SOUL Meeting Attracts Interested Student Body

The largest attendance for a student organization in the history of this college was recorded at the first meeting of SOUL on October 19. Over 100 students and faculty crowded into the Raubinger lecture hall to hear the opening address by Professor Manno of the English Department. Since that initial meeting, the organization reports, an additional 50 or more students and faculty have expressed a desire to support and participate in the program.

House Committee Plans Bull Session

Student - Faculty - Administration: Futuro Tense

Faculty - friend or foe
 "Who really runs the college? Administration? Faculty? Students?"

Who should run the college?
 If you express an opinion are you going to get stepped on?
 How many faculty members do you know as persons?

Do you want to know faculty members as persons?

Are faculty members persons?
 Are students persons?
 Should students be allowed to be persons?

Why did Columbia College students feel the need to form a "Warmth Committee," fly kites from the roof of Butler Library and plant vegetable gardens in the college quadrangle?

Are there too many "grown-ups" on our campus, and not enough "adults"?

Why are many "multiversities" breaking up their large undergraduate schools into small "colleges"?

Why would students at San Francisco State College tax themselves to hire Paul Goodman as their own professor, free from any college controls?

Are faculty, administration and students so tied up in their own vested interests that they can share no common core of interest? Can they communicate?

Are student-faculty-administration relationships at Paterson State College all right, or can they be improved?

The lounge in Pioneer Hall is reserved on Wednesday evening, November 1, from 7:30 till 11:00 for an open, completely free, informal discussion on this topic, among all members of our college community who may be interested. This "bull session" is being arranged by the College Center House Committee and the Student-Faculty Relations Committee of Pioneer Hall at the request of several faculty members and students who wished to get together informally and share ideas. They thought there might be others who would like to do the same. The time is completely unstructured, there is no "leader," and everyone is welcome.

dedicated to the following goals: to raise scholarship money for Negro students interested in coming to Paterson State; to launch an expanded recruitment program for prospective Negro students; and to establish a tutorial program.

In order to effect these goals, a number of committees have been established; certain committees have already begun working. The Community Relations Committee intends to involve local cities in our campus life. Tickets for various college activities, such as drama club productions, concerts etc. will be distributed to local high schools. In addition, special events of particular interest will be planned. The Fund Raising Committee will direct a campaign to raise scholarship money for prospective Negro students. Shortly, a fund raising drive will be announced on campus. Appeals for funds also will be made to local businessmen in the Paterson and the surrounding area. The Publicity Committee will be concerned with newspaper coverage of SOUL activities, and with distributing information about the program to the various New Jersey communities. The Art Committee will work on publicity also by conducting poster campaigns on campus and in the local

Rules To Follow For Giving Blood

- (1) You should not eat fatty foods 3 hours prior to your appointment. It is suggested that you take only black coffee with sugar. Toast (with jelly), hard candy, etc.
- (2) Donors will not be accepted if they have contracted in the past; malaria, jaundice, hepatitis, or rheumatic fever.
- (3) Those who have had mononucleosis are acceptable if a blood test shows negative within the past 3 months.
- (4) Donations may be made at intervals of not less than 8 weeks and not more than 5 times in any one year.

NOTE: This year we have arranged to have the largest staff of technicians, doctors, and assistants. You will be expected to donate at the time of your appointment.

Thank you,
 Dr. Amacone

British Association Sponsors Exchange

College students wanting to spend next summer in Europe are now offered an opportunity in England.

Students may help to reveal the secrets of a Roman villa, an iron-age hill fort, the structure of a medieval town or Anglo-Saxon structure of a medieval town or Anglo-Saxon Cathedral before they disappear, perhaps forever. Expanding housing programs, city center redevelopment, and new highway projects in Britain today have opened up many new possibilities for archaeological investigation.

Students may help in this work, earn credits, make international friends, and receive valuable training in archaeology, by joining a program sponsored by the Association for Cultural Exchange, the British non-profit organization.

Volunteers must first join a three-week seminar for training in British archaeology and excavation techniques at Queens College, Oxford. They then split up into small groups for three or more weeks "digging" on an archaeological site. Total cost of the program is $725, including round trip air transportation from New York. Part scholarships are available to suitable students within a "B" plus average.

