Volume 30—Number 12 PATERSON STATE COLLEGE February 5, 1965

Paterson State College students and faculty are requested to refrain from calling the Wayne Police on snow days. Students should not call the Police because: 1) the police will not know; and 2) the many calls will swamp the police telephone lines and emergency calls cannot then be handled by the Police.

Students should listen to the radio WPAT 93, WOR 70, or WKER 1500, for information regarding the College and its plans to be open or closed.

Freshmen Attend Panel Discussion

In an attempt to give interested students a taste of the program of the Leadership Laboratory, the Leadership Planning Committee presented a panel discussion on Tuesday, January 12 on the topic of "Drinking on campus." The panel consisted of 4 members of the committee who were given a limited amount of time to discuss the selected topic and arrive at some conclusion to the problem. After the allotted time was up, the discussion was opened up to include the observers who offered their own opinions and suggested methods of curbing the problem.

The panel consisted of Susan Mathews, Carol Luiken, Mary Ann Corradino, and Dick Van Emburg. Cliff Williams acted as director of the discussion. Present were 15 freshmen students, Drs. Yevak, Halliwell, Vitalone and Mr. Skillen.

The Leadership Committee plans to present similar discussion programs for the Sophomore and Junior classes to acquaint members of the college with the type of program encountered during the Leadership Lab week-end. This year's workshop will again be held at Peekskill, New York, on May 6-9.

Trustees Donate Gifts Through College Fund

Two of the trustees of the Paterson State College Development Fund have recently given gifts to the college through the Development Fund. Mr. Paul S. Boocheyer of Montclair, president of the Interstate-Boocheyer Corporation of Fair Lawn, Paterson and New York, has given an antique Irish Waterford crystal chandelier to be installed in the new auditorium lobby, and a smaller one for installation in the office of President Marion E. Shea. Dr. Shea has made a gift of five hundred dollars to the Fund.

There has as yet been no intensive drive for development fund contributions, but through a steady increase in donations from interested alumni, from student government contributions, and from individuals, the fund has now gone over $70,000.

The College Development Fund was incorporated in 1962 to operate as a separate non-profit corporation administered by a Board of Trustees. The goals of the fund include curriculum additions, projected building programs, a fully developed College Center and the development of Paterson State College as a cultural center. The Board of Trustees includes in its functions that of soliciting donations from industry and other sources, encouraging their investment in the college to supply the growing needs of the institution. The Fund is to supply the needs of the entire college community that the state does not finance.

In addition to supplementing funds for building programs for the college, the Fund is designed to be used to develop recreational and social facilities such as tennis courts and bleachers at Wightman Field. In accordance with the Fund's purpose of expanding the cultural program at Paterson, there are goals calling for the purchase of paintings and sculpture for permanent display at the college.

Series Opens With Rubinstein Recital

Paterson State students will soon attend the first event of the College's spring Performing Arts Series, on February 6, when they will attend a solo recital of the world-famous pianist, Arthur Rubinstein, at the Mosque Theater in Newark.

They will be supplementing their class work with required and extra-curricular theater trips to New York City and Newark to see Chekhov's The Cherry Orchard; Carol Channing in Hello, Dolly!; the Boston Symphony Orchestra and the Philadelphia Orchestra, concerts at Carnegie Hall; Frank Sinatra's The Subject Was Eros; Jean Giraudoux' Judith; Beatrice Lillie in High Spirits; Aida and Tosca at the Metropolitan Opera; the Royal Ballet of London; Shakespeare's Othello; Moliere's Tartuffe; Arthur Miller's A View from the Bridge; and two or three other productions yet to be scheduled.

The ultimate aims of the several faculty members who have spearheaded this cultural movement are to achieve an active and regular series which is not the province of any one department but one which is a college activity.

EDITORIAL

Here at Paterson State, one of the most familiar expressions heard is, "the college doesn't offer us anything." Just how true is this statement? In the sports department, Paterson has a fine soccer team, a victorious fencing team, a successful cross-country team, and a basketball team which tries its best. How many students support sports - about moans and cries of discontent, but how many students? Decisions are made at class meetings which bring dents attend their respective class meetings? Complaints are familiar to members of the State BEACON staff, but how many students have offered suggestions or some of their time?

The possibility of having Paterson State College among those schools throughout the nation participating in a contest to find the ten best dressed college girls in the United States prompted the BEACON and the SGA to consider co-sponsoring the preliminary contest on campus. The idea was publicized in this newspaper both as a letter to the editor and as a news story. Lists were posted in the snack bar for signatures of support. There were some signatures, both for and against such a contest, but neither list contained enough names to decide whether or not the idea had been accepted or rejected by a number of the students in the college. As a result, both organizations were forced to "chalk it up as a loss."

