The Bacon Personal File BURNS!

BY IGGY AWESOME

AND
"J.T."

The Bacon personal file was recently destroyed in a blaze which rivaled the great Chicago fire, said Lane Cannelloni, caretaker of the coveted file.

According to reports issued by the Wayne Fire Department, the blaze was started as a result of the sexually explicit content of the personals. Fireman Walter Hotz said, "Well, with all that steamy, sex-type stuff you college kids participate in, with or on, it's not surprising that it didn't go up in flames sooner."

It is reported that over 50 sexually explicit personals perished in the fire, said Hop-a-long Cassidy, business manager of The Bacon. When asked if these people whose personals were destroyed would receive a refund, she replied, "Hell no, we still have to pay for our beer and pizza. Who do you think we are, the Salvation Army?"

President Arnie Spirit was crushed and devastated by the news of the incident. "I know everyone would assume I read the editorial first, but not true. The first page I turn to is the personals page. I like to follow 'Lover' and 'Your Lover.' I think it's quite amusing. Ha, ha, ha." He added with a grin, "I hope everything turns out well for them." As he wiped a small tear from his eye, Spirit said, "God, I love those things."

Deanna Applestrudel, advertising manager for The Bacon, said that she hopes this incident won't deter future advertisers from using The Bacon as a way to attract customers, lovers and other strangers. "I can see it now; people will say, 'Oh, no, I don't want to get burned in the personals. I'll leave my life the way it is, thank you.' I shudder to think about it."

After sifting through the wreckage and ashes, firepersons found the folder itself — burned, charred, flame-broiled and over easy. "A horrible mess," said one spectator. "My life... I can't look anymore," said another teary-eyed student. "It's... it's too sad. The horror, the horror."

A memorial service for the folder will be held in the business office on the third floor of the Student Center at high noon. Those attending are asked to wear black and white.

The only personals surviving the blaze are...

Acanemic Action

The following is a list of questions and not too many concrete answers to help students cope with WPC.

When should I apply for graduation?

As soon as you are accepted to WPC. This ensures that the college will realize you exist before it's time to leave.

How can I find my adviser?

Begin a campus-wide quest in September. FBI assistance is advised. If you check all janitor's closets, large desk drawers, and the nooks and crannies in the english muffins in Mess Hall, you should locate him or her by June.

Where can I get a list of GE courses?

Currently, the side of the Sear's Tower in Chicago (the tallest building in the world) is the only surface large enough to handle a list this size. WPC is attempting to obtain permission to hang WPC's list of GEs from the top of the building. (Good luck Dennis Armadillo!)

How should I go about changing my major?

Just start taking classes in the area you want to study in and hope the registrar's office notices before you graduate.

If I want to take a course at another college over the summer and get credit for it at WPC, what should I do?

Just don't try it. The credits can only be transferred if you get signed permission from your unlocatable adviser, the couchperson of your department, Dean Martin, Santa Claus, the tooth fairy, and the Easter bunny.

In extenuating circumstances, Bugs Bunny's signature may be substituted for that of the Easter bunny.

When is the best time to change my major?

If your parents are paying for your education, we recommend that you change your major one week before graduation. (You can mooch another four years off your folks without having to enter the work force.)

If your parents are not paying for your education, sue them for the money you spent educating yourself. After all, if your parents hadn't raised you as they did, you would never have considered going to college and would not have spent the money.

Once you win the lawsuit, change your major (again one week before graduation), and sue them for another four years' worth.

How many credits do I need to graduate?

That depends: If you entered WPC before 1977, you only need four, unless of course there was a full moon when you received your acceptance letter, in which case, you need five credits.

If you entered WPC after 1977, you need 2,546 and a half credits to graduate (WPC raised its standards).

This was true until fall semester 1986, at which time the credit load was dropped to 2,000.

Under this plan, students must take 1,997 credits in GEs and the three credits in their major.