For further details write to United States Representative Association for Cultural Exchange, 539 West 124th Street, New York 1001. The closing application date is January 1968.

Jackie Warner portrays Littlechap in the Paterson State production of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off." The performance will be given at the Marion E. Shea Center, November 15.

PSC To Present "Stop the World"

by Angela Scalzitti

Paterson State College will present a performance of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off" on November 15, in the Marion E. Shea Center for Performing Arts.

The musical comedy, starring Jackie Warner as Littlechap, is the entertaining story of the modern "Everyman" as he repeatedly encounters crises on his climb up the ladder of success. The arresting title stems from the alarmed expression of Littlechap in these pursuits.

Starred in this role which Anthony Newley wrote for himself, Mr. Warner will portray the life of Littlechap from birth to death in a formalized pantomimist's guise.

Most of the barbs of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off" are directed at the opportunism of Littlechap himself — revealed as a sly little man who crows his way upward with no other assets than his egotism and ambition. The author shows how a Littlechap mediocrity can become a respected political leader and even be elevated to peerage by doubletalk.

Reaching the last of the Seven Shakespearian Ages of Man in this tale, Littleman discovers that after all his searching, he has really loved the wife he neglected all along and that he has lost some of the best things in life in order to succeed. These, and similar sentiments are cues for the songs making up the award-winning score including "What Kind of Fool Am I?" "Gonna Build a Mountain" and "Typically English."

"Stop the World" has been in production in London for fifteen months before it came to Broadway. Written by Leslie Bricusse

Fulbright Awards Available Now

Graduate and senior undergraduate students who are interested in applying for a Fulbright Fellowship should make an appointment to see Dr. Elizabeth De Groot in Raubinger before November 2. Requirements include a high grade point average and willingness to study abroad. Applicants must be United States citizens, who will hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant, and who have language proficiency sufficient to carry out the proposed projects. The student whose qualifications are acceptable will be recommended by the College to enter the competition for U.S. Government scholarships offered under the Fulbright-Hays Act as part of the educational and cultural exchange program of the Department of State.

EDITORIAL

There comes a time in everyone's life when that person is called on to give to others, whether it be food for India or money to the church. There comes a time when people must give to a worthy cause and receive nothing materialistic in return. That time is here for the students of Paterson State College, not 400 of us, but all 2,200. For Ricky Hummel needs a product that as of now is produced only in the human body: blood. And he needs it now!

There are many reasons that might inspire us to literally give of ourselves. Many of us have brothers and sisters whom we love dearly. Would we not hope that others would come to their aid if they were afflicted with a disease such as hemophilia? Would we not hope, just as Ricky's family is hoping right now, that others would give a little of their time so that our loved ones could remain well?

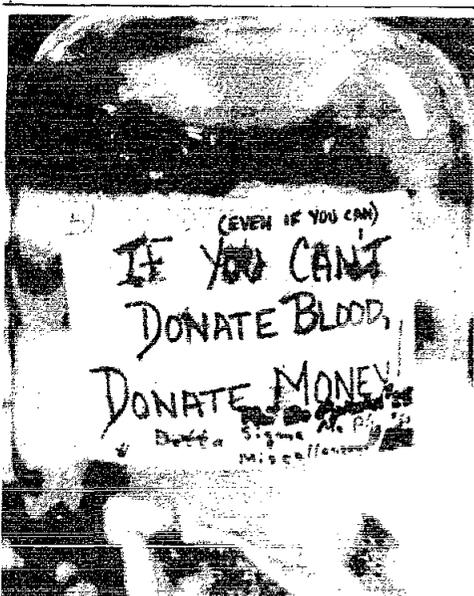

And what about ourselves? Has anyone on this campus put himself in Ricky's position? I, for one, could never stand to be kept away from either contact or non-contact sports. Ricky has no choice. He can not risk the possibility of hemorrhaging internally, which might result in a long hospital confinement. While Ricky lives as close to a normal life as any of us, he still must remain constantly on guard against any sudden blow which would initiate an emergency trip to the hospital.

