formed on the bases of experiences during the first four semesters.

To begin with, we have just survived another registration. Granted that it was more orderly, it still left much to be desired. This applies especially to the mad scramble trying to regain a place in the same class for the second half of a two-semester course. It seems to me a simple matter to establish at some time during the fall semester the number of students which will take the second part of a course in the same class, and then to pre-register them automatically, so that they will not find the course closed at registration time. It appears absurd to tell students they must remain in the same section, if they do not have that choice to begin with. Reversely, of course, students should be allowed to change instructors for the second half of a year course, a matter which can be taken care of simultaneously with the problem just stated.

When finally the students have taken the registration hurdles and come to their first class, it is only too often that their eager anticipation dies a quick death because of the instructor's discouraging attitude. Thoughtlessness, indifference, hostility, I have observed them all; the swastika put on the blackboard as a symbol of good design, the nevergraded mid-terms, the announcement of pre-determined grades, the outright scorn shown toward the students for reasons unknown.

This last experience happened during the Phys. Ed. course I took last term. That course (Phys. Ed. 110) raises another point which deals with the pertinence of courses in relationship to the desired goals. Perhaps it is useful and necessary to acquire skills in badminton and to attest to their acquisition in a written mid-term demanding answers to over seventy questions on that game? Would it be perhaps more meaningful to the future elementary school teacher to become acquainted via practical application with the various methods of exercises which provide for coordination, muscle tone and relaxation, thereby gaining some knowledge directly applicable in helping small children coordinate or relax?

I cited these points because to my mind the evening students should have all the concern of the college. They are, as a group, older, therefore often more mature than the day students. In general, they take their studies most seriously because it is often at a great sacrifice that they pursue their education, giving up precious time, burdening their families and budgets, facing the constant juggling of duties to house, jobs, families and studies. They would not do all this had they no sincerity in their purpose; therefore sincerity from the college and its faculty is justly demanded.

I am glad that a move in that direction has begun, and I am looking forward to further improvement.

Sincerely yours,
Ursula M. Weimersheimer

Editor's reply:

We are pleased to know that students in the Evening Division are responding to our recent addition of Night Owl, the column written explicitly for the Evening Division. We feel the students attending night school should be offered the same considerations given to full time students.

We will try to print all suggestions and gripes offered. In addition, the Beacon will try to follow up each question and print the results of our findings.

Dear Editor:

It is painful for most Americans to admit that they have been deceived; indeed, with regard to Vietnam, many refuse to believe it. But it is so, and no amount of wishful thinking can alter that fact. It is clear, in retrospect, that we entered Vietnam under false pretenses, "invited" by the very government we had previously installed, that we and not the Communists prevented the elections of 1956 from being held, and that we, with our half-million men half-way around the world, are playing the role of the aggressor in this deadliest of dramas.

It is clear also, in light of the recent uprisings in cities throughout South Vietnam, that the "pacification" program is a worthless sham, that the much heralded social and political progress is entirely illusory, and that the leaders to whom we have pledged our resources and our blood are corrupt, self-serving, petty militarists.

The deceit we have fostered will undoubtedly assume, as we escalate the war, larger and more grotesque proportions. New answers will be invented in response to old questions, fresh excuses will be found to justify the inexcusable, and remarkably novel arguments will be offered to rationalize our systematic destruction of all of Vietnam.

The war in Vietnam has become America's (and more precisely, President Johnson's) war against Asian self-determination. The people of Vietnam have long since been forgotten in this unholy of crusades. In the name of democracy we have destroyed their cities, devastated their countryside, and decimated their population by unleashing an awesome arsenal of weapons upon a nation the size of Florida. An the opposition is stronger than ever.

The glowing progress reports of a few years ago are now quietly filed away, and the talk is of nuclear weapons. (If the problem persists, increase the dosage.) Eventually, what was once the unthinkable may become the inevitable, and Vietnam will have to be saved from Communist reign by a mushroom umbrella.

And still we argue about patriotism, and responsibility, and losing face. But if working for a lasting peace is unpatriotic, if speaking out against the crime perpetrated in the name of America is irresponsibility, and if the face we have to save is Lyndon Johnson's, then the United States has turned her back to the graves of those who died for what they thought was freedom, and the dreams we have for America will be nightmares.

Dear Editor:

We've been friends for a long time, Bud, and you know I wouldn't say anything I didn't mean. You sent me some copies of the State Beacon, your school paper, and asked for a comment on certain articles about student demonstrators.

These "students" have the right to demonstrate as long as they want. It's true that only a minority of students demonstrate against the War in the Republic of Viet Nam. But there's one thing we have to keep in mind: Our whole purpose in fighting is to allow the minority to express their views.

Don't misunderstand me, now. I don't think that student demonstrators should be allowed to break laws of land. When I see this thing happening, I just wish they'd call on us to "take care of" the situation.

