

PSC Seen As New State University

Establishment of a regional state university with a student body of nearly 20,000 full and part-time students is envisioned as the aim for Paterson State College by 1985, according to the Goals Statement prepared by the College's Master Planning Council and approved by the PSC Board of Trustees.

The purpose of the statement is to "identify corporate goals to be used as guidelines for educational and institutional development and expansion." The statement acknowledges that the goals are to be reviewed annually for possible refinement.

Discussing the statement, Dr. James Karge Olsen, president of Paterson State, called it an "impressive document that will be a major tool in implementing the goals we have set for ourselves."

He added: "The Master Planning Council, which was made up of faculty, students and administrators, has done yeoman work in compiling these projections. The entire College is indebted to them."

According to the statement: "On the basis of a realistic appraisal of its present resources and circumstances, Paterson State College maintains that in this decade, its achievement of status as a regional state university is both a realistic objective and a professional obligation."

Urban Committee Appointed

The Joint Committee on Urban Education, representing Paterson State College and the Paterson public system, has been established to study avenues of cooperation in the preparation of teachers for urban schools.

The appointment of the committee was announced recently by Dr. Michael Gioia, superintendent of Schools for Paterson, and Dr. James Karge Olsen, president of Paterson State. They indicated that the committee would make recommendations aimed at making teacher education more relevant to the problems of city schools and develop joint college-public school projects.

Members of the committee named by Dr. Gioia are: Assistant Superintendent Joseph Goldberg; Miss Maureen E. Dugel, director of teacher recruitment; Arnold Sackmar, director of special services; Wendell Williams,

Olsen Reports Goals For PSC

After a year of setting goals for itself, Paterson State College has begun to focus on the implementation of these goals, Dr. James Karge Olsen, president of Paterson State, stated in his year-end report.

Among the major goals singled out by the President are the strengthening of the governance of the college, formulation of a master plan, improvement of campus communication, improvement of student services, expansion of community-oriented programs and further development of the curriculum.

These goals, according to Dr. Olsen, are steps toward the College's "development as a genuinely multi-purpose

Student Enrollment Reaches New High

Nearly 9,000 students will begin the fall semester at Paterson State College September 10, marking an increase of more than 1,000 in enrollment over last year.

Several new programs aimed at making the College program more relevant in meeting student needs also will be in operation. Among them are the Honors Program, Community Affairs Institute, Black Studies Institute and several new major subject areas.

The Fine Arts Building also will be ready for opening classes, bringing the number of academic buildings on campus to 11. Tangible steps toward a dramatic expansion of physical facilities also are expected during the course of the year.

The estimated full time enrollment at Paterson State will exceed 5,000 compared to approximately 4,300 in September, 1969. The figures include a freshman class of close to 1,300, down approximately 200 from 1969-70 as a result of an increase in admission of transfer students, "particularly from the county colleges. The number of transfers was not as great as originally estimated however, so that the reduction of the freshman class was not nearly as drastic as had been expected. Last year, the College had stated it expected a reduction to less than 1,000, because of its commitment to enrolling county college graduates. An approximate total of 550 transfer students will enroll in September, compared to 336 last year.

Evening undergraduate enrollment is estimated at close to 2,000, an increase of more than 200, and the graduate enrollment is expected to show a similar increase to nearly 1,800.

The College will offer 26 major subject areas, including a new program in business administration. An Honors Program also will be in effect, designed to enhance opportunities for highly qualified students and permit a greater degree of

The new Fine Arts Building will be ready for classes September 10. It is the first building on this campus to receive federal funds.

New Fine Arts Building Opens For Classes

The 1970-71 academic year marks the completion of the new Fine Arts Building. After over a year of construction and five years of planning, the building will house classrooms, studios, a gallery, offices, and lounges at a cost of $2,354,000 dollars. The addition of this building to the campus will expand the curriculum to include a complete area for an art major, according to college president Dr. James Karge Olsen. The new building, which is located behind the gymnasium and near the athletic fields, is adorned with planters, benches, outdoor sculpture, and has an interior court lined with glass walls.

During an interview with Mr. R. Johnson, Director of Facilities on campus, it was disclosed that the money for the building came from the bond issue and also the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. It is the first building on campus to receive federal funds. Mr. Johnson also said that the Fine Arts Building would increase our capabilities and free classrooms used in the science wing for the reason for which they were designed.