Don't think twice, join the pageant

BY I'LL BE SORE YA'KNOW

This year WPC will have its first Miss Intelligence Pageant. To be a contestant you must (1) have small feet, (sizes 2-5). This will enable you to walk across the stage without tripping over your feet. I mean, how would you like your school represented by someone who trips? You wouldn't, I didn't think you would. (2) You must have two-and-a-half inch teeth that sparkle, so when you smile the people in the back row can see you smile. We wouldn't like them to think that you are serious sometimes, like when you are thinking of serious stuff. We can't have the audience thinking that you think sometimes. You surely can't win if they think that you think. And by the way, you're beautiful babe, let's do lunch. (3) You must look good in a swimsuit, so you have to be, (I repeat this is a must,) at least five feet 11 inches and weigh no more than 82 pounds soaking wet. If you are over 82 pounds, you've still got a week to diet. So come on babes, get your bodes in shape and don't eat another thing until after the pageant. (4) You must be able to run, jump, do cartwheels and tap dance at the same time in 10-inch heels. That's no problem, right? (5) You must have a talent, yes I know that this is the tough part but come on hon, babe, hot mama, you've got a week to think of something and practice. How about bubble gum chewing? You'll look nice and maybe if you practice long and hard, you can even blow a bubble. (6) This is the real tough part. In this category the audience gets to know you. We will have a seven minute interview. In the interview (which can only take seven minutes) we'll ask you what your favorite food was when you were three (come on think hard), the names of all your relatives (no, you can't call her mommy, she has a real name) and details of what you'll be doing for the next 25 years.

'But thinking gives me wrinkles'

(and don't get too personal). We'll ask what you had for dinner last Thanksgiving, and a brief family history. We'll make it easy, you don't have to go further than 1755, (and remember don't go over seven minutes).

You then must repeat your interview verbatim (look it up in the dictionary, it's a hard word) to each of the judges so they can give you a nice big number.

We The Bacon have interviewed some of the contestants to see what they are doing to prepare for the pageant. Muffy said "This is no beauty pageant. How could you call this a beauty pageant? What do you think I am, dumb? Come on now, this is the Miss Intelligence Pageant. Haven't you heard that we have to do a talent? What do you think, that all pretty, gorgeous, sexy, tight-bunned women have a talent? No, I'm special; I twirl a baton, yup, that's my talent and that will make me win."

Buffy replied "Don't ask me to think! In the requirements it said nothing about thinking. When I think I get wrinkles and that would show that I'm human. I wouldn't want to show people that I wrinkle like everyone else you know? Besides they chose me because I'm gorgeous, and when you are as gorgeous as I am, you don't need to think. Men don't listen to me anyway. They are too busy staring at me."

The judges have asked all contestants about their past. If they have posed in the nude for Playpeople magazine they shouldn't apply. This is a preliminary for the Miss America Pageant. Also do not try and stuff your shirt. We only want quality women to represent the school; they look nicer.

Mr. Olefashion said, "this is not a beauty pageant. We do not judge contestants on how they look. This contest will be based mostly on the interview and the talent." He added, "If people tell you that this is sexist, don't believe them. They are probably ugly and can't join the pageant, or they are jealous. So do your nails pretty and wear nice makeup, remember this pageant is based on intelligence, not looks". He added that if it is sexist, "who cares," the winner gets $1,000. It's worth being sexist for just a day.

Flying high on campus

BY DON CORLEONE

Bobby "Michael" Jacksonian, chief of Kampus Kops, said in a fairly outdated interview that the cliffs near Herring Bits and Pie-in-the-face Halle will be off limits, due to the recent increase in incidents of hang-gliding by students.

"They were flying all around the kampus, dropping cans of Old Bo beer on people's little noggins," Jacksonian said. "We don't tolerate drunkenness, drinking water or breathing, so how could we allow beer bombardments by boisterous beings?"

Jacksonian said that patrols will be instituted along the cliffs to make sure that students obey the new law. Armed with federal Star Wars ray guns, the Kampus Kops will "zap any of those long-haired, hippie-types" who try to fly, some dude said.

Attorney General and Poo-bah to speak

BY SUPO RUPO

The senior class poll has revealed that there will be two commencement speakers this year, Attorney-in-General Edwin Mouse and Jerry Fellwell, leader and grand poo-bah of the Immoral Many.