Ricky is not expecting sympathy for his case, and we must make up our minds that sympathy will not help this youngster. Sympathy will not flow into his veins when he needs a transfusion. Sympathy will not save his life.

Time is running out on the Ricky Hummel Blood Drive, but time is not yet running out on Ricky himself. We, as students and faculty of Paterson State College, can and should relieve Ricky and his family of the worry about securing an adequate supply of blood for emergencies.

Ricky is only asking for five painless minutes of our time and a pint of blood we will never miss. It is such a small sacrifice to make to a boy who deeply appreciates it. Think it over and sign up now. Don't let Ricky Hummel down!

Al Paganelli

"Time is running out on the Ricky Hummel Blood Drive . . . The success of the drive is up to you."

Dear Editor,

As the recipient of the blood you are donating I can tell you from first hand experience just how necessary it is. In an average year I can rise up to 600 units of blood. Contrary to many people's belief, I do not need blood at regular intervals, but only when I'm bleeding internally. These bleeds can come every day or I can go weeks between bleeds. Each bleed necessitates a visit to the hospital in New York and up to 18 units of blood. These bleeds usually come in the shoulders or elbows and become quite painful.

The blood used to stop my bleeding and relieve the pain is impossible to synthesize—it must be donated by you.
Ricky Hummel

Dear Editor,

I would like to express appreciation for our entire Campus School staff for the article published October 13, 1967 describing the school and its activities. We are happy that Paterson State College students are availing themselves of the opportunity to observe children in action. If any of the college students have ideas as to how we could improve our service to them, their suggestions would be most welcome.

Thank you again.
Sincerely yours,
Leo Hillen
Principal, Campus School

Dear Editor:

I would like to make a suggestion to the Registrar pertaining to the way they handled registration for the spring semester. Don't ask the impossible. If you wish forms to be returned by a specified date, for example, October 20, don't send them out to the students on October 18. It is a nearly impossible task for a student to fill out the form, attend classes, and solve the eternal mystery of the disappearing advisor, all in one day.

Laura Blonkowski

Dear Editor:

In our modern age of protestors, I find myself quite alone. Alone because I'm old fashioned. Old fashioned in the respect that the United States is my country right or wrong, and I'll defend her stand whatever it may be.

The United States has been wrong and right, admittedly. But the U.S. has, and will continue to back its convictions and as long as we continue to remain firm, I'll remain firm.

There were battles before us, out of the past, there will be battles ahead of us, Nation to last.

I pray that there are many more Americans, like myself, who'll back the U.S. and not knock it, and if it may be that I am alone, God save the United States.

and Anthony Newley, the comedy was originated to meet a challenge of a London producer who said he'd give Newley the "coveted opportunity to be the only man in a revue with ten girls," if he would only write the show.

Mr. Newley starred in the show before it came to New York as a "new style musical, somewhat along the lines of an adult English pantomime."

The star of this performance, Jackie Warner, is an accomplished artist of the dance, who has appeared in comedy roles of "Dance Yankees," "Bells Are Ringing," and "Wish You Were Here."

In 1958, Mr. Warner directed and starred in his own production of "Stop the World — I Want To Get Off," playing a National Tour of Universities and Theaters throughout the country.

In addition to Mr. Warner (Littichap), Miss June Compton will play the whole gallery of women Littichap encounters in the mime described by Walter Winchell as "tip-top talent and tunes, Broadway's newest hot hit ticket."

Tickets for the November 15th performance went on sale on October 23, at $1.50 for students with I.D. cards and $2.00 for guests.

Michael Broome, a senior art major, is one of the six students who lived abroad this past summer "The Experiment Way."

Broome Tells Of Danish Summer

by Claire Puccio

There are many different ways in which American students visit lands abroad. Some enroll in foreign universities; many go on whirlwind tours which take them to the best and worst hotels in half a dozen major European cities; a few choose to go independently in small groups, spending more time debating where to go and where to stay than actually seeing things.