Mr. Muir, a member of the art department staff, worked with the architect on the planning and construction of the building. According to Mr. Muir, the new Fine Arts Building is a "nice building even with the limitations of the budget. We are getting one of the nicest facilities on campus." Mr. Muir also feels that Paterson State is becoming an art school and he would like to see "the art department with its own Dean and several departments such as painting, sculpture, and crafts." This, he feels, will take place in ten or fifteen years; but Mr. Muir feels that Paterson State is on its way.

PSC Students Study Overseas

Sixteen Paterson State College students will spend their fall semester far from the familiar environs of the Wayne campus.

The students will live and study as far west as Hawaii and as far east as England. They are participating in the college's two programs that enable students to experience living in different cultures, both in this country and abroad.

Nine of the students are involved in the Domestic Student Exchange Program, in which Paterson State is participating for the first time. According to Dr. William M. Young, Dean of Special Programs at Paterson State, the purpose of DSEP is to "provide students with the opportunity to become acquainted with social and educational patterns found in different parts of the United States."

The other program is the New Jersey Semester Abroad, conducted by New Jersey State

Office of Financial Aid Has Lots of "Giveaway Dollars"

By KATHY HARTMAN

Mr. Thomas DiMiceli, Acting Director of Financial Aid, has stated that, "Many PSC students aren't aware of the financial aid offered by their college."

There are, however, both Scholarship and Loan programs designed to help those students who aren't prepared to carry the whole financial burden.

Included in the scholarship program are the NJ State Scholarship, Sponsored Scholarship, and Educational Opportunity Grants.

The NJ State Scholarships are competitive and are awarded to a maximum of 5% of each year's high school graduating class. Recipients are selected on the basis of financial need, moral character, good citizenship, and achievement on an examination. The scholarships are for an amount equal to tuition fees, limited to an annual $500. Provided the student shows satisfactory academic progress, and continues in full time enrollment in a college curriculum, his scholarship will be good for four years.

To compete, one must have been a bona fide resident of NJ for one year or longer immediately preceding his application and must intend to enroll in an approved college as a full time student. Twelve Sponsored Scholarships are granted annually to students ranging from one hundred to three hundred dollars. These are presented to students of ability who show financial need and demonstrate promise in the field of teaching.

The scholarships are made available through grants given to the college by service organizations, business groups, student clubs, alumni members, and individuals. The number and amounts of scholarships depend on the activity and interest of the sponsoring organization.

Educational Opportunity Grants are made available to a limited number of undergraduate students with exceptional financial need who must have these grants to attend college. Eligibility depends on the academic and creative promise shown by the student. The maximum duration of a grant is four years and they range from $200 to $1000 per year and can be no more than one half the total assistance given the student. Financial Aid awards are based on need, resources and family contributions.

The Loan Programs include the National Defense Student Loan Program, the S.G.A. Loan Program, the State Student Loan Program, the State Work Scholarship, the College Work Study Program, the Small Loan Program, the Nurse Loan and Nurse Grant, the Law Enforcement Education Program, and the Educational Opportunity Fund.

They are all designed to help the student in need of financial aid and must all be repaid over a period of years.

The National Defense Student Loan Program requires that each borrower be a full time or half time student and that he be capable of maintaining good standing in his chosen courses of study. He may borrow a sum not exceeding $1500. A note must be signed for the loan and repayment must be completed within ten years, this period beginning nine months after the borrower ceases to be a student. Interest is paid at the rate of 3% per year. Cancellation of 10% of the loan is possible for each of five academic years or one half of his total indebtedness if the borrower enters full time teaching.

The S.G.A. Loan Program assists students in need of small loans, in the case of an emergency. Sums up to $100 may be borrowed on a short term basis. No interest is charged on any loan paid back in a four month period. After four months, 3% interest per year will be charged. Any student in good standing may apply.

The State Student Loan Program is available to those students meeting certain standards concerning citizenship, definite financial need, and high moral character.

Loans are made by any qualified lending institution in New Jersey which has agreed to assist by having loans made guaranteed by the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority.

A student borrows from a leading institution on promissory notes as needed for each school year. Certain students attending post-secondary institutions of higher education are eligible to have the interest paid full on their behalf by the government if they are still enrolled full time. The repayment period must begin no later than nine months after graduation or withdrawal and 3% interest is charged.