A solution may be in the offing, but how long will the apathy last?

THESE COURSES ARE OPEN!

Letters To The Editor

Contributions to this column are the opinions of the readers and, as such, are unsolicited. All letters are required to be of a standard that will reflect the best interests of the college. Anonymous letters will not be printed but names will be withheld on request. The Beacon reserves the right to edit all letters.

The following is a letter sent to the President of Glassboro State College by Coach Kenneth Wolf of Paterson State:

Dear Dr. Robinson:

I wish to express my gratitude for the wonderful cooperation of your Coaches, students and all others associated with Saturday night's game Ed. note: Saturday, January 8, 1965.

Steve Clancy needed nine points to reach the 1000 point total of his playing career. Knowing this, I called Mr. Briglia, and asked if we could present him with the game ball when he scored those points and as you know, he readily agreed.

We are deeply appreciative of this, but the most wonderful experience for Steve and me was the tremendous ovation accorded by a standing student body. As I walked out onto the court to present him with the ball, I couldn't help but see everyone on your filled bleachers standing and applauding.

This was very impressive since we were a visiting team and a conference foe.

Once again, Steve Clancy, my players, cheerleaders, assistant coach and I wish to thank you for the wonderful tribute paid to Steve, and I felt you and your school should know our feelings.

Sincerely yours,
Kenneth J. Wolf
Basketball Coach

Editor's note: According to BEACON policy, anonymous letters will not be accepted for publication. Hereafter, unsigned letters submitted to the BEACON will be disregarded, but request for names to be withheld will be honored. A letter was received this week signed "an annoyed junior" which could not be printed for that very reason.

The Campus Players of Glassboro State College will present the classic Greek tragedy, HIPPOLYTUS by Euripides on February 18, 19 and 20 in Tohill Auditorium at College Hall. Curtain time is 8 p.m. All seats are available at the cost of $1 per person. There is also a special student rate of fifty cents. # Library Displays Civil War Exhibit

The current library exhibit, donated and arranged by Paul L. Rude, is concerned with the Civil War period. Mr. Rude, who has been a student of the Civil War for many years, is a member of The Civil Air Round Table of New York and The Civil War Round Table of Northern New Jersey. He is also the Vice President of the Paramus Historical Society.

The exhibit includes medals, and Dr. James McCarthy of the speech department.

Entrants in the Miss Paterson State Contest were judged on a number of attributes. One criteria for selection was personal appearance, which include poise, natural beauty, appropriateness of dress, grooming, and carriage and posture. Another standard was clarity of expression, which included vocabulary, pleasing voice, and presentation. The criteria of mental alertness encompassed breadth and depth of knowledge, ability to think and reason rather than recite, and ability to be verbally expressive. The category of personality covered self assurance, charm, refinement, naturalness, and spontaneity. Another standard was sincerity, meaning honesty, simplicity, and freedom from deceit and duplicity. The final criteria was activities and honors garnered by entrants.

A number of on-campus clubs and organizations were asked to submit representatives to serve as nominees in the contest. Three of the five finalists were sponsored by organizations. Ruth Chowski was nominated by the math club, Arlene Hamlett by the Leadership Laboratory Committee, and Kathleen Glade by the A Capella Choir. Although over half of the contestants submitted their own names, there were representatives of such organizations as the BEACON the women's Choral Ensemble, Cheerleaders, Hospitality Club, Women's Recreation Association, Heritage Hall and Pioneer Hall, and the Natural History Club.

The final judging to select Miss P.S.C. will take place during the Coronation Ball on February 13 at 9:30 p.m. Some of the outside judges involved in the final competition include Miss Susan Krasnomowicz, Miss New Jersey 1964, Mrs. Rosalie Longo, social editor of the Paterson Evening News, Mrs. Nancy DeVries, Mrs. New Jersey 1963, and Miss Barbara Lord, a film starlet. Also judging are Mr. Thomas Cupo, affiliated with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who has eight years judging experience, Mr. Carl DiPiazza, chief photographer for the Bergen Record, who has eleven years of judging experience, and Mr. Frank Cundari, manager of the Chair Hire Company, who has fifteen years experience judging. These experts will meet informally at a tea hour with the finalists. At 8:45 p.m. the finalists will dress in their gowns for the contest, which will begin at 9:30 p.m.