"It was a close race," said Rich Simpleton, senior class treasurer. "We thought it would be Gerry Ferrari for sure!"

The two speakers, said Simpleton, will divide the $100,000 speaker's fee between themselves. The tie for the poll resulted from all eight-and-a-half votes counted from the senior class.

The two will discuss the pros and cons of breathing, sinning, acting like an immoral college student and cat juggling.

Tickets will be available by mail order only on a first-come, come again basis. Those who come first will be expected to wait for others to come, out of a sense of courtesy. No commies, no mommies.

Honesty lives?

NEWS NOTES

The next Distinguished Lecturer to speak at WPC will be Jim Bakker, television evangelist. His lecture will be titled, "The Purity and Honesty of TV Evangelists". As a follow up speaker we will have Oral Roberts. His lecture will be "I Heard A Voice and It Wants Money." Both lecturers will be collecting contributions from the audience.

"Register now and be healed!"

Small change in schedule

BY COPY DUDE, MAN

According to the Powers That Be in Morris the Cat Hall, the last week of the semester will include a schedule change. This was instituted by Marcus Evangelicus, most difficult person to reach on campus.

As stated in the new schedule, Tuesday will be Friday's schedule from last Tuesday's Monday. Also, Wednesday classes will be held on Monday after the first week of the second Tuesday in the fiscal year. If a full moon is visible by a groundhog in Chicago, Thursday classes will be held indoors near a fire with six goats nearby. It is urged that students adjust their schedules accordingly.

"It's just the thing that is done when people do what is done by people who do things," Evangelicus said.

Warthogs for War

BY IGGY AWESOME

Warthogs for War is asking the college community to participate in a Die-In this Thursday said Momar Khadafy, coordinator of Warthogs for War. "The way we see it," said Khadafy, "people aren't going to have much of a choice. We're gonna blow their heads off."

In response to the recent peacetime Die-In held here at WPC, Khadafy laughed. "I'll show them what it's like to die. I'll kill them all." He continued, "Students will become part of the action instead of watching a stupid documentary."

To make students aware of the advanced weaponry available these days, Kadafy and his cronies will try to simulate the effects of a World War III attack upon WPC. "The students should consider themselves fortunate," said Khadafy. "Hell, you guys beat out UCLA for these exclusive privileges," he added.

President Arnie Spirit, in an attempt to gain kudos from students, stated, "I'm proud of the students here at WPC. We worked so hard to gain national recogni-

DIE-IN

Are you ready for spaghetti?

BY VITAL ORGANS
AND MARY PANTING

New phone lines will be installed on campus, however the traditional phone cables will not be used. Ronsphony has supplied the campus with three miles worth of cooked spaghetti (al dente). Pam What a fiasco, the person who knows about this phone stuff, said, "This advanced communication system will improve inter-campus relations, but ruin your diet."

Pasta will be installed in a zig-zag pattern, six feet below Lot 5. In order to bury the pasta, Lot 5 will be torn up completely, it will be totally inaccessible to the students during the '87, '88, '89 and '90 school years. Dennis Tortellini, voice of authority, said, "The system will cost about, well, ah, kind of, somewhere around five million dollars, four vats of blood, sweat and tears, three thousand student complaints, my two front teeth and a partridge in a pear tree."

Arnie E-sprit, designer president, will personally toss each spaghetti strand against Morris the cat Hall, to determine whether or not it is flaccid enough. When asked to comment on the upcoming parking situation, E-sprit said, "Let them (the students) eat cake or pasta as the case may be."

tion and now look at this, even Khadafy picked us out of the crowd. I'm very proud."

The details for the Die-In are as follows: (1) make sure you wear clothes you prefer to die in; (2) get together with your buddies you'd like to die with; and (3) don't try to arm yourself, you'll die anyway. Khadafy hopes to make this a successful event and will consider, after the effectiveness, whether or not he will hold it again.

Unlike the other Die-In, no air horns will be set off, Khadafy said. "Ha, what do you think this is a game show? We're gonna blow everything we see move. What else would you expect from a hairball?"