You'll find that this just isn't my opinion, or viewpoint, but the viewpoint of thousands of other soldiers both home and abroad. Our country prides itself on the basic rights and freedoms. Let's keep it that way.

Dear Editor,

As an officer of the International Relations Club I would like to take this opportunity to make an appeal to my fellow students. The International Relations Club has been operating for a long time on the Paterson State campus. Lately there has been lack of interest shown in this club.

If there are any students or history majors interested in seeing this club active this year and continuing on next year please contact either Fred Glock, Janet Cox or Nancy Davis. If you can't find them, leave your name in the IRC mailbox in Hunziker Hall. Without your cooperation this organization may have to cease functioning on and off campus. This would be a great loss for Paterson State because the International Relations Club is a nationwide organization.

Yours truly,
Fred Glock

There will be a meeting of all fraternity and sorority Presidents on Tuesday, Feb. 27, 1968 3:30 in Hunziker 109.

Thespians To Initiate Allen Memorial Fund

Professor Robert Allen of the speech department dedicated his life to his students and his family. His door was always open, and he was more than willing to help anyone who needed assistance. However, much to the regret of those who held him in high regard, he passed away in December, 1967. He is survived by his eleven-year-old son and his wife who is now undergoing treatment for a very serious illness. They need our help—especially his son, who faithfully assisted his father in commuting from building to building.

Given the opportunity to return his assistance, the Pioneer Players with the support of the SGA has set up the Robert Allen Memorial Fund. A core committee has been organized. They want and need the support, ideas, and suggestions of everyone on campus willing to work for this worthwhile cause. The opening event of the fund will be THE BOY-FRIEND of which all profits will go to the fund.

Please contact the committee, Sandy Etchells Chairman, Bev Longo, Jo Ann De Marco, Joe Carabillo, Mike Stanton, Angela Scalzitti, Naomi Calka, Jeff Raport, Maria De Marzio, Linda Hartwick, Steve Helleker, Bruce Delaney, Bob Moore, or Mrs. Jane Barry, faculty advisor, with any ideas, suggestions, questions or inspirations you may have.

Photos Exhibited

Dr. Henry W. Ray is exhibiting a selection of his photographs at Paterson State College in the Wing Lounge for the month of February. Dr. Ray's photography is widely acclaimed for its individuality and technical excellence. His work was shown at Paterson State several years ago. Dr. Ray's experience in professional education has included teaching at all levels and, in recent years, he has developed learning and teaching resources.

The photographic exhibition of Dr. Ray's work includes fantasies which in some cases are observed in ice patterns, in leaves, insects, and other unnoticed designs as may be found in nature; also included are photographs (made with soot) and montages.

The exhibition of photography is one of a series of one-man shows at the college of which is sponsored by the Department of Art. The public is invited to the exhibition on week days from 8:30 am to 5:30 pm through February 29.

Second Campus Bans Recruiters

Washington CPS — George Washington University has become the second university to ban military recruiting in response to Selective Director Lewis B. Hershey's order to local draft boards recommending denial of deferments to student protesters.

Columbia University made the same decision in late November.

Hershey's order would have local boards reclassify and draft as soon as possible anyone, student or otherwise, who participates in demonstrations aimed at blocking military recruiters.

George Washington President Lloyd Elliot said he was acting after receiving recommendations from the university senate student council, and a committee on student life. The order, which does not include private companies doing war-related research, will be rescinded as soon as Hershey rescinds his, Elliott said.

The creation of a new award in memory of Mr. Benjamin Matelson was recently announced. Mr. Matelson, who died suddenly of a heart attack on August 19, 1967 was the director of the Evening Division for thirty years. The award will be presented annually to the outstanding Evening Division student at commencement. A faculty committee, headed by Dr. Richard Nickson, developed this award as a tribute to a man who gave the Evening Division much of the form and respect that it possesses today.

Mr. Matelson received his B.S. and M.A. degree from New York University. He served as an instructor in Social Studies at the high schools of Park Ridge and Belleville. Later he was a member of the board of department at Rutgers University and at Paterson State. He was a member of the board of trustees of the Library Commission of Paterson. During his tenure as director of the Part-Time and Evening Division, Mr. Matelson edited The New Campus the annual publication of the National Association of Directors of the Part-time and Extension divisions of Colleges and Universities.

Another type of news has come our way during the past week.

You can help prevent future problems such as this by helping to start an Evening Division Student Council which will help give P.S.C.'s largest division a voice in such campus affairs. You may indicate your interest in this proposed organization at the Evening Division Desk in Raubinger Hall.