The Coronation Ball will have an oriental flavor this year; the theme is "Night in Japan." The dress will be formal gowns for the women students and dark suits and ties for men. The eve-paintings, photographs, weapons, cookbooks and many other articles dealing with the Civil War period. Letters in the exhibit include one written and signed by Abraham Lincoln and another by Grant. Among the weapons are the 1853 Springfield Musket, Spenser Repeating Carbine, Sharps Carbine, replicas of Derringers and the "Pepper Box." There are a variety of swords, bayonets and The Andersonville Stockade and Sheridan's Final Charge at Winchester are included.

The smallest book produced in America is also a part of the collection. It contains 160 pages and is smaller than a postage stamp. Only 150 of these books were published. Entitled The Speeches of Abraham Lincoln, it contains the "Gettysburg Address," "Second Inaugural," "A House Divided," and "Equality in a Republic." These are but a few of the numerous items in the collection. The exhibit will be in the College library until February 12.

Volunteers Needed In Shelter Program

Paterson State student volunteers are needed to spend some time each week at the Children's Shelter of Passaic County. There are relatively few organized activities for these children, whose parents are unable to provide for their well-being. This will be the second semester of a program designed to have P.S.C. students plan and coordinate activities at the Shelter.

The program was organized last semester under the direction of Dr. Neil Sheldon, assistant professor of speech at Paterson State, and Mr. Thomas F. Hand, the superintendent of the children's Shelter. Volunteers spend from one to four hours every week at the Shelter, providing companionship and recreational leadership for groups of children. Dr. Sheldon has termed the first semester of the venture successful, maintaining that "the students have been just splendid." Dr. Sheldon has expressed the need for more male students to participate in the program.

Student leadership at the Shelter may be used by freshmen and sophomores to fulfill the 40-hour requirement of the College. Dormitory girls are invited to participate in the program, as transportation can be arranged to the Shelter from the campus. Those students interested in the program should leave a copy of their spring semester schedule in Dr. Sheldon's office in the speech department as soon as possible. Additional information may be obtained from him.

ning's entertainment and refreshments are free. Music will be provided by Joseph Suizzo's ten-piece orchestra.

Finalists Chosen For Experiment

The ten Paterson State finalists have been chosen for the Experiment in International Living. The finalists include Mary Ellen Cassidy, Mary Ann Corradino, Arlene Hamlett, Nadine Horoschak, Susan Matthews, Ellen McCloy, Leslie Omelianuk, Chester Pilgrim, Ann Stokes, and Judith Woljak.

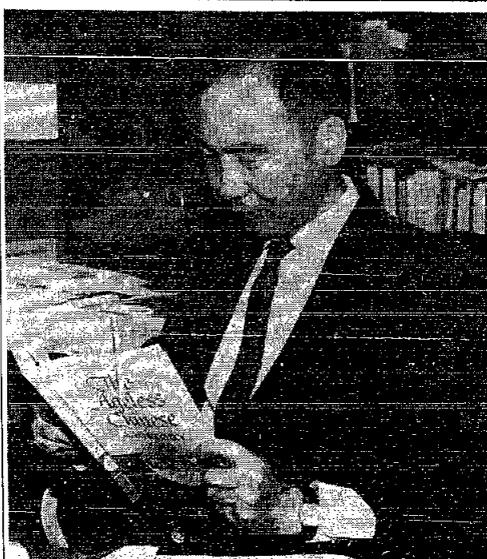

After their interviews on January 26, the ten finalists' application forms were sent to National Headquarters at Putney, Vermont for ranking. The Selection Committee at Putney ranks the applicants according to the suitability of the applicant for the country they chose. Since ten college students from various parts of the United States make up a group of College Ambassadors, there is an attempt made to get representation of the different states and the different types of college students. The group attains a type of cohesion during orientation meetings which may take place at Putney or on the boat to the country.

The Paterson State College Ambassadors of the summer of '64 have presented the Experiment's philosophy not only in individual lectures in W101 but also in the classrooms, at campus organizations and at service club meetings such as Business Men's Club and Wayne Rotary Club. These appearances have not only stirred interest in the Experiment Way of Living Abroad but also in the type of future teachers being trained at Paterson State College.