Mark Mozzarella, assistant director of Student Activities, died recently while giving blood at the WPC blood drive. Inside information tells us that the nurse that was extracting the blood went to lunch while he was still hooked up, resulting in the complete draining of his body! He will not be missed, said Hank Williams Morris. "He did his job too god-damn well. He held an administrative position, he should have known better."

SATs lowered to 4

BY BUFORD B. BEACON

The Silly Academic Test (SAT) standards for incoming freshmen have been altered drastically to allow for even more money for the College Federation of Planets, according to Pete Spirada-na-na-na, the dude who knows about money.

The average SAT score of 930 will be lowered to four. This, said Spirada-na-na-na, will increase the number of students accepted, increasing funding for extracurricular activities on campus, such as the newly-formed "Rock Lobster" Club, a group of dedicated students who train crustaceans to dance. Also receiving funds will be the "Mony Mony" Club, which seeks to change all songs and include obscene lyrics to be sung by patrons of the pub.

Oh, yeah, sorry — back to the story. So, like, ya know, the number of, like, points for the, uh, test is gonna drop, don't ya know. So, like, all youse guys gotta do is spell the first two letters of your name right. Dig? Cool.

Potatoes for Wrecked Center

BY VITAL ORGANS
AND TAX LOOPHOLE

Wayne Hall has donated 200,000 potatoes to the maintenance department to build a new Wrecked Center, sources said tomorrow.

Dandy Dennis Jointroller, a real sporty guy, said that since nobody uses the old Wrecked Center, a new one must be built so that the college can spend more money "just for the hell of it."

The potatoes, said Jointroller, will serve four functions: 1) they will be used in place of concrete to build the center, 2) they will be used for stucco on the ceiling, 3) volleyballs will be made out of the vile material, and 4) those persons using the center will be able to take bites out of the walls for energy food.

"It'll be the best thing since sliced bread," Jointroller said, clearing the smoke out of his office.

Harvard on the Hill President Arby Smurf said that the only danger he can foresee is construction workers getting caught in the icky mush. "They'd die without gravy," Smurf added. "Of course, we could find a volunteer and cover him with the potatoes. Once it hardened, we'd have a statue for the campus."

Darnit Armadillo, press agent, was not available for comment, not even his own.

One of thousands of new freshmen accepted because of lower SAT requirements.

Stupid Center closed for 23 hours

BY HAWKEYE T. EINSTEIN

The Stupid Center will be closed for 23 hours during the entire year, said Davey S. Timid, the guy who runs stuff. The center will be open for extended hours during finals. Students will be able to use the facilities in the center for 15 minutes a day.

"It's something we just had to do," Timid said. "We had people in here talking, working and acting like normal human beings, instead of like wild, drug-crazed college students." The added 15 minutes will be split up between five stupid directors, who agreed to do so out of their extreme sense of loyalty.

Timid pointed out that other factors were involved in the decision. "We said, 'Hey! Let's try it.' We did. It's done. All gone. It's over."

According to a thoroughly unreliable source in Ridgefield Park, who doesn't even know where WPC is, the real reason for the reduced hours is part of a communist, satanic plot by the contras. Film at 11.

Skinheads & Arnie

"It must have seemed as the rudies closed their ranks that they had also changed their sides and the doors were doubly locked against the bewildered skinhead...Reggae had come of age and the skinheads were sentenced to perpetual adolescence..." (Hebdige, 1976)

To the astonishment of the college community and the embarrassment of the administration a new problem has turned more heads quicker than you can say, the roof, the roof, the roof is on fire, we don't need no water, let the motherfucker burn; the presence of skinheads on Morrison lawn.

As a once defined subculture in a complex hegemony, they have lost guidance and vision and even the Advisement Center has admitted failure in its attempt to alleviate the sociological pressures that are forced upon these unfortunate youths.

President Spirit, your caliber of excellence has touched us all in one way or another. You're so good you've finally managed to get people to realize that William Paterson College is, in fact, in Wayne and not Paterson. As irresponsible, so-called journalistic muckrakers, we, the editors of The Bacon, urge you to personally reach out and touch these confused lawn ornaments.