A HAPPY ENDING—PSC's swim team pictured above swam through a depressing season which ended on a high note Wednesday night when the swimmers beat Glassboro State, 59-43 in Memorial Gym. Five school records were broken by the first year Varsity squad. A new time of 4:43 was set for the 400-yard medley relay by a team of Herb Bell, Harr Merschitina, Jack Yuken and Mark Papendick. The 200-yard freestyle record was set at 2:25.2 by Don Denneau. Herb Bell set the record for the 200-yard individual medley at 2:42.8. Jack Yuken set two solo records in the 200-yard butterfly (3:02.3) and the 500-yard freestyle (6:51.5). The swimmers finished the year at 1-11. The swimmers fell to New Paltz Monday night by a score of 65-34, making the final game victory over Glassboro that much sweeter. The team, composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores, finished its first year on the upswing. With the admittance addition of new recruits, Art Raidy can look forward to a more fruitful 68-69 season.

INDIANS BEAT JV HOOPSTERS

By John Alfieri

The Paterson State JV squad performed very well in their game against the Montclair JV's, but the Indians defeated the Pioneers 84-56.

Montclair led 27-24 at half time. When the second half began the Indians wasted no time and scored six quick points to lead 33-24. The Pioneers quickly tied the game on a nine-point spurt of which Tom Miller had five markers. But the Montclair cagers broke the game open with an eleven-point scoring spree. They led at this point 52-36. The Pioneers couldn't close the gap and the Indians kept opening it. At 76-56 Montclair scored the last eight points of the game to win 84-56.

Tom Miller had 25 points in a losing effort while Pete Lukach chipped in 17.

Bob Mooney led the Indians with 19 points.

Deadline Now

All applications for wrestling must be submitted by 12 noon today. On February 27, at 3:30 P.M. there will be a compulsory weigh-in in the gymnasium. The weigh-in will determine the weight class which the wrestler will participate in.

On Tuesday, March 5th at 3:30 P.M. the intramural wrestling tournament will begin.

Applications and further information may be obtained in Coach Art Raidy's office or through Jeff Lukowich.

LEPANTO NAMES DIAMOND CHIEFS

Tom Dilly and Jim Gash have been elected co-captains of the 1968 Paterson State College baseball team.

Dilly is a junior from Irvington and Gash a junior from Lyndhurst.

Dilly, who presently is one of the top scorers on the Pioneer basketball team, is a 6'2" right handed pitcher.

He appeared in nine ballgames last season and compiled a 2-2 won-loss record and a 2.75 earned run average.

Centerfield Jim Gash follows his brother Tom as captain.

Jim hit .281 as a sophomore his second year on the team, and enjoyed a reputation as the best defensive centerfielder in the New Jersey State College Conference.

The Pioneers of Coach Jim Lepanto will open with Newark Rutgers, here, March 30.

MSC DOWNS CAGERS, 84-59

By John Alfieri

The Paterson State cagers were dumped, 84-59, by a strong Montclair State team Friday night, but the loss came after the Pioneers put up a good fight against overwhelming odds. The hoopsters played a brilliant first half and held the Indians to only 38 points while scoring 33 themselves.

Fencers Stabbed By Temple, 22-5

By Steve Tanasoca

Saturday afternoon PSC's fencers faced perhaps their most dangerous adversary of the season—Temple University. To date Temple's record stands at 13-0, having neatly tucked their most recent victory over the Pioneers under their belts. Being able to win only five bouts in all, a record low for this season, the Hilltop duelists were soundly defeated to the tune of 22-5.

Distributed among all three weapon divisions these five wins appeared to be even less than they in actuality were. Two foil wins went to Jack Zellner; the two sabre wins were taken one apiece by freshmen Tom Mayer and Ed Heater; and the single epee victory was won by Tom Di-Cerbo.

The Pioneers' record is now 5-6 with only two scheduled meets remaining. These are St. John's and Yeshiva. They will be fenced the evenings of March 5 and 6 and both will be away battles. In order to end the season on a victorious note, the Pioneer duelists must win both of these last two contests and will no doubt take full advantage of the two week interval between to practice and prepare to the best of their ability.

Ladies Win 1st On Alleys

The women's varsity bowling team won its first match of the season against Georgian Court of Lakewood on Feb. 12. PSC learned a new skill while in the process of winning the game.

Georgian Court College is on the grounds of the Gould Estate in Lakewood. The gym and tiled pool are located in the Casino that once served as an indoor polo field for the previous owners. Off the main foyer of the Casino is located the three bowling alleys which were built in the latter 19th century. The Georgian girls bowled well using wooden bowling balls, but they gave Paterson's team real competition when it came to setting up the pins. Each girl bowled three frames followed by setting pins for three frames.

Scores were kept on slate boards hung on panelled walls. Spot bowlers missed the mark alleys and chalk pots took the place of air ducts.

Carlos Montoya, famed flamenco guitarist will be seen and heard on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 5, 6, and 7 with the Serendipit Singers at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn.