Some students, however, wish to travel not as tourists or adventurers, but as participants in the life of the country itself. They want to live in a new culture on its own terms, not take over U.S. culture with them. This is what the Experiment in International Living is all about. Michael Broome, a senior art major and the editor of the 1968 BEACONER, is one of the six students from Paterson State who lived abroad this past summer, "The Experiment way."

Mike visited Denmark. The entire stay lasted seven weeks, and of that time he spent one month of it living with his adoptive family.

The group of Experimenters that Mike traveled with left for Denmark at the end of June. His group was composed of students from all over the United States, and one of the advantages of the trip was getting to meet and know these different people from your own country.

Upon arriving, the entire group spent one day in Copenhagen, after which each individual member spent two weeks with his family. After the first two week home stay, Mike went on an informal tour of Denmark with two of his brothers. Then he returned to spend two more weeks with his family, and finally rejoined his group in Copenhagen where they stayed one week before returning home.

Mike's family includes his mother and father, Else and Regner Gronlund, and his three brothers, Arne, who is twenty and studying to be an engineer, Jens, age sixteen, and Finn, fourteen. They live in the town of Sjaer, which is on the Jutland peninsula. Mr. Gronlund owns a large dairy farm, and Mike was impressed by the fact that "the people care almost as much for their livestock as for themselves."

In Mike's estimation, the natural beauty of the Danish land is surpassed only by the friendliness of its people. "They possess just the right combination of old world charm and pride, and modern, continental ideas."

"The Danes are proud people, warm and friendly to each other and to outsiders." In Denmark, the people "enjoy life." They are very interested in sports, especially soccer and boating. "Education is an important part of their lives, and many Danes go on to higher learning." Also some form of military service, whether it be enlisting in the army or working for the government as social workers, is required of all men.

"As Mike sees it, Denmark is a nice place to visit and a nice place to live.

Who are Those Students in White?

By Maureen Quinn

The Nursing Major, one about which little is known, is a curriculum which is entirely different from any on campus; the most visible difference being our uniforms.

There are many questions concerning the girls in white which should be answered. For one thing, we are not merely "nursing students." We are nursing majors, in a baccalaureate program. This means that instead of receiving a license, diploma, and R.N. we will graduate with a bachelor's degree. The difference lies in the type of patient care we will be prepared to do, i.e. total patient care.

The nursing majors wear uniforms on campus, on Tuesday and Thursday, because we attend classes at Barnert Memorial Hospital Center. Soon we will be engaged in clinical experience there.

Beyond freshman year there are few similarities between the nursing and teaching programs. With a minor in science, the nursing majors take concentrated science courses along with their nursing courses.

Our director, Mrs. Margaret Marshall, teaches the Foundations of Nursing Education Course, with Mrs. Elizabeth Afkari and Miss Catherine Molanazi handling the Introduction to Nursing Course. These three ladies are preparing their students for careers as more than "a little bit better" nurses, able to advance educationally, and to assume positions of leadership in their profession.

I think that the most frequent questions have been answered, but if any more arise, feel free to ask.

Dr. Sugarman Publishes

"Guide to Knowing Yourself"

Dr. Daniel A. Sugarman, associate professor of education, has just published his second book, The Seventeen Guide to Knowing Yourself.

For several years, Dr. Sugarman has written articles for Seventeen, a leading magazine for teenage girls. The article dealt with the problems and dilemmas facing girls as they approach womanhood. Dr. Sugarman took problems well known to psychologists and put them into language understood by teenage girls.

With this goal in mind the book deals with such problems as:

What it means to be a girl

Why your parents don't understand you

How to cope with inferiority feelings.

Love and Sex

The book, written with Rolaine Hochstein and published by the Macmillan Company, is now on sale at the Book Store.

Dr. Sugarman received his B.A. from New York University. Studying psychology at Teacher's College, Columbia University, he earned both his graduate degrees there. He is married and has three children. Referring to his new book, Dr. Sugarman believes it would make an ideal gift for any teenager in the family.

