HEN is a building complete? John Ruskin said, "When we build, let us think that we build forever." Structurally completed buildings are only as meaningful as the people who use them for their specified purposes. It is the physical building that provides for learning situations; it is the application of learning situations to the realities of teaching situations "that we build forever."

College buildings, those buildings possessing specific educational sacroments, represent the theme of our book. The mortar and brick shells composing our campus serve to shelter activities peculiar to pedagogy.

Although four years are spent in buildings friendly and familiar to the eye, there comes the realization that we will find new challenges in other buildings or institutions devoted ta education.

The Class of 1962 dedicates this college annual to a master-builder. With her enthusiasm, energy, and hard work, she has led us through four years of struggles and successes. We dedicate this volume to one who has molded and shaped our class into a unified whole, a fitting structure. She has guided and encouraged our progress toward becoming master teachers, master builders like herself, prepared to shape the minds and lives of children and young adults in various schools throughout the state and the nation. To our class advisor, Dr. Charlotte C. Brown, we, the Class of 1962, gratefully dedicate this yearbook.

Plato has said, "That which is honored in a community will be cultivated there." The qualities which you of this senior class have sought to build in yourselves, the virtues you individually and collectively have found attractive and desirable in your fellows, the values you admire—these will leave their imprint on succeeding generations of students. These are the intangibles which you bequeath as heritage to those who follow you.

We have at Paterson State been building buildings—unfinished as yet, but showing student imprint in purpose, function, even design. To surround you with beauty, to meet your personal as well as intellectual needs—these buildings now occupied and those in construction—have been shaped by faculty, alumni, your fellow students, the Class of 1962, and that illusive thing called campus spirit. Always a friendly, cooperative group, the Class of 1962 has striven to recognize individual worth and community consciousness. You have been, I think, infused with a desire to be part of an onward-going institution, patient with slow progress in the completion of actual buildings because you recognize that the actuality is but the symbol of another and larger dream, a further vision of the American educational ideal.

When you first came, you caught (as no other class has done) the promise that this college, our own Paterson State, would grow if we willed it so. You became, in a sense, planners and architects. You threw your energies into supporting a building program, realizing that this meant increased opportunities for future, increasing numbers of young people to secure an education. In your four years, only a beginning has been made in the realization of the master plan; there is more to come, and as alumni you will undoubtedly be as active in building for the future generations as you have been in your own day at Paterson State.

There is a creative urge in even the most lowly among us, a desire to contribute, a willingness to share, a sense of dedication, a respect for the individual, a sympathy for the underdog, a belief in the potential in every person, a faith in the past and in the future, an awareness of things that are and dreams of what could be. These are distinguishing features of the Class of '62. You have among you the builders of future generations of Paterson Staters and of a greater Paterson State.

In the words of Edwin Markham, this class has demonstrated that to build a better world man must build a better self:

*"We are blind until we see
That in the human plan
Nothing is worth the making
If it does not make the man.
Why build then cities glorious
If man unbuilt goes?
In vain we build the world
Unless the builder grows."*

Class of 1962, I salute you—architects of today, builders of tomorrow.

women's sports

The Women's Recreation Association offers a wide variety of sports in which its members may participate. Among these are archery, basketball, bowling, softball, volleyball, and modern dance.

Throughout the year various playdays are held with other colleges in the metropolitan area. The W.R.A. also sponsors an annual high school sportsday for junior girls in neighboring high schools.

At the annual banquet in May, awards are distributed to those girls who have been active participants throughout the year. These awards are presented on the basis of an accumulation of points based on a point system.

The W.R.A., which is affiliated with the New Jersey Athletic and Recreation Federation of College Women and the A.R.F.C.W., was elected president-college of the N.J.A.R.F.C.W. for this year. One of the highlights of the W.R.A.'s term of office was the securing of Miss Bonnie Prudent, expert on physical fitness, as a guest speaker for the November State meeting.

The cross country team, despite its tough season, saw some highlights by individual performances. Brian McColgan again proved to be one of the top harriers in the conference. During the season Brian took five first places and two second.

For the third consecutive year, Paterson State's rugged five and one half mile course was selected for the N. A. I. A. Championships. Delaware State won the event, but Brian ran a fine race coming in second with a time of 30:38. Brian also took first place at the Montclair State Invitational Race.