The maximum loan is $7500 and may not exceed $1000 for the freshman and sophomore years, $1250 for the junior year and $1500 for the senior year and each year of graduate school.

The State Work Scholarship was created in 1944 by the State Legislature to be offered in the state colleges. Interested students should apply at the Financial Aid offices during registration.

Activities assigned to the student include library service, secretarial work, lab assistance, public relations and visual aid.

Unless freshmen are certain of their ability to do well academically, they are advised not to apply for this type of scholarship. Under this program, a student may earn one year's tuition.

The College Work Study Program was designed to stimulate and promote the part time employment of students in their college. The rate of pay is $1.80 per hour and it goes toward college expenses. No more than fifteen hours per week can be spent working. The work is much the same as that offered in the State Work Scholarship.

Students in need of petty cash are advised to apply to the S.G.A. for the Small Loan Program. This service is valuable and will be maintained provided the borrower is cooperative and responsible.

The Nurse Loan and Nurse Grant are both for nursing majors. The awards range from $200 to $1000 in each program.

The Law Enforcement Education Program provides for those persons employed by correction institutions and law enforcement agencies who desire a college education.

Grants ranging from $200 to $1000 are offered by the Educational Opportunity Fund. This is a state grant program and helps students with exceptional financial need. The criteria for eligibility is the same as those required in the Educational Opportunity Grant.

Students interested in obtaining more detailed information should contact either Mr. T. DiMiceli or Mr. A. Esson at the Financial Aid Office in Haledon Hall.

From the President's Desk

For this initial word to the student body, I would like to reiterate a theme that I expressed several times last year. Despite the dramatic expansion of our physical facilities with the opening of the Fine Arts Building, this campus is still a pretty crowded place. From last year's approximately 4,300 full time undergraduates, we have risen to what may approach 5,500. This is one basic reason I have emphasized the importance of a sense of community at Paterson State.

Community means simply that all of us on this campus should try to shed the idea that we belong to constituencies that somehow are in competition in interests and aims. There are nothing but functional differences between faculty and administration, administration and student, student and faculty. There is, in fact, a definite shared interest on the part of all three.

This year, through the President's Forum and by other means, the College will take a careful look at its most basic activity — the classroom experience itself. This is our shared interest. The College has made dramatic gains in relating itself to the community. Students, faculty and administrators have found it possible to express themselves on the relevant issues of our time and actively promote a cause that they see as vital.

But underlying all of this is the foundation of this total academic experience: that interaction between student and teacher, the learning experience.

The preservation of this foundation is of paramount interest to all of us. With this removed, or rendered inoperable, all the other facets of the academic experience will suddenly appear rootless.

I would urge all members of the Paterson State Community, placed here together with our varied functions and interests, not to lose sight of this, the College's fundamental activity. It is to our mutual interest that it not be disturbed and that this College remain capable of serving its entire constituency.

You can start in the mailroom, or you can start on executive row.

Most people say you have to start at the bottom no matter how high you want to climb.

Is that really so?

Maybe it's a story they tell just to get people to start at the bottom.

The United States Air Force lets you start climbing as soon as you get out of Officer Training School. If you have a college degree you become highly responsible, fast, as an Air Force pilot.

Editorial

"It is a newspaper's duty to print the news and raise hell."
The Chicago Times 1861

Welcome Class of 1974

The STATE BEACON would like to welcome the Class of 1974 to the Paterson State College community.

We are no longer the Normal School on the hill, but we are evolving into a modern multi-purpose institution of higher education. This year, Paterson State offers more fields of study than ever before in its 115 year history.

Beginning as a part time Normal School for Paterson teachers in 1855, Paterson State may well become the next State University of New Jersey. However, 115 years of change and innovation did not just happen.

If you want a good education, you must get involved with the college community. If you want change, you must get involved. Do not allow yourself to be pushed through the "assembly line" of higher education without taking time out to get involved.

The professors at Paterson State can not give you an education; they can only offer you an education, but you must learn to educate yourself.

I think that an Editorial that first appeared in the February 9, 1970 issue of the STATE BEACON best describes the opportunities available to the student to involve himself in his educational process. The following article was written by former Dean of Students, Dr. Grace M. Scully. I think that it says more than any Editorial could ever hope to say.