You have to understand Mr. President, they are extremely confused. They don't play pinball, they get kicked out of frat parties and they hate the music in the pub. They kind of like sports though, probably as much as you like slam dancing (we have pictures). We're sure you could find the time to devote to these victims of society - maybe take a shorter lunch and set a time to go out one night.

Arnie, get them involved. What we're trying to say is: Take the skinheads bowling Arnie, take them bowling.

What it is — THE BACON

As has been tradition, this week we are publishing The Bacon, the parody issue. This issue is written by The Bacon staff for your enjoyment and in the hopes of ending the year on a light note.

We accepted regular ("real") campus events, personals, classifieds and ads. These "real" sections are marked accordingly to avoid confusion.

The remainder of The Bacon is totally fictitious and stems from the sometimes demented imagination of The Bacon staff. We hope you have as much fun reading this issue of The Bacon as we had writing it. Have a great summer.

The Bacon of Billy on the Hill College is published by the sleep-deprived students of the Billy on the Hill College of New Jersey, 07470, with all our stuff strewn all over the third floor of the Student Center (including Eastern). Newspaper content represents the judgment of The Bacon staff in accordance with the amount of caffeinated beverage we can get our hands on and if the judgment of the Student Government Association, the administration, faculty, or the state of New Jersey does not agree, screw 'em. If opinions in signed columns and letters to the editor are not necessarily the opinions of the staff, then screw them too. This paper is independently funded and operated by stressed-out student editors who receive no monetary reimbursement, no sleep and no respect.

Letters to the Editor

Stuffed shirt speaks out

Editor, The Bacon:

I keep seeing the words "communist," "freedom" and "condom" in your newspaper. Why? Is there any real reason?

I have been attending this institution for 35 years in various forms, and I don't understand the reason for printing words relating to (dare I say it) commies, free speech and S-E-X! People don't want to hear about these things! They want to be kept in the dark, where they belong!

I thank God that apathy is running rampant on this campus, or else everybody would be well informed! If it wasn't for you drug-crazed, long-haired, radical, left-wing journalistic sharks, we would have won the battle for misinforming the public.

In the future, please refrain from printing these words and related issues.

From dimples to drop-out

Editor, The Bacon,

I am writing in regards to the complaints about the Miss WPC Scholarship Beauty Pageant. I am a past Miss WPC and not only do I see nothing wrong with the pageant, I have benefited by it.

Due to the fact that I am a pencil-thin blonde with the most adorable dimples you've ever seen, I won the contest and received free tuition. But I really didn't need it because my new friend, Hughie, gave me a job at that magazine all of you darling little boys love. So I decided to drop out of college and began a new career on the road to stardom.

You'll just have to blow your way through the disguise
"In the Flesh" — Waters*

So what else is new? If you're interested in finding something out, do you really think someone is going to hand you all the information you need? Welcome to the real world.

I was born in NYC but grew up nowhere. Nowhere is better than anywhere, especially today. I'm aware of the fact that several people have been killed down at the old homestead of MacDougal and 8th streets in the past two years — I swear I had nothing to do with them.

Moving to Long Island when I was just a small child, I refused to conform to the limited environment surrounding me. Being every parents' nightmare, I often climbed the fence in the yard to freedom; searching for the land I would never find. But I never stopped trying.

I moved to Jersey soon after and I could give you the details but who cares about an infected life. I didn't and still don't, since I discovered the healing powers of rock and roll. Music became important to me in my early teens. I nearly died more than once before, bending myself to participate in yet another government statistic concerning suicide. Unhappy is the child who sees no future, not even in the confines of his/her own family.

I still remember the hot and humid August afternoon when I bought my first rock and roll record, Darkness on the Edge of Town. My life suddenly gained meaning — "Isn't it great to be alive," I thought to myself, to be just another kid in just another stupid town in one of the most densely populated states in the nation!

Since that day I have accumulated over 1,300 albums, cassettes, singles and CDs. Big deal, right? Right. I know people with thousands on top of thousands in their collections. I'm catching up.