NJRTA Holds Annual Meeting

The New Jersey Reading Teachers Association held its eighth annual professional meeting on Thursday, February 4, 1965, in the Rutgers Labor Education Center. President of the Association, Dr. Mark Karp, Professor of English at Paterson State College, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Dr. Frederick Davis of the University of Pennsylvania gave the main address entitled, "Cultural Reading, Thinking, and Analysis As It is Reflected in" (Continued on page 4)

DR. DUN JEN LI, associate professor of social science, is shown in his office perusing a section of his newly-published book, "THE AGELESS CHINESE." Professor Li examined over four thousand years of Chinese history, emphasizing the fundamental forces, tendencies, and problems in Chinese economic, cultural, and political life.

Dr. Dun Li Publishes "The Ageless Chinese"

"Spanning over four thousand years of rich and tumultuous history, The Ageless Chinese provides a comprehensive and sharply-focused survey of China." So says Charles Scribner's Sons of New York, publishers of Dr. Dun J. Li's book. Associate Professor of Social Science at Paterson State College, Dr. Li's work was published on December 18, 1964.

In planning the book and electing the topics to be discussed, Professor Li has emphasized the fundamental forces, tendencies, and problems in Chinese economic, cultural, and political life. To these basic factors, accumulative and age-old, as well as to the more recent influences of Western origin, may be traced directly or indirectly most of the developments in modern China. Approached from a historical perspective, the vast changes in contemporary China allow of a clearer understanding and assessment.

The book is arranged chronologically, and opens with an introduction describing the physical and climatic features which played so large a role in the ancient cycle of famine, revolt, and dynastic change, and which continue to represent a major problem for an essentially agricultural nation. In discussing each historical period, Professor Li has brought to the fore the key figures and events, whether political, economic, or cultural, and has provided a full and absorbing coverage of the great philosophical, literary, and artistic achievements of each era.

At all times he has borne in mind the Western as well as the contemporary orientation of the student, and has taken care to make clear and meaningful the issues and their bearing on further developments.

In addition to a very extensive bibliography and a complete index, the volume contains a chronological chart showing dynastic, political, cultural, and socio-economic developments. To aid the student further, there is a section at the end of the volume entitled "A Romanization of Chinese Names."

Written by a native of China who has also spent many years studying and teaching in this country, the book is imbued with a combination of rare insight, scholarly accuracy, and stylistic grace. Its scope and clarity provide a superior guide to the long and fascinating history of China.

Professor Dun J. Li was born in Kwangteh, Anhwei Province, China. After taking his A.B. degree at the National Chekiang University in Hangchow, he taught at the National University of Political Sciences, Nanking. On fellowship, he came to the United States and earned his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Wisconsin. Presently Associate Professor of History at Paterson State College, he has taught at the University of Dubuque and North Dakota State Teachers College. Professor Li has published numerous scholarly articles in both Chinese and English, and a book entitled BRITISH MALAYA: AN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS. He is now at work on a sourcebook THE ESSENCE OF CHINESE CIVILIZATION.

CLANCY TOPS 1000 POINT MARK

by Ron Hoffman

For those of you who read Coach Wolf's letter on page 2, you know that Steve Clancy received a standing ovation from the students of Glassboro State when he scored the 1000th point of his college basketball career. If Steve had reached this mark on Saturday, January 20, at home against Glassboro, he probably would have received a standing ovation from the same students and supporters from GSC here than there were from Paterson State. If there were many students from Paterson, it sounded as though they were asleep. You may say that there isn't much to cheer about, but when Paterson rallied at the close of the half, you could have heard a pin drop when we scored. Why play if no one cares? Our team may not be the best, but they practice all week to improve and play the best they know how in every game. Why should they expect less from the student body?

Is there any spirit on campus? I think there is, but why doesn't it ever show? Should extra-curricular off-campus activities get more support than the school's basketball team? This is your school, and you should be interested enough to support its teams. If many of the people who complain would stop complaining and take an active part in an activity, sooner or later there would be nothing left to complain about.

Would you buy a ticket to a Broadway play and put it in your wallet and forget about it? Of course not, but many students do the same thing with their ID cards which are tickets to many campus functions.

Paterson State is what you make it, and nothing else. Let's get out and support school functions, especially the basketball team. There are four home games left. Show the team that you're behind them by filling the bleachers and cheering.

Auditions Set For Casting

Theatre World 4 has scheduled auditions to cast for the production of Stop the World, I Want to Get Off on February 8 and 9 at the Methodist Church, 25 Franklin Turnpike, Waldwick, N.J., at 7:30 p.m. The production requires ten females who enjoy singing. The role of leading lady is open, as are the parts for two young women of similar appearance to play sisters. Two experienced pianists are also needed.