If you are going to be a student, to seek an education, your first commitment must be to question everything regardless of the consequences of that questioning. The purpose of an education is self-knowledge. Because you alone have the potential to know yourself, only you can answer the questions which will tell you who you are and what kind of a world will meet your needs.

Yet your society up to this moment, has been giving you answers. Your education has given you ideology and called it truth; your newspapers have given you opinion and called it fact; television has given you triviality and called it reality; politicians have given you war and called it peace. While these answers serve the purposes of the institutions which give them, none of them serves the purposes of education, i.e., to free you to answer for yourself.

The purpose of college is to provide a place where you can ask any question, without fear, in a community not dedicated to any particular answer. Yet Paterson State, College, and most colleges and universities, serves the vested interests of our society before it serves the needs of education. Therefore, you must include the college within your questioning scepticism - if it does not meet your needs for an education, you must not be afraid to say so, and to create within the college an environment which meets your needs. You must avoid conformity within the college as you avoid it without.

No one can give you an education; ultimately each individual must educate himself, learning to live in a manner which develops his potentialities. If your education trains you to mold yourself to the stereotypes of your society, rather than to become a self-directing person, it is not education but indoctrination.

The necessity to act on the basis of one's personal awareness is the reason students have become participants in political issues such as civil rights and the peace movement, not to mention educational reform in colleges. If the world as it is offered to us does not contain the potential for living a creative life, we must change it.

May the next four years cause thinking and changing, and may they be also a great joy to you. If you fall in love with learning here, our goal is achieved. Best wishes for future days.

Speculation

Ominous Words From Mr. J

By BOB PALINKAS

One day not long ago a young man with relatively long hair and a beard told an assembly of youths not to "take any s-- from your professors, 98 percent of which probably know less than you do."

This young man was really no hippie radical commie pinko. In fact, most leftists might criticize him because he has chosen to work within the system, at least for as long as working within the system proves profitable.

And this person, saying rather ordinary words (quite a few long haired and bearded people are saying similar things, for instance Jerry Rubin), will set the tone for the upcoming months at Paterson State College.

That young man is Bruce James, President of the Student Government Association, and the assembly happened to consist of incoming freshmen; fresh from the factories that are our high schools.

Before the faculty blows its collective cool, a few things should be considered, and re-considered if need be.

Bruce James is undoubtedly given to exaggeration, (80 percent perhaps?). Most probably Mr. James would, if you asked him, explain that the number of faculty members that actually know less than any one of their students is a minority. In fact, he has said that a few (that's right, a FEW) faculty members should be given their walking papers, if that is possible.

"Ominous words for an introductory speech" you may comment. Perhaps you might interpret these words as a subtle call to arms. In a way, it may be supposed he is declaring war. He is beginning a campaign to rid this institution of inept, totally unqualified, bigoted, racist, and/or unethical faculty members.

Nothing could be better for a college. And the few faculty members that are inept, unqualified, bigoted and unethical will clamor the louder.

The many faculty members that do not fit the description unfortunately will probably suffer some unwarranted hostility from their students, but their suffering will be far less painful than the stigma of teaching in an institution that has a few very loud, unqualified, bigoted, and unethical faculty members.

Hopefully the students will find out who these few are, avoid their classes, help Mr. James, and most important, encourage the many good faculty members to continue.

If the faculty will take a good long critical look at itself, as the Middle States Association suggested, perhaps it will view the words of Mr. James in a new light. His words, which appear at first glance destructive, are in reality constructive and of benefit to untold numbers of present and future students.

It might be added, incidentally, that a seemingly destructive statement last year has ultimately ended with bright new hopes and advances.

Our new Acting Dean of Students is nothing less than fantastic. The students have needed a member of the administration to raise hell in their behalf, and they have it. And that is by no means all. The new Acting Director of Financial Aid is equally fantastic. Maybe, with a little bit of luck, the little adjective that hints of a temporary condition for these two men will be lost by the wayside, and both Mr. Baccala and Mr. DiMiceli will be given permanent status in their new positions.

Nor should Mr. Barrecchia and Mr. Carrano be forgotten. Both Jim and Vince have an idea of what this college is all about. And with people like this, the upcoming year may prove the most productive one seen at the campus.