There is a need for young blood in order to develop an experienced squad since most of the men are upperclassmen. Ron Simmons and Carmen Pratala, freshman and sophomore respectively, were first year runners. Bob Flemming and Roy Marshall consistently showed fine running.

men's varsity fencing

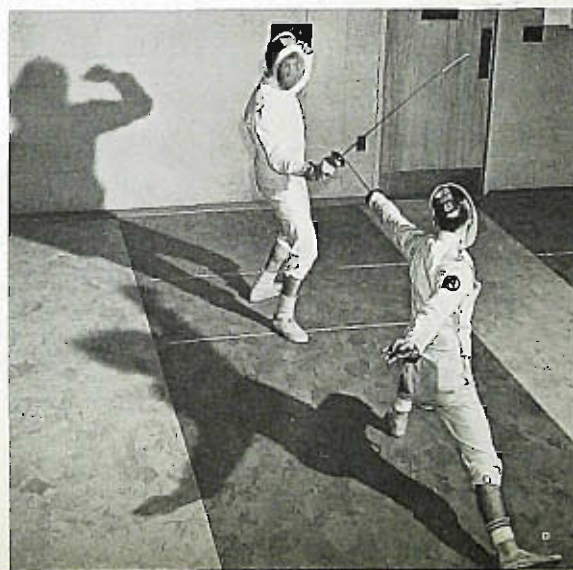

During the 1960-61 season the men's fencing team won more than half of its meets and tied for first place in the Newark College of Engineering Tournament with Drew and Newark Rutgers. In addition to intercollegiate competition against colleges and universities such as Brooklyn Polytechnical Institute, Temple, Cooper Union, Fairleigh Dickinson, Newark Rutgers, Fordham, St. Pater's, Jersey City S.C., Lafayette, Yeshiva, Pace, and N.C.E., the team also competes against various fencing clubs in individual and team meets to gain valuable experience.

The team was under the competent guidance and direction of Advisor John Rockman, Captain Chuck Roth, and Manager Jack Albanese during the 1961-62 season. Because of the loss of the excellent coaching of Mr. Raymond Miller, due to serious illness, the team has had to rely on the experience gained from competition and mutual aid. The comparatively new athletic team has done very well in the last few years and hopes to continue far same time.

The Sword's Club is the women's fencing organization which consists of a squad of about 25 girls who are divided among the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman teams. This club, co-captained by Paulette Singelakis and Roz Culotta, is affiliated with the Inter-Collegiate Women's Fencing Association and the Amateur Fencers' League of America.

Last year saw the culmination of a very successful season for Coach Raymond Miller's fencers. The highlights were the winning of the Intercollegiate Championship, the winning of the Individual Crown by Paulette Singelakis, and the reception of the "Coach of the Year" award by Coach Miller.

Paulette Singelakis, who had an excellent season, is ranked fourth among women fencers in the United States. She placed fourth in the National Open Championships held in Los Angeles in the summer of 1961 and was also the New Jersey Intercollegiate Champion.

So far this season, Paulette has won the "Golden Foil" Tournament in Montreal, Canada. Roz Culotta, the only other veteran from last year's varsity squad, has placed second in an Unclassified Competition in New York.

Basketball season receives an extra boost from the perky varsity cheerleaders who help promote the spirit and enthusiasm witnessed at games. Besides giving forth with yells and cheers at the games, the cheerleaders sponsor pep rallies at the beginning of the new season.

The highlight of last season was the winning of first place in the Metropolitan Inter-Collegiate Cheering Competition. The squad, co-captained by Groyce Rasso and Carol Lee Dodd, received a trophy for their accomplishment.

Faculty advisor for the cheerleaders is Miss Dale Cohen.

The junior varsity cheerleading squad, now in its second year, provides the necessary spirit and encouragement at the junior varsity basketball games. Here the girls can perfect their cheers before moving on to the varsity squad.