If you only knew what constituted an idiotic, formulated pop rock record you'd stay away from them. Repetition is designed for your safety, it's nonchallenging and lacks sincerity as well as meaning. But I suppose it's what you want. So go ahead and play your stupid Journey albums and Genesis bullshit one more time. Then play it again, and again and again. The bones of the legends like Robert Johnson, Big Joe Turner, Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly, Gene Vincent and the other greats would quake if they knew what schlock this thing called rock and roll has turned into.

In the meantime, I will continue to grow, both as an individual and as an integral part of this community. I'm not out to change the world but wouldn't it be nice...

Students armed with flash units

BY BAT E. CAKES

Students have stated that because they believe there is a lack of security on campus they must arm themselves.

According to Garp, junior communications major, he proposed a solution to President Arnie Spirt in a recent letter. Garp said that he feels that the best way for students to defend themselves is with a flash unit that fits a 35 millimeter camera. "A fully charged unit inches away from the face can blind a person," Garp said in his letter which was titled the "World According to..."

The bookstore is considering Garp suggestions and clearing room for the 90-foot units right next to the condoms.

Garp believes that this is the most effective means of self-defense.

The college is planning to introduce courses in the fall to train students how to use their units safely and responsibly.

The Recked Center will also set up a shooting range so students can have optimum accuracy when shooting their units. According to one Recked Center official, there will be boxes set up to aim at.

Chief Bobby said that he is considering arming his force with units. Jackson has urged students to invest in sunglasses and to "Wear them at night."

According to Garp there are turbo models which include extensions of range. They will also be sold in the bookstore next to the PROphilactics. The smaller units will be next to the AMATUREphilactics.

Lyingberry drops card catalog

BY E.A. HAIRYFIT

The place with all the books is getting rid of its cod catalog, said a WPC lyingbrarian.

"We figured the students could find the books they need without it," he said, "besides this way the students will have to spend more time in the lyingberry which is important to bettering their academic experience at WPC," he said.

"I want the entire community to be involved," said Arnold Spirt, pre-baby-type-guy, who is incredibly concerned with community-type relations. "I've had Dennis Manillo, PR-type guy and Spirt impersonator, organize a catalog card throwing contest."

"Besides," interjected Manillo, "with all the catalog cards floating around, it will make it that much easier for students to find the lyingberry."

The cod catalog is being replaced by a polluter which will be inoperational 99.5 percent of the time.

"That shouldn't matter though because the students only use the lyingberry the other 5 percent of the time anyway," said the lyingbrarian.

"If it does become too difficult for students to find the books they need, we'll just get rid of some of them. This will make it much easier to find the books that are left," he said.

A poll conducted by The Bacon revealed that most students are not opposed to the change and, in fact, did not know where the lyingberry is.

Those who were able to find the building said, "What's a book?"

Archeologists recently discovered the lost town of Bedrock under Hobart Manor while excavating the building. One of the first items dug up in the find was Fred and Wilma's dining room set.

New phone system in 6 seconds

BY CANIS LUPIS

A new phone system will be installed sometime in the next six seconds, said Dennis Armadillo, press agent to the stars.

The new system, funded by the federal government, will cost an estimated $698,478.69 billion.

The complex wiring and intricate technological set-up will consist of millions of yards of high-tension wire and a tin can for every person on campus.

"The sound quality is tremendous," Armadillo said. "I can almost hear the other person on the other end."

One of the main advantages of the new system, said Armadillo, is that "when someone important calls up, they can't tell if they're talking to President Spurt or me."

Students may purchase their own cans if they wish. They will be available in the Bookstore, right next to the condoms.

Deposits being spent

BY DID I. TELLYA

Approximately $110,000 is collected in security deposits from students living on campus, and about $0.10 is returned to them, said Tony Isoo (Is not). The balance is then split up and goes to stuff, other stuff and more stuff. The remaining balance is then divided generously among the residents.

The deposit, said Isoo (Is not), is a deterrent to those who want to damage what has been given unto them. Those students who do such things as break furniture, destroy rooms and entire buildings and beat up on small, furry animals will lose the security deposit.

"It's wear and tear, this and that, Frac and Frac, Punch and Judy, here and there," said Isoo (Is not). "We want to keep the dorms 'spotless', so we don't allow dogs in the rooms."