Credit for Campaign Work

By KATHY HARTMAN

Too often people protest that they aren't being informed about our country's political going's on. Paterson State College has recently developed a new course for student involvement.

The Political Participation course will give the student the opportunity to learn about and work for our nation's politicians. Chances will be offered to canvass neighborhoods, do office and telephone work, and general campaigning for the politicians.

In order to join the class, the interested student must go to the Political Science Department in Raubinger Hall and speak to Dr. Regourion, an innovator of the course.

Hours and credits will be arranged for this class when the student looks into it.

Fresh Thoughts

QUESTION: What was your first impression of Paterson State, and what did you think of the orientation?

John Sparta
Franklin
The college seems nice, but confusing. I can't really make a valid judgment of the school after only three days.

Gene Maguire -
Irvington
The campus is cool and so are all the chicks. The only hassle is all the traveling.

Laura Murphy -
Lodi
The people all seem very friendly. I was a little scared at first, but my nervousness has subsided and I like it a lot. Orientation was useful, but I couldn't hear the speakers.

Tony Piccirillo -
Totowa
Orientation was a waste. I expected to hear from a few professors about some cool stuff, but all we heard about were some teacher personality ratings. I like the school in general but the first week is nothing. The parking is like Death Valley.

Carol Lipton -
Washington Township
I like the campus but I am still lost. Some of the orientation was a waste of time. My student leader was as lost as I was. Everyone on campus was very friendly and not apathetic.

Carol Smith -
Clifton
Orientation was more than I expected. The parking situation is terrible. I can hardly wait for the cold weather so I can climb up the hills. The food they fed us was stale.

Martin Huvare -
Totowa
I can't really make an opinion yet. All I learned from orientation was the names of buildings. I believe that orientation failed its purpose. Most people seem afraid to speak with each other.

Clara Pulyada -
Paterson
It is a nice big campus, and the students were very friendly. Orientation was not very organized. The students gave more information than the teachers.

Mike Smith -
East Orange
I was a little scared at first. The box lunch was terrible, but the juice and cake was alright. Parking is ridiculous. Everything will be alright after classes start.

Enrollment Increases

flexibility in the selection of an academic program.

The College's role in its community, which was developed in earnest last Fall, will now have a formal structure with the establishment of the two new Institutes.

The Black Studies Institute, under the direction of Vernon McClean, will offer minor in Black Studies. Courses in the multi-disciplinary program will be drawn from history, English, political science, music, education, psychology, and sociology. The purpose is to provide a broad liberal arts background for the young person interested in teaching or performing other services in urban areas.

The Community Affairs Institute, directed by Dr. James Baines, will continue the Community Affairs Semester, which was regarded as highly successful in its first year of operation. The Semester this year will comprise 15 credits of work, combining seminars and research with service to community agencies.

Continuing its efforts on behalf of minority group students, it is estimated that some 300 black and Spanish-speaking students will be enrolled this fall, representing a 600 percent increase in minority group enrollment since 1967-68. Nearly 320 disadvantaged students, representing all races, are included in this year's Educational Opportunity Fund program, compared to 174 in 1969-70.

A major reorganization of the College will be in effect as the semester begins. In June, the Board of Trustees approved the federalization of Paterson State resulting in the establishment of a College of Arts and Sciences, School of Education, School of Nursing and School of Fine and Performing Arts.

Students will return to the campus with a substantially greater voice in the policymaking of the College than was the case last September. Every faculty and administrative committee, including the Faculty Senate itself, has voting student representation.

Dr. Olsen Reports on Goals

institution with a first-rate academic program and a responsiveness to the community.

He noted also that the 1969-70 academic year at PSC reflected the pattern of student unrest throughout the country. The College survived these crises, he noted, "because of the concerted efforts of the great majority of students, faculty and administrators on this campus who have shown both reason and understanding in their reactions to end their conduct in these critical moments."

He pointed out that the College has avoided violence "while permitting expressions of dissent and protest," a fact that "reflects credit on all of the campus community."

Dr. Olsen stated that the college community also had responded positively to the Middle States re-accreditation issue. In its evaluation of the College last year, the Middle States Association pinpointed college governance as an area in need of attention.