There is a need for men to form a backstage crew to handle set design, construction, and lighting. Those people interested in the play who cannot audition should contact Mr. A. B. Kleban, 29 Longview Drive, Waldwick, N. J.

The leading role in the play is to be performed by Mr. David R. Umbach, who is the vocal music teacher in the Waldwick school system. Mr. Reynold L. Callender of New York City has been obtained as the director of the production. All rehearsals will be held at Guild Hall, Morrissee Avenue, Haledon. The performance will take place late in March.

Any student interested in writing for the BEACON is asked to contact Mary Ann Corradino in the BEACON office, second floor of the college center. Previous experience is helpful but not a necessity.

P.S.C. Frosh Lectures

Freshman Social Science major John Dalquist was a guest speaker at the Thomas Jefferson School, Bergenfield, N. J., on Wednesday, January 20. The student spoke to three of Jefferson's 4th grades on the Scandinavian countries based on his travels through these countries last summer. His talk was supplemented by colored slides and display articles from the countries.

Fencers Take Pace, JCS

On January 9, the Paterson State fencers defeated Pace College at home. It was the second intercollegiate win for PSC. The sabre squad proved to be the difference between victory or defeat for Paterson. Led by Lon Lawson, with 3 wins, the squad won 7 out of 9 bouts. John Cilio, along with Tim Szabo, won two bouts each.

In foil, Jim Lawther, Chet Pilgrim and Jack Zellner won two bouts each to bring the foil total to 6 wins and 9 losses. The epee squad could only win two out of nine bouts fenced. There are 8 collegiate meets left for the fencers in February. There are also three tournaments: the North Atlantic, the NCE tournament, and the Kennedy Memorial games at Glassboro.

PSC 14—JCS 13

Thursday night, January 28, the men's fencing team won its third straight match over Jersey City State College by a score of 14 to 13. An early lead was taken by the foilers and at half time the margin was stretched to five points. Jersey City then began to catch up and the match was only won on the next to last epee match, when Ed Harrison, under pressure, won his match by a close 5-4 score.

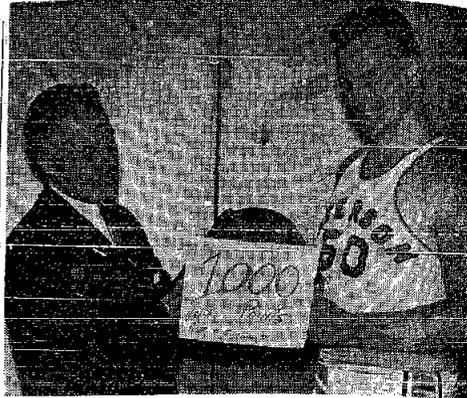

The sabre squad again led the team with eight wins out of nine bouts. John Cilio and Lon Lawson went for three wins, while Tim Szabo won two. In foil, Jack Zellner had three wins and Jim Lawther had two. The epee team had wins by Ed Harrison and Chet Pilgrim. The fencers face EDU on Saturday, February 6.

Player Is Sixth In PSC History

On Saturday, January 9th, Steve Clancy became the sixth basketball player in the history of Paterson State College to score over 1000 career points. Steve needed nine points going into the game and half way through the first half numbers 1000 and 1001 went into the record books. Officials stopped the game and Coach Wolf presented Steve with the game ball before a five minute standing ovation from the filled Glassboro stands. When asked how he felt Steve replied, "It's a great honor to score 1000 points for Paterson State," but he realizes that without the help of the other members of the team this mark would never have been possible. The modest redhead's main concern is not in scoring but in winning.

Athletic honors are nothing new to Steve. A 1962 graduate of Bloomfield High School he won a total of eight varsity letters. He received three in football, playing tackle, center and end. He was awarded three more in basketball scoring some 650 career points in tough Essex County competition. Steve received his remaining two letters in baseball pitching and playing first base.

Steve entered Paterson State in September 1962 and almost immediately started his assault on 1000 points. The twenty-one year old redhead measures six feet four and weighs about 230 pounds.

Steve is majoring in Junior High and plans to coach as well as teach upon graduation. For the past four years he has coached teams in Junior League Football with boys ranging from nine to twelve years old. However, Steve is not particular and is willing and able to coach basketball and baseball as well.

Steve is honored to be able to play for Paterson State and Paterson State is proud to have such a fine athlete on campus.

Any male student interested in joining the Baseball team should attend the meeting on Thursday, February 11, at 1:30 in the Memorial Gymnasium.