Macmillan also published Dr. Sugarman's first book, Seven Stories for Growth in 1965. The book consisted of a series of short stories to be read orally. The stories are used to help children of elementary level to identify emotional problems and to eventually solve them. This book is used at PSC in conjunction with several Human Development and Behavior courses.

schools to advertise the program and to interest Negro students in coming to Paterson State. The High School Committee will work directly with the local schools to encourage students to attend college. Among other things, they will try to establish a program on campus for which Paterson State students will be asked to invite a Negro high school student to spend a day on campus. The Clerical Committee will help with correspondence. Lastly, the Tutorial Committee, made up of students and faculty, will provide special instruction.

Dr. Cioffari and Mr. Maggio, the founders of SOUL, encourage all students and faculty who have not joined to come to the next meeting of SOUL. This is a chance for everyone to put his ideas and ideals to meaningful work.

Those Harriers Are The Greatest

Paganelli Snaps His Own Mark

by Steve Reilly

How fast Al Paganelli of Paterson State can run five miles is anyone's guess. The slightly built junior from Belleville High School shaved another two seconds off his own PSC school record which he set last week as he led his harrier teammates to a 25-31 thumping of New Paltz State University last Monday.

The start was all New Paltz as the Blue and Orange sprinted out into an early lead. It was not until the mile mark that the Pioneers made their move as Paganelli slipped into the lead, Frank Emolo moved into third, and John Bruno snatched fourth.

With nobody around to push him, Paganelli eased up and was behind his record clocking of last week until about a mile to go. It was here that he decided to try once more for the record and hit the throttle. A 4:57 mile would break the record by one second. He ran 4:58.

Frank Emolo and John Bruno, two freshmen who have already made a name for themselves in cross-country, also ran their fastest times of the year to take third and fourth. These back-up men are the prime reasons why the Pioneers' record is 6-3. And they are still coming.

Both Bob Moore and Ron Schopperth had one of their rare off-days, but no damage was done as New Paltz's number five man was weak. PSC's Larry Green came through with a big displacement to nail down the victory.

Tomorrow the Pioneers hook up with a rugged Glassboro State team led by All-Conference

Rams Go Down In IBA Action

In hard-fought action this past Tuesday at Memorial Gymnasium, the field was cut down to two teams vying for that all-important championship. S & P, led by "Pretty Boy" Joe Cizar's 19 points, put down the Frosh by a score of 49-29. S & P led by only two at half-time, but as the buzzer sounded, they ripped the game open and slid to the 11-point victory. Bill Eckler was high for the Frosh with 12.

The 76'rs, the other first-place team, beat the GDI by an impressive 20 point victory. Dom Pelosi had another outstanding day with 16 markers for the 76'rs while "Dum Dum" De Work led the GDI's with 12 points.

The 76'rs played somewhat sloppy ball, after their pre-game hoopla, in the first half and held only a 17-15 point margin. They settled down in the second half and outscored the GDI's by 13 points, a big win for the 76'rs. In other action, the Rams were upset by IPE by a 21-14 score. The hustle and 10 points of Harry Hubler led the IPE squad to this big victory.

Captain "Hondo" Ankwowich said, "I miss Big Mike out there." "Iron Mike" Line was missed as the IPE led at half-time by a 13-8 score. He came back for the second half, but it was too late.

IPE was not as impressive in the second tilt as they just squeezed a tie with the Independents. H. Hubler again led IPE with 12 points while N. Allgretti and Dave Lefebvre each had twelve for the Independents. IPE led at half-time with a 22-18 margin but the Independents came back to get a tie. Some close decisions by referees "Dapper" Tom Dilly and "Nice Guy" Joe Gregory were important in the outcome.

The Independents couldn't get near a win as they met the Frosh and were beaten by a 46-23 score. Bill Eckler led the Frosh with 21 while Doug Stephenson chipped in with 14.

Andy Peters had 13 in the effort for the Independents. The Frosh led by a 24-8 score at half-time and coasted to victory.

The infamous Rookie 7 finally got in the win column with a forfeit victory over the Blue and Gold.

Benevento Scores Two: Medaska Ready To Go

by Gene Madden

Paterson State fought to a 2-2 tie in double overtime with Bloomfield College last Thursday afternoon at home, registered its third shut out of the season on Saturday defeating St. Peters College by a score of 5-0.