Atta, Denaci In Semis

PHILADELPHIA — Last Saturday, two PSC bowlers, Gary Atta and Dan Denaci, qualified in the Eastern Intercollegiate Doubles Championships. The Pioneer Twosome will be returning to Philadelphia tomorrow to enter the semi and final rounds.

The qualifying round consisted of 16 games, 8 games per man. Denaci and Atta posted a fine 16 game total of 2967 qualify among the top 12 teams. There combined games averaged out to 187 per game.

The boys are hopeful in the final rounds which consist of 6 semi-final games and 12 final games. Total pins will count in the semi-finals and the finals will consist of round-robin match play.

At the outset of the final stanza it seemed as though Paterson was on its way to an upset. However, the Pioneers' shooting eye closed, their passes went astray, and their rebounding, not aided any by the loss of "jumping" Joe Philport on fouls and the addition of taller players by Indian coach Ollie Gelston, was ineffective.

The PSC Cagers led in the opening minutes, but a six point spurt by the Indians gave them the lead at 16-13 and they never lost it. The Pioneers tied the game at 17 but two strings of four points kept Montclair ahead. Four points for PSC gave the home crowd a chance to cheer as they came within one point of the leaders at 34-33, but two buckets by the Indians closed the half as Montclair led 38-33.

PUZZO SPURTS

"Torre" Puzzo opened the second half with three baskets for the Pioneers and again the cagers were only one point down at 40-39.

At 45-41, Montclair leading, everything that the Pioneers had going for them seemed to fall apart. The Indians, led by Luther Bowen, scored 19 consecutive points and crushed the cagers' chances for an upset.

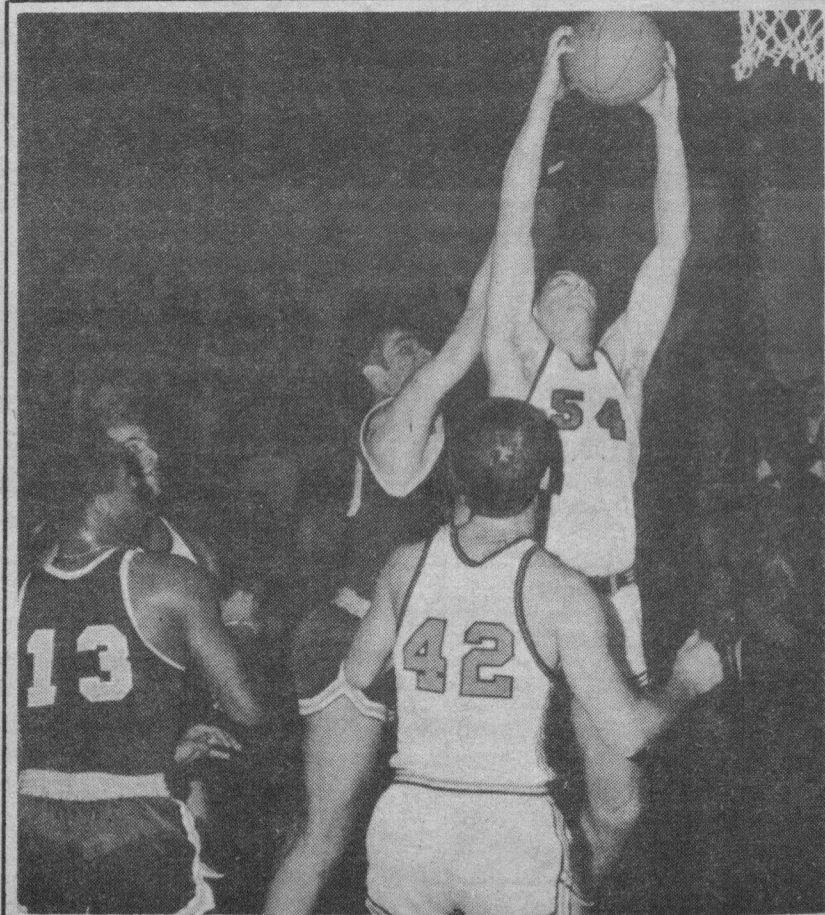

After the 19-point surge the two teams just about traded baskets as Montclair won 84-59.

Tom Dilly led the cagers with 18 points and Puzzo added 15.

For Montclair, it was Bob Gleason leading with 18, Luther Bowen had 16, Mike Oakes 15, and Bob Lester, 14.

FINISH 4-6 IN LOOP

This loss wrecks the chances that the Pioneers may have had to gain a winning season. They are now 8-12 with three games remaining, and end up with 4-6 record in the N.J.S.C.A. Conference.

I'VE GOT IT—"Jumping" Joe Philport leaps high in the air to grab a rebound from an unidentified Montclair State Cager. PSC's Tom Dilly (No.42) and Dom Pelosi look on.