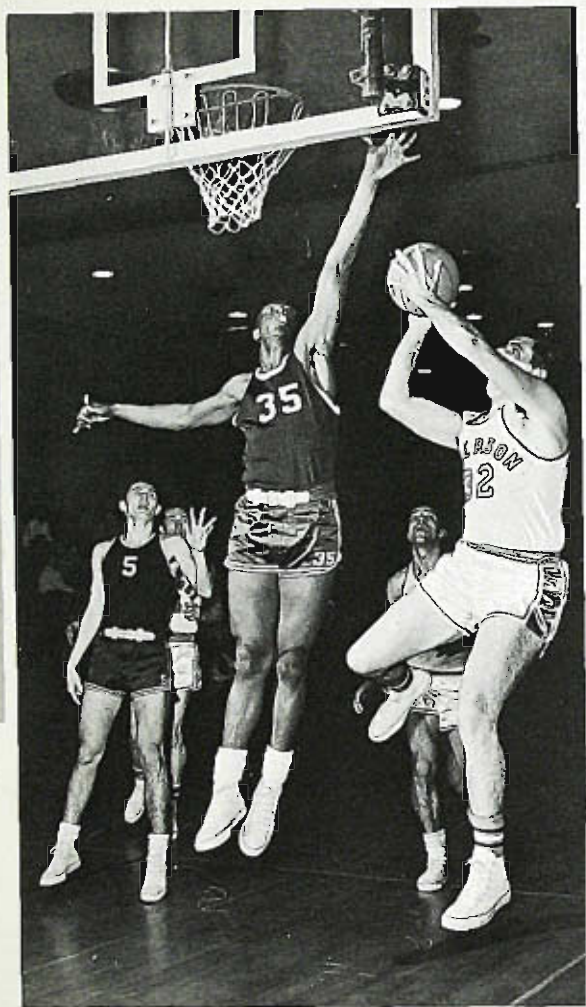

Their faculty advisor is also Miss Dale Cohen.

intramural sports

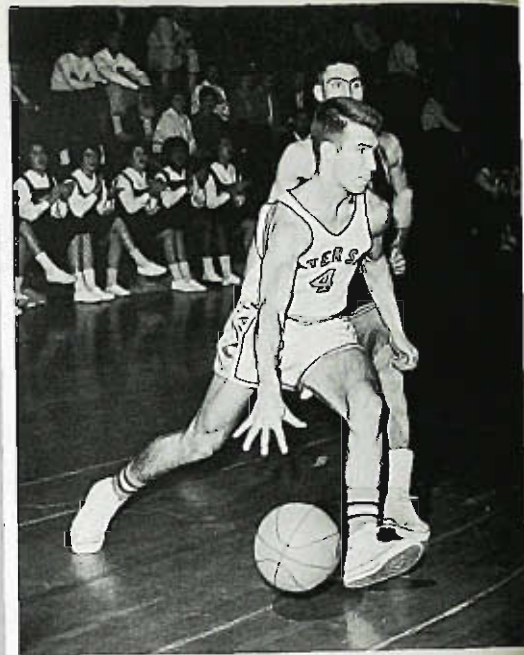

A full program of intramural sports has been established for men who do not participate in varsity sports. The yearly program consists of football, cross country, basketball and softball schedules. The games are held during the activity periods, enabling the participation of anyone who is interested. A highlight each year is the annual foul shooting contest. Since its inception, the intramural program has been widely accepted by providing an opportunity for competition for team trophies.

After a slow start, the varsity basketball squad highlighted the season by an upset victory over Yeshiva University. Since the team won its first game, enthusiasm and a fighting spirit prevailed, and the men have been playing over 500 ball. Captain Jack Padalino, Donald Duin, and Frank McCarthy sparked the team by their consistently fine ball playing both in offense and defense. Other seniors with three years of experience are Lou Carcich and Rich Garofalo, Jack Padalino has played for four years.

The team has the potential of a fine ball club. The squad is young and most of its members are either juniors or sophomores. With the members of the present J.V. squad moved up to varsity and the returning lettermen, hopes for next year are high.

j. v. basketball

The J. V. team despite its youth has shown remarkable poise in its games throughout the season. Four of the games won resulted from hard play in the last minutes of the game. With this stabilization they have developed into a fine nucleus for future varsity squads.

Dave Alexander has been the key in the offense and defense with his fine jump shots, hard driving, and accurate passing. Along with Dave, John Stack, Jim Forkan, Bob Ebersbach, and Ernest Fisher have constantly been high scorers. Coach Jim LePanto was very satisfied and enthused with the results from his young squad.