Isoo (Is not) was later seen having a debate (or not a debate) with the Residents Life office (or not the office) about the matter at hand (or not at hand).

Triple cover price for books at WPC Bookcondom Store

BY IGGY AWESOME

In a unprecedented move, the WPC Bookcondom Store issued a statement concerning textbook buy-back rates for the spring semester. Dick Acquired, manager of the Bookcondom Store, said at a recent press conference, "I'm sorry, we're all sorry for ripping off the students the way we've been. To make-up for it, we will buy back your textbooks for triple the cover price."

Acquired said that any textbooks, any author, any subject and any year will be bought back at insane prices. Condition of the books is not relevant. He did however state that condoms do not apply to this. "Yeh, like I'm really that stupid. I'm not going to accept used condoms. I'm running a Bookcondom Store, not a sperm bank," Acquired said.

Although it may seem like a humane gesture on Acquired's part, The Bacon investigative team has learned otherwise. It seems that the IRS has audited the Bookcondom Store and they have many unaccounted dollars in their account. "Millions," said one IRS representative. "We suspect it is students' money," said Deep Trout, also an IRS representative.

Acquired has denied such reports and drove off into the sunset in his Turbo 900 Saab to his penthouse facing the NYC skyline. Other Bookcondom Store employees were chauffeured off in their respective limousines, also offering no comment to these allegations.

If we heard right, this Bookcondom Store has 45 days to reduce its balance on its current accounts, excluding Acquired's two personal Swiss Bank accounts, unto which after that date they will have to pay extreme taxes to Ronnie-Baby.

"They're not going to get me," concluded Acquired. "All my money is tied-up in the Contras anyway."

It's hard to believe that Professor Dan Sugarman hasn't been in The Bacon before. The multi-talented professor has had much success in the entertainment field, receiving rave reviews for his talents from The New York Times, Los Angeles Times, and Penthouse mag. While he's hot and still popular, take his Abnormal Psych class, and see him perform his greatest hits, including: "How Many People Understand What I'm Saying?", "For Example — Listen Carefully," "How're You Doing On Your Reading" and "How Many People Have Heard of This?"

Gonzales to give away Student Center

BY LANE CANNELLONI

Newly elected SGA president Speedy Gonzales has many new ideas for WPC. At a recent executive board meeting Gonzales exclaimed in revelation, "Arrriba! Arrriba! Andele! Andele! Yee-ha!" When Gonzales calmed down enough, he painted out his new idea, "Why don't we provide the utmost service to the students—donate the Student Center to homeless students."

Gonzales said that this would alleviate apathy on campus because, "we would have a captive audience. It would also help those lost souls who are kicked out of the dorms on holidays, and usually have to wander about aimlessly."

The executive board, as usual, reacted negatively to Gonzales' suggestion. Their major complaint was, "But Speedy, we thought the Student Center was ours!" The executive board felt a new privilege should be bestowed upon them as executive officers (as well as tuition reimbursement) and that being full and complete control, use and abuse of the Student Center.

Gonzales' proposal includes his own personal services for cleaning, cooking and caring for the deprived students. His pay, courtesy of the WPC Foundation, will be allocated for recreational services. This means due to limited funding recreational activities will only be provided once a semester.

Speedy Gonzales' proposal was declined with a vote of 8-1. Gonzales, however, is not giving up. "I will stand vigil on the Student Center roof until I get my way," Gonzales said.

Bondage beats books beyond belief

BY SUE BOND JOVI

Bondage devices can soon be found at the WPC bookstore, right next to the condoms. Dick "Tie Me" Withwire, manager of the book store, said, "A little bondage never hurt anyone." He comments that selling S&M devices can alleviate the tension that college students experience. He adds, "After a tough mid-term or final, students like to unwind by going to the bookstore, picking up a few dog collars and chains and tying up a good friend or two." Withwire also sells literature on the subject, "Fun with Dick and Pain, 101 Ways to Bond a Buddy" and "Whip Your Tensions Away," are just a few just peachy books that are going to be sold.