The President reported that the question of governance has been dealt with during the past year by all segments of the campus populace in such programs as the President's Forum and a weekend Seminar on Governance in April. Out of the latter came a series of recommendations for improving the mechanism for governance.

The President's Master Planning Council, established last September, has functioned throughout the year, drawing up a plan to serve both the immediate and long range future. Dr. Olsen noted that planning for the current phase of campus construction is now complete and work is expected to begin this year on the projects, including a science complex, classroom-office building, college center and dormitory.

"Looking beyond this phase," Dr. Olsen proposed consideration of such facilities as a new heliport, physical education plant, library addition; building of mathematics, physics and earth sciences; urban affairs center for nursing, allied health professions and health services and outdoor physical education facilities.

In the area of student services, he reported that a new system of academic advisement and registration had been instituted to permit considerably greater flexibility for the student selection of courses. A new Honors Program will provide outstanding students with greater degree of individuality in formulating their programs.

Dr. Olsen reported that approximately 100 disadvantaged young people would be added to the enrollment in September for total of about 300.

Send a letter to North Vietnam.

Right now hundreds of Americans are being held captive in North Vietnam.

A few prisoners have made it back. They talk about bamboo cages. Vicious beatings. Malnutrition. Humiliation.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing. And it's this silence that makes our appeal more urgent.

For the families at home, there is no word on who's alive. Who's dead. Or even who's being held. There is nothing. Except the anguish of not knowing.

Maybe you can change this. By writing to the one man who can change it: The President of North Vietnam.

Ask him to release the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and let the Red Cross inspect the prisons to insure proper medical treatment and living conditions.

Remind him that he is bound by the 1949 Geneva Convention which his country signed. And by the Istanbul resolution.

North Vietnamese leaders do care about American public opinion. And if they think they can gain something by bowing to it, they will.

But one letter won't do it. Or a thousand. Maybe it will take millions. So we've got to write now. All of us. And often.

Write a letter tonight. And send it to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

It'll cost you a quarter. But it might save a life.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

Maybe they'll open it.

NEWS BRIEFS

If you like to sing, this is your opportunity to blend your voice with others in a community choir that is being formed. Pastor John Williams, Jr. of the Ebenezer Seventh Day Adventist Church of Paterson is organizing a community choir to render concerts. Spirituals, folk, sacred and classical songs will be presented at community, church, civic, and special programs. This will be an integrated choir with members representing every area and ethnic group of the community.

Pastor Williams says that he has been fortunate to obtain the services of Mrs. Marguerite Daly of New York City. Mrs. Daly, a graduate of Julliard School of Music, is a lyric soprano. She plays the organ and teaches piano and voice. She has worked with the Connecticut Council of Churches and the Westchester County Recreation Commission. She now serves as the Minister of Music at the Shiloh Baptist Church, Tuckahoe, New York, and she is the Director of the Choir of the First Seventh Day Adventist Church of Englewood, New Jersey.

Whatever your interest, profession or occupation, be it student, teacher, or administrator, for an enlightening fellowship and a most exciting and fulfilling experience, join the community choir. Applications may be obtained from the Office of Information, Room 18, Morrison Hall. Applicants will be notified of the place and date of rehearsals at a later date.

Urban Committee

Superintendent Gioia emphasized the urgent need for the development and implementation of special college programs to prepare prospective teachers planning to teach in the urban community. He said his "attempts to collaborate with Paterson State College in effecting a partnership with the City of Paterson as a field laboratory in the preparation of urban teachers during the past ten years have finally culminated in this effort."

CLUB FOOTBALL NOW AT PSC

By JOHN C. ALFIERI

On Friday night, September 25, 1970, Club Football will become a reality at Paterson State College as the Pioneers field their first team ever under head coach Michael Sabia.

"We hope to put the team together in order to get one or two wins out of the season," said Sabia in a recent conversation.

His team consists of fifty players, including four seniors, six juniors and forty sophomores and freshmen. Sabia has his men pretty well set with each man in a definite position. All will be playing on the new team.

Some of the team's high spots include several freshman from area high schools who will be playing for PSC. Gary Dambek of Bayonne was New Jersey's only High School All-American last year.

Two All-Bergen County players are Walter Wolf of East Paterson, a linebacker, and Ed Kerwin, also of East Paterson, a fullback. Clifton's Ed Zornack and John Tavia of Belleville will also start.