With only five returning lettermen, freshmen made up most of the 1961 baseball squad. With the young inexperienced team pitted against seasoned opponents, the record for the season was not too impressive. Yet throughout the season there was an emphasis on getting experience for future years. The pitching duties were carried on mainly by Lou Carcich, Dennis DeLorenzo, and Chuck Martin. Captain Bill Fleming, who was usually behind the plate, did a fine job pitching two complete games. Infielders Rich, Garofalo, Joe Bares, and Cliff Fuhs (also outfielder) were the other lettermen. Vic Farkas led the squad in batting with a .273 average and Tony De Marco followed close behind with a .265. Outside of the conference games, the squad played such teams as G. W. Post, Newark Rutgers, Monmouth, and Kings College. In the future, with experience, enthusiasm, and some new blood for depth, the team will again win the N.J.S.A. Conference.

All indications show that the Bowling Team will have its most successful season to date. After a hopeful 1960-61 season, where the team finished eighth in the Eastern Inter-Collegiate Bowling Conference, the squad developed enthusiasm and a fighting spirit. The team did exceptionally well in the 1961 State College Bowling Tournament. Bill Mandara led the Pioneers by capturing first place in All Events (nine game total score). Bill, teamed with Co-captain Ron Johnson, defeated Montclair State in doubles competition. John Demeter missed winning the singles competition by a mere nine pins. Co-captains Bob DeBlasio and Fred Koenig finished fifth and sixth respectively in All Events.

Two freshmen, Dave Alexander and Fred Krathheim, have looked impressive during the season and have given depth to the offensive punch of the team. With the team presently in fifth place in the E.I.B.C., Coach Vitalone is hopeful that the team will finish in the first division.

The 1961 soccer squad saw a heartbreaking season, but a keynote of high morale, spirit, and hard play left Coach Houston and Assistant Coach LePanto thoroughly satisfied. Five games were lost by only one goal, two in overtime play. The squad tied two games against teams who ultimately won the conference in their own loops. The only senior on the squad, Bob Demarest, had the unique honor of being captain for the third consecutive year. Don Erskine, co-captain, Carmen De Sopo, Cliff Keezer, and Jerry Genese have developed into key players for this coming season. Carmen DeSopo was selected to the first All Conference Soccer Team. Coach Houston commented, "I am completely satisfied with the performance of a green team in almost every game." The most rewarding aspect of the season was the developing of skill and interest in young players who are looking forward to a better season.

The different steps and degrees of education may be compared to the artificer's operations upon marble: it is one thing to dig it out of the quarry, and another to square it, to give it gloss and lustre, call forth every beautiful spot and vein, shape it into a column, or animate it into a statue.

We require from buildings, as from men, two kinds of goodness: first, the doing their practical duty well; then that they be graceful and pleasing in doing it; which last is itself another form of duty.

Products . . . arisen from the architects' plans . . . molded by the master-builders tools . . . built on a firm foundation . . . yet, incomplete.

Products . . . yet incomplete . . . to be further shaped through first-hand experience . . . to become master-builders themselves . . . products, complete.

Good-bye, farewell we sing, the class of 1962, who came

Compelled by a desire to learn to teach,
Having reached one goal
Reaches higher for the next.

Help us, O Muse, recall the four long years:
The four long years of study and joy,
For these have been the building years;
These have laid foundations.

This is a place of learning; high on a hill it stands.
With it we have expanded;
The school in buildings and members,
We in powers of the mind.

The various courses taken—invaluable contributions
To our development as seekers, as teachers—

Blended in us to produce unity
Of purpose, a diversity of personality.
Mathematics and science—to think and to reason;
English, music, and art—to appreciate and to express;
Psychology and philosophy—to behave and to understand;

Priceless are these tools.
History—to interpret our world;
Sociology—our complex society;
Tools all, to help us build.

For ourselves, for the future,
An enduring structure—a way of life.

To the architects—sketching our way, clearing our path, guiding our progress—

Professors and administration,
Their praises we sing.

Our affections we leave.
This said, we take our leave

From this fountain of God-given gifts.
Good-bye, farewell we sing.
The class of 1962 goes forth!