Although out-playing the Deacons, the Pioneers were behind throughout most of the game because of a first period goal by Bob Benz of Bloomfield.

Paul Ottavio used his height advantage in good sense by hitting in a corner kick by "Sto" Bavaro at the 5 minute mark the final stanza. This carried the game into the first OT in which both teams failed to score. Second OT was much more exciting as Phil Spagnolo cut Deacons nets at the 1:30 mark. The Pioneers lead was short-lived however as Andy Lemar Bloomfield scored exactly one minute later and as the final sounded the Pioneers had to settle with an even break with Bloomfield.

Against St. Peter's on Saturday diminutive inside right "Sto" Bavaro wasted little time in scoring his fourth a fifth goal of the season at the minute mark in the first period respectively to become the season's leading scorer. "Sto" wasn't unassisted because Gene "Nino" Benevento was in both goals helping out. The second period was welcomed by the former Fair Lawn H.S. star. Benevento picked out the middle of the period to score twice. The first, assisted by Bavaro, came with 10 minutes left. One minute later, junior wonder Ken Medaska, returning to action, helped out Benevento in scoring his second goal of the game.

As the third period came in close, rookie starter Joe Jurkiewicz found the nets for the first time this season but Benevento had a foot in on this play also registering his seventh assist of the season.

This week will decide the Pioneers' probable standing in the conference. At present, PSC is 2-0 having defeated Jersey City State and Newark State at scores of 7-0 and 6-1 respectively. Tomorrow, at home, PSC faces Glassboro State.

Game time will be at 1:00 p.m. and will probably be the most important game of the season.

Runners Win Big In City

By Steve Reilly

No one can ever say that the Paterson State Cross-Country Team does not make things exciting for the spectators whether it wins or loses. Last Saturday the Pioneers traveled to Van Cortland Park to show four New York harrier brigades their stuff. When the smoke had cleared after the stampede, Paterson State had won three and lost one.

The Black and Orange took the line against Queens College, Stony Brook and C.W. Post. Hunter College could not field a varsity unit and so forfeited. The gun sounded and the herd of 30 runners blasted off on their five-mile jaunt. Stony Brook had the first five positions, Queens held the sixth, PSC seventh and eighth, and C.W. Post ninth.

At the two-mile mark Queens' Bruce Stahl opened up a huge lead on Stony Brook's Ken Weisman and Paterson's Al Paganelli. This lead held up the remainder of the race as Paganelli's finishing kick took him by Weisman but left him five seconds short of the Queensman.

Stony Brook became the second team this year to top Paterson State by three points (Jersey City was the only other). However, the Pioneers clobbered Queens (who last year had slaughtered PSC) and a C.W. Post contingent which found itself outclassed. Looking good in this meet for Paterson were Frank Emolo, John Bruno and Bob Moore, the latter recording his fastest time in the city. Paganelli's time was 34 seconds faster than his best, also.

Paterson 25, C.W. Post 36

Fencers Open: Leave No Doubt

On Sunday Oct. 22, the Women's Fencing team, opened its long and evidently tough schedule with the Women's Novice Competition. Though most of them were elated on the early rounds, they did show poise and stamina on the strip. For those watching the competition and to those participating, it was becoming quite apparent that Paterson State will continue to be one of the strongest championship contenders for many years to come. Lee Ann Weidner, on her first outing, ward off many of her contenders to be come one of the three PSC girls to reach the final round. She finished eighth in the entire competition.

As the final round rolled around there was a noticeable lack of familiar Paterson State fencers. Many of the "veterans" or second year fencers found the first competition to be too much for them. When the competition drew to a close, only one freshman girl and two juniors, Marie Kosh and Sandy Blumenthal placed and even they could only manage sixth and ninth places respectively.

This competition proved to be an eye opener for the PSC girls. Those who have the spirit to win are once again training for the meets to come. The freshmen girls will be tested again against only beginning fencers in the Prep Meet in early November. These girls have all it takes to win. Now it is up to them to go out on the strip with confidence and show all comers that Paterson is no team to be brushed off lightly.