Also joining the team are several transfer students, one from the University of Dayton and another from Arizona State. All other talent is from the ranks of PSC.

Scott Bey, player-coach, has put together the defensive backfield. The front line of the offensive squad averages 6'2" and 235 pounds, while the defensive line goes about 6'2" and 250.

The schedule includes nine games, six at home and three away. Most games will be played club football for 1969. On Saturday, October 10, the gridmen will play Newark Rutgers at home in what will become the annual Homecoming Football Classic. Then the team will travel to Newark State on the 17th. Their next game will be against Seton Hall at home on October 31. This is expected to be the toughest contest of the schedule.

On November 7, 14, and 21 the Pioneers will play the Army "B" team, the University of Scranton, and Iona, respectively, all at home. At 11:00 A.M. on November 26 the team will play a Thanksgiving game at Stone in north east Massachusetts.

Coach Sabia's final comments were optimistic. Not about the team, but about the student body's support for a second season and he hopes that you all be out for the first game, every game.

We've waited a long time this so let's get behind our team.

at night and all home games will be played at Paterson State's Wightman Field.

The team opens away on Friday night, September 25, against Fairleigh Dickinson (Teaneck). From there the Pioneers return home on October to play St. John's, the number four ranked team in the nation in

Women Fencers Begin Practice

The Women's Fencing Team of Paterson State began its official practice on August 31. It was a combined practice and recruitment effort as the team practiced outside enabling the freshmen, on tour of the campus, to watch and question. Before the new season begins, however, let me lay last season to rest.

The National Championships were held at the Hotel Commodore in New York City this past July. In the women's individual Lee Ann Weidner fought her way through the quarter-final round facing women fencers from across the country.

In the team competition the team composed of Lee Weidner, Anna Nowell and Leslie Meddles defeated the team from Washington, D.C. Losing to teams from New York and Los Angeles kept them from further competition but these two teams proceeded to place in the top three positions. So ended the season.

This year the team is looking for freshman girls who feel they are interested in this sport. You do not need to know a thing about fencing. After all their motto is "Beginners become Champions at Paterson State." In previous years this motto has held true. The team wants to start building towards the future. To accomplish this there must be enough workers to lay the foundation so the team will remain strong in the coming years. Besides being fun, fencing is exercise. You can't lose either way. There are many competitions open to beginner fencers and the experience gained in each competition is put to use in the next. As one gains more experience time becomes a better fence.

This year the varsity and junior varsity teams will be traveling to Penn State and Buffalo. Perhaps one of you freshman girls will be going along with the team. After all 35 of last season's varsity were freshmen. Ability rules. You never can tell. If there are any girls interested please go to the fencing room located in the stage area of the gym. Even if you just want to peek in to see what goes on you'll be welcome anytime Monday through Friday between 2:30 and 5:30.

Roadrunners Set For '70; Fleming Olympic Hopeful

BY JOE ALFIERI

The Paterson State College Roadrunners, last year's New Jersey State College Athletic Conference Champions, 2nd in the National Athletic Inter-Collegiate Association District 31c and ranked 14th in the Country, begin their season at home against Menmouth College on Saturday, September 26 at 11:00 A.M.

Coach Dick McDonald said, "Our top six freshmen are coming back this year, and our main goal is to finish first in the Albany Invitational Meet later in the year." The returning top six Roadrunners are: Tom Fleming, last year's No. 1 Roadrunner; Tom Greenbowe; Dave Swan; Fred Ross; Bob Crawley; and Brian Cameron.

When asked what his outlook of the schedule is, Coach McDonald said, "The addition of C.W. Post, Southern Connecticut, and the University of Scranton, has really toughed the schedule, but with the potential of the team this year, I have high hopes." From the way Coach McDonald talked, it seems that as was the case last year, there won't be any Coyotes close to a PSC Roadrunner.

Coach McDonald also mentioned that the fact that Tom Fleming competed in the Olympic trials and finished a promising fifth, which qualifies him for a chance at a berth on the American team which will be competing in the Pan Am games. The sports staff of the STATE BEACON would like to wish Tom the best of luck.

The present outlook is that PSC ROADRUNNERS will do their best to keep PSC on the map. So let's all get out to show them that the student body of PSC is behind them all the way.