Some of the things that will be on sale are: ropes, chains, dog collars, blow-up sheep dolls, bunsen burners (for those flaming beastiality acts), ships, vices, thumb screws and feather dusters. Withwire adds, "the sales have gone remarkably well. Students are very happy and so are the faculty members, and administrators particularly those in the president's office."

idea was "marvy." Suplies were purchased from Kinky Inc. Withwire would not reveal how the suplies were paid for, however, he did glance at his fly whenever the topic was brought up.

Students were asked of their opinion of the sale of bondage devices their reaction was the same.

Trammy Slutski, a junior said "I love the idea, and I'm willing to demonstrate most of the devices, except for the feather duster. I have this thing about birds." Joe Jock-itch said, "YO, it's cool, sahhh, I'm into playing with chains and stuff."

The only problem that the new devices promote is that students are missing class and using the excuse of being "All tied up." One student director said, "I've missed

'Be A Better Lover'

several working days due to the fact that my male staff ties me to chairs, desks, etc. They have even gone as far as chaining my teddy bear (Weston) and dangling him out the window." However, Weston (we are happy to say) was not set aflame and survived the attack. He was not available for comment.

Other students were questioned, however, they could not answer because they were tongue-tied.

Withwire tells with a grin how the idea came about: "One day while I was walking the dog, the leash got wound around my ankles.

I fell down and went boom. It was the best feeling on earth, and the rest is history." Withwire brought the idea to Yo Tiethis, who said the

Swimmer hits head in pool

BY EX-SWIMMONEER

Last Wednesday at Wrought-Out Pool in Wrought-Out Gym a member of the Will-He-Pat-Her-In swimming team dove into the pool too deep and hit his head, causing a minor bump.

Bob Blockhead, also known to his friends as Charlie Brown, was practicing his starts off the starting block and hit the bottom of the pool with his head. After the accident, Blockhead was rushed to the intense-sniff care unit of Doctor Haramiyu, located in the basement of White Hallway. Once he was reeled in, Blockhead received first-aid treatment, which included the Band-Aid single, "Do They Know It's Christmas," and an ointment was applied directly to his forehead by Haramiyu.

"I felt sorry for the Blockhead...I mean Mr. Blockhead," Haramiyu later said at a press conference where he let it be known that he would be cutting his hours in half for next semester, and that his secretary, Miss Bertha Wontya, will be taking over.

"Too many people jump too far into the swimming pool and expect never to hit the bottom," Haramiyu went on and on. "I hope this teaches the members of the swimming team that: EVEN THEY can't be too careful."

The Blockhead...Mr. Blockhead could not be reached for comment but one of his fellow teammates, Roll Her a Hamburger, chuckingly said that Blockhead always fools around in the pool like that, and it was about time he got hurt.

"Sure, I feel sorry for him," Hamburger said, "but we all do crazy things like that, yes, even me."

Head Swim Coach Dead Ed and assistant Cant Burp are at work right now at this very moment draining the water from the pool in order to chip away the bottom of the pool where Blockhead hit bottom to make it deeper in order to prevent this from happening again.

"Something has to be done," Burp said. "And, by golly, I'm going to do it."

The renovations to the pool are expected to be completed by the 1990 fall semester in time for, according to Ed, "when our current swim team members have graduated and we have all-new fresh faces, and not Blockheads, or in this case, a Charlie Brown Blockhead."

Loins leads team

BY ALBERT T. HAWKEYE

Pioneer tight end Musty Loins led the team last Friday in a tournament against Fairly Ridiculous University.

Loins took hold of his five iron and ran 23 yards for a home run on the foul line. After dodging defensive end Jock Jerkins, Loins finally made a basket by dodging the goalie in the sand trap.

"Grunt, ugh, duh-uh-uh-uh," said

Loins. "It was a truly boff-o game," said Jerkins, snorting some soda and going for a drug test.

The team will travel on to Bop-pin' Bostonian College, where they will compete in a meet and try to slap that puck into home base. Loins said that he will swing his hot bat into the dugout and slide into the batter's box. "Let's do it, so it, do it 'til we can't do it anymore," Loins said.

"I've got it! No, I've got it! Wait! I've got it! Aw, forget it..."
